Rally vs. Fee Increase Draws 600

President Elect Marshak Speaks Of the Days of Five-Dollar Tuition

By FRANCEE S. COVINGTON

On Thursday during the club hours the Student Senate sponsored a rally to protest the fee increase proposed by the Board of Higher Education. The rally was addressed by Betty Rawls (SEEK faculty), President-elect Robert Marshak, Prof. Bernard Bellush, Prof. Alfred Conrad, and Mr. Russ Anderson (Sociology).

Prof. Bellush, the first speaker, brought up matters relating to cramped campus space, the Schulman firing and the faculty strike and the need for students and faculty to work jointly. Speaking on the overcrowded situation of the university he said "There is no more room on the window sill; there is no more room in the halls and that library was outdated the moment it was built." While some students applauded, others shouted out "what about open admissions, that's what we're here for." Prof. Bellush greeted the shouts with, "You may be in a hurry, but I'm beyond that point" giving obvious reference to his age.

Prof. Bellush contended that the reason money was not being allocated for education was be-its young people. It is clear to tions of this College has been the principle that higher education should be based on individual merit and the ability to profit from college, not the ability to pay a tuition fee, however small!"

Referring to open admissions, Dr. Marshak stated that "an escalation of fees at this time would appear to make a mockery of open admissions," and that City College, "its students and society itself would be ill served if financial obstacles were to be erected at the precise moment when the doors to a college education are being opened to all who want to take advantage of it."

Dr. Marshak's speech was interrupted by a student with a bull horn who competed briefly with the speaker to be heard by the some 500 students who had gathered for the rally. The students demanded that Dr. Marshak address himself to bail for the Panthers, free child care centers, and the faculty firings. Diverted from his printed text, he answered that he had been requested to speak specifically on the fee increase and "would be glad to take up the other issues with you at a future time."

Betty Rawls, a counselor in the SEEK program at the College, said that the fee increase issue was one that tied in directly with what is emphasized in American society. She said that "moon shots are designed to get us diverted from the real issues of this country which revolve around people and dispensing of needed services. Are we not developing for ourselves an international celestial playground in the air at the expense of any kind of semblance of humanity regarding people here on earth."

Foul Priorities

"So once again we cry more money for the funding of crucial educational services to our young people. Our priorities are confused in this nation." Continuing the theme of needed student-faculty coalitions, Miss Rawls held that "our faculty do not stand up in union to the BHE. People are ignoring the need to form active, viable coalitions that will serve as the groundswell of a political base that will speak in the name of humaneness. We are the only ones that can really form the voice that calls out in harmony and concert for America to re-trench from its path of fast decay, and deterioration."

Students gathered in North Quadrangle for Rally

Speaking to the open admissions issue and the money that has been allocated to implement the BHE's plan, Miss Rawls said that the allocation of $13.5 million is not enough and that those educators and administrators who were concerned should make their concern known to the BHE and appropriate politicians. "The gun is loaded in the new open admissions plan because it is a sure failure. The fact is that there are no meaningful, logical, sensitized, and well grounded plans being set forth and acted upon." She accused these in decision making of not being responsive and said that they "must have the strength of character and conscience" to make sure that open admission is more than a paper policy. Continuing, she stated that SEEK was another area that has failed to elicit a concerned response from those in policy making positions. "Powers seem not to want programs for the historically disenfranchised to work."

Speaking of the new president of the College, who had left the rally immediately after his speech, she noted some of the difficulties that may face Dr. Marshak when he assumes office on September 1, 1970. "We must call upon him to take on the difficult but valiant and humane role of being a true moral leader for this college filled with a malaise of unconcern, power plays, little faculty concern and little academic freedom. He must speak and communicate with the entire college community, which is Harlem as well as the students and faculty on this hill, so that the university begins to assume the role of leadership and truth and knowledge bank that is their charge and mandate."

Russ Anderson (Sociology) spoke of the piecemeal change within the university, citing infringements on academic freedom and the continuing presence of ROTC on campuses that have had demonstrations and referendums to have it abolished. Even in the face of failure to reach the objective "people must intervene around utopian realities" and begin to look for answers to the question of "how a revolution can fit into a university." Prof. Conrad, the last speaker before an unscheduled speech was made by a representative of Women's Liberation, said that if the slow pace that open admissions appears to be taking is continued "By the time people get together, we'll be a nice white college again."

A representative of Women's Liberation called for the setting up of day care centers at no charge to the students who would make use of these facilities. While she spoke people began to drift away. "Chancellor Bowker has already said that open admissions will not increase the percentage of Third World students in the City University, only the numbers." She called for students present to voice their support of the demand that the racial composition this time would cause unacceptable hardships on substantial numbers of students."

Population Control: Maybe Black Genocide

Editorial Note:

Some students, in fact, many students, feel that there is no governmental conspiracy in the country against Black people. Last week, we had an Earth Day. . . . No, last week, you had an Earth Day. You all got together in Bryant Park and paid tribute to man's almost complete destruction of his environment. You picked up beer cans, used prophylactics, empty potato chip bags and experienced the ecstasy of breathing clean air, as you walked through the bubble in the park.

But that's the farce. You see, my fine young ecologists, the whole movement of ecological problems is nothing but a sham — a jive and somewhat well thought out plan to commit more genocide. The whole movement comes from the United States Government. They sent us some material cause of the Viet Nam War. "You will not have the funds necessary to implement open admissions. You will not have the money until the war in Viet Nam is over. We cannot hire teachers because we do not have the funds and will not have the funds until this war is over."

Marshak Speaks

President-elect Marshak, reading from a prepared statement, said that "An amazing number of the intellectual and scientific leaders of this country are proud graduates of the City College. And let us remember that those individuals paid no tuition when they were students at CCNY, and their fees did not exceed $5 per year when they attended college. In my view, American society as a whole has benefited enormously from the investment that New York City (and more recently, New York State) has made in the higher education of

From the Editors

TECH NEWS is going to interview candidates for all Student Senate positions. We would appreciate all those intent upon running to come to the TECH NEWS office, room 337 Finley, on Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday, the week of May 3rd. Please ask for either Larry Welch or Frances Covington. If possible could you please bring a glossy photo of yourself with you.

Last week we ran a column entitled "To Get Together Women Must Begin." At that time we had forgotten to properly accredit the article. It was taken from a leaflet distributed by the Women's Liberation Movement at C.C.N.Y. We apologize for not having obtained the group's permission to print their article, and for not naming Women's Liberation accordingly.

Letters

Against Kelly

Dear Sirs,

I am at a loss to understand the latest issue of your newspaper. On pages two and eight of the issue you included some engineering news. Has TECH NEWS adopted a new policy in regards to such matters or was this just an accident?

Although I look upon this issue with some optimism, there was a most unfortunate article in that issue. I refer to the column "The Death of America Part I." It was authored by Keith Kelly. In order to demonstrate my dissatisfaction with that article let me quote the last few lines. "... when a dark skinned or slant-eyed person points a gun at you to end your lazy life don't ask why, just lay down and die." Mr. Kelly addressed this statement to the apathetic students of America who are well aware of the fact that his radical views are correct but refuse to actively fight against the "establishment."

1) Obviously it has not occurred to Mr. Kelly that the reason many students do not ally themselves with him is because they believe that his methods of "improving" our society, namely genocide and I presume thereafter the establishment of a Marxist-type state, are wrong. These things would create far more suffering than is now being created by present injustices.

2) Furthermore the inclusion of fanatical threats in Mr. Kelly's column makes that column unprintable. The editor should have had enough sense to realize this.

3) Last of all let me say that any member of any minority group who threatens to kill off the white majority (ratio of 10 to 1) has either got to be a very big man (about 13 ft. tall) or a two bit big mouth.

The Death of America Part II

By KEITH KELLY

Those of you who read the first part of this column last week (TN Vol. 31, No. 8) were probably incensed. Tsk, tsk, tsk. I have a few more hot tips for you.

I indicted the young white people of this country with laggardliness. I must apologize for my incorrect statement. It should have been geared to say outright paralysis. Why? Case in point: Last week, students at Yale held a demonstration in support of Panthers on trial in New Haven. While the students cheered Sen. Edward Kennedy for denouncing non-violence, they booed down the Chief of Staff of the Party, Col. David Hilliard, for saying that a Black person had the right to shank a pig in the back. This is not to say we would, for that would be foolish. But we have the right to defend our lives, and if that means clearing our communities of known uniformed and ununiformed killers, it is our right, in no uncertain terms.

My rationale for the reaction of those white students was that they must have a latent fear of the violence being directed against themselves. If they could deny Black people the right to self-defense and life for non-violence's sake, then they must be either insane, confused or insincere. I feel that whites who advocate non-violence for Blacks are living in a dream world, and wish Blacks to be suicidal.

There's one question that white people always ask that makes them look stupid. They ask how can we take over when we are only ten percent of the population and are not unified. First, we've been ten percent of the population since 1930. MIT gave a conservative estimate in 1968 of 30% (as in 60 million). Second, as to whether or not we are unified on the issue of self-defense, you will never know until the time comes for us to act in concert for survival. Any leak on our degree of unity would be an invitation to destruction. Thirdly, we are not trying to take over. Blacks are not famous for indulging in fantasies. We live in a world of realities, stinking, bloody, violent, realities. Taking over America would be as fruitless as impossible.

But, she can be paralysed, she can be incapacitated, she can be destroyed: if necessary. And indications say yes.

We all love this country for some reason or another, even if we don't admit it. But just as you put a beloved pet away if it is sick beyond cure, and is only suffering and causing suffering, so will the Blacks and browns and weds fight and raze this land to the last breath of the last man of color. This nation is a depraved killer, a schizophrenic monster murdering people around the world and pretending not to know. And you comprise the citizenry of this monster, my little white friends. You know as well as I that the killers say all their work is for posterity. That means you, not us Blacks, for they don't intend for us to be around that long. Although we have never been treated as real citizens, we are human beings, and just like all others, we want to survive. We intend to survive. There will be no WW2 Germany here, nor a WW2 California. We don't even thirst for a well deserved revenge; we only want to live. And if it takes the death of America to save us, she'll die like a dog at the hands of those niggers you sneer at as you walk to the train station.

War is coming to America. To believe otherwise is adventurism and fantasy. I cry because I know war will come. I have but to look at the centerfold of this paper. It's up to you, white person, to determine the nature of that war. Will it be a war against murder, racism, imperialism, and the vicious monster capitalism has become? Or will it be a race war, to kill off the Americans who talked democracy but lived Roman dictatorship of the masses. I'm not talking about trying to institute communism. That means less to Blacks than it does to whites. We don't want it, we will reject it, because our fight is for freedom from being victimized by Europeans and their descendents. We further refuse to be subjugated by any one else. To paraphrase a familiar revolutionary line, we are advocates of peace. But in order to get peace, sometimes it is necessary to fight a war. Necessary, unless you prefer death.

So, my European friends, I hope you understand my message. You fight with us to free us, or you die with America. Perhaps not physically, but for all intents and purposes. And when you see me and you yell "peace," remember when I return the word that mine is two-fold in meaning: just war + piece = peace.

EQUAL TIME

By CHARLES POWELL, JR.

As the Academic year of 1969-70 comes to a close we students at CCNY find ourselves faced with a problem which seems to be inevitably as much a part of the University as the students, faculty and administration which make up the campus community. Each Spring, as the warm weather approaches, most students seem to come out of their wintry hibernation with Leaflet Lane (another name for the area in front of Cohen Library), jam-packed with numerous students attempting to sell other students their programs. Coming on with issues and meetings as plentiful as the ferns in Joe Copeland's garden. However, just as soon as the weather turns warmer and final exams and papers begin to threaten everyone, these same students will begin to regard those issues as if they were some sort of a mirage while they go tripping off to lay on the beautiful grass outside Finley and dream of more issues to come up with next year. To the daytrippers and to those who may just be ignorant of the facts I would like to say that there are many pertinent issues which, if left unresolved, may soon threaten our very existence at this university.

First there is the question of Jay Schulman. Jay's case has clearly been used as a political football by Joe Copeland and the Board of Higher Education. There is no doubt that his dismissal came as a result of his support of the Five Demands put forth last spring by the Black and Puerto Rican Student Community. The move to rid the Campus of Schulman — a clear breach of Academic Freedom — if exercised successfully, will surely be tried on students next.

Then there is the question of Open Admissions. This issue has received a great deal of publicity and verbal patronage. But unfortunately very little concrete action has been taken on the part of both the BHE and our new President Marshak.

Also the question of supportive programs within Open Admissions still remains — at this late date — unresolved. If there are no supportive programs what will happen to the mass of Blacks and Puerto Ricans who could not attend college without those services? There is, of course, the issue of the SEEK program cutbacks and the closing of the SEEK dorm, and finally, an issue which affects all of us, whether or not we will be paying CUNY tuition next year under the guise of an increased Consolidated Fee.

These are just some of the overriding issues which plague our campus today. We students must cease blaming the administration in an attempt at finding a solution for the cause of all our problems. We have ourselves to blame. Our apathy and our ambivalence are the prime causes of our problems. We forget that we are the largest and potentially the strongest entity in the campus community. It is becoming more clear everyday that students, the world over, must take on the leadership in these troubled and chaotic times. It is the students who must determine whether this University will move on in glory and splendor in the true spirit of progressive education or whether it will crumble under the storm of protest and dissent.

There is a group of people who's mandate is supposed to represent the viewpoints of students in the formulation of methods of dealing with the various issues which arise. The group of whom I make reference to is the Student Senate. It is clear, however, that the role the present Senate has been playing in the affairs of the campus has been that of a buffer between the Administration and the Student body. The Senate's inability to carry out their affairs sincerely and legitimately has caused the situation to deteriorate to the point where recent Student Senate meetings have failed even to reach a quorum. No blame can be put on the Administration, faculty, or anyone for that matter; not as long as we, the students, allow such a situation to continue as it exists in the present Student Senate.

This May there will be elections for a new Student Senate. Let us not make the same mistake this year that we made the last. We must begin to define, very carefully and very clearly, the role of the Senate. It is time that the Student Senate takes the leadership role in pulling up this university from the dregs of apathy and indifference instead of perpetrating those negative traits which persist. I hope in the up and coming elections we will elect to the Senate a group of sincere and committed individuals, who will strike out against all those who attempt to use them for any other purpose than that of serving its constituency — the student body.

The Grass People

By TOM MC DONALD

"Hang on to your hopes my friend.
But it's an easy thing to say that if your dreams should pass away you can simply pretend that you can build them again."

(Paul Simon)

Ambivalence is bad for the soul; it tears you apart. Love and hate cannot exist for very long. Either one of them triumphs, or cold indifference sets in. Day after day I look from the window and see the black smoke belching from the chimneys over central Harlem. I look downtown and can barely see the buildings through the haze. I look at the South Campus lawn and see the biggest bummer of them all. People playing human checkers, singing Crosby, Stills and Nash songs, getting high near the flagpole, playing soccer and football, throwing a frisbee, or wondering if they'll score this weekend at Nepantha.

Our founding fathers built stone walls around the campus; the people built stone walls around their minds. Langston Hughes wrote, "We stand here on the edge of Hell, in Harlem." Too few students realize that. They drive to school, or they close their eyes when they come up the subway stairs. They pass right by the garbage, the tired old buildings, and the same faces sitting on the same stoops day after day. They also close their minds once inside the walls of the City College Babysitting Service. People pay so little attention to the events on campus! Those events that could possibly affect their lives. Instead they sit and wonder if they have a chance with the blond chippy in Psych. 54, or if Fred will ask them to the House Plan dance.

There was a Moritorium Wednesday. People got out and voiced their grievances against that "terrible, vicious war." On Thursday the same people were back on the lawn just wasting away. If they hate the war so much, why weren't they out there every day?

This same student apathy resulted in the increase of the student fees to $132. This action wasn't planned overnight. While everybody was laying up in the lounges for the winter, the Board of Higher Ed. was finalizing their little scheme. If people were on the case all the time, we could have perhaps done something to prevent the fee raises. Sometimes I just feel like writing, "You SUCK!" all over the campus. Then I realize that we need you, and no change is going to come without some action on your part. It's bad enough dealing with all the dudes in Queens who get uptight when they think Black folks might be moving into the neighborhood. It's worse still when we have to deal with ourselves. It's not enough to say that you're on our side. When the time comes we expect to see you there.

What happened at City Hall Park is a case in point. A rally was held to protest cuts in the Seek budget. Not only are the Seek students getting short changed, but fatty Al Bowker is trying to divide the student body over Open Admissions by raising the student fees. So what happened? I've seen winos on a soapbox in Bryant Park draw bigger crowds. Granted it wasn't a well publicized affair, but if something like that falls flat on its face, what will happen when the time comes for a show of force?

In the past few months several young people have died in explosions. The dyanmite didn't kill them as much as you did. They looked around and saw no hope. They looked at all the South Campus lawns and saw no help coming, so they decided to do it another way. Your inaction played as big a part in their deaths as any dynamite ever did.

There is so little time. Life at City College passes in the blink of an eye. Turn around and it's gone. If you hope to get anywhere you have to make the most of all those precious moments, not only for yourself but for others to come.

The movement is in disarray. Some are content to simply ride out the lull. Others are saying forget it and going home. Some are registering for Chemistry courses. The ones who hang on are very serious and very committed. The days of fun and games are over for them. Their responses will be hard and fast. A forrest fire is very unpredictable; the wind picks it up and sets it down at will. A revolution can be like that. It just might set down on South Campus lawn. So all I can say to you is that the easiest way to avoid getting caught in a forrest fire is to be behind it.

America: Though It Appears Warmer —

about trying to find reliable student leaders to organize an Earth Day last December — we know this. We also know that woven into this problem of ecology is the question of population control — which is another cover for solving "the Negro Problem." The government and the ecologists speak of controlling the population through the concerted efforts of all the people by moral restraint in a country that is amoral (without morals). We can see this by support of the racist, genocidal war in Vietnam and Laos and Cambodia, and by what is planned for Black and poor white people in this country. And when morality fails, as it has so often in the past, the government will be asked to intervene. And you know what that means: more Black women will receive forced hysterectomies (surgical removal of the uterus).

To prove this to you, we have taken the trouble to go to the Congressional Records and pull out material that was prepared for the Subcommittee on Urban Affairs of the Joint Committee of the Congress of the United States. We hope you will learn something from it.

Evolution By Extension Cities and Culture

If what is known about animals when they are crowded or moved to an unfamiliar biotope is at all relevant to mankind, we are now facing some terrible consequences in our urban "sinks" ("Jungles"), ("Ghettos").

The adjustment of these people (Negroes) is not just economic, but involves an entire way of life.

The lower class of Negro in the United States poses very special problems in their adjustments to "Sink" living, which if those problems are not solved may well destroy us by making our cities uninhabitable.

An often overlooked fact is that lower class Negroes and middle class whites are culturally distinct from each other.

Some Negro spokesmen have gone so far to say that no white man could possibly understand the Negro.

They are right if they are referring to the lower class Negro. Only those we have trained do we understand.

The Need For Controls

Our studies show the relationship of men to the city is the need for enforced laws to replace tribal custom. Laws and Law Enforcement Agencies are presently in cities all over the world, but at times they find it difficult to cope with problems facing them and need help. An aid to law and order that has not been used to the fullest extent possible, is the power of custom public opinion in the ethnic "Enclaves." Cooperating preachers, politicians, teachers, etc.

These "Enclaves" perform many useful purposes, one of the most important is that the "enclaves" act as lifetime reception areas in which the second generation can learn to make the transition to the "sink" (jungle) (ghetto) life.

The main problem for us with the "enclaves" as it is now placed in the "Sinks" is that its size is limited. When the Negro population increases at a rate the enclaves is unable to convert them — only two choices remain: 1. Territorial growth, (more land), or 2. overcrowding.

If the enclave cannot expand and fails to maintain a healthy "density," (overcrowding) a sink develops.

The normal capacities of law and order enforcement agencies are not able to deal with "sinks."

Apart from letting "sinks" run its course "more land" and destroy the city, there is an alternative solution:

Prepack or introduce design features that will counteract our undesired affects of the sink. But most important not destroy the enclave in the process.

A study by Pathologist Charles Southwick discovered the peromyscus mice could tolerate high cage densities.

In animal populations, the solution is simple enough and frighteningly like what we see in our Urban Renewal Programs or sinks.

Conclusion 1

To increase density in a rat population and maintain healthy specimens. (a) Put them in boxes so they can't see each, (b) Clean their cages. (C) and give them enough to eat.

Then you can pile them in boxes up as many stories as you wish.

Note: Caged Animals become stupid, from states of flux boredom; confusion, which is a risky price to pay for our super filing system of these people.

The question we must ask ourselves is, how far can we afford to travel down the road of sensory deprivation in order to file these people away in these public housing projects?

Our most critical needs at this time therefore is for ideas, principles for designing spaces that will maintain a healthy density. A healthy interaction rate, a proper amount of involvement, museums, jobs, games, swimming pools, movies, etc. And a continuing sense of ethnic identification.

The creation of such ideas; principles will require the combined efforts of many diverse specialists all working secretly, closely together on a massive scale. "Coterie of Experts: City Planners, Architects, Engineers of all types, Economists, Law Enforcement Specialists, Traffic, Transportation Experts, Educators, Lawyers, Social Workers, Political Scientists, Psychologists, Anthropologists, Ethnologists and Preachers. As we know, "some of the most capable help is Negro enclave specialists, hire as many as you can and keep contact. In their presence don't talk, listen and let them talk. Remember it is important to learn about them in order to forward the desired effects.

It is absolutely essential to us that we learn more about how to compute the maximum, the minimum, and the density of the Negro enclaves that make up our cities.

Through a process of taming, most higher organisms, including Negro men can be squeezed into a given area, provided that they constantly have a minimum amount of food provided for them, that they are made to feel safe, and their aggressions are under control.

However if men are made fearful of each other, fear resurrects the fright reaction, fear, plus overcrowding produces panic, thus creating an explosive awareness of their need for more land.

We can not allow this to happen. Land will not be allowed them, that as we all know is the most precious of all values.

Our policy must be to entertain, compromise, maximum community control and financing in their sinks, but no aware or awakening to the true values.

Conclusion 2

You can't shed culture in the briefest possible sense, the message of this book is that no matter how hard man tries, it is impossible for him to divest himself or his own culture, for it has penetrated to the roots of his nervous system and determines how he perceives the world.

Most culture lies hidden and is outside voluntary control, making up the warp and weft of human existence even when small fragments of culture are elevated to awareness they are difficult to change, not only because they are so personally experienced but because people cannot act or interact at all in any meaningful way except through the medium of culture.

Negro Leaders

Political interests of Negro community power are best indicated in the talk and actions of Negro leaders.

Of course it is not always easy to know who is a Negro leader and who is not, for rarely do leaders lead everything, or as rarely as community itself is utterly in a singular direction.

Further, yesterday's leader may not be today's leader.

However with close observation and sympathetic objectivity you can identify present Negro leaders with community power or influence or respect of the people.

The only major precaution which must be taken is to avoid the easy mistake of superiority or authority approach when seeking their leaders. In other words act and show exceptional concern, respect, and friendliness to them ask questions, unsuspectily and listen.

Our enclave or those in the Negro community with whom we would prefer to deal, and whose influence is already established with our power structure, may not be leaders at all.

And if they are leaders, then they may be leaders of interests other than that of the community interests. This is why they must be watched very close and deep thru our enclaves as well as the many laws which we have at our need.

A Negro leader is one who moves his community, rather than establish legal authority in the country.

The popular leadership of the Negro community is almost unknown to those in authority outside the community.

Without the involvement of legitimate office the true Negro leaders are unnoticed by the media and by public opinion.

When in danger from us they are carefully guarded by the Negro community itself. The undisputable fact remains that there are thousands of such leaders, each one moving the local community with a powerful potent force.

Our wisest and most urgent move now should be to put them in "New Towns in Town" and let them have "Community Control" so they will have a feeling of security. Thus creating self containment.

Letters . . . Keith Kelly Writes Reply to Column Critic

Having been a reader of your newspaper for a considerable amount of time I realize that Mr. Kelly is new to your staff and has much to learn about the ways of newspapers. That is obvious from his column. If he wishes to learn something about responsible, intellectual, "revolutionary" discourse let me refer him to the column which appeared opposite his, "The April Fools" by Tom McDonald. Perhaps a column by Joudon Ford titled "On Revolutionary Emotion" (Feb. 17 issue) might also serve to enlighten Mr. Kelly. If Keith Kelly is serious about changing the world I suggest that he first do a little listening (or reading) before he shoots his mouth off or starts killing whites.

Dear L. V.:

I was moved by your letter, but not surprised. I hope my clarifications will enlighten you, if not satisfy you.

First of all, I did not say and did not imply that Marxism was the answer to capitalism. Black people don't relate to Marxism. Don't put words in my mouth.

Second, as for my being in print, I guess you and Spiro T. Agnew would make a good team in censoring news. My "fanatical" views may prove to be as fanatical as those of young Jews

review of "man and wife"

By ROBERT COLLAZO

"Experience isn't always the best teacher," begins the advertisement to "Man and Wife" . . . "careful demonstration is." One of the latest Danish imports, the film is playing at the Cine Lido and seems to have found itself a warm, little, niche, amid the seamy Manhattan, 42nd Street scene.

"Man and Wife," cannot be classified as an ordinary sexploitation film, it transcends that description. Indeed, it attempts to slip by under the guise and auspice of a scientific and clinical approach to, not only sex, but to marital success.

Its form is almost documentary in its endeavor to catalogue an assortment of sexual techniques and positions. The makers of this film choose to call it a manual for those whose marriages have been something less than adequate and are on the verge of ruin; therein lies the obscenity.

The appeal in this movie is in the gross attempt to exhibit footage of intimate sexual detail that would ordinarily be found objectionable and lewd in any other movie that did not utilize this pseudo-clinical format.

The film begins, reassuringly enough, in what appears to be a doctor's office. And, just like any friendly, family physician, his role is to mitigate and soothe the viewer's guilt and apprehension at being a part of such a scheme.

After thoroughly explaining the complete, physiological processes involved in both male and female orgasm, which the good doctor does with all the painstaking care of a used car salesman, secure in the thought of his ability to sell anything, so long as the buyer is gullible enough, he then introduces the feature players, Dick and Jane.

From this point on, the film is a series of segments four to five minutes long, each depicting one of the doctor's patented, positions for positive pleasure. Each segment is prefaced with a precise blurb of what the viewer should expect, e.g. "Rear entry, man in the supine position." The film proceeds, with short baroque organ interludes laced throughout the film, to depict our couple engaged in what should be described as nothing less than feats of physical contortion and flexibility. Our doctor, dormant since the opening episode, reappears to warn prospective participants that good physical health should be a prerequisite to some of the more advanced exercises.

After the initial introduction, the redundant bombardment of such sexual mechanical gymnastics becomes not only offensive but boring.

"Man and Wife," although it pretends to hold the key to marital bliss, and may perhaps contain a pointer or two on how to add a trick to your sexual repertoire, is completely devoid of the ingredients without which no basis for marriage is possible, such as tenderness, mutual compatibility and love, to mention a few.

This film panders to the same debased erotic interests, only to a greater and more sustained degree, that many of the other "skin-flicks" play on, uninhibited, sensational sex, and rather loveless at that, and all of this for the cost of just one, thin, five dollar bill.

Letters to the Editor

in pre-WW 2 Germany.

And third, in terms of genocide, 10% of the population, and the rest. Blacks have been 22 million strong since 1930. Have we been dying so fast that we've shown no rate of growth? See Death of America Part 2 (this issue) for some figures.

In terms of genocide, when did I say we would try to kill off all the whites? I said when the time came that genocide would be tried on us, we would go down fighting. In case you have forgotten, we've seen all these movies with Jews walking hypnotically into gas chambers and it won't happen to us. We don't even get arrested without a fight. So how do you think we'll react to mass murder? Check Harlem, 1964; Watts, 1965; Newark and Detroit, 1967 if you think we can't fight your American power to kill and oppress, especially when there's nothing to lose. We can't kill all white Americans, but we can leave a dent that will make you remember your slaughter of Blacks and reds and browns throughout your history. Black people want peace, man, peace. But if forced to, we can be deadly, deadly as you have never imagined. It's all right as long as we can laugh off the oppression. But start worrying when the laughter stops. And we've stopped laughing.

I apologize if I offended you (though I think the right word is scared), or if you felt threatened. Unfortunately, the truth remains the same. Many Americans and most students at this college are Europeans naturalized recently or warm in the soil for a few generations. Most Blacks are seventh and eighth generation Americans. When you came, my white friend, I was probably here. When you took on the freedoms and luxuries of an American, you took on the problems too, whether you like it or not. If you want your country to live, you'll fight to free Blacks with your life. If you don't, and you don't get killed during the race war which you will have precipitated by your inaction, you'll be left with the cinders of America. This is no threat, just a fact. Look at history, mister, it's there in black and white.

And if you can't figure out what the great problem is or what you can do about it, I'd make it my business to find out.

Senator Speaks Out

To the Editor:

Many people on this campus feel that the present student senate is doing an awful job when it comes to giving money to groups and clubs on campus. As a member of the present senate, all one has to do is look at the problem, and what one sees is a lack of money on the part of the Student Senate.

At the present, the Student Senate gets $4.00 per student to function on and this I am sorry to say is too little for a senate to function at a college as big as City. I say I am sad because with everything else going up I feel that enough is enough but the fact is that the Student Senate can't function as a Student Senate should and must on $4.00/student. I am going to ask for a student referendum to increase the student activity fee from $4.00 to $5.00/student for next year only. Next May another referendum will be held to make the one dollar increase permanent. Something has to be done because the newspapers are costing more and more to print because the cost of printing is going up at such a fast rate. It will come a time when the newspapers will eat up more than 80% of the Senate's budget, if they have not done it already and that will leave less and less for other student clubs and groups. At this rate there will very shortly be no need for a Student Senate — if for no other reason, the Senate wouldn't have a dime to its name.

It should be remembered that next May (1971) another referendum should be held to make the dollar increase permanent or to do away with it and to keep it to four dollars.

On another matter, I wish to ask for your help again — on the same referendum I would like to call for the creation of another executive post — named University Affairs Vice-President. The function of this post will be to represent the City College Students in all city wide university matters, that is matters that affect or will affect the CCNY student. His function will include S.A.C. and other matters in this area. The reason I see a need for the creation of this executive position is because it would give you, the students, a voice in the City Wide University matters, a position where the office holder would devote full-time to his job.

I ask for your help, the students of City College in calling for a student referendum this year.

Sincerely,
Richard Dicker

Support The Farm Workers' March On Washington May 3

The Farm Workers are sponsoring a March on Washington to dramatize their struggle for union recognition, a living wage and decent working conditions.

Demonstrate your opposition to the Nixon Administration which is trying to break the strike by directing the Defense Dept. to increase its purchase of grapes while continuing to subsidize the giant corporate growers.

The demonstration will begin with a morning march from Jessup Blair Park to the Agriculture Dept. Building for a 2 p.m. mass rally.

If you are interested in attending, fill out the coupon below and call Mike Stallman, City College Coordinator at LE 2-1452.
