

Hold Student Elections Tomorrow

'OP', NSA Holding Ball in Drill Hall

For an inexpensive evening of fun and entertainment, grab your best gal or guy, or come with friends to the Front Page Ball which is co-sponsored by the Observation Post and the College's N.S.A. delegation. The Ball, the first of its kind in the College's history, will be an informal affair, strictly for the blue serge set. Since Dec. 23 is the last day of school before the Christmas vacation, no problems of homework or exams will bother the gay College-coeds who are planning to attend.

Drill Hall, where the sound of marching feet is heard each day, will be transformed into an immense ballroom where continuous sentimental, hep, and rumba music will be played by a top-notch bunch of music-makers.

Refreshments will be served to tempt the choosiest gourmets and the entertainment provided will reflect the jovial Christmas spirit.

The Front Page Ball is really shaping up to be a gala affair, so start your Christmas and New Year Vacation off right, buy your tickets for 75c in Room 16A in the Main Building, and join the fun and merriment.

Senior News

There will be a meeting of the Senior Class in the Great Hall at 1 P.M. on Wednesday, Dec. 21. All Seniors are excused from class at that time so that they may attend.

Under discussion will be graduation, Senior activities for the Spring, membership in the Associate Alumni, graduate information and fees.

A Mystery Bus Ride is scheduled for Dec. 23. Information is available in the Senior Office, 109 Army.

Choose Major SC Officers, Class Reps and NSA Delegates in Ballot

By Jerry Tanklow

City College students will go to the polls tomorrow to decide who will be their student leaders next term. They will also voice their opinions on two points of a referendum to be presented along with the election ballots.

Our Choices...

IN ORDER TO support the kind of far-sighted, College-conscious candidates OP described in its Tuesday editorial, we have cut across all slate lines to select the individuals who can make Council a reality, who will make student government work.

We state unequivocally, at the outset, that we oppose both of the slates contending for your ballot tomorrow. We have selected, however, the really competent individuals, slate and non-slate, and we urge you to cast your vote tomorrow for:

PHIL SCHEFFLER for the Presidency of Student Council. Scheffler is, without doubt, the most capable, in-

Police Crack Down on Crime

In an effort to counteract the recent College crime wave, the police of the 30th Precinct have suggested a number of preventative measures designed to reduce the opportunities for robbery and other crimes.

The police reviewed the steps taken to prevent future muggings on College grounds. There is now more extensive patrolling by mounted policemen on Convent Avenue and St. Nick Terrace. The sector car will be patrolling Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue, and the car will be on the Terrace at regular intervals.

The police emphasized in this connection that students should not go to the 135th Street IND subway through St. Nicholas Park at night, but should use the 145th Street station.

The police suggest that all students put a code number inside their clothes, especially their coats. They warn that only stand-and-locks are safe, inasmuch as the little green locks used by some students can be "jimmied." Students are urged never to leave their lockets open and unguarded.

The College authorities also deplore the practice of leaving coats, books, etc., in offices, on tables, in lounges and other such unprotected spots. Many articles have been "lost" as a result.

Famous Dancers At YPA 'Fantasie'

An informal atmosphere of balloons silver streamers, and soft lightning will usher in YPA's Dream Fantasie on Dec. 17 at 8:30 P.M. in the Main Gym. The big attraction of the evening will be Katherine Dunham dance group, famous for its Haitian dances which portray sex mating and various taboos of the jungle.

Members of the troupe are Ing and Leonard, a dancing couple which is going to make a tour of Europe in the Spring. They specialize in ballet and modern dancing. The Misses Violines and Miller are two concert artists who project unusual mood themes and variations through the use of vocal tones and music, plus colored lightings.

Music will be provided by Duke Lewis and his band. He won the Esquire award for drumming.

Engineers Celebrate Tech School's Birth

The thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the College's Tech School will be celebrated on Engineer's Day, January 27, 1950. This event will take the form of an exposition of all Tech accomplishments.

In order to accomplish this there will be exhibitions of all the tech skills, including various types of engines, arc welding and centrifugal pumps.

It is expected that the program will start at 1:30 with student-guided tours and welcomes to representatives of industry, members of the BHE, civic leaders and all present.

The evening's events will be initiated by a color film of the College, which will be shown.

Rick Medalie, vice-president for educational opportunities of NSA, which extended its Purchase Card System to City College this week. Over one hundred and thirty stores are already signed up with the system. Among them are cleaning establishments, shoe and shoe repair shops, jewelry stores and book shops. Vim Stores have also joined the PCS. PCS Cards, at $1 per, are on sale today in Lincoln Corridor.

The referendum will be for a yes or a no on admittance of women to the College of Liberal Arts, and whether or not Student Council shall recommend that PAECT shall be granted a charter.

New Procedure

Elections, this term, will be conducted under a new procedure. Every ballot, to be valid, must have an SC election stub of a Student Activities Card attached to it. General voting will take place at 11 a.m. tomorrow, but for those who can't make it at that time, a ballot booth will be open in front of Knittle Lounge until 3 p.m.

Leading off on the ballot will be Leroy Galperin, Phil Scheffler and Stan Queler in a three-way race for SC President. Galperin heads the ICR ticket, Scheffler the SOS slate, while Queler is running as an independent.

Murray Katzman (ICR) and Bev Rubin (SOS) are the only two contenders for the SC Veep slot.

Sure Bet

A sure bet for Council Treasurer is Iris Agard. She is the only one running for the position.

For SC Treasurer there two candidates. Paul David Kagen is running as an independent candidate and Gerald Walpin on the ICR slate.

Candidates for other SC and class positions can be found under qualifications on pages two and three.

Except for the trial and disqualifications of three candidates who were involved in the disappearance of the student file cards in Lincoln Corridor, this has been a quiet campaign.

SC pundits claim that the lull in the campaign is due to the fact that this is the first term of the reduced Student Council, and consequently, a smaller ballot.

It's Funny?

Forget about elections. Read Mercury, which very humorously hits the stands today. It's funny. Also, to make it worth your money and your while, there is a full page portrait of the Queen of campus queens, Miss Mercury, Beverly Fallick '53. JE. 6-6663.

OP SEMI-ANNUAL ELECTION FORUM

Our Choices...

College community-minded candidate for the office of President. His experience as a Student Council delegate alternate make him fully familiar and able to cope with problems involved in the running of a body politic.

PHIL SCHEFFLER'S experience as Managing Editor of Observation Post marks him, furthermore, as an individual fully acquainted with the problems of the College-at-large. His well-rounded activities, which range from service on several College athletic squads to membership on the Bank Committee, have been potent factors in developing his "community view."

PHIL SCHEFFLER'S election tomorrow is the student body's strongest insurance against the "do nothing" type of Council he has had this semester. Unlike the incumbent, Leroy Galperin, he will not mar SC's chances of accomplishing student-service projects by continually forcing personal agendas on the Council floor. Unlike the third candidate, Stanley Queller, he has the personal drive and magnetism to lead and keep the respect of all Council delegates.

PHIL SCHEFFLER'S election to the Student Council Presidency tomorrow will rejuvenate student government at City College.

Candidates for Office Have Their Say...

SC Vice-Pres.

DENIED: THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE

This term's "talk" council, the same people running for re-election refused to charter a Tech union. FAECT:

1. The Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists and Technicians was REFUSED THEIR RIGHT to organize; thus violating the NSA Student Bill of Rights and an SC by-law.

2. Refused the right of students to decide by referendum.

3. SC Elections Committee recognize the petitions of 825 students for a referendum. This was more than the required number of signatures.

FOR A NEW STUDENT COUNCIL THAT WILL PROTECT STUDENT RIGHTS... THAT WILL ASK, INFORM, AND ACT—VOTE SOS.

Beverly Rubin.

The duty of the Vice-President is not to wallow in the glory of his title or to use his office to further selfish ends. Nor is the office to be a soapbox for expounding political or economic theories. It is the duty of the Vice-President not only to execute his administrative responsibilities but also to promote the general welfare of the Student Body. Advocating better student-faculty relationship and greater integration of the college community.

There can be no doubt about voting for SC Vice-President. BEVERLY RUBIN tomorrow.

MURRAY KATZMAN, one of the two candidates running for the office of SC Vice President, is, in our opinion, qualified to fill this important position.

The Vice President of our Student Council must be one who is able to coordinate the many committees of council and make them function as they should, for a Council, it may be said, is only as good as its standing committees.

MURRAY KATZMAN can do this and do it well. On the committees of Student Council that he has served, Katzman has been outstanding for his ability to work and work hard. As president of the F.D.R. Young Democratic Club he has had the organizing experience necessary for the Vice Presidential position.

Further experiences in giving service to the student body in handling students funds include: membership on the Student Faculty Cafeteria Committee of the entire CCNY Cafeteria (uptown and downtown) and the chairman of the Used Book Exchange Committee of Student Council.

Experience is the best teacher. Vote for the candidate with the most experience by voting for Paul David Kagen.

Ten thousand dollars of your money is being entrusted in this election to one student, the Treasurer. Let's stop mismanagement of the Fee Plan by electing someone who will distribute the fee funds with the student body in mind. To grant the students full benefit, fee funds should be distributed at the beginning of the term; not after the term is half over. Work during inter-session can supply the funds to the student body at the beginning of the term. Fee funds should be distributed on the basis of the number of students deriving benefit from the use of funds. Let's have a student fee for the students.

Gerald Walpin.

I AM A WRITE-IN CANDIDATE. Students will not find my name on the official ballot. I sincerely hope, however, that they will write in SY RICHMAN for the office of Student Council Treasurer.

This election is a comparatively quiet one, yet this does not permit the responsible office of the Treasurer of Student Council, or any other position, to go to those whose qualifications are only political or mediocre.

As administrator of Observation Post's finances, I have seen this paper through the strike and reorganization. I know the difficulties to administering a couple of thousand dollars of it. I know, too, the difficulties that the smaller groups have, for I've met and discussed their problems with them many times.

I urge you not to let almost $10,000 of your money, be ad-

The slate which is running for re-election this semester is the same one which was elected last semester on a "reform" tickets. Yet the present Student Council is worse than the one they said they'd reform, except in the "talk" department. They do plenty of talking, all right.

When you vote tomorrow, vote for a Council which will take some intelligent action on the vital issues facing the students—discrimination, students' rights, curriculum, and academic freedom. Vote S. O. S.—Vote for Phil Scheffler for SC President.

Phil Scheffler.

No campaign for student government posts should be run on national issues. All political organizations have a right to profess their beliefs. When, however, individuals transpose themselves and their organizations to such a local scene as a school election, it is time for an independent student body to repudiate them.

To all those people who have supported me in this election, I offer my thanks. I only hope that should I be elected I can live up to their belief in me and in my effort to provide the student body with an administration that will have as its basis the welfare of all its students.

Stan Queller.

We have perhaps been too successful. We now call upon the student body to decide whether or not it is dangerous for a candidate to follow his campaign promises. I promised a student government controlled by and acting only for the student body. We are now working on Proportional Representation elections, an effective Fee Plan, student fee support of athletics, institution of the student Bill of Rights, etc., etc. These are not promises, we have been working all term. Are these worth keeping?

Please defeat the right to destroy this term's effort. VOTE... before it is too late.

Politics is a good thing, in place. CLASS COUNCIL IS THE PLACE. Class presidents are no longer regular members of SC. This means that the president's main job is related to his class. By this reasoning people running for class office are some extent confusing what stand for. I'm not one of those people.

I stand for:

1. Formation of intra-class teams—basketball, etc.
2. A class bowling or skating party.
3. A minimum of one dance aside from hte tea.
4. A class newspaper which will interview one member in every issue.
5. Stronger class cooperation regard to an inter-council.

Each student will fill out the ballots according to the instructions printed on them. He will then detach the stub marked "Student Council Elections" from his Student Activities Card and attach it to the ballots with the pin that will be provided. Any ballot that doesn't have the stub will be invalidated.

The ballots will be collected or placed in the receptacles provided for them, depending on the polling place.

BY RICHMAN is our unanimous choice for the office of SC Treasurer. To vote for BY RICHMAN you must enter his name on your ballot as a write-in vote. His opponents—Gerald Walpin, strictly a "politico"—and Paul Kagen, lack much-needed maturity. BY RICHMAN has the maturity and integrity necessary for the job.

IRVING AGARD, running unopposed, is highly qualified for position of SC Secretary and should do a fine job.

In the class and SC representative elections, we endorse Kaufman, Class of '50, over Sophie Widman; for class Edwin Simon. We endorse Robert Florsheim and Ted Zimmerman for Reps, Class of '51. We endorse Bruno Lederer for the Presidency of the Class of '50 over Hadassah Linfield and Phil Lotter. In '52, we support Irwin Schiffres for SC rep. Stanley Naparst and Marvin Drucker are qualified. We endorse Walter Urban for the Presidency of the Class of '53 and Al Fioring for SC rep from that class.

Board of Directors
The members of the Observation Post Board of Directors (which determines editorial policy and endorsements) are: Marvin Weinberg, Phil Scheffler and Dave Weinstein, Observation Post; Jerome Plattner, Government and Law Society; Irving Epstein, Varsity Club; Andy Martin, Students for Democratic Action; Lester Nelson, United World Federalists; Lou Wortman, American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The Staff Protests
We, as the students who produce QP wish to voice our strong opposition to the selection of Murray Katzman by one-half of our Board of Directors for endorsement for SC Vice President. Katzman has always stood against everything which QP has supported. He opposed the student strike last semester, he has opposed the chartering of FAECT, he stands for the admission of students to Liberal Arts only with qualifications. Furthermore, he is a staunch advocate of one newspaper at the College. We feel it necessary to urge all students to reject Murray Katzman and cast their votes for a real candidate, BEVERLY RUBIN.

Politicians don't make the best treasurers. A treasurer is responsible to the entire student body and not to any faction of it. The record shows that I have been successful as an independent. I ran twice; I was elected twice! The treasurer's position is one which requires the full knowledge of the "ins" and "outs" of the Fee Plan. a concrete program to meet the needs of the Senior Class. What are the main needs of the Senior Class? They are:
1. Jobs after graduation. 2. A program to combat discrimination in employment. 3. A program to integrate experience and education.
What we propose:
1. Investigate discriminatory practices existing in fields we plan to enter. Forewarned is forearmed, in this case.
2. Cooperation with the Mayor's Committee on Unity, the State Committee Against Discrimination (SCAD), and such groups as the Urban League, to work for the removal of discriminatory barriers where they do exist.

3. An "On-the-Job" training program, integrated especially with the Senior Year of the Engineering Curriculum. This works at many schools—Why not ours?
On the question of Senior Class social activities, we are for the kind that ALL of us can attend, not just the select few that can spend ten to twenty dollars an evening.
We feel that continued absence

Seek 15th Straight Over B.C. Tonight

St. John's. Kentucky Head Bfl; Beavers Await Oldahoma Mon.

By Dick Kaplaai

Tonight is one of those rare occasions when Madison Square Garden entrepreneur Ned Irish isn't have to put all his eggs in one basket banking on Beaver courtsters to fit his coffers.

Ned has the greatest attraction in college basketball, the Kentucky Wildcats, in town to meet St. John's in the feature game—and what a game—of a doubleheader that finds the Lavender playing Brooklyn College in the opener, starting at 8.

The big danger in the presence on the card of the high and mighty Kentucky quintet is that Nat Holman's pupils may forget that they too have a ball game on their hands. You can net your bottom dollar that Brooklyn won't forget. The Kingsmen boast only one MSG date, tonight's fracas with those rich Manhattan cousins they've heard so much about, and nothing would please them more than to up-end, or at least frighten their peers. Coach Al Baggett has only to remind his men that all Alma Mater's gotten out of fourteen cracks at the Beavers is a 28-29 moral victory in 1935.

Chances are the improbable won't happen. Two-deep is tall, talented operative, Nat Holman, deep down inside, isn't too worried about this game, even though it's axiomatic that anything can happen on the hardwood. The club that's occupying the Maestro's attention at the moment is Oklahoma, due in next Monday evening, so tonight's contest will probably serve as a proving ground for any experiments the coach may want to make.

DiTomasso Troublesome

The only really troublesome individual on the Brooklyn squad is diminutive Mike DiTomasso, a fine set-shot who scored embarrassingly well in last year's 79-58 Beaver victory. Mike's shooting pulled BC within four points of the Lavender midway through the second half. 6-7 Don Seigelaub is Baggett's big man, but he hasn't scored in double figures even against weak opposition. Other Kingsmen starters figure to be Al Goodlerner, Al Post and Buddy Lanigan.

Statistics show Eddie Roman to be far out in front of the scoring parade thus far. With four games under his belt, Eddie has 61 points to his credit, slightly more than 15 a contest. In second place is Eddie Warner, with 45 markers, averaging 11 per. Unless something unforeseen develops, Roman should soar past Irwin Dambrot's seasonal scoring record of 276, established last season.

the center of all eyes as he leads the Sooners of Oklahoma U. against the Beavers at the Garden next Monday night, in what can't help but be a whale of a basketball game.

Oklahoma Powerful

Oklahoma, habitually strong, has one of its better fives this year, as witnessed by a 55-47 thrashing of Big 10 champion Illinois at Norman, Okla., and an early season 68-45 triumph over Texas. Coach Bruce Drake, who led the fight to limit the big man, has several of the same around this season. Besides Freiberger, he has 6-6, 230-pound Bill Waters, 6-5 Sherman Norton, and two fleet 6-3 forwards in Wayne Glasgow and Wayne Speegie.

Everyone in the Garden, especially Nat Holman, will be on guard for one of Coach Drake's super-duper trick plays. Last season his out-of-bounds violation almost pulled the game out of the fire, not to mention flustering Mr j Basketball into forgetting his rules long enough to protest the legality of the play.

... The NITs New Policy...

A few weeks back the Metropolitan Basketball Association released its plans for the 1950 National Invitation Tournament, to be held at the Garden March 11 through 18. The set-up is one that will undoubtedly please New York fans, who thrive on seeing one outstanding team after another display its wares on the Garden hardwood. Under the system inaugurated at the end of the '48-'49 season, there will now be twelve outstanding quintets in place of the eight teams previously chosen. However, there will be one important change in procedure.

In an attempt to insert a Metropolitan representative last year, the selection committee took the easy way out of a tough situation, increasing the number of teams from eight to twelve, and at the same time jamming four New York schools into the play-offs. Actually, none of the four local dubs had any right to be selected as far as their records were concerned. In the past, there had been at least one outstanding Met team to select for the competition, so action of that sort was not required. The outcome of these ridiculous choices ended in the speedy defeats of the New Yorkers.

But to get back to the before-mentioned improvement in the new plans. With the farce of last year still fresh in the minds of the committee, they retained the twelve year program with a stipulation that it would not be mandatory for a New York team to be one of the select few. This stipulation was an exceedingly wise one for a number of reasons. First of all, there will be an opportunity for excellent teams that were left out in the past due to limited openings, to vie for Invitation honors. More important though, is the fact that the committee will not be forced to repeat last year's embarrassing situation.

For one, would like to see a true tournament of champions, one in which the really great teams of the country would be fairly represented. We would like the Beavers to be one of the entries, but we want them to earn the right to participate and not be selected because our school happens to be located in New York, home of the tourney.
