W.S.S.F. Drive . . .

Today is the second day of the World Student Service Fund drive at the College. Contributions are being collected in Lincoln Corridor and in the lobby of Army Hall. The purpose of W.S.S.F. is to aid college students abroad with textbooks and supplies.

Intend to Call ROTC Corps Of Engineers

Only ROTC graduates commissioned in the Corps of Engineers will be ordered to active duty, due to the officers over-strength in all service branches except engineering, the Department of the Army announced last week.

Graduates with commissions in all other branches were previously called to active duty within ninety days of their graduation from college, but under the new provisions these men will not be called to active duty for at least six months.

Those graduating in January and not called to active duty at the present time will be required to serve beginning July 1, 1953, should they have signed deferment agreements.

For those students who have not signed draft deferments, and who will graduate this year, the Army has stated that they will be called to active service on or about June 30, 1953.

The above provisions will apply to Distinguished Military students who have turned down regular Army commissions prior to becoming eligible for active service.

Post Notes . . .

Applications for Manager of the UBE should be placed in the Student Council mailbox in Room 20, Main addressed to the present Manager. The pay for the position is $150.

Students in Freshman Assembly A need not submit the paper they were assigned Tuesday, Mr. Philip Brunstetter (Student Life) announced.

State Scholarship checks may be picked up now at the registrar's office. Students who have been awarded this scholarship should pick up this semester's check as soon as possible.

Here Today . . .

James Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, (above), Prof. George S. Counts, and Counselman Earl Brown will speak today at 12:15 PM in Room 308, Main, on discrimination in communist countries. The meeting is sponsored by eight College clubs.

Three Way Presidential Race Due To Spotlight Tomorrow's Elections

By Lis Rous

The Student Council election tomorrow will see a three way presidential race pitting Harry Pollak, S.C. Treasurer, against Dave Silver and Gerald Smetana, President of the class of '55. Mr. Smetana, a late entrant in this contest, was originally a vice presidential candidate.

Harry R. Pollak
SC Treasurer

OP Editorial

For SC President

OP believes that DAVE SILVER is the best qualified candidate for President of Student Council. Here's why:

The Student Council President must be more than the chairman of the weekly gatherings in Room 200. He must be a person of wide interests, familiar with the problems of the entire student body, and qualified to represent them as part of the college community.

DAVE SILVER is familiar with student government. During his two terms' service on Council, and as chairman of its Rules Committee, he has acquainted all those with whom he had contact with his outstanding ability. Yet DAVE SILVER is not only experienced with Council affairs. He has worked on many other co-curricular projects, and is skilled in the art of getting things done.

DAVE SILVER holds the interest of the student body uppermost. SILVER will strive for improvements at Manhattanville, and see that Council's committees are active and functioning. But most important, SILVER has maturity and intelligence, and in dealing with the faculty and administration, he will be an excellent representative of the College's student body.

OP feels that the work of the All-College Conference, begun this term, is too important to be allowed to lapse. DAVE SILVER, a workshop chairman at the Conference, is already working on setting up permanent groups to carry on the work of the Conference in revitalizing student activities.

It is for these reasons, his experience, his outstanding ability and his positive program, that we urge you to vote for DAVE SILVER for Student Council President.

The Other Endorsements

HANK STERN is the only candidate for Vice-President who has the qualifications and the program which can benefit the student body.

The return of MARV STEVENS to student activities is an encouraging sign. We support his candidacy for Secretary.

Both candidates for Treasurer are shockingly inept. To support either would be ridiculous.

MURPH KAZIM has devoted all of his available time to the class of '53 and its welfare. He will make a fine Senior Class President.

JAMES BERRY, MANNY HALPER, HORACE MANNER, and HANK STERN are best qualified to serve as National Students Association delegates.

We support JAMES BROUSAL for the post of '56 president.

We also endorse the following candidates:

- '53 Rep.: BERTRAM BILDNER
- '55 Rep.: ALLAN FLING
- '56 Rep.: MRS ELAINE GOLDSTEIN, PAUL LIPSCHITZ, STEPHEN MARGULIS.

The fight for second spot features Hank Stern, Student Council Secretary, Stan Friedman, and Stan Tarnell, '55 Rep.

Two Contenders

The two contenders for treasurer are Herb Viebrock and Barney McCaffrey.

The secretarial post is the goal of Allen Bard and Marv Stevens.

Four are vying for the spot of Senior Class President. Shel Halpern, this term U.B.E. manager, Murph Kazim, Treasurer of the class of '53, Bernie London, one-time '53 president, and Herb Isaacs, 1951 Carnival Committee Chairman. The aspirants for the Vice Presidency are: Barbara Milstein, and Bernie Kahn. For the treasurer's position are Harvey Goldberg and Lou Kavanau.

No Candidates

Although there are two, Sel Rosenthal and Will Viertel contesting for the president position, —in the class of '54 there are no candidates for vice president, secretary, treasurer, and three SC representative posts.

The presidential fight in the class of '55 is between Sam Landau and Paul Sevransky. Although the presidential spot in the class of '56 is uncontested and there are no candidates for Student Council, would severely limit the ability of the students to express differences of opinion in a public medium."

Gary Schlessinger, who believes merger to be desirable stated "I am for the merger because it will provide CCNY with a newspaper three or more times a week, give us better news coverage and save us money."

ON MERGER, COERCION AND INCOMPETENCE

Conference Be Damned

Last Friday evening, a special meeting of Student Council was called to consider placing suggestions that had been formulated by the All-College Conference workshops on tomorrow's ballots to be voted upon by the student body.

The Publications workshop of the Conference was evenly divided on the question of merger and therefore did not recommend it. Yet some members of Student Council saw fit to completely ignore the purpose for which its meeting had been called, and railroaded the merger question on to tomorrow's ballots.

This is irresponsible government.

Vote "No" on merger.

By ignoring the recommendations of the Publications Workshop, certain persons in Student Council who supported the All-College Conference have gone on record once again as a group rich in verbiage and bereft of constructive action. The report of the Conference, the gift to be presented to President Gallagher at his Inauguration, has already been besmirched and violated by Council's action.

This is irresponsible government.

Vote "No" on merger.

Competence Here?

Not only do we deplore this surreptitious attempt to force merger on the student body, but we seriously doubt the competence of Student Council to judge the issues in this case. In all modesty, we feel that we on OP and the other newspaper's members are in a better position to determine whether a merger on the basis proposed by Council is desirable or, indeed, even feasible. The question on tomorrow's ballot is an underhanded bait for the students to swallow.

This is irresponsible government.

Vote "No" on merger.

The Merger Case

Not yet convinced that the students know what is best for them, certain members of Student Council have once more insulted our integrity and intelligence by putting on their ballot a question concerning a proposed merger of the Observation Post and the Campus.

Just one year ago, Council pushed the merger question onto the ballot. It had hoped to make it easier for itself to coerce the only means of mass communication at the College—the two newspapers.

The College's population would have no part of any proposal limiting its voice. They voted it into, what most considered to be, permanent oblivion, by nearly a 2 to 1 majority (1949-1021). This term, a majority of Student Council sees fit to try, once again, to usurp the power of the students and take away their only means of expressing their divergence of opinion.

The mere fact that each of the newspapers differs in its endorsement of candidates for office points out the most important reason for having more than one outlet for student opinion. Only if we are willing to assume that the entire student body is of one mind can we be in favor of a merger.

We cannot sanely make this assumption.

Vote "No" on merger.

Representative Body?

A segment of Student Council is being hypocritical when it proposes a merger after having expended much breath and effort in its attempt to have the results of the All-College Conference taken seriously by the College community.

Council's action, we feel, sidesteps the considered recommendations of the Publications Workshop, assumes it knows better than the students, faculty members, and journalists which comprised it; and Council proposes a merger. If there is to be a proposal for merger, it must come from the groups which are familiar with the many problems and ramifications of newspaper production.

The editors and staffs of the newspapers were not even consulted.

Thus, an often dormant, but benign Student Council took action and revealed its glaring incompetence last Friday night on that issue.

Is Council Necessary?

Members of Council would do well to keep in mind that SC exists only by virtue of the continued grace and consent of the student body.

We are supporting Dave Silver for SC President because we feel that he can give Council the sincere, down-to-earth, competent leadership it needs. There are many failings that must be removed from our student government. Dave Silver is the only man qualified to undertake the task.

That there is doubt about the need for Student Council as it exists here is apparent. We wonder what would happen if the newspapers were to submit a referendum to the students calling for Council's abolition? What if it were to pass? Why not put THIS question to the students, Council?

Free Press and Force

Why then do some people, both students and faculty, favor one newspaper on this campus? Do they realize that one newspaper would be more easily controlled than would two? Do some proponents of merger want it in order to save money rather than really benefit the College?

The newspapers come out with fifteen issues each term. Club news and other College functions count on the papers for publicity. The benefit of two newspapers is direct and certain.

Vote "No" on merger.

Coercion and Pressure

Observation Post has been struggling for the entire term to have its charter, cumbersome, unworkable and outdated by five years, revised. Student Council has accused us of exerting "pressure" in order to get our revision approved. Yet—no action was taken—until Monday. Suddenly, as if by prestidigitation, a list of alleged Observation Post charter "violations" was brought into the picture and the paper was under consideration for suspension.

It is strange that the alleged "violations" were suddenly spotlighted on the very day, and at the very same time that we were endorsing candidates for Student Council. It is a strange coincidence that several candidates for Council office who did not receive our endorsement, were factors in the attempted suspension.

Who here is exerting pressure? Who is being hypocritical? Who was more interested in the actual endorsements than in the "violations" of the Observation Post charter?

Student Council, which has been very free with its theoretical discussions on academic freedom, student rights, etc., etc., apparently fell a little short when words have to be transformed into deeds. We will not be intimidated by a group political hacks on SC.

Vote "No" on merger.

Observation Post has been at the College for the past five years. We expect to remain on campus until such time that a competent and accredited decision calls for a new system—a system which will work to the advantage of the student body.

This infamous and shifty merger proposal hardly works to anyone's advantage, Council excepted. Their attempt, direct and otherwise, to force merger, must be accepted for what it is: an empty-headed, thoughtless and high-handed measure to precipitate a shot-gun wedding of the two papers.

This is irresponsible government.

Vote "No" On Merger

We refuse to be coerced. Pompous individuals, setting themselves up as judges of a problem on which they can hardly be termed as experts are trying to put something over on the two newspapers and on the student body. Their attempt to suspend us last Monday shows the McCarthy-like depth to which some frustrated and neurotic persons will go to achieve their selfish ends. To reiterate, we refuse to be coerced by irresponsible government!

We hope that the students feel the same way. It is in their interests, as well as ours, to vote down the merger proposal and to elect those people to office who show qualities of level-headed thinking and honesty.

Vote "No," on merger.

Vote against irresponsible government.

Need For Revision

What is the situation in Student Council this term? Is the group representative of the student body? Has it done any work? Are politicians in the saddle, and, if so, what can be done about it?

Observation Post feels that Council has done some constructive things this term. It has record of service projects performed: past final exams again on sale, club publicity mimeographed, a Ticket Bureau operating five days a week, instructor's schedules at registration, scholarship directory published, freshman advisors, etc.

However, unpublicized work consumed most of Council's time. Pressure was maintained on the City for a higher budget and dorms at Manhattanville. Discrimination in fraternities was under fire from the Civil Liberties Committee. Most important, however, was the All-College Conference, sponsored by Council, which has already recommended vital revisions in many phases of College life, including student government.

Meeting time was cut from eight hour Friday sessions to a business-like three hour session Wednesday afternoons. All in all, it's been an uphill term for Council, but above all a learning period.

Nevertheless, there remain basic weaknesses in Council's structure. They are simply this: 1. Council is not composed of student leaders. It's membership is mediocre, and not capable enough to deal with the real problems facing the student body. 2. Council has lost touch with the students. Current disinterest in elections is a sign of this. Only those who "know somebody" vote wisely, and Council members go their own merry way, rarely even trying to consult the people in the classes they "represent."

How can these faults be remedied? Can Council ever become a meaningful body, core of a real student government?

Observation Post strongly believes that it can. The idea of student participation in the government of the university is essential. It is beneficial to the development of the students, and vital in their lives as members of the university community.

There is one way in which these goals can be achieved. That way has been found and now needs only to be put into practice. It is the complete structure revision approved by the All-College Conference and currently being presented to the Council.

This plan, which Observation Post strongly advocates, consists of setting up Organizational Councils, composed of club presidents, to allocate student fees and co-ordinate club activities. It involves cutting Council membership from 40 to 24; making it a meaningful body of student leaders, who really represent someone.

Dave Silver, Observation Post choice for Council President, is solidly behind this structure revision. The ideas will be presented to this term's Council in January.

Letters

Name-Calling

I am writing to you on the articles asking for naming the newly acquired buildings in Manhattanville. I am a student of City College currently on a leave of absence. The December 3, 1962 issue reached me with the aid of one of the prettier female students with whom I correspond. I would like to suggest that the buildings be named after prominent alumni, both living and dead. Two definite suggestions are Hazam Hall and Baruch Building.

Open Letter

An open letter to Martin Gruberg, President of the Young Republican Club

Dear Mr. Gruberg,

Being neither a member of YPA or the Young Republicans, and holding my own opinion of what should be done in Korea, I criticize your name calling in challenging YPA to a debate on the Korean peace issue.

You may be a Republican but first you must be an American and a gentleman. In your slanderous attack on this organization you have disregarded the American principles of fair play which were so nobly expounded by a great American and Republican, Abraham Lincoln.

In my opinion, you owe YPA an apology. It was Ralph Waldo Emerson who said, "We may be of different opinions at different hours, but we may always be said to be on the side of truth."

Statements Issued by the Candidates

Presidential Statements

Harry H. Pollak

Next term's SC President will have the important job of instituting the reforms suggested by the All College Conference.

The present Student Government is not as effective as it might be. It must be reorganized in order that:

- It plays a more effective role in responding to student feelings.
- It plays a more effective role in communicating this student feeling to the faculty.
- It works in closer connection with the faculty in order to translate its action into concrete results.

This should be the goal of Student Government.

David Silver

Again, as in past semesters, Council cannot be accused of having had a very production term. Many attempts are made to explain this. One candidate speaks of "cooperation and college community" while the other repeatedly charges "dictatorship." Neither of these is new—many candidates have said this, some have even won, but it has not changed Council.

Student Council should be reorganized so that:

- Student Government reflects the opinion and needs of the students in all phases of college life; and
- There is decentralization of Council which would spread responsibility along the lines discussed at the All-College Conference.

Gerry Smetana

Tomorrow Student Government is on the line. The politicians are again trying to make it a sounding board for personal interests. I want to keep Student Government in the hands of the students.

I have entered the race for President on the honest conviction that council needs fresh leadership working on the behalf of all the students. I intend to provide that leadership.

Experience is the best teacher. I feel my 1955 Presidency, chairmanship of the Public Relations Committee has been an apprenticeship during which I have worked for the students.

My record speaks for itself. Use the ballot wisely.

Vice-Presidential Statements

Stan Friedman

It is apparent that Student Council is neither respected nor held to be valuable. I believe this situation can be changed by electing mature officers and representatives, and by bringing into student government those volunteers who want to use their heads and energies, not their voices.

This future lies not in our hands but in those of the present Freshman class and the classes to follow. I believe it the special duty of Council to work in close cooperation with student orientation groups in order that students can enter this school with strong spirit and high hopes.

Hank Stern

Let me say that it is almost impossible to compress any meaningful statement of my experience, program or conception of student government into one hundred words.

I agree, in general, with the generalities expressed by my opponents. But such vagueness is not helpful in term of the real problems facing the College.

Specifically, I feel that my work as SC Secretary and Final Exams chairman has qualified me by means of experience. Also, a concrete reorganization plan, already submitted to Council and approved by the Student Government workshop of the All-College Conference, is the most adequate, realistic program of any candidate.

Stan Tarnell

And another SC election is approaching.

And campaign promises are still being made.

And issues are still being violently fought.

And Rm. 20 still provides the majority of candidates.

And the election is here.

And many students still forget to bring their student activities card.

And many others who have them don't care to vote.

And the election is over.

And the same students of parliamentarian procedure dominate Student Council.

Please vote to change this situation.

Vote for Stan Tarnell for SC Vice President.

Secretarial Statements

Allen J. Bard

What is the function of Student Government? It is an organization designed to give various services to the students and generally to coordinate co-curricular activities. However, it has still a more important function. It must also represent the students' voice as a governing factor of the school community, cooperating and working with faculty and administration. This work, started by the All-College Conference, must be continued.

Let us remove from office those who seek personal aggrandizement and those who would use Student Council as a political spring-board. Elect Allen Bard for SC secretary.

Merv Stevens

It's always difficult to write an article like this. You want to say something original, something good and different. But it's tough. Because you discover that everything has been said already.

Candidates usually point to their experience, their opinions, and maybe that they are just a nice guy or gal. Well, my experience is printed above—my article in the other newspaper will state my opinions—and as for me being a nice guy, I think I am, but if you get the feeling that I'd really try to represent you on the Student Council, let me have your vote.

Marks And The Man

IV - Grades and Gallagher

By Jerry Ludwig

"The problem of marking," Dr. Gallagher began, "is a continuously perplexing one. It's definitely something that the Conference should try to deal with. For myself, I don't know of any system that works perfectly."

"There is a wide variety of practices," he said. "In another college of which I was president, our system was to mark 'S' for satisfactory, 'U' for unsatisfactory, and 'H' for highly excellent. But some of the students complained that there wasn't enough discrimination made for those who fell between those grades."

Another plan, which President Gallagher offered in his book, "American Caste and the Negro College," is to have each student measured according to his own capabilities. At the time of admission to college, the potentialities of a student would be discovered by examination.

"The bright student couldn't just coast through," the President continued, "and the less bright student by dint of hard work could excel. A student capable of 'C' work who did 'B' work would be considered an 'A' student; a student with 'A' capabilities, but who did 'C' work, would fail."

One problem that immediately arises with this plan is that of graduate school. "An 'A' student (under this system) might come to graduate school with a false sense of security. His 'A' achievements might not be equal to another student's. But perhaps even the graduate schools could be changed," he remarked.

Most of the proposed systems tend to become more complicated than they are worth, the President feels. He fears an over-emphasis on grades. "There are certain inherent difficulties. Some students tend to seek grades merely because of the draft, or for prizes, or for a feeling of success." Learning is the object of college, he reminds them, not grades.

"An instructor must be careful not to use marks as a whip over the class," he said. "I once heard of an instructor who began each semester by telling his class that they were all going to get 'B's, and 'now let's get down to work.'"

President Gallagher, while not particularly advocating this solution, feels that this idea of not allowing grades to stand in the way of teaching is an admirable one.

Emphasizing once again that the marking problem has been, and is, a continuous one, the President concluded by reiterating; "It definitely should be thrown into the 'hopper' for the Conference to discuss."

CCNY Debate Team Is Third In Tournament

In a discussion on the question of compulsory fair employment practices legislation, the CCNY Debating team came in third from among twenty six eastern colleges in the annual Hall of Fame Debate Tournament held last weekend. The team won five debates, and lost three.

The negative side, those against Compulsory FEPC, consisted of Harv Mayer and Phyllis Schoenberger. This team, in beating Princeton, Howard, Lafayette, and George Washington, remained one of the two undefeated negatives in the tournament.

The affirmative team, composed of Hartley Chazen and Mike Corner, was able to defeat Temple, but bowed to Navy, Pennsylvania, and Wilkes.

"Thirty"

By SHELLY KOHEN

"You're graduating in January? That's wonderful! What are you going to do?"
"Look for a job."

I give the answer blandly, trying to hide the fear that grips me whenever I think about it. For sixteen-odd years I've known what I was going to do next month, next year, the year after. Elementary school. High school. College. What next? A job. What? Where? How?

I know WHAT it is I want to do, and the WHERE doesn't matter too much; but HOW?

When I hit that word I begin to think about the years I've spent in schools and how I went about getting what I wanted. It wasn't easy all the time, and I had to do a lot of fighting.

After eight years in elementary schools I wanted to go to the Bronx High School of Science, but I couldn't—only boys were admitted. I attended Evander Childs. When my first year was completed Bronx Science became co-educational. I was lucky enough to be one of 120 girls accepted as "guinea pigs" in an experiment.

We had to prove that co-education could produce as good a student as segregated education. We did more than that. Bronx Science received more accolades—scholastically and otherwise—after girls were admitted than they ever had before. We proved to be good "guinea pigs" in a difficult, but worthwhile, experiment.

After four years in high schools I knew what I wanted to study and where I wanted to study. The same barbed wire fence confronted me then. Why? I wanted to study film production at the City College Film Institute—but that was part of the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences. A sign hung there—"No women admitted."

I found a how. I became a member of the School of Education and took courses in the Film Institute, anyway. (I was called a "cheat and liar" by a dean for doing this.) But because I was "in" I could fight. And we won our fight—breaking down a barrier that had existed for 104 years.

Was it easy? No. Fighting in the open—in the newspaper, in Student Council, in countless campus organizations—and hoping, at the same time, that the dean wouldn't look at your record card and discover that you had taken six of the eight accredited film courses and only two education courses—no, it wasn't easy—but it was worth it.

I imagine that the four years I've spent at the College have been the stormiest the College has ever seen. When I was a lower freshman there was the renowned student strike and all its after-effects. As a sophomore I saw the College reap the harvest of a double-champion basketball team. In my junior year we discovered that the previous year's harvest was not so great, for the seeds and the soil were rotten. That year also saw women accepted into the chaste halls of the School of Liberal Arts. My senior year has seen the College reach a new stage of maturity where it has faced academic corruption squarely and has not been afraid to wield a big broom.

But now? January 23, 1953, at 10 AM I will be "out." Out of school. Out of a job. It's difficult to fight when you're "out" and not "in."

I've learned a lot in four years. I've found people like "Teddy" Goodman, Profs. Irani and Berall, Dr. Myers—who taught me of the "good side" of life. There were lots of "nice guys" who squeezed themselves into my crowded academic career. And then there were the Fultons, the Knickerbockers, the Davis—who represented what it was I had to fight.

In a little while I will learn what it is I have really learned.

Ex-Cage Ace Tells Truth About 1907 Scoring Record Set Against Adelphi

By Herschel Wasserman

Tommy Holm's foul shot with five seconds to go in the CCNY-MIT basketball game last Saturday night was more than just another tally in the routine drubbing of an undermanned Engineer squad. The free toss broke a previous scoring record of ninety-five points established in 1907, which has been tied several times since then.

In the course of their 96-56 victory, Howe Buss dropped in 20 points, for the Lavender, but Holm was the hero of the hour as we scored the point that put the new mark in CCNY record books.

Back in the low scoring days of 1907-08 CCNY encountered a pitifully weak Adelphi team. At that time, Adelphi had very few male students, and later became an all-women's school, although now it has male basketball players galore, as Coach Dave Polansky found out on Dec. 6. The Lavender rolled over Adelphi by a score of 95-11.

Abraham Barbanell, whose mark of 33 points in that game is 1 point shy of the College record set by Sid Trubowitz against Brown, in the 1943-44 season dug back into the past, and recalled, "We didn't have a real coach that year. I was coach, captain and teacher rolled into one. On the side I even sold tickets. It wasn't until 1908 that Lenny Palmer was installed as coach. The game was essentially the same, being played in two periods of twenty minutes each. The old center jump was also used, and this cut down the actual playing time because instead of putting the ball in play immediately after a basket, like they do now, it had to be brought to mid-court for the jump. The clock didn't even stop between a basket and the ensuing tip-off. "But a team had to be really bad to have 95 points scored against it. In that year we still played down at 23rd Street, and the fans were yelling for us to score 100. We had a very good team that season. That was the first of the really good City College teams."

In direct contrast to the astronomical total compiled in 1907 City lost to Rochester and St. Lawrence in the 1914-15 campaign by respective scores of 6-26 and 8-10. In comparing the usual low scoring games of that era with the record setter, Mr. Barbanell said that a big reason for the low scores was incompetent officiating.

"Why sometimes," he said, "the minute you'd get the ball some guy would grab you and jump on you and the officials wouldn't do anything about it. But the main reason for those 95 points was that Adelphi was just a very bad team that year."

Wrestlers Cop Initial Victory By Six Points

The City College's wrestling team won its first match of the year by defeating the United States Merchant Marine Academy, from Kings Point, 18-12, last Saturday, in the Tech Gym.

The match was a tremendously exciting one and was not decided until the final bout, with CCNY's co-captain, heavyweight Bernie Lloyd, pinning 250 lb. Bruce Schwager in 4:20 with a double bar-arm bridge. Before the pin, Lloyd had compiled a 6-0 lead via a take-down, near-pin, and reverse.

Two other Beavers also pinned their men, and the five points for each pin plus one three-point decision gave the Lavender its total of eighteen points. Kings Point scored four decisions, accounting for their twelve points.

In the opening bout, City's Jack Gesund, 123 lbs., pinned Joe Gold in 3:15 with a half nelson body-press, and Steve Levin, 130 lbs., pinned Bill Snell in 5:42 with a half nelson crotch hold.

The other Lavender victory came in the 147 lb. class. Stan Kaplan, wrestling in place of the injured Connie Norman, decisioned Marion Gibbons of the Mariners, 9-0.

The results:

- 123 lb.—Gesund (CCNY) pinned Gold (MARINERS) 3:15
- 130 lb.—Levin (CCNY) pinned Snell (MARINERS) 5:42
- 147 lb.—Kaplan (CCNY) decisioned Gibbons (MARINERS) 9-0
- 159 lb.—Zelenskas (GIBBONS) decisioned Zaro (CCNY) 11-3
- 167 lb.—Molloy (GIBBONS) decisioned Miller (CCNY) 8-2
- 177 lb.—Fronstler (GIBBONS) decisioned Goldman (CCNY) 7-0
- Weight—Lloyd (CCNY) pinned Schwager (MARINERS) 4:20

Treasurer Statements

Barney McCaffrey

It's hard to put in "a hundred words or less" everything you'd like to say about yourself. You have to keep everything cut and dried, like saying "because of my wide experience in dealing with people, I feel I can bring Student Council closer to the students," and "I'm in favor of more money for clubs through an increase in the long static student activities fee," and "disbursement of money more for the primary purpose for which the clubs were founded." Then end with "If you've read my leaflets, you know where I stand on all other questions."

Herbert Viebrock

The Student Council Treasurer must insure that the Fee Funds are spent in the most efficient manner. The student body must get maximum benefit from their Student Activities Fee.

Two important reforms will achieve this:

(1) Exorbitant fees charged clubs for using certain facilities, which incur no extra cost to the College, must be abolished.

(2) More money must be appropriated for functions in which all the students participate rather than those of special interest to student politicians, i.e., reduce leaflets.

I believe my experience in Student Government and on the S.C. Committee qualifies me to perform the duties of Treasurer.

ARMY HALL MEN'S SHOP

Along the Sidelines

With Ed Lipton

Money, we are told in elementary bookkeeping, exists in many forms. Among these are bills, coins, checks and postal money orders.

Since our withdrawal from Madison Square Garden, sports at this school have suffered from a shortage of this particular luxury.

Although all varsity teams are functioning this year, there is only one freshman squad (basketball) in existence. All other frosh aggregations have been disbanded.

Unfortunately, no clear-cut solution to the financial problem has prompted the writing of this column. Money happens to be the only panacea.

Therefore it is necessary to work with the funds available, and to try to make them serve the largest number of students possible. The 1952-53 Budget is as follows:

| Athletic Teams | | Allocations Other Than Sports | |
|--------------------------|--------|--|----------|
| Baseball | $2607 | Medical Supplies | $500 |
| Basketball (Var. & Fro.) | 6326 | Band | 100 |
| Basketball (Women) | 706 | Cheerleaders | 200 |
| Basketball (Commerce) | 506 | Contingency Athletic Supplies | 500 |
| Boxing | 1170 | Contingency Athletic Equipment | 200 |
| Cross Country | 657 | Faculty Manager | |
| Fencing | 1961 | Contingencies | 75 |
| Lacrosse | 1546 | Insignia and Awards | 500 |
| Rifle | 473 | Printing, postage, telephone, office supplies, insurance, etc. | 1448 |
| Soccer | 1194 | | |
| Swimming | 654 | | |
| Tennis | 612 | | |
| Track (Indoor) | 697 | | |
| Track (Outdoor) | 1695 | | |
| Wrestling | 858 | | |
| Totals | 21,782 | plus | $523 |
| | | | $25,305 |

Items of expenditure for athletic teams include services of officials, custodial and other personnel, entry and registration fees, athletic supplies and equipment, reconditioning, organization dues, traveling expenses and meals, guarantees, laundry and dry cleaning, court hire (tennis).

A quick glance at this budget should bring several questions to mind.

Does the boxing team for example which is receiving $1170 this year, but engaging in only three matches, deserve so much of the students' money?

Might it not be possible to form two teams, enabling twice the number of students to participate in athletics on the funds formerly used by one?

It might be. But under the system now used for distributing money, we'll never know. At the beginning of the school year varsity coaches submit their estimates of expenses to the AA office. After the allocation of funds for the varsity teams are decided, freshman teams are created if there is any money left over. This year there wasn't. When pondering over possible varsity status for the golf club, weightlifters and several women's teams, one is thinking in abstract terms.

The students are paying for it, and they deserve a program that would directly benefit more of them. Some of the sports that are less popular with the student body, but expensive nevertheless, should be eliminated in favor of more economical ones.

It's about time that the powers-that-be considered the students, when making out their annual budget.

City College Swimmers Lose to Columbia After Touching Out Jaspers in Last Race

By Steve Masburg

Led by Dick Auwarter, the Columbia Swimming team swamped the City natators at the Lavender pool yesterday by a score of 54-30.

Auwarter captured the 150 yd. Individual Medley, the 200 yd. backstroke event and swam in the winning Medley Relay. City College was paced by Jay Glat who won the 50 yd. freestyle and touched out John Timoney in the 100 free. The only other Beaver victory was Stan Worchel's first in the 440. Although having taken seconds and thirds, this was Worchel's first triumph in two years of competition. He also placed second in the 220.

One of the closest races in the meet was the 100 yd. freestyle. It took the judges a long time to figure out the winner, but they finally decided on Jay Glat's $7 second performance. Bernie Lloyd though coming in third in the dive, had a fine day on the board and garnered 57 points.

Dunk Jaspers

Nipping George Gross at the finish of the 400 yd. freestyle relay, Glat gave the City College swimming team a 48-35 victory over Manhattan College at Riverdale last Saturday.

The meet was closer than the score might indicate, as the relay was the deciding event. Glat, trailing Gross by more than a body length, managed to beat the Manhattan Natator by not more than two inches. Ironically, Gross had previously beaten Glat in the 50 and 100 yd. freestyle events. Tony Sousa contributed thirteen points to the Lavender cause by winning the 150 yd. individual medley and the 200 yd. backstroke event, and placing second in the grueling 440.

Fresh Lose . . .

CCNY's Freshman hoopers lost their second game in four starts to Fordham University's yearlings by a score of 67-53, last night at the Fordham Gym.

Fordham Swamps Beaver Five, 73-53

Fordham University's powerful attack in the second half was enough to swamp the City College five last night at the Rams' Gym by a score of 73-53. The Beavers, behind by only two points at the half, 32-30, could not cope with Fordham's fast break in the second half, especially in the third quarter, when they were outscored 22-8. Jerry Domershick and Jack Chudnoff were high for the Beavers with 13 and 12 points respectively. However, scoring honors for the night went to Fordham's Ed Conlin. He tallied 17 points, and was closely followed by teammate Allan "Buzzy" Larkin with 15 points.

Leopards Place City on Spot This Saturday Night in Gym

By Joe Marcus

The Leopards of Lafayette College will roar into the Main Gym, this Saturday, to face the City College Basketball team. The visitors will attempt to repeat last year's victory.

Cocher Dave Polansky of the Beaver, rates the Leopards as a very fine team, as this season's record will indicate. This year they defeated Swarthmore and Upsala before bowing to undefeated St. Joseph's and New York University.

Pete Carrill, last year's high scorer, is gone, and Coach Van Breda Kolff has had a great deal of trouble filling the gap. Rick Weissenbor, 6-4 forward, is the high scorer on this year's team. Rick is averaging close to seventeen points a game and has a good variety of shots. Leon Miller will probably start at center for the Leopards. A 6-5 junior, he has shown a great deal of improvement since last season. Carry Ahl will probably start at the other forward position for the Lafayette "5." Carry has an excellent one-handed push shot, and does a major share of the squad's rebounding.

Best Playmaker

One of the guard positions will be handled by Chic Quigg, 5-10. Chic is one of the best playmakers that the Leopards have had in recent years. According to Coach Van Breda Kolff, the show will probably be stolen by little John Alvingi. John is the smallest man on the squad, measuring only 5-7. Besides being a top playmaker John possesses an excellent set shot. In the NYU game John tallied a 52-foot set shot.

The Beavers continued their fine shooting in the second stanza, and midway thru the period enjoyed their biggest lead of the night, 4 points. Both teams used a fast break to advantage in the first half, but the passing, especially for the Lavender was somewhat on

Fast Start

In the first quarter City started fast, sinking their first 4 shots. At the end of the period the Lavender five was on top 16-15. City's brilliant first quarter shooting was matched by the tremendous boardwork of Fordham's Dan Lyons.

The Beavers immediately went into a full-court press, but the Maroon broke men away from City's close guarding with several easy baskets.

At the start of the second half, Fordham tallied 11 straight points, to jump to a 43-30 lead, before a foul shot by Howie Buss broke the string. At the 5:30 mark Jerry Gold scored City's first field goal of the period.

Subs In

With two minutes to play in the third period Dave Polansky substituted an entirely new team, consisting of Artie Diott, Tommy Holm, Ronnie Kowalski, Charlie Rowe, and Walter Tannenbaum.

With four minutes gone in the final quarter and Fordham leading 60-38, City's regulars came back in.

The Beavers immediately went into a full-court press, but the Maroon broke men away from City's close guarding with several easy baskets.
