Pres. Gallagher Introduces Self Tomorrow in Great Hall

President Buell G. Gallagher will introduce himself to the faculty and student body tomorrow at 12:30 in the Great Hall. The President will be introduced by Joseph Clancy, Student Council Prexy.

After a short speech of about fifteen minutes, the floor will be open for questions from the audience. In order to facilitate the questioning there will be six hand mikes located at various places in the Hall.

The original idea for the speech? was presented to the President the semester. President Gallagher during an interview with an OP reporter before the beginning of

Professors Have Right In Political Life—Prexy

In his address before the teachers' group, President Gallagher intimated that while almost dvery professional group "from Astronomy to Zoology" is in some measure politically active, "school and college" teachers are similant be used as an excuse singled out as the shining exception."

> The City College President admitted that there are "legitimate concerns which urge that teachers leave politics alone," principally the fear that a man who is politically active is too partisan for the classroom.

But President Gallagher explained that there are greater considerations which must be studied. He stated that a teacher must teach citizenship, and questioned ais audience: "Can a asserted, "can be holding in suspension his own democracy."

active in politics, but they have rights as a citizen?"

The President continued: think not. This is why I hold that he must, himself, exercise his citizenship. Not merely to insure the health of the democratic process today-important as that is-but also to hold a candle of hope for the future. . . . Among his responsibilities as a citizen is his duty to participate in the political processes through which the decisions of democracy are made. . . . (But) he cannot be a partisan propagandist."

For Exclusion

President Gallagher also discussed the exclusion of communists, fascists and racists from the teaching profession, an exclusion which he upholds as essential.

"No one who adheres to a closed dogma," the President trusted to teach teacher teach citizenship while children and youth for life in a Registration for the annual blood drive will continue until Friday. The registration points are outside Knittle Lounge, Tech Cross Roads, Army Hall and Lincoln Corridor.

The Bloodmobile will be at the College on October 23 and 24. The Blood that is collected at the College will be divided among the Red Cross and the Armed Forces. All students are urged to give blood to better r's total collection of 750 pints.

Forum Rule Looked Into By SFCSA

The Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs decided to re-examine their forum rule, which requires that in order for controversial speakers to appear in the Great Hall a "forum-type" program must be presented.

Prof. Kenneth Clark SFCSA Chairman

At their meeting last Thursday, SFCSA decided to become a committee of the whole in order to look into the controversial forum rule. By using this method, SFC-SA can meet in a more informal manner to discuss the question.

On Tidelands Oil

OP believes that the tidelands should be turned over to the Federal Government with the profits from the oil on these lands being used for education.

in the last session of congress a bill to this effect was introduced. The principal sponsor of this measure was Senator Lister Hill of Alabama. We make mention of the state Senator Hill is from in order to show that even a senator from a tidelands state could put national interest above local interest. But one high-minded senator was not enough: the resolution was defeated. That fact in itself was dislivartening, but the measure that was passed was even more so. This measure would have done just the thing the oil companies wanted to do: it would have turned the tidelands over to the states to sell to the highest bidder. Fortunately, the president vetoed this bill.

Some students may wonder why we bother to write an editorial about something which happened last spring. Our purpose is a vital one. The nation is approaching one of the most significant elections in history. It is important that voters are apprased of the issues and the records of the candidates. Many "northern liberals" or rather those who like to be called liberals voted against using money from tidelands oil for much needed Federal aid to education and in favor of the measure supported by the oil companies.

OP urges all voters to look up the record of the candidates for office on tidelands as well as the other issues of this important campaign, and to vote accordingly. It is only by making use of all available knowledge on issues, policies and records that the voters can make intelligent choices for Federal, state and local officials.

OP would also like to remind students of voting age with the proceeds going to a that this week is registration week in New York City. If you do not register you cannot vote and if you forfeit your voting privilege, you don't deserve the right to gripe about those who are elected.

On Book Lines

A situation which had been steadily growing worse finally came to a head this term with the appearance of ridiculously long lines which extended from the book store to the Cafeteria's entrance.

The problem has largely been a result of the students' inability to buy all of their books during registration week because some of their instructors did not list the texts they intended to use. Even if they only had one book to buy, they still had to stand on line.

There is, we believe, a simple solution to this problem. If all instructors were contacted and made known their selections, the titles could be published and circulated in the same way as the names of all instructors and the classes they were teaching was made available, this term, at registration by a committee of Student Council.

The availability of this information would go a long way toward making the beginning of a new semester a formality rather than an ordeal.

Blood Needed

Once again, as in previous semesters, the call goes out for blood. Now, at the beginning of the term, when we have just_started to get over the excitement of registration and the rush of textbook-buying, such a call is troublesomebut not quite as troublesome as lying on a battlefield or on a hospital bed-waiting for the blood you didn't give.

You are asked to register this week for the current Red ('rose blood drive. You will be asked on October 23 and 24, when the "bloodmobile" will come to City College, not to give your blood, but to lead it. You will not be donating blood but putting it in a bank, until such time as you, or any member of your immediate family has need for it. Sign up now to make your deposit. The interest is paid off in lives.

CCNY Variety Praised By Columbia's Wournen

The richness of variety in subject matter at CNY" was praised this week by Professor Wournen, chairman of the History Dept. at Columbia University.

the discussions "very stimulating." Nationalism captured his interest in 1923 when he wrote his master's thesis on that sublect in Clack University. "Nationalism and Internationalism," was his most recent work in that field.

Wournen first met Prof. Kohn while the latter was teaching at Smith University. "I'm no less a believer than Hans Kohn in the importance of teaching nationalism to promote better understanding," he commented. A strong believer in international cooperation on a firm level, he hopes in this way to "tone down nationalistic extravagances."

Prof. Wournen further expressed the hope that Columbia would initiate a course in nationalism similar to the one here at City as The high calibre of the History Dept. and its curriculum" has particularly impressed him.
