Survey Reveals:

Crowded Classes Still on Increase

By JACK LEVINE

Classes are becoming continually more overcrowded as a result of an increase in the non-instructional staff, according to a survey conducted by Professor John C. Thirlwall (English). Professor Thirlwall declared,

Every new non-instructor added to the staff results in a larger section size. The quality of teaching and the standard of scholarship diminish markedly as section sizes rise." He pointed out that, in general, sections of basic courses have increased by at least four persons more per section since 1940. He continued, "Lecture classes and discussion classes have suffered the most because of space limitations of the labs present too much overcrowding."

The budget for the teaching and administrative staffs is based on the size of the college enrollment. One "line," representing salary for a fifteen-hour weekly teaching schedule or an equivalent administrative position, is apportioned to the college budget for every 14 students enrolled. This semester 112 1/3 lines out of the 615 lines on the present budget are being used for non-instructional positions. This represents an increase of 29 1/3 lines over the Spring 1952 figure. That increase and the loss of 13.77 lines due to a decrease in registration have resulted in the loss of the equivalent of 44.14 teaching lines.

Harry N. Wright
At Meeting in 1951

College chapter of the American Association of University Professors presented a report dealing with the situation before the chapter. President Wright and the four Deans were present at the meeting and agreed, "The situation was unfortunate." However, according to Professor Thirlwall, "In practical terms nothing has been done and the problem is growing worse every day."

Presidents . . .

The four Club Senate positions on Student Council will be filled by student election on Dec. 18. SC's Executive ruled yesterday.

Only club presidents are eligible for election to these posts. Petitions are available in Room 20, Main and must be submitted by 2 pm Friday.

Carnival . . .

The City College Carnival Queen will be chosen from the five finalists (left to right: Sylvia Grodin, Debbie Melis, Gertrude Lucke, Sylvia Schneider and Barbara Spirro) this Saturday evening at the House Plan-sponsored Carnival, which will be held in the new Student evening Building on the Manhattanville campus.

Tickets for the affair may be obtained at House Plan for $3 a couple.

World News

Due to the strike of photoengravers which has caused the seven major New York City newspapers to suspend publication, OP prints below a summary of the important world and local news as a special service to the student body.

Wildcat Walkout on Docks

A wildcat strike has swept the New York waterfront. The old International Longshoremen's Association, which was expelled from the American Federation of Labor in September, walked off their jobs and tied up the waterfront yesterday. The men reportedly quit because they were denied work permits by the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission.

Vishinsky Hits US at UN

Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet delegate to the United Nations, called the United States atrocity charges "a pack of lies" in the UN yesterday. Vishinsky charged that the US fabricated the charges in order to becloud the issues and forestall peace in Korea.

"War, Near," Gouzenko Says

Igor Gouzenko, former code clerk who exposed a Russian espionage ring in Canada, told the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that "a third world war is near." Gouzenko decided not to testify before US Senate investigators because the Canadian government refused to guarantee his security if he did.

SDA Defends SFA's Right to Win Charter

Students for Democratic Action has defended the right of Students for America to become a recognized organization on college campuses throughout the nation.

Monday afternoon, consideration of the charter for SFA at City College was postponed for a week when an SFA representative failed to appear at a meeting of the executive branch of the student government.

Students for America applied for a charter two weeks ago.

In a letter addressed to SDA officers, national executive secretary Galen Martin stated that "SDA has an obligation to fairly investigate these allegations to protect the rights of SFA as well as to insure that academic freedom violations are not falsely claimed."

Martin said that insofar as SFA meets the standards set for college groups by the SDA Bill of Rights, liberals must support their right to be recognized as a group on campus. We who sincerely believe in student rights must support the rights of our opponents as well.

Students for America, formerly known as National Collegiate Clubs for MacArthur, was formed in 1952 to support the candidacy of General Douglas MacArthur for President of the United States. MacArthur is now Honorary President of SFA.

The group has made repeated attacks on SDA and the U. S. National Student Association for alleged leftist leanings.

Holman, Sand Wait:

BHE Trial Ends; Ruling Due in Jan.

By JOAN SNYDER

Summations for the prosecution and the defense of Nat Holman and Harold (Bobby) Sand, suspended basketball coach and assistant basketball coach, respectively, were delivered yesterday before a three-man trial board committee of the Board of Higher Education, concluding the seven-month-old hearing. Sand and Holman, with Frank Lloyd, former Chairman of the Hygiene Department, were charged with conduct unbecoming a teacher and neglect of duty in a report submitted in November, 1951, by the Board of Higher Education Committee on Intercollegiate Basketball. The Committee had conducted an investigation of basketball "scandals" at the College. Lloyd chose to resign rather than face trial.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Milton Mollen, summing up the charges against Sand, declared that "his tortured attempts to extricate himself" revealed his lack of the proper moral, educational, and ethical concepts required of a teacher. The major piece of evidence for the prosecution, a letter written by Sand to former basketball star Ed Warner which proposed to split any money gained from a proposed South American tour among the members of the College's basketball team, was termed a "fantastic document" by Mr. Mollen. The Faculty Athletic Committee had approved the trip on condition that each player receive only one dollar a day for expenses. Mr. Mollen further charged Sand with participating improperly in a recruitment program of high school basketball stars. Characterizing Sand as "the chief salesman," Mr. Mollen said that he had inculcated in his players the idea that "the end justifies the means."

Sand's Lawyer Replies

Bernard Fliegle, counsel for Sand, countered that the Sand-Warner letter had been "blown up out of all proportion," adding that what had taken place at the College was just "a drop in the bucket," in comparison with happenings at other colleges throughout the country.

Mr. Mollen called Holman's appearance on the witness stand "the greatest example of buck-passing I have ever seen. Everybody was responsible except Holman." He accused Holman of acting in collaboration with Lloyd and Sam Winograd, former Faculty Manager of Athletics, to suppress the Sand-Warner letter, and of defying a BHE subcommittee. "Holman's ideals and his actions were completely divorced," he said.

The trial board committee will submit its report to the Board of Higher Education in January.

Corrupt Journalism

In yesterday's issue of Campus, a full page was devoted to news of the forthcoming House Plan carnival. This seemed a commendable thing, giving so much space to a student activity. It was later learned, however, that Campus' motives were far from altruistic. It seems that they requested and were granted money from the Carnival Committee in payment for printing the page.

There is a difference between accepting advertising and taking bribes. By taking money to run one type of news over another, the editors of Campus have chosen to ignore over 100 years of journalistic ethics. By printing as "news stories" what in actuality was a paid advertisement, Campus has prostituted its pages.

There is no question but that the newspapers have insufficient funds with which to operate. As we have often stated in our editorial column, our fee allocation does not permit us to give college events the coverage they deserve.

But there are ways to get money, and the way Campus has chosen is not a good one, certainly not in a moral sense.

As you have probably noticed, we have a story about Carnival on our front page. We are publicizing this event to as great an extent as our meager funds permit, in the same way that we publicized this term's Student Union Ball and last term's Inaugural Ball. We do this free of charge. We consider it part of our job.

Your Council

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their student government. This is the week petitions are being circulated among the student body by various candidates for Student Council and class office.

Student government at our College is an entity that expands when it receives student interest, and shrinks in the cold of mass apathy. If you feel that you want a share in what passes for your government, pick up a petition in Room 20.

There is still time to secure the fifty signatures necessary by Friday. You can't change the world, but you can do your share into making CCNY a better college.

Allagaroo!

Once again City College has a championship team. Last Friday, the soccer team staged a dramatic last period drive and defeated Queens College in the playoff for the Metropolitan Conference Championship.

The Beavers were guided through the campaign by a man who had never coached soccer before, George "Red" Wolfe. Under his inspiring leadership, the team "clicked" and came through despite injuries to such key performers as veterans Bill Saites and John Koutsantanou.

OP would like to extend a sincere, hearty allagaroo to the soccer team and Mr. Wolfe on a fine season.

Ugly Men (Ugh) Depart As Dream Girl Arrives

... and so it came to be that the place which tradition had designated to the Ugly Man was taken by the Dream Girl.

It wasn't too long ago that the students of the College gathered around the "ballot" boxes in Lincoln Corridor to elect an Ugly Man. On Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 14 and 15, the coins will jingle in the Corridor again and when the pennies are tallied a Dream Girl will have been chosen.

The "election" is being sponsored by Dramsoc in conjunction with their forthcoming production of Elmer Rice's play, "Dream Girl." The qualifying rules are simple; any matriculated female undergraduate at the Main Center, who is not a member of any college theatre group, is invited to submit her picture to the Executive of Dramsoc by Friday, Dec. 11.

Five finalists will be chosen by the Exec and their pictures will be placed, accompanied by coin boxes, at the head of Lincoln Corridor. All proceeds go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association and the candidate with the bulgingest box will be declared the winner.

The membership cards distributed by the national organization state that members must favor 'Christian principles.'

I consider this apparent attempt to slur SFA before the large number of Jewish students at the college not so defamatory to SFA as to Christian principles.

Whether we care to think so or not, these Christian principles form the basis of our moral law. And yet, these precepts cannot be considered as merely Christian, for they can be found in the teachings of many men.

Robert Everett Stanfield, '57.

Swimmers Face BPI on Saturday

The City College Swimming team will open its 1953-54 season this Saturday against Brooklyn Polytechnical Institute at the Beavers' pool. Jack Rider, Coach of the Lavendar mermen, is looking forward to a strong season. His optimism is based on the return of nine lettermen as well as the performances of some of last year's freshmen.

Sirutis Guides City Pugilists

By Jerry Saltz

Intercollegiate Boxing Champion in 1930, Golden Gloves heavyweight king and International Amateur Boxing Champ in 1931, Yustin Sirutis is now returning for his thirtieth season as head boxing coach at City College.

Sirutis, who also campaigned in professional ranks as a heavyweight from 1932 to 1939, has had unusual success in developing and maintaining student interest in boxing as evidenced by the fact that City College is the only metropolitan college with a boxing team.

Sirutis pointed out that careful safety measures are vital contributing factors in maintaining boxing "at a high developmental level" at the College. "We supply headgears, mouthguards and believe in pairing off boys of equal ability in our inter-squad competition. All boys on the squad are given the same attention. Learners, beginners, novices and sub-novices are all treated alike."

Coach Sirutis has had much administrative experience in his field, and is boxing director for the Police Athletic League in New York City.

Sirutis was graduated from New York University in 1932 with a Bachelor of Science degree and received his MA degree from the same school.

The nucleus of the freestylers will be formed by co-captain Jay Glat, Met 220 and 440 champ

Howie Schloemer, Stan Worchel, and last year's freshman Captain Ben Trasen.

The backstroking will be done by Tony Sousa, a swimmer who should become one of the best in the conference. Other dorsal men are Arnold Farber and Norman Moskowitz. The latter will also be a performer in the individual medley.

Swimming in the breaststroke events will be co-captain Bob Kellogg, Vic Fulladosa, and Mike Epstein. The diving will be done by Lou Ruffino who transferred from Queens College in the middle of last season.

City Boxer Olympic Ace

Arnold Slomowitz, a senior at the Baruch School, is one of the American athletes who competed in the Fourth Maccabean Championship games, held in Israel last summer.

"It was the greatest thing that ever happened to me," Arnold says. "It was certainly a very broadening experience to be able to travel all over Europe and meet so many great athletes as a member of the US squad."

Actively interested in boxing for only the past years, Arnold is now a stalwart member of the City College boxing squad.

Slomowitz triumphed in an elimination for the Israelian Olympics in this country thereby qualifying for the American team. In Israel he competed along with such first-rate athletes as Henry Wittenberg, former National Inter-collegiate Wrestling Champ from CCNY;

Boxing against an Israeli, Arnold won a three-round bout to capture the 178 lb. light-heavyweight championship at the international Jewish sports festival.

As a member of City College's boxing team, Arnold won two of his three bouts last season as a heavyweight and will box in the light-heavyweight division for boxing coach Yustin Sirutis this year.

Soccermen Prove Fighting Champs

"This year's team showed that they had the fighting ability to bounce back from near defeat," stated head Soccer Coach George "Red" Wolfe after the Beavers had captured the Metropolitan Inter-collegiate Soccer Championship by defeating a strong Queens College, squad, 2-1, last Friday at Brooklyn College. Tommy Holm was the star of the contest as he scored the tying marker with 15 minutes remaining in the game and came back three minutes

Beavers overcame a two goal deficit to nip the Mariners, 4-3. However, Brooklyn College then pulled a major upset, by topping the Lavendar Soccermen, 1-0, on a penalty kick. Gus Naclerio adding to the team's woes, left the squad because of personal reasons, and things looked black for the Cityites as they met undefeated Queens College. But again the Booters came through as Phil Lotter tallied the lone marker of the contest and City was victorious, 1-0.

The Beaver attack started to roll as Pratt fell 7-0, and the Long Island Aggies were dropped from the top of the loop, 4-1. A strong Lafayette team took the measure of the Booters by winning, 1-0, but the following week saw the Soccermen defeat Stevens Tech, 3-0. Marcus.

The Beaver Booters opened their season by knocking off a highly rated Brandies squad, 6-2. Then disaster struck as the booters met Kings Point. Johnny Koutsantanou and Bill Saites, who were counted on to lead the Beaver scoring attack this year, were injured in that game. The

Beavers Face Adelphi Sat.; Rip Weak Hunter, 97-64

By JOE MARCUS

The City College Basketball team will seek its second consecutive victory of the current campaign this Saturday when it takes on a powerful Adelphi College squad in Garden City, Long Island.

The Beaver Hoopsters are anxious to avenge last year's five point setback at the hands of the Panthers. The Beavers opened their season last Saturday by setting an all-time high point production for CCNY basketball as they overpowered Hunter College, 97-64.

This year's Adelphi array will be led by Captain Don Payne, a keyman in last year's Panther victory over City. Don was the leading scorer of the club last year and also the key playmaker in the Adelphi attack. However, Ed Grant, who was the second leading scorer and top rebounder last year, has been declared ineligible.

The tallest starter on this year's squad is Bill Balomone, who stands 6-4. Bernie Ehrlich, who measures 6-3, will be the man that Coach Flaherty may call on to replace Balomone. Other starters this year will be Jack Glynn, who displays a good variety of shots, John Maher, 6-3, pivot man, and Bill Moje, a guard with a deadly set shot. Last Saturday the Beavers had an easy time against a weak but determined Hunter College array. Jerry Domerschick led the Lavender scoring parade with a total of 23 points. Every Beaver performer got into the game as Coach Polansky attempted to keep the game from becoming a complete run-away.

Herb Holmstrom, who played his first game for City in three years played a good game along with Mervin Shorr. Marty Gurkin's tap in with ten seconds remaining in the contest gave the Beavers the new record.

The Hunter score set a new record which was set last season when CCNY defeated MIT, 96-56, breaking a record which has stood since 1907 when the Beaver Hoopsters scored 95 points against Adelphi College.

Men Behind the Scenes

By JERRY STREAR

Mr. James W. Reid, College science assistant, is responsible for the issuing of all equipment to the teams at City College. In that capacity he has come into contact with almost every athlete at the college since he took over the position in 1946.

"I have met some of the finest athletes in the country at City College," he said. "They are some of the nicest boys that I have ever had the pleasure to meet. The more I see of them, the more I realize that athletics has been a great asset toward helping them in their life's work."

"I have frequently run into former athletes from this College, and many of them have been successful in life," he continued. "Their ability to take a loss has helped them very much in their personal endeavors."

Jimmy attended Howard University in Washington for three years where he intended to major in religious education. He played some baseball at first base, and was manager of the track team. Commenting that his favorite sport is track, he added, "I didn't go out for track because I was too slow for a sprinter and lacked the endurance for the distance runs—I managed the team instead."

After leaving college in 1936, he worked in New York under the Community Recreation Program of the Board of Education. During the war years, Jimmy was employed at the Norfolk Navy Yard as a mechanic. In September of 1946, he came to CCNY.

Evaluating the athletic picture at the College, he said, "When students take an interest and come out for athletics, eventually they are bound to make additional friendships. Those friendships usually last through life because they are built up under circumstances when one man is depending upon another."

Beaver Frosh Perform Well

"We played good but we still need a great deal of practice to beat some teams in the area," stated Freshman Basketball Coach George "Red" Wolfe, after watching his charges overpower Hunter College, 82-56. The Beavers came up with several very sharp looking performers who handled the ball well and displayed a rounded attack.

Coach Wolfe had special praise for the performances turned in by Ralph Schefflan and Bob Welcôme, both of whom scored twenty-four points. Bill Lewis tallied ten markers in the first half but suffered a sprained ankle.

Coach Wolfe remarked: "We started slow but hit our peak in the final stanza when we scored thirty-two points. John Curcuruto and John Piralo also turned in good games."

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.
