College's Right to Name Itself Beneficiary Upheld

The right of City College to be designated a $320,000 beneficiary is the estate of Jacob R. Schiff was upheld on December 24 by Surrogate William T. Collins.

Under the provisions of Mr. Schiff's will, an advisory board consisting of the presidents of City College, Columbia University, and the Jewish Publication Society of America, etc. to manage the residuary estate and contribute funds, income and principal, to such institutions as they feel are attempting to "further the ideals of American democracy." The legality of City College, a member of the advisory board, to designate itself as beneficiary, was questioned by the Chace National Bank. It felt that "a" was disqualified from dealing with the trust under his supervision.

In handing down his decision in favor of City College, Surrogate Collins noted that the bank and conceded that the advisory board was influenced "only by the highest of motives." At the time the will was drawn up, Dr. Harry W. Knight and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower represented City College and Columbia, respectively. President Gallagher and Dr. Grayson Kirk, respectively. President Collins of City College, as the president of the advisory board, Mr. Louis E. Levering, represented the Jewish Publication Society of America.

The Chace National Bank may appeal Surrogate Collins' decision, but as yet no such action has been taken.

To Call College Students If Draft Quota Not Filled

Unless local draft boards begin calling 19-year-olds for military service, they will be forced to rely upon college students to meet their monthly quotas. This was the forecast of Dr. Steward V. Clark, the College's Director of Armed Forces and Veteran Counseling Division.

The local draft boards are presently beginning to run out of their supply of available 20-year-olds and are faced with the problem of either draft

Senior Office Suffers Theft

Walter Urban, President, of the Senior Class, reported that the office was disorganized with the resultant loss of several hundred dollars' worth of jewelry.

Mr. Urban expressed the belief that the robbery probably occurred on the night of December 17. The door of the senior office was found to have marks on it which would indicate that a jimmy, or some other device for forcible entry, had been used to open it. It is therefore believed that the thief may have used a key in order to gain entrance to the office in which the jewelry was kept.

Mr. Urban stated that because of the robbery there would be a delay in the delivery of rings and keys to the seniors. He added, "I hope the seniors will understand and be patient while awaiting delivery of senior jewelry."

The winners for National Student Association delegate positions were Manny Halpern, Hank Sieber, Arnold Bergman, and James Berry. Harry Mannor and Manny Solos were elected as BDM association delegate.

The referendum favoring a twenty-minute break between classes was rejected by a vote of 1781-1321. The students overwhelmingly stated their preference for the present system of one two-hour break on Thursday for club activities. Alternative plans on the ballot were for two one-hour breaks or two two-hour breaks.

Sheldon Halpern (227 votes) defeated three other aspirants for the office of BDM Class President; Bernard Lomand (384), Richard A. Newman (110), and Herb Isaac (99).

Sal Rosenthal (255) narrowly defeated G. P. for the post of Junior Class President, and the other another contest. Paul Sweny (298) was President of the Class of '56 codec. J. B. for the post of President of the Class of '56.

Elect Downtown Alumni Head

David D. Feldman of the class of '38 has been elected president of the Alumni Society of the City College of New York. Other officers elected at the society's annual meeting were: 1st vice president, R. Bernard Graefinger '38; 2nd vice-president, Paul Feldman '41; 3rd vice-president, Sigmund M. Manzel '40 treasurer, Philip Brodsky '44 secretary, Samuel Rosenfeld '46, and historian, Sally A. Abraham '38.

Can you "take it" 6 days a week? For 52 weeks? Can you meet the high standards required to be an Aviation Cadet? If you can — then here's a man-size opportunity! An opportunity to serve your country and build a personal career that will fit you for responsible positions both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard — especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

Are you eligible? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement — it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26 years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

You can choose between pilot or aircraft observer

If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

Here's what to do:
1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination.
3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet Training Class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

Where to get more details: Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer. Or write to: Aviation Cadet Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Gallagher, Other College Heads, Give Views on Communist Inquiry

In a statement requested by James Wechsler, Editor of The New York Post, concerning the recent disclosure by Senator Joseph McCarthy that he would launch an investigation of college faculties for subversive influences or "Communist thinkers" President Buell G. Gallagher stated that he is unlawfully opposed to the hiring of Communists or fascists as teachers at the College and that the process of identifying Communists in colleges must include the safeguarding of civil rights and academic freedom. "We are unable to make such a denunciation of any suspicion of disloyalty. The President added that "different methods accompanied by frecy publicity tend to create an atmosphere of fear rather than faith, of hysteria rather than confidence."

President Gallagher stated that wherever possible, the normal processes of law enforcement should be used to take care of any suspicion of disloyalty. The President added that "methods accompanied by frecy publicity tend to create an atmosphere of fear rather than faith, of hysteria rather than confidence."

President Gallagher concluded that every group must produce an occasional scoundrel without being condemned as a group before the public. He stressed that boards of trustees and college officials were responsible for defending the integrity of schools and colleges against outside pressures, but they should also facilitate the discovery of the guilty.

Dr. David M. Dolo, President of Wagner College on Staten Island, expressed wonder over how Senator McCarthy defines the expression "Communist thinkers." Dr. Dolo said, "If he means anyone who does not think the same as Sen. McCarthy, then there are in the list of trouble." The Wagner President emphatically stated that "we have no Communists at Wagner College. I do not expect that there will be any." He warned that we are doing just the Communists want done when all men with new and different ideas are tarred with the same brush.

The permanent Senate Investigating Committee, of which Senator McCarthy becomes head in the new Congress, is one of three investigating bodies that will be in the field of alleged subversion. The other two are the House Un-American Activities Committee and the Internal Security Subcommittee.

Dr. Vincent Lart, director of university development at Bardham University, said it was embarrassing that a government investigation of a college was "even necessary." He stated that "Franklin D. Roosevelt has not on her faculty or staff in the student body one member in sympathy with Communism or staff or in the student body.

Executive Committee of NSA Meets; 'Leftist' Charges Vehemently Denied

By Hank Stern

Meeting in frost-tinged Detroit for five days during the Christmas vacation, the national executive committee of the U.S. National Student Association (NSA) discussed attacks on NSA, the 18-year-old group, and policy and program for the association for the next six months.

Charges by Students for America, formerly the National Collegiate Clubs for MacArthur, that NSA was an "insidious leftist pressure group" were vehemently denied by leaders of the association. They pointed out that NSA was "non-partisan and non-political," and that its efforts to end discrimination and maintain academic freedom were being mis-construed.

Allegations that NSA was both "dying of stagnation" and "overly conservative," made in an editorial in the NYU Heights Daily News, were not publicly denied.

The executive committee approved by a 12-4 vote, a proposal that the 1960 NSA National Congress stand, in favor of an 18-year-old vote, was rewritten, and that the officers be directed to lobby for this proposal before the U.S. Congress.

Trenchman May Apply for Test

On February 8, a civil service examination to qualify junior engineering students, who desire to work in California after graduation, will be given on a nationwide basis. Applications must be in the hands of the California State Personnel Board, Sacramento, by January 31.

Graduates can go to work at their chosen jobs in California upon completion of their graduation requirements, with the beginning rank of junior civil engineers varying from a starting salary of $241 a month, a top of $285, and frequent opportunities for advancement. Positions exist in nearly all parts of the state.

The examination will be given at or near all campuses where there are qualified applicants. Descriptive bulletins and applications are available at the placement office in Townsend Harris.

"Oh Ugliness, Thy Name Is Gabe Silver," at City

By Steve Weather

The mob in Lincoln Corridor surged restlessly, waiting for the victorious candidate to appear in a couple of weeks. For they had been out for the last four hours and were now well pleased some had even seen the front door opened by the teachers. The crowd stood around, waiting for the election. Then, loud footsteps were heard coming down the hall. The crowd shuddered and turned away. The Ugly Man had come.

Many of the disgruntled observers felt that the campaign possessed a certain resemblance to the sum of Gabe Silver's attributes. For example, that his opponent had been the only one to present a consistent, logical, and well-thought-out campaign. Some of them even claimed that Gabe Silver's attributes were all that the students had to look forward to. He had not presented a single campaign promise that they could hold him to, and his slogan of "The Man You Can Trust" seemed to be the only thing that he had to offer.

"The Ugly Man," as he was known, stepped into the room and looked around. He then turned to the students and said, "I have come to speak to you today because I believe that we need a new leader here at CCNY. A leader who will listen to the needs of the students and work to meet them."

"I have seen too many students who have been ignored by our administration. They have been forced to take on responsibilities that they should not have to bear. And yet, they have been promised something in return."

"I believe that we need a leader who will work to make CCNY a better place for all of us. A leader who will stand up for the rights of the students and work to make sure that these rights are respected."

"I believe that I am that leader. I will work tirelessly to make CCNY a better place for all of us."

The students, however, were not convinced. They had heard promises before and they knew that they would not be fulfilled. They listened to Gabe Silver speak and then went back to their studies, waiting to see what would happen.

Obsolescence, Fluorescence, Quintessence

An unprecedented action, seemingly without any possible parallel in CCNY's recent history, has occurred this week in various places around the campus. Fluorescent lighting has come to be a reality at City College.

The reports from awe-stricken students who have been trickling in and/or discomforting these situations may conceivably be causing their long-heralded preparation to prove to be merely the fore-runners of things to come, and anticipate a general trend toward better lighting, as still doubted by many of the students. These tendencies reflect an obvious fact that the long heralded preparations may conceivably be coming to pass.

At the risk of disillusioning and/or disgusting the reader, it must nevertheless be reported, in the light of these happenings, that the time has come to try his technique on human beings.

The old adage that some good will come of everything—even ugliness—was borne out when Alpha Phi Omega, which sponsored the contest, announced that $800 had been collected for the Manhattanville Community Center.

The 19 year old Silver, supported throughout by his fraternity, Tau Delta Phi, was an English major and hopes to enter the teaching profession.

To those repugnant individuals who hope to follow in his rather preponderous footsteps, he has this message: "Either you're born with it, or you're out of luck. Ugliness is God's gift."

The Aftermath

Student Council elections are over. A new set of representatives has been elected, but, frankly, we fail to see what has been proven. Most students didn't know the candidates, didn't know what they stood for, and seemed to care less.

There was little campaigning. Students were not able to keep a sharp eye on any of the candidates. Most candidates decided to rely on anonymity to enable students to voice their opinions on a matter concerning their welfare.

They did. A proposed merger of OP and Campus was defeated 2-1. The margin of defeat for merger showed an apathy concerning this vital question.

No!

One year ago, a student referendum was placed on the ballot for the purpose of enabling students to voice their opinions on a matter concerning their welfare.

The ballot had two positions, candidate positions, which had to be chosen. With but two positions, candidates will have to fight harder to get elected.

This change of Council's structure, in addition to all its other benefits, would result in the phenomenon of having the students know who they are voting for.

The General Senator

Senator Joseph McCarthy recently disclosed that he intends to investigate college faculties for subversive influences and "Communist thinkers." He decided, from his studies, that the specific disease of Communism which he claims has developed into a plague in the nation's colleges. A harsh, all-purpose medicine often kills the patient, and if the Senator is not careful, he will have no illness left.

We wonder, for example, how the Senator expects to differentiate between "Communist thinkers," Marxists, card-carrying Communists, liberals, and open-minded instructors. It is obvious that the Senator has no idea of the difference between the specific disease of Communism which he claims has developed into a plague in the nation's colleges.

The service he performs is regarded as essential to the College system. He is unfortunately invisible to secure the colleges and he unfortunately invisible to secure the colleges and he would not know what to do if he discovered it. His hands are forever filled with unanswerable documents into cogitative and time in which it is to be answered.

We feel that Senator McCarthy needs more "clearing up" before he attempts to speak on his subject. If such a discussion were held here, Senator McCarthy might learn that students are not interested in his ideas or his views and that they do not care to hear what he has to say.
Coach Sapora underscored the dilemma by stating that "we're responsible for the undergraduates' lack of enthusiasm for the sport. Since 'City College doesn't have a cheerleader, Evelyn Price, the first member of an anticipated cheering squad. She holds the burden of lifting the grapplers' morale, in addition to the vacant seats.

Coach Sapora lauded the matmen, besides handling their own publicity, just recently purchased the uniform for their own publicity. There is a decided note of gloom about the usually jocund campus eaportmen.

Harry Karlin Appointed Varsity Tennis Mentor

It's still a bit early to say that spring is in the air, but the college's sports program for the coming semester began to take form this week with the confirmation of Harry Karlin, varsity tennis coach.

Dr. Karlin, who will complete his third year of service in OCC's Hygiene Department on March 1, has become known by all students who have been in his classes in the hygiene program or down at the pool. He is an accomplished athlete, having mentored the Lavender swimming and water-polo teams to a great degree of success.

Holder of an associate professorship in the Hygiene Department, Dr. Karlin classifies himself as "just an average tennis player," who will attempt to turn the Bearcat defeated Lafayette, 53-50, on December 20, Tufts, 81-58, on December 27, and Rutgers, 86-84, last Saturday.

Lafayette, surprisingly weak eight years ago, is the Bearcat savior every year, by scores of 25-18, 16-11, 23-20 and 21-20.

The Tufts game, a very well-played one, was the Bearcat's third straight win, the first in the main part of two foul shots by Donerskich, and they were never bettered.

Despite a tremendous last-minute rally, the City College team won its fifth game of the season by beating the Scarlet, 86-84.

The Beavers held a 10-point lead with two minutes to play but were unable to hold the lead as baskets by Spencer and Larry Gordon, in addition to a pair of free throws by Jack Willett, cut the lead to six points. With the score 84-81, Howe Bob converted two free throws to clinch the game for the Bearcats.
