

53% Opposed To Extending Vote to 18's

Fifty three percent of City College students are against lowering the voting age to eighteen according to a survey of 362 students conducted by the Observation Post. Of the students polled, over the age of twenty-one, 72% opposed lowering the voting age while 50% of those under twenty-one favored it.

Although 61% of the students interviewed under the legal voting age felt they were personally qualified to vote, only 37% felt that eighteen year olds in general were qualified.

Girls Doubtful

When broken down further, the OP poll showed that 80% of the men between 18 and 21 considered themselves as meeting the necessary requirements but only 48% of the girls interviewed under the age of 21 felt themselves qualified to vote. All but 3% of the over 21 group considered themselves qualified to exercise their right as citizens.

As to what the requirements for voting should consist of, 67% expressed a belief that age and education should be prime factors, while only 12% went on record as favoring military service as a qualification.

In general, male students had more confidence in the eighteen year olds than their female counterparts as evidenced by the fact that while 50% of the male students polled favored lowering the age, 59% of the female students opposed it. Only two students expressed themselves in favor of raising the present voting age.

Late Flash!

Student Council gave its wholehearted support late last night to Nat Holman's appeal from the Board of Higher Education decision dismissing him from the College.

In a strongly worded resolution, SC attacked the BHE for sanctioning the big-time operation of City's basketball program. "The BHE should have been a co-defendant in any investigation," the resolution stated.

Council also requested the BHE to "turn over to Holman's attorney a complete stenographic transcript for all parts of the BHE proceedings for which such records were kept."

The resolution stated that "whereas, we are of the firm conviction that any misconduct of faculty and students associated with the basketball scandal flows, in the last analysis, from the commercial and "big-time" atmosphere generated around our team. This atmosphere was fully sanctioned by the BHE itself."

New Student Union Agency Set Up by Student Council

A new Student Union agency was set up by Student Council last night. The agency will represent the student body in all matters concerned with the Student Union building. The proposal to form the agency was made by Manny Halper, SC President and Ira Klosk, co-Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Move to Alter SFCSA Plan Turned Down

A resolution which would radically change the structure of the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs (SFCSA) has been withdrawn in order not to influence President Gallagher's decision on the Presidential Committee Report.

The Presidential Committee Report, which has been awaiting action by President Gallagher since January 25, recommends the abolition of SFCSA and its replacement by a Student-Faculty Appeals Board.

The new plan, introduced by Professor Kurt E. Lowe (Geology), would restrict the faculty membership to one representative from the Administrative staff, one representative from the Department of Student Life, and

At present six advisory committees are planning various facets of the SU's operation, such as finance, government structure and social functions.

The co-chairmen of the six committees, who were appointed by Dr. Alton Lewis, (Director, Student Union), are entitled to vote on a core committee which reviews all proposals suggested by the various committees.

Commenting on the new agency, Ira Klosk said: "Decisions and recommendations concerning the Student Union should be made by the only duly constituted representative voice of the student body—student government."

The new Agency will consist of a director and twelve members. It will also advise the College administration on all matters concerning the SU and will become the student governing body of the Union when it opens in

A Student-Faculty Student Union Committee which will act as the agency's Executive branch will be composed of six students appointed by SC and Dr. Lewis,

A motion introduced by Martin Gruberg to have the student representatives on the Student-Faculty SU Committee elected directly by the Student body was defeated by a 7-2 vote. "I could not go along with giving such broad powers to directors who aren't responsible to the students. This view was disputed by Hank Stern, who asserted that the students are far more responsible if they are called to account by a body that meets weekly, than if they are on their own for a year. To add six more names to the ballot would be meaningless."

Allen Bard, who is now co-chairman of the old Student Union core committee, praised Council's action. "It is a good idea, for it will prevent special interest control, and stop faculty and administration domination of the Student Union," he said.

Burning Garbage In Stadium Illegal Under Pollution Laws

The College's method of disposing refuse by burning it in Lewisohn Stadium is in violation of the New York City Air Pollution Control laws.

According to Benjamin Jacobs of the City Department of Air Pollution Control, if the fires in the stadium are detected by a department inspector, the College will be summoned to a hearing and asked to "cease and desist."

Mr. Robert Petross, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, asserted that the College is not aware of any smoke control violations and that the matter had never been brought up previously. "I do not like to see refuse burned in the stadium," he said, "but it seems to be the only way, because the New York City Department of Sanitation does not provide adequate garbage removal service and in spite of my insistence for the last twelve years, the College will not install incinerators."

John Condon, a member of the College's Custodial staff added, "We burn only paper and wood items, which don't give off much smoke or smell bad, and it is only on rare occasion that we burn such things as rubber mats."

No Complaint Yet

Still, since there haven't been any complaints, it shouldn't make much difference.

Prior to the burning at Lewisohn Stadium, the burning of garbage was done on the lot between the main library and the Drill Hall. This was discontinued when complaints were received from the residents of the area.

According to Mr. Petross, the only alternative to the present burning of garbage would be to let all waste paper and refuse accumulate on the campus.

three representatives from the teaching faculty. At present, there is one administrator, two members of the Department of Student Life, and two teaching faculty members on SFCSA. Four of the five faculty members of the committee were appointed by President Wright. Prof. Lowe was chosen by President Gallagher.

Tenure of office for each faculty member would also be restricted by the resolution. The administrative representative

Holman Minutes 'Inaccurate', BHE 'Afraid'; Says Attorney

The formal minutes of the meeting of the Board of Higher Education at which Nat Holman was dismissed were termed "inaccurate Tuesday by James V. Hayes, attorney for Holman. The minutes of the March 3 meeting of the BHE were released Monday night but Hayes declared that the board was "afraid to give out a stenographic transcript of the meeting."

Store's Sales Drop; Prices Unchanged

Although sales are declining at the City College Bookstore, no price changes are planned at present, according to Morris S. Jacobs, store manager.

The decline is attributed by Mr. Jacobs to the decreasing number of veterans going to the College and a reduction in their government benefits. "When large numbers of veterans were going to City College," he explained, "they could buy as much as they wanted and bill it to the government. Now, under the new Korean Veterans law the government allots them only $110 per month and therefore there appears to be a tendency for them to economize."

As long as the bookstore shows no financial loss, prices will remain at their present level, he said. However, the sales drop has effected the size of the store's staff. At the moment it is employing a minimum staff.

At the meeting Monday night, the board defeated a motion "to turn over to Mr. Holman and his attorney such portion of the discussion as was recorded by the stenotypist." The vote on the motion was not disclosed. The BHE then voted to approve the formal minutes of the March 3 session but this was not done unanimously.

Hayes further said that he was not surprised that the board voted against releasing the transcript. "It's typical," he declared, "of the whole treatment of the case and further evidence of the board's arbitrary and illegal conduct."

The transcript of the proceedings is necessary according to Mr. Holman's attorney, in order to prepare an appeal to the State Commissioner of Education or to the courts.

Joseph B. Cavallaro, chairman of the BHE, last week refused to release the transcript of the meeting, stating that an attorney is not entitled to a statement of

The Next Step

A recent examination of City College history causes us to ask ourselves a rather surprising question. In our enthusiasm for the Presidential Report, have we been over-selling it?

For judging by what has come before, this Report is not a giant step forward. Surely the progress that can be achieved through the Report is not comparable, for example, to the original creation of Student Council by the then president, John H. Finley. Or for that matter, the Report is not so much greater a move than was the 1942 formation of the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, which were the first such committee created with student representatives.

It is because the latest proposal is so in keeping with the steady growth of democracy at the College that we find it difficult to understand the reasoning of those opposed. Indeed, it seems to us that this is the next logical step.

Unfortunately the majority of the faculty advocates of the Report are not available at this time. In an effort to fill this void, we have often spoken editorially on the matter, trying to assure President Gallagher that there is strong support for this modest but much needed advance.

We believe City College is once again ready to move forward. The eyes of many are upon us, just as they are upon the new system at Fordham. We cannot afford to stand still.

Where Credit Is Due

One of the pleasant surprises of this semester has been the smooth and efficient operation of Student Council. Running a student government is a tough job generally, but Manny Halper has put his nose to the grindstone and the results are steadily becoming apparent.

Chief accomplishment of this term's Council has been the recruiting of over one hundred students to man its agencies. This means that these groups instead of just talking will finally begin working.

Other concrete benefits of student government include the student-faculty teas, the film program, Academic Freedom week programs and the leadership training courses now beginning. The new Committee system has resulted in serious consideration of all legislation, and repetition of last term's irresponsible actions seems unlikely.

If the good work done so far is kept up for the rest of the semester, Manny Halper and his Council will have done an exceptional job.

Our Two-Wheeled Friends

Do not dismiss what you are about to read lightly.

We maintain that the College needs a bicycle rack. There is daily evidence of this need. Bicycles are strewn about the campus locked to a fence here and grillwork there. These vehicles are forced to lie in disarray, naked to the advances of predatory thieves. Must this be tolerated? Must our bike-riding population go unheeded?

A proposal to remedy this situation is now before Student Council. This plan will provide a centrally located but unobtrusive bicycle rack, which would be under the careful eye of a College watchman. OP strongly urges that the proposal be passed.

City College will ride again.

Tropical Topic: Lush Growth In Cafeteria

Mighty avocado plants from little kernels grow.

At least, that's the experience of Mrs. Jenny Silver, an employee of the Cafeteria. She's nurtured an avocado seed into a 24-inch plant studded with luscious avocados.

Like any skillful worker, Mrs. Silver is anxious to display the fruits of her labor. Recently, she brought her masterpiece, the avocado plant, into the Cafeteria to show her colleagues. They still speak of it with awe.

Working behind the sandwich counter, Mrs. Silver plans new gardening feats. Her particular interest in the humbler aspects of nature—seeds, kernels, and such—makes the Cafeteria fine foraging ground.

Berlin Lecture Series Delivered by Professor

Democratic forces in strife torn Berlin were given a lift one day by a professor from the College—Adolph Leschnitzer, of the Department.

LETTERS

Editor's Note: Mr. Kantin's letter is in response to the statement made by Mr. Gerard Smetana of the SC Tour Committee. He would bar graduating Seniors from the tour.

To the Editor of OP:

Mr. Smetana and the other gentlemen forget that a group of students sent to the Soviet Union would be going, not only to observe, but also to be seen. As such it is imperative that graduate of the College, away from the petty difficulties and embarrassments of college life, a student who has absorbed four years of education at the City College and who is ready to face the world and all its complexities, with all the maturity and experience one can gain at the City College, it is imperative that such a person be sent to show the Soviets what our College has produced.

If that seems to make sense, yet not enough for Mr. Smetana who has so little trust in himself that he has no faith in others, let him know that I would be quite willing to sign any formal or informal document, pledge or contract promising to make experiences which I would gain in the Soviet Union available to him.

Advice to Lovelorn—Wolves OK; But Nix Those Baboons

From the pages of this term's Biological Review comes a word of advice to the lovelorn female—"seek your mate among the wolves but watch out for those baboons."

In "The Male Animal," an amusing article about masculine utility, Dr. William Etkin (Biology) points out that while the father wolf is a devoted family man, his counterpart among the baboons is strictly up to monkey business. "Human males are variable creatures," adds the professor. "According to their cultural backgrounds some will take after the wolf, and the others—well, they just act like baboons."

For Sixteen Years

The Biological Review was born in 1938 through the combined efforts of the biological societies at the College. Its purpose through the years has been to stimulate interest in biology and related subjects, and in keeping with this objective, contributions by students and members of the faculty are written in a light, informative style that even the layman can understand.

However the Review plays an even more important role outside the College being a public relations agent among scientific circles in this country and abroad. This term, besides "The Male Animal," the magazine contains a fascinating review of the history and modern techniques of pregnancy tests, by Dr. Allard A. Paul (Biology), an informative article about trace elements which act as catalysts within the human body by Dr. Benjamin Harrow, retiring chairman of the Chemistry Department, and a dissertation on ants by Dr. William Creighton (Biology) — to mention a few.

The current Bio Review, at a quarter a throw, will hit the stands this week.

Three Lavender fencers are going to the University of Chicago this weekend to compete in the National Intercollegiate Fencing Championships. Aubrey Seeman will represent the Beavers in the events, while Harvey Miller will participate in the contests and Dick Susco will be the Lavender entry in the sabre championships. Aubrey is expected to gain most of the points for the Beaver swordsmen. The last time that a City man took any honors in the meet was in 1952. Hal Goldsmith dropped only one match in twenty-four bouts to take the National Foils Championship that year.

In preparation for the National Collegiate 123-pound wrestling championships, Steve Levin will enter this week's NY Sr. AAU title event. Steve is about five pounds over the weight limit of the National Championships but expects to be in top-notch shape for the matches in Oklahoma. Coach Joe Sapora stated that Steve is developing into one of the all time great CNY wrestlers and has an excellent chance in the Nationals. Steve won the most bouts on the team during the regular season but as a 130-pounder. Coach Sapora hopes that the Beavers will be able to improve on last year's record although they will still face several of the toughest teams in the nation. Marv Zaro had an excellent chance to capture the Metropolitan Jr. AAU title last Saturday, but was forced to withdraw after the second round.

The boxing team wasn't invited to the annual Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Championships. They were defeated by rated Syracuse University and West Point. The only match that the Beavers won was against Howard University.

Coach Marguirette Wulfers expressed satisfaction with the fine play of the women's basketball team, which wound up the season with a commendable 7-4 record. She complimented her charges on their fine play and spirit. The Beaverettes defeated the Alumni, LIU, Wagner, Adelphi, Brooklyn and Hofstra while bowing to St. Joseph, NYU, Queens and Hunter. The outstanding scorers on the squad were Sandy Berman, Judy Levin, Barbara Dette and Loretto Eng.

This year's edition of the indoor track team wound up with a mediocre record. The Beaver trackmen were scheduled to compete in the annual Collegiate Conference Championships last Saturday. The meet was to be held on a board track outdoors but heavy rain made this unsuitable. The coaches held a meeting and decided to hold the event on the cinder track but Coach Bruce feels that the track was in very poor shape withdrew from the meet under protest.

McCarthy . . .

"McCarthy: Patriot or Demagogue," will be the subject of a debate between the Robert A. Taft Young Republicans and the FDR Young Democrats tomorrow in Room 106 Harris.

David Landsman and Harry R. Pollak will speak for the Democratic viewpoint on the question. Charles Dockendorff and Fred Preisinger will defend the Senator.

City Nimrods End Campaign

The rifle team completed the season with an 11-4 league record by beating Rutgers, 1354-1295, last Saturday. The Beavers finished in fifth place for the second consecutive year. Fordham lead St. John's by one-half game in the race for top laurels.

This Saturday the nimrods will compete in the Eastern segment of the National Intercollegiate Championships at Kings Point. Al Moss, John Miller, Walter Bickston, who led the scoring against Rutgers with 280, Sal Sorbera and Harvey Invehtasch, who hit for 278 will represent the College.

Coach Richard Hoffman expects West Point, St. John's and Fordham to furnish the top eastern competition.

He called this "a successful season" for his charges "who practiced well and worked hard all year."

Basketball? . . .

Basketball will reach its lowest ebb this afternoon when the saggy stalwarts of Campus attempt to chop down "a weak but determined" OP five in the Main Gym at 3:30. Dave Polansky, looking for prospects, will referee. Prediction: OP by five. Campus might even wait until eleven before showing up.

Bruce Regards Forsyth As Future Track Star

Gene Forsyth, the manager of the track team, has been relieved of most of his managerial duties by Coach Harold Anson Bruce, because the latter felt that Gene would be a greater asset to the team as a runner.

Forsyth, an upper junior, has been on the team for three years. His potentialities as a runner first caught Bruce's attention during the outdoor season last Spring when he finished second only to Tom O'Brien, the Beaver ace, in individual honors. Last October, when he competed for the cross country team, he was one of the high scorers for the Bruccemen.

According to "Doc" Bruce, it is Gene's "determination" in regular practice habits that sets the example which the rest of the team strives to follow.

Forsyth expects the opening meet of the campaign against Farleigh Dickinson on April 13 "to be rough". "We will make a good showing in the track events," he said "but we may fair poorly in the field events," which consist of the hammer throw, discus throw, the javelin and the shotput events.
