New Program For Leaders Being Planned

A Student Leadership Training program, styled after one set up by the National Students Association will soon go into operation at the College, according to Student Council Vice-President Barney McCaffrey.

The training program has been made mandatory for Freshmen candidates for Class and Student Government Offices, McCaffrey explained.

The program, he revealed, has a double purpose: to interest people in student affairs; and to develop future leaders for them.

The Department of Student Life will work in conjunction with the student government on the project, both supplying the advisors to help in the training of the budding leaders.

Before any part of the proposed program can go into action, volunteers—at least fifteen—are urgently needed.

Seniors

Allen Bard, Senior Class President, foresees increased senior activity this semester.

The first Senior Class meeting of the semester will be held today at 12:30 in Doremus Hall. Rings, Microcosm, and the Prom are the major topics to be discussed. All profits obtained from the sale of senior rings, Bard says, will go to the class this semester, rather than be used as commission.

City College Fund Sets Drive Goal at 200 G's

By JACK LEVINE

The City College Fund, the official alumni fund raising group, has set its goal for the year at $200,000, according to its newly appointed director, Mr. Norton Belth. Last year $150,000 was raised.

'Thrill' Stick-ups on Rise; SC Acts to Curb Crime

By JERRY LUDWIG and GLORIA KINGSLEY

"Things aren't getting better," Mr. Stamos Zades (Student Life) declared, "they're getting worse. The robberies aren't only motivated by a desire for profit. There seems to be an element of thrill involved."

Stressing the seriousness of the continuous wave of crime at the College, especially the muggings which have frequently occurred in St. Nicholas Park, Mr. Zades told Student Council last night that "The police have co-operated as much as they can, but they are understaffed. We will have to help ourselves."

In response to this plea Council composed a list of suggestions designed to combat campus crimes and ordered the Legislative Agency of SC to make contact with other groups in the community so as to form a united effort to eliminate crime.

The suggestions are: 1) Do not use the 135th St. IND station; instead use the 145th St. station, 2) Try to keep off St. Nicholas Terrace and out of the Park, 3) Put your belongings out of sight when parked, if you are a car owner, 4) Do not leave coats and belongings lying around in the cafeteria, 5) Write your name in your books, and 6) Co-eds are urged to watch their handbags while combing their hair in the Ladies' Room.

"SC feels that it has proposed steps which, if followed, will definitely dent the crime rate at the College," Council President Ira Klosk emphasized after the meeting. "We will continue to work on this long present problem until it is eliminated completely."

Earlier in the evening, the meeting heard Andrew Meisels, (Continued on Page Three) to furnish the Student Union Center and has declared its support to aid the center's yearly operation.

"Our goal is not overambitious," Mr. Belth said yesterday, "but it would be a fine accomplishment," he asserted, "if it was achieved." Last year the fund received $34,000 from contributors who were non-alumni. Further support is hoped for that quarter, Mr. Belth said.

The new director, who succeeds Mr. Nathan Korshin, has had over twenty years experience in community work. Among the posts he has held are Research Director of the American Jewish Congress and Assistant Director of the Jewish Education Committee.

The group also has a new campaign chairman, Mr. Harold A. Lifton '18. Mr. Lifton has been an active alumnus for many years having served as vice president of the Alumni Association and treasurer of the student houses.

Blame Exchange Sales Drop On Old Books Now Obsolete

Sales have dropped off sharply this semester for the Used Book Exchange.

Gerry, Marburg, manager of the UBE, revealed that last year

11,000 books were handled by the UBE in comparison with 5,600 books this year. The drop, according to Marburg, is due to the greater number of edition changes in books this year, which effect made all the old books obsolete. The major losses incurred by the UBE were because of the changes in the Hygiene 71 and 81, Economics 1, and Spanish 1 and 2 books.

The UBE is operated by fifty people, three of whom are paid employees. The rest are volunteers, mostly from Alpha Phi Omega. It will be open until Oct. 1 for the sole purpose of returning money. Business will be done Tuesday, 2-4 PM, Thursday, 10-12 PM, and Friday, 10 AM to 2 PM.

All unsold books and money, Marburg emphasized, "must

ZBT Becomes Non-Sectarian

Zeta Beta Tau, a fraternity limited since 1898 to men of the Jewish faith, has adopted a non-sectarian policy. There is a Chapter of the ZBT at the College.

The action was taken on Tuesday when its governing body, the Supreme Council, upheld the resolution made at the frat's 66th anniversary national convention held last month at Miami Beach. The resolution stated that ZBT procedures would be changed so that membership would be open to all "regardless of race, color, or religion."

ZBT was founded in New York City 56 years ago to provide a fraternity for Jewish college men, who were barred at that time from existing fraternities. The first Jewish fraternity, ZBT is also the largest.

be picked up by November twelfth." No money or books will be returned after that date.

The USSR Today

1—Through the Iron Curtain

By Andrew Meisels

Andrew Meisels, Editor-in-Chief of OP, returned this week from a four-week tour of the Soviet Union and several of its satellite nations. Today we begin a series of articles written by Mr. Meisels describing his experiences as City College's representative behind the Iron Curtain.

It was a smooth landing at Leningrad airport and, almost before the engines stopped, a uniformed official boarded the plane. The look of his uniform, the hammer and sickle on his hat—things that I had seen before only in pictures—made me realize suddenly that I had arrived and that a trip which I had never really thought of as a serious possibility had become quite real.

The officer, a customs official, passed from seat to seat in the plane with a rather plump girl of about twenty bouncing behind him. The girl, I later learned, had finished her schooling and, a prospective customs official herself, was serving as an apprentice to the man in the uniform. The official picked up my customs declaration form, looked at it for a moment, then at me and smile-ingly extended his hand. "Welcome to the Soviet Union," he said in rather good English. I thanked him nervously as he passed on to the next seat.

A third figure entered the plane, a young, pleasant looking man who introduced himself as a representative of "Intourist," the state tourist agency for foreign travel in the USSR. The two of us—my travelling companion Clark Olsen of Oberlin College and myself—followed him out of the plane and into a Russian-built "Pobyeda." The car, a small vehicle resembling the British Austin, left the airport and began speeding along the green bordered highway toward the Astoria Hotel, where all foreign visitors to Leningrad are lodged.

After a few moments the "Intourist" guide turned to us and smiled in a way which was more friendly than courteous. "Do you have cars like this in America?" he asked, referring to the "Pobyeda." I told him that most of our cars were bigger. "They use more benzine, I suppose. Better for business, eh?" he smiled. I smiled back. "The name (Cont'd on P. 2)

Police Protection

Police Commissioner Francis P. Adams is a very busy man; no one will deny it. We realize that trying to keep law and order with an undersized staff, running bingo crusades and demoting detectives for helping a friend on a wet night keep a man busy. With all of these major problems to face we realize he may lose sight of local difficulties.

Here at the College there are a lot of problems that could use police assistance: policemen to protect the student body from the buses and cars traveling at something more than the legal speed limit on Amsterdam and Convent Avenues would help, and, of course, the parking situation sorely needs to be untangled by expert hands. But a much more dangerous situation which already has shown some ugly manifestations exists here. We are talking, of course, of the danger that lurks in St. Nicholas Park. Last spring several students were attacked and robbed. The College Administration has suggested a practical solution, walking several blocks out of the way to 145th Street. This is perhaps, a very prudent solution but it imposes a serious inconvenience on a large segment of the College community who would prefer the shorter, more direct mountain route to the Independent Subway.

We don't ask much, Commissioner Adams, neither for ourselves nor for the several thousand students from our neighboring institution, The High School of Music and Art, who also use the park, still, if you happen to have a spare man around, even a demoted umbrella holder, he could fill a crying need in a very serious situation.

New Honors

A small news item recently gave us a great deal of satisfaction. The item was the announcement that Dr. Kenneth B. Clark (Psychology) had been made a member of the Board of Directors of the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students, a fine organization which has awarded scholarships to some 3,000 Negro students in the last six years.

While we have had our differences with Prof. Clark in his former capacity as chairman of the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs (SFCSA), we have always recognized his basic integrity and earnestness. The vast divergencies between our views have not extended beyond the SFCSA meeting room and we have admired Prof. Clark's extra-campus activities.

His work as founder and co-director of the Northside Children's Center is well-known. And his contribution to the recent Supreme Court decision outlawing public school segregation was a great one. His role as social science advisor to the legal staff of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Peoples (NAACP) was indispensable as the test case was, for the first time, fought and won on sociological testimony.

We're glad to see new honors coming to Prof. Clark. We're proud to have him here at the College.

of this car means 'victory,' he remarked. "It was named in memory of our people's role in the Great Patriotic War. In English it is called the Second World War, no?" I nodded.

He offered me a Russian cigarette, the kind they call "papirosi" because there is a long, paper holder attached to it. I took one puff of the cigarette and, out of courtesy, kept myself from coughing. He must have noticed my discomfort because he remarked that they were rather strong. "Still," he added, "they're better for the health than American cigarettes." I smiled weakly, holding the cigarette in my hand, not daring to take another puff. Perhaps they were.

The road from the airport to the city of Leningrad was a long one, and on the way I noticed a number of large stone blocks at regular intervals by the side of the road. I asked the guide what they were for. "They are not used any more," he said. "In the old days, before the revolution, they were there to mark off

'verstas' of distance. Today we use kilometers, and they are not needed any more."

Not seeing anything beautiful about the somber stone markers, I asked why the government had just left them there to weather by the side of the road. "It is like a memorial," he said. "There are many such 'memorials' of czarist times all over the Soviet Union. It is to remind us what was here before the revolution. It is important to remember what was here before the revolution."

"Yes," I agreed, it was important, and in my four weeks behind the Iron Curtain—weeks in which I did and saw so much that they seem like years—I thought often of those stone markers. I thought of what had been in Russia, in Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary before Communism brought a new way of life. I thought of that life, and it often gave me cause for wonder.

$10,000 Awarded to Students By Student Aid Association

The Student Aid Association, which has been quietly aiding students at the College since 1865 is now dispersing $10,000 a year under its present program.

Between eighty and ninety scholarships of $100 are granted each year by the Association to students with "B" averages or better and who indicate in their applications that financial aid could be of assistance.

Dr. Charles K. Angrist (Library), one of the Association directors emphasized that "one should not feel he is applying for charity. This is an organization the purpose of which is to assist those students who need some financial assistance."

The Association also has a loan fund to aid students who find themselves in sudden financial difficulties. Such as the death in the family, or loss of a job. The student sets the date for repayment often, Dr. Angrist said, students who make good later on send in contributions in gratitude for the fund giving them a "break." Students who are doing passing work (C average) or better may apply to the loan fund.

Applications to both funds may be obtained from Dr. Angrist in the Serials Division of the Main Library Building or from Professor R. Corbin Pennington (Speech) in Room 219A Main. In all cases applicants must be full time students at the College.

The fund was established in 1865 by a group of alumni

New Monnikers Planned For Almost All Buildings

The results are finally being tabulated for the school-wide game "Rename the Building." Since the solicitation of names from students and alumni began a year ago, a College committee headed by Dean Morton Gottschall (Liberal Arts) has worked and come up with a tentative list of changes. Townsend Harris Hall is one of the few buildings to escape the committee's eraser. President Buell Gallagher is

The Main Building, slated to be named the Edward M. Shepard Building. Other prosaic names for buildings have been proposed.

Under the proposed set-up, the Main Building will become the Edward M. Shepard Building, honoring a former chairman of the College's Board of Trustees. Other school structures to lose their present, simple names are the Technology Building, which will be called George W. Goethels Hall; the Chemistry Building, Ira Hansen Hall; the Hygiene Building, George W. Wingate Gym-

City College's soccer heroes of the past, the players who have contributed so much to the glorious history of the sport at the school, will return to Lewisohn Stadium on Saturday to do battle with their 1954 counterparts. Game time is 1:30 PM.

The Alumni will be led by Werner Rothschild, former soccer great and also a coach at the College. Rothschild scored ten goals in two seasons of competition and also was at the helm

Lucien Daouphars
Returning Star

when the Beavers captured the Metropolitan Conference title in 1951.

The Alumni goalie will probably be Hal "Punchy" Friedland, last season's regular netminder, and a mainstay of the team for several years. Norm Corsun, all-American goalie in 1947, will play at one of the halfback positions in this game.

Along with Corsun on the halfback line will be Lucien Daouphars, an all-American in 1952 and all-Conference and co-captain last year, and Norb Feuer, one of the stars of the 1947 team. Daouphars and Feuer will come in from Philadelphia and Canada, respectively, for the contest.

The probable starters at the fullback positions are Manny "Polly" Policandritis, co-captain in 1952, and Frank Bertolotti, with Lothar Stiefel a possibility at halfback or fullback.

Top Scorer Back

Heading the forward line will be Rothschild and Fred Goldhirsch. Goldhirsch, in 1948, scored 9 goals, a mark which still stands for most goals scored in one year. Also on the front line will be Irv "Botts" Schwartz, perhaps the fiercest competitor ever to play for the College. Rocky Amoroso and Jeff Freeman.

The College's all-time high scorer, Tommy Holm, 1953 co-captain and one of the greatest performers in Lavender history, is now teaching at City and has a field trip scheduled for Saturday and may be forced to miss the contest.

The current Beavers will unveil six newcomers in the starting lineup. The goalie will probably be Wally Meisen, with Novak Masanovich and Vahe Jordan in front of him at the fullback slots.

New Star

The halfbacks will be Bob Hayum, all-Conference last year, co-captain Eddie Trunk, also all-Conference, and newcomer Rudy Gedamke, who should prove to be one of the most exciting players in years.

On the forward line, the starters figure to be newcomer Pierre Mayer, all-Conference selection Morris "Crunch" Hocherman, the brilliant Koutsantanou, outstanding sophomore Wolfgang "Wolf" Westl, and co-captain Gus Naclerio. Two juniors, Bob Lemestre and Alvis Eikstrem, are also expected to see a great deal of service.

The probable lineups:

Friedland	G	Meisen
Policandritis	RFB	Masanovich
Bertolotti	LFB	Jordan
Corsun	RHB	Hayum
Daouphars	CHB	Trunk
Feuer	LHB	Gedamke
Amoroso	OR	Mayer

Sport Notes

The staff of this paper would like to express deepest sympathy to the parents of Connie Norman, co-captain of the wrestling team two years ago, upon hearing the news of his passing away. Connie Norman was a fine scholar and a gentlemen, besides being an outstanding wrestler. Stationed with the Marine Corps in Korea, Connie was about to be sent back to the States, but he contracted an incurable Oriental disease. He was indeed a credit to City College. . . . Seymour "Shimmy" Kelman, former football star (remember when?) has been appointed head coach of the William Howard Taft High School gridiron squad. "Shimmy" switched from football to eggs this summer, and finished fourth in the egg-throwing contest at Lake Mohegan on Labor Day. . . . Baseballer Bruno Nagler figures to see a great deal of service as a member of the varsity soccer team. A forward in soccer and a shortstop in baseball, Bruno is a natural athlete. He also plays with the Bronx YMCA baseball team which recently finished second in the Bronx Union League, and slugged away at a .380 clip during the campaign.

Soccer Star Ed Trunk Shines in Two Leagues

By BARRY WEINBERG

Foreign influences have had a great deal to do with Eddie Trunk's being co-captain of the College's soccer team. Eddie became interested in the game while traveling through Germany with his parents before the war.

Eddie, a Bronxite and one of the few American born members of the soccer team, also enjoys playing tennis and handball, and was on the varsity tennis team two years ago. He was champion of his Junior High School for two successive years.

The 170-pound, 5-foot-8½-inch Upper Junior is a tech student, majoring in mechanical engineering. Having always been interested in airplanes, he intends to pursue an aeronautical career after his stay with Uncle Sam.

Soccer isn't Trunk's only enjoyment. He is an enthusiastic stamp collector and is also interested in photography. Eddie recently attended summer school, and spent the remainder of his vacation at Des Grey's Point, named after the College's faculty manager of athletics, in upstate New York.

In high school, Eddie was star and captain of the Manhattan High School of Aviation Trades team. As a center halfback, Trunk travels an average of 3-4 miles per game, controlling the ball in midfield. Although his position is not noted for high scoring, it is considered one of the most important on the field.

After the college season Eddie plays outside ball with the New York Sport Club, a team he joined as a 'junior' in 1943. He is now considered a top player in the tough German-American League, whose select teams have consistently defeated top pro teams.

Eddie is optimistic about the team's chances this season. "In my two years on the team we have won two championships," he said, "and I have every intention of helping to win a third."

You'll always be glad you bought a Chevrolet

(and now's a great time to buy one!)

You'll stay proud of Chevrolet's lasting good looks

You won't find another low-priced car with the look of quality you see in Chevrolet. And if you like Chevrolet's looks now, you'll like its looks always.

You'll enjoy exclusive features for finer motoring

Body by Fisher—the highest-compression power of any leading low-priced car—the biggest brakes, the only full-length box-girder frame and the only Unitized Knee-Action ride in the low-price field. They're all yours in Chevrolet!

You save when you buy and when you trade

Even so, Chevrolet is priced below all other lines of cars. And at trade-in time, you'll be ahead again from Chevrolet's traditionally higher resale value.

You'll get a special deal right now
Right now, we're in a position to give you the deal of the year on a new Chevrolet. Come in and let us show you how much you'll gain by buying now!

Now's the time to buy!

Get our big deal! Enjoy a new . . .

Chevrolet
