President Buell G. Gallagher presented a plan of his own yesterday for changing the student body in the government of its affairs. Addressing a Great Hall audience of about 250 students and faculty, Dr. Gallagher accepted some of the proposals of Prof. Oscar Buckvar's Presidential Committee on Student Faculty Relations, rejected other key provisions of the Committee report, and presented some new plans for the structure of student government here.

His report will now go to the General Faculty, which was called to meet on April 15 to consider the proposals.

The president's suggestions were as follows:

1. That the relationship between Student-Faculty Committee and Student Affairs (SFCSA) and Student Council be a dual one, with the Student-Faculty Committee being a branch of the student government, be a part of the bicameral (two-house) legislature. SFCSA would act as the upper house, and the Senate as the lower.

2. That the powers of SFCSA be those of review, not of original jurisdiction. All actions must be initiated by Student Council.

3. That SFCSA have a rotating membership. Each faculty member must be appointed for five years, with the terms staggered so that new Senate is elected every year.

4. That the student bodies be allocated by SC, with the concurrent currence of SFCSA. The Student Faculty Fee Committee would be abolished.

5. That Student Council's composition be changed from its present four from each class and four from the Club Senate to two representatives from each class in each school (Liberal Arts, Education, Technology) plus five faculty if officers, a total of 23.

6. That Council officers be elected for a full year, instead of one semester as they are now.

7. That SC have three faculty advisors instead of the present two. These advisors would serve from one year to the next.

8. His suggestions "do not follow closely either the report of the special committee chaired by Professor Buckvar (the Presidential Committee) or the reactions to that report as given by the General Faculty Committee on Student Affairs (SFCSA)."

Dr. Gallagher emphasized that these were only recommendations. He has no power to institute them; they are only ideas for the consideration of the General Faculty.

In effect his recommendations change the entire set-up of Student Council and student-faculty committees. SFCSA would be the upper house, and the SC the lower house in his system. It broadens the field of action for Council by requiring that SFCSA initiate no action or resolution, as it can now; and by requiring that Student Council and SCCSA concur in all actions. Thus SFCSA could not do something that SC did not want. But by the same token Council is limited in that it can do nothing with which SFCSA disagrees.

ASCE Inducts New Members

Thirty-one civil engineering students became members of the American Society of Civil Engineers at its semi-annual induction Friday night at the Hotel Piccadilly.

In their pledge of allegiance to the society the future engineers swore to "serve humanity in commerce and industry."

Professor Charles W. Cunningham, faculty advisor of the ASCE, welcomed the 180 people present by pointing out that the society was founded in 1852 for the advancement of civil engineering, the oldest of the engineering professions. Dean William Allen of the School of Technology, and Professor Walter Willy, Assistant Dean (Technology) spoke briefly.

Skits provided by faculty members and students highlighted the evening. Among the faculty contributing their talents were Mr. Bernard Kaplan, Professor Edward Kaesian and Professor Harold Leach, of the Civil Engineering Department.

In the student skit, colored slides were shown depicting the typical life of a civil engineering student.
The President Speaks

Yesterday, after forty-four days of consideration, President Gallagher submitted to the General Faculty and the student body a set of recommendations calling for changes in the present system of student participation in College affairs.

The President's proposals are clearly in the nature of a compromise, mixing some new ideas and suggestions of President Buckvar's committee, with portions of GFCSA's rebuttal to progress. OP would like to commend Dr. Gallagher for taking definite action at a time when continued pigeonholing and procrastination were slowly smothering the Presidential Committee report.

But since it took the President six weeks to make a decision on the problem, we feel that we also must consider the student body's needs. To make a hasty decision would be to abrogate our responsibility as spokesmen for student opinion.

A Note on Courage

In a swiftly executed action, Stuart Greenberg, President of the Athletic Association, has removed Ed Warner's name from the Ben Wallack Memorial Plaque whichhangs near the entrance of the Gymnasium Building.

We are sure that we speak for many when we say that we now feel much more secure. We award Mr. Greenberg the OP prize for performance above and beyond the call of duty—a copy of "1984."

We can't help wondering if the scandal ever happened at all.

Speedy Recovery

An unfortunate explosion in a chemistry laboratory this week has hospitalized Prof. Joseph L. Gollberg, who was performing an experiment. Dr. Gollberg is one of the outstanding men in his department, both as a scientist and as a teacher; we join with his colleagues and students in wishing him a speedy recovery, and many more happier experiments in the future.

CCNY Falls Behind NYU

The challenge by New York University to topple the College from its position as highest donor among the metropolitan colleges, is being met with vigorous apathy. NYU, on the other hand, is in an all out drive to top the College this year, is festooning its buildings with posters and banners. To date, NYU is numbered 672 pledging cards handed out, while the College trails with 358 prints.

Some students are not aware of the value of blood donated at the College; others, however, were made painfully aware of its preciousness. A student's mother had recently undergone surgery; blood was needed immediately... and was provided immediately by the College's Blood Bank. Another student's father underwent surgery—two pints from the Bank were given; a student's mother had an operation—four pints were provided. Blood obtained from other sources would cost $35 a pint.

Students who donate blood can draw unlimited amounts for themselves or their immediate family when such necessity arises. Donating blood, therefore, is not a one way proposition. Donations can be made without previous signing up, but students should be prepared to bring their identification cards.

What Ho! That's Ripping Cricket Club at CCNY

Anglo-American relations will receive a shot in the arm when the Cricket Club, now in its birth, gets into action.

Eventually hopes go to achieve a shot up to the wilds of Van Buren Hall. On the present, as there is no cricket field at the College.

Siace Malcolm Hayes, the organizer and president of the club, is a product of the Liverpool Preparatory School in England, where he learned under the tutelage of H. T. Hadwick, reputed to be one of the foremost exponent of the sport, the game will be played strictly according to British rules.

The College club, however, will be a much watered down version of the Old Boy's Club. The present limited number of students and the decision of the captain to restrict the game to two or three full days will make for a more casual game.

The match will be played at a corresponding date between the two bases while the wicket man (pitcher in our lingo) bowls from the other base. President's Suggestions
On Student Government
will not agree. Student Council now has the power only to recommend on the allocation of funds to the Student Faculty Fee Committee. Under President Gallagher's system, Council would approve the budgets of organizations and SFCSA would either count or recommend changes. In the case of fee fund allocations, as in all matters, if there is disagreement between SFCSA and SC, the proposal would go to some sort of "conference committee" which would try to arrive at some solution agreeable to both, as in Congress. Included in a list of "basic principles" which guided him in arriving at his proposals is "the rejection of the class struggle." This was in reference to "those who would attempt to set the students against the faculty, or both against the administration."
He added that "the inherited legal framework of practically all American higher education is essentially authoritarian." He explained the problem as one of integrating democratic processes in the authoritarian structure. The second part of his speech concerned the BHE decision to dismiss Professor Nat Holman. Dr. Gallagher reviewed the charges brought against Holman and the action of the BHE on each. He refused to comment personally on the merits of the decision in order "not to prejudice the appeal that Prof. Holman is undertaking."
However, the president urged discussion of the case, but cautioned that such discussions should be held "with reference to the real facts." He stated that no one had ever accused Nat Holman of being connected with the so-called "basketball fix scandal." The only connection between the scandals and Mr. Holman is that in investigating the "fix," certain other facts were brought to light, the President said. It is on these other facts that Holman's trial was based, he emphasized.

Mishkin Picks Starting Nine For April 3 Debut

Baseball coach Sol Mishkin has set his starting lineup as the Beavers go into their final week of preparation for the season opener on April 3 against Penn. A Lavender will depend on the slugging of Ozzie Barret and Paul Naicemich to make up for the loss of last year's hitting champion, Ted Brown. Barret, a right slider, seems to be the only slider in the outer gardens for the Beavers during the first two games, fell off in his hitting form, but still wields a very dangerous stick. Naicemich, recovering from left field to first base this year, and will bat fifth.

Mishkin has announced that he will go with veteran righthander Hal Koenig on the mound, backed up by Joe Galietta, Al Altomare, the Brendel and Bernie Spiao. The five have to do a lot of blocking to make up for the loss of one man, Warren Neuderger, who had a .711 record last season.

Jerry Domenich will join an illustrious group of college stars tomorrow night when he takes the court for the East team at the annual East-West All-Star Game. Domenich, a free lance court man, ended a three year varsity career this season. He was high scorer with over 17 points per game.

Larry Cutler may prove to be the biggest surprise of the coming baseball season. Out of competition last year, Larry was a flashy second baseman in the 1947 season but had trouble with his hitting. Now equipped with a pair of glasses Larry hopes that the speed will help him belch college pitching in a good fashion.

Stu Greenberg, president of the Student AA and a former football student, Charlie Rose and Al Spitaler will be at the sidelines positions.
