SC President Resigns; Gruberg Plan on Ballot

A referendum calling for the creation of two new posts on the Student Council Executive was put on the ballot last night.

The proposal, suggested by Council Vice-President Martin Gruberg, will ask the student body to pass a constitutional amendment which would create two additional vice-presidents who would be elected by the students. The positions of treasurer and secretary would become purely administrative posts and would be appointed by Council.

In other action Council set up a Club Coordination Agency to develop, encourage and coordinate activities of clubs on the campus. The agency, which closely follows a system now in operation at the Baruch Center, will give member organizations certain responsibilities now in the hands of other Student Council agencies. The new agency will be in charge of regulating all publicity media now supervised by the Student Government Facilities Agency. CCA will also run the Activities Fair and elect representatives to the Student-Faculty Fee Committee and the Student Union Board of Managers.

Membership in the agency is optional, but only organizations which are members will receive the services offered by the agency. According to the SC Government Structures Committee report which accompanied the proposal, "this by-law will motivate organizations to join and give the agency real responsibility."

Harriers Quit Track League

The City College track team has resigned from the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Track and Field Conference, it was learned early this week. In addition to City, the Columbia and Brooklyn track teams have also resigned from the local group.

George Shiebler, assistant director of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, at the Metropolitan Track Writers' luncheon at Leone's Restaurant, announced Tuesday, that the constitution of the Metropolitan Conference had been changed to allow colleges and universities within a broader New York metropolitan area to join.

Barney McCaffrey will resign tomorrow as president of Student Council because of "academic difficulties." The current Vice-President, Martin Gruberg, will then automatically assume the presidency.

McCaffrey, who made his plans known yesterday, will tender his official resignation to the Student Council Executive Committee at its meeting tomorrow. An art major and graduating senior, McCaffrey said that his difficulties are "mostly mathematical." He said, however, that he intends to keep working close.

SFCSA Studies Proposal To Elect Student Members

By STAN ZAROWIN

A recommendation to revise the manner in which student members are elected to the Student Faculty Committee on Student Affairs was proposed to the Committee by Martin Gruberg, Student Council Vice President and endorsed "whole heartedly" by SC President Barney McCaffrey. The motion was referred to a subcommittee which was asked to consider the recommendation and to offer positive recommendations at the next SFCSA meeting in June.

Gruberg suggested that the student members be elected for one year to SFCSA by the students. Gruberg wanted to have this plan included on this term's election, but the motion to send the recommendation to subcommittee caused Gruberg's plan to be put off until next term. Professor Marvin Magalaner (English) stated that he was afraid the election might turn into a "circus" where the student who was most popular might win the election.

Professor Kurt E. Lowe (Geology) recommended that the main qualifications for the student members be maturity and a desire to aid the College community. A fear that the papers would only endorse candidates who sympathize with their political view was expressed by Al Eisenkraft, President of House Plan.

Gruberg said that many officers are dominated by class politics. He suggested a "weeding-out" process which would permit only those with certain qualifications to become candidates. McCaffrey, in support of Gruberg's plan said that "the student representative of SFCSA should be the voice of the student body and not be presidents of House Plan, TIIC, or the Senior Class." Presently, the President of Technology Intersociety Interfraternity Council (TIIC), House Plan and the Senior Class are members of the Committee.

McCaffrey said that the students chosen ought to be (1) interested, and (2) qualified. But, (Continued on Page Two)

Death Strikes Instructor At Army Hall Entrance

Henry Lyle Winter, an instructor in the Speech Department for over twenty-six years, died suddenly yesterday afternoon, apparently of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was fifty-four years old.

Mr. Winter, who lived at 90 Pierrepont Street in Brooklyn, collapsed in front of Army Hall shortly after a class. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Harry S. Pizer at 3:30 PM.

A graduate of Columbia University, Mr. Winter had taught at the College since 1929. He established the recording studio here and was supervisor of the College's phonograph library of contemporary poets. In this capacity, he made recordings of poets reading their own works. A copy of every such record he made is on file at the Library of Congress in Washington. Among the poets who came to the College to make the recordings are W. H. Auden, Edgar Lee Masters, Mark Van Doren and Arthur Guiterman.

A nephew of the late Henry Winter, a noted drama critic, Mr. Winter had been faculty advisor to Theatre Workshop until last year. He once had a part in a Broadway production of Eugene O'Neill's "Desire Under the Elms" and was director of Dramatics at International House for three years before coming to the College.

A pioneer in the field of making records for the blind, Mr. Winter was advisor in research for the Talking Books Department of the American Foundation for the Blind from 1934 to 1937. During that time he produced and recorded over forty-five plays for the blind.

Mr. Winter's death came as a "shock" to most of the College community, according to Professor William L. Finkle (Chmn. Speech). Students of his last class, from 2 to 2:50 PM, said that he had appeared to be in good health.

Frankfurter Delivers Main Address At Charter Day Ceremonies Today

By FRED BORETZ

Felix Frankfurter, '02, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, will deliver the feature address of today's Charter Day exercises in the Great Hall.

Classes will be suspended from 10 AM-12 noon today to enable students to attend the ceremonies which begin at 10:30 AM. Today's exercises commemorate the 108th anniversary of the founding of the College.

Justice Frankfurter will receive an award from the Student Council for his "distinguished service to humanity in the field of jurisprudence." His address will be about the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., his associate on the Supreme Court. The College will be presented with the Gutzon Borglum death mask of Justice Holmes by Arthur W. Cowan of the Philadelphia Community Foundation, in honor of Justice Frankfurter.

Dr. Albert Schweitzer, philosopher and medical missionary, will be the recipient in absentia, of the annual SC Human Relations award.

Other speakers in addition to Justice Frankfurter will be Kenneth Groesbeck, President of the Class of 1965, Barney McCaffrey, SC President, and Edwin S. Trautman, who will report on the All-College Conference. The invocation and benediction will be delivered by the Reverend William J. Mulloy, counselor to Catholic students at the College.

The program will include the presentation of Student Government awards for outstanding curricular activities and the awarding of a total of 220 major and minor varsity letters to the College's varsity athletes.

The first athlete in the College's history to win four major letters in one year, Sol Sorbera, leads the list of letter-winners. Sorbera will receive varsity letters in wrestling, rifle, cross-country and track and field.

Four other athletes are major letter-winners. Vincent DeLuca, Richard Hurford, William Kowalski and James Spencer will receive major letters in cross-country and track and field.

Graduate Soc. Program Instituted at the College

By JACK MONET

A masters program in Sociology (including Public Welfare) will be offered at the College in September, Professor Oscar I. Janowsky (History) Director of Graduate Studies, announced yesterday. The program will be run for the first time in cooperation with Hunter College, to pool faculty strength and avoid duplication of courses.

"The program was instituted," Prof. Janowsky said, "because most students cannot afford to pay the high tuition fees required by private universities, and because a comprehensive survey revealed that both the students and the community needed a school for graduate training in this field."

Tuition will be about $10 a point, or $300 to $340 for the whole program. Prof. Janowsky estimates that this is 40% to 50% less than the cost at a private university.

To gain admittance to the program, students are required to have a Bachelor of Arts degree from a college of approved standing, and "sufficient background in the social sciences or humanities to engage profitably in work on a graduate level." Also necessary is a B- average in undergraduate courses in the social sciences.

The following courses will be given in the fall: Seminar in General Sociology, Seminar in Methods of Sociological Research, People of the City of New York, and a Thesis Course supervised by members of the Department of Sociology.

A graduate committee in sociology under the chairmanship of professor Robert Bierstedt, (Chmn., Sociology and Anthropology), will supervise the program. Information and applications can be obtained at the Graduate Studies office, Room 121B Main.

"Symphone Pastorale," a French film, will be shown in Room 126 Main on Monday from 3-5 PM.

The film, starring Michelle Morgan, won wide acclaim from critics. It revolves around the love between a blind girl and a pastor who his befriended her.

Discuss Radio TV at Finley Lecture Talks

A panel discussion concerning "News Coverage By Radio And Television" was held last night as the second session in the John H. Finley Lecture Series, on "The Newspaper and Society."

Ben Grauer, graduate of the College, Class of '30, of the National Broadcasting Company, said that the purpose of radio and TV is to condense the news so that it may be assimilated by the public. He said that radio and TV must give the public "a full level teaspoon of the news."

Gabriel Pressman, roving reporter of WRCA, said that TV has offered news coverage of a third dimension—"speed and the personality of the commentator." Public desires, he continued, influence the decisions of TV and radio commentators.

Irving Gitlin '36, of the Columbia Broadcasting System, explained that radio and TV cannot emphasize editorial policies as the newspapers do, since they are "controlled" by the Federal Communications Commission. He said that radio and TV must get the headlines across and that there is no time for careful analysis of the news.

Professor Irving Rosenthal (English) was the moderator of the panel. Other members of the panel were: Max Siegel, of the News Dept. of the New York Times, and Daniel Schorr of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Expel Student For Thievery

The suspension of a student from the College for thievery was announced last night by Dean James S. Peace (Student Life). The action was taken by the Student-Faculty Disciplinary Committee. The name of the student was withheld.

The student was caught by another student who had had several textbooks robbed from his pool locker. He remained in the locker room to find clues and noticed another student acting suspiciously. He called a College patrolman from the Department of Building and Grounds who found several items which had been reported missing in the suspects possession. These items included notebooks, laboratory manuals, textbooks, and a College library book which had been removed from the library without being charged out.

The Student-Faculty Disciplinary Committee reported that this action was an example of what positive student action can accomplish. The committee stated that additional patrolmen on campus will reduce overt crime, but only student care will reduce crime in such areas as the Hygiene lockers, as shown by this incident.

McCaffrey Resigns as Prexy; Gruberg Takes Top Position

(Continued from Page One) ly with the Student Government, through both the Student-Faculty Committees on which he now serves and the regular processes of SG.

Most of Council's work for the semester has been accomplished, McCaffrey said. He added that, "I trust the Student Government will continue with the good work it has been doing this term, and that the progress that is being made will not be slowed by my action." Vice-President of Council last term, McCaffrey has been active in College affairs since his freshmen year.

Council will elect at its next meeting on Wednesday, one of its members to the vice-presidential post that will be vacated when Gruberg becomes president.

Gruberg, also an upper senior, said that he intended to "press to the fullest" McCaffrey's student-faculty program, which has "proven so effective in the past."

Three SC members resigned their positions at yesterday's council meeting, also citing academic involvements. They are: James Wilson '57, representative; Lem Howell '58, rep., and Arnold Deutchman '58, rep. Replacements will be elected by their respective class councils.

SFCSA OK's 'Iolanthe' Star

Frederic March, a student, has been given special permission by the Student Faculty Committee on Student Affairs to appear in the lead of the Gilbert and Sullivan Society's production of 'Iolanthe.'

March lost his eligibility when he dropped out of school recently but Professor Mark Brunswick (Chmn., Music) wrote an appeal to the SFCSA, on behalf of the Society, to allow him to appear in view of the fact that it would be impossible to replace him by this Friday.

Student Council President Barney McCaffrey moved that the appeal be passed tentatively and later referred to Student Court. He was overruled by the SFCSA. They decided to permit March to appear. And they added that in the future, these cases be sent to the court.

Tickets for the Friday and Saturday night performances of 'Iolanthe' are $1 each and may be purchased in Room 120 Main or at the box-office at the Charles Evans Hughes High School Auditorium, 351 West 18th Street, between Eighth and Ninth Avenues on the night of the performance.

The belief that many students do not realize that when they vote for Senior President, House Plan President, or TLIC, they are also voting for representatives on SFCSA was expressed by Gruberg. He said that the newspapers should publicize this fact, but should not endorse any one candidate. The committee felt that in this way political candidates would not have any influence over the papers or any student groups.

Gruberg claimed that many students who take on the responsibility of Student Government do not necessary want to take on the responsibility of SFCSA and vice versa. Therefore, he said, student leaders automatically on SFCSA might not want the position.

Professor Lowe suggested that the recommendations be referred to a subcommittee since he said that it would be "foolish to rush a vote," saying that not all members of committee had enough time to consider the problem carefully.

Houseplan

A number of inquiries have been directed to me concerning the future of Student Houses, or House Plan.

House Plan, since 1934, has been an important part of the program of the College and since 1941, has been a part of the Division of Student Activities of the Department of Student Life. This unit has provided educational and recreational activities for approximately 1,500 students each semester. It is anticipated that this program will continue and will be centralized in the John H. Finley Memorial Student Center on the Manhattanville Campus.

Members of the Division of Student Activities will continue to supervise the House Plan program. This area is of extreme importance and must be considered as part of the total educational program of the College. To the best of our ability, we will continue to grow and expand any program which we feel fulfills a definite need on the part of the students of The City College.

Cutters Not Automatically Dropped— 'It's Up to the Prof,' Says Registrar

By WORLEY THORNE

Students who favor the cafeteria over the classroom may be encouraged by a recent dispatch from the Registrar's office.

"There is no legal limit to the number of cuts a student may take in a course," says Robert L. Taylor (Registrar)—but anyone who does cut—at least in Biology—is "mildly insane," according to Professor James A. Dawson (Biology, Chmn.).

Misconception

"There seems to be a misconception," added Mr. Taylor, "that students may be dropped automatically from a course for cutting." Instead, instructors are advised to recommend for dropping those students "with excessive absences," whom they wish dropped. In the Registrar's opinion, "Two weeks in total amount can properly be considered excessive. "Our approach," he said, "is not rigid, although we take the matter of attendance seriously. If the student has some chance to pass the course by greater effort, the instructor is advised to warn him orally. The intent of the drop, if approved, is not disciplinary."

The student who cuts is "just crazy," according to Prof. Dawson, who is an expert on the subject, because he is under a "tremendous handicap." When asked if he reduced the grades of habitual cutters, he said, "I don't see why I should. They generally do badly enough."

Bad Old Days

The faculty has not always been so liberal. In the days of President Horace Webster and the Free Academy, students were given demerits "at the first sign of tardiness or misconduct. No absences at all were permitted." One hundred demerits a term or 175 a year were enough cause to drop a student from the school, and according to an old issue of "Mercury" (1892), "Professors demerited whenever, and as much as, they pleased. Some of them gave fifty demerits for a single offense."

There was an approximate guide, however, which each faculty member possessed, called the "Book of Discipline." In addition, Pres. Webster sent letters home to the parents of students to notify them of "lateness, absence or other misconduct," with this report, "Please cooperate with us to secure greater diligence for the future."

That times have changed is perhaps best indicated by advice given to freshmen in the Beaver Handbook: "If a class seems boring, go anyway. Rest is oftentimes as beneficial as sleep."

Rutgers Tops Stickmen 17-6; First City Defeat

In the battle of the unbeaten "tens" yesterday afternoon, the Lavender lacrosse team came out second best to a powerful Rutgers aggregation, 17-6.

The contest, played in New Brunswick, New Jersey, marked the first trip into the hinterlands for the stickmen, who had racked up four consecutive home victories over Ohio State, Adelphi, the Alumni, and Stevens Tech. However, they stepped out of their class against the Scarlet; Rutgers is a class "B" team, while City is considered a "C" college, in lacrosse circles.

Queensmen Score Early

The game was decided in the first period, when the Queensmen tallied seven goals. Sophomore John Daut, a local product from Sewanaka High School, proved to be the Beaver's nemesis. He accounted for six goals and three assists. Bob Andrews, a junior and the Scarlets' high scorer of last season, chipped in with three goals and five assists.

The Beavers opened the scoring at 1:49 of the initial quarter on a tally by John Pirro, assisted by co-captain Ralph Kelley. Thereafter, Rutgers dominated the game, the ball, and the scoring. Less than two and a half minutes later, the home side had a lead on successive scores by Daut and Andrews, which they never relinquished. The margin mounted to 7-1 at the twelve-minute mark of the session after another tally by Andrews. Goals by City co-captain Milt Perlow and Stuart Namm narrowed the gap to 7-3 at the close of the period, the closest the Beavers were to come to victory for the rest of the afternoon.

Nine Rutgers tallies in the second period, with a City goal by

Netmen Beat Brooklyn, 7-2

The City College tennis team bounced back to win its fifth match of the season yesterday, with a decisive 7-2 triumph over Brooklyn College.

Sparked by Guy Ferrara, who topped Mel Dubofsky, 6-2 and 7-5, to run his undefeated streak to seven, the Beavers swept through the six singles contests to clinch the match. Al Jong, Mel Drimmer, Wait Ritter, Steve Hersh and Jay Borher also emerged victorious.

Ferrara and Jong won the first doubles match beating Ed Funk and George Sartiano, 6-4, 3-6, and 6-4, to put City ahead 7-0. The Kingsmen came back to take the final two doubles contests for their two points.

Tomorrow the racquetmen will play St. Johns at the Fleet Tennis Club, 150 Street and Gerard Avenue.

Beaver Nine Trounces Violets 8-2 For Third Met Conference Victory

The City College baseball team scored its third Metropolitan Conference victory of the season yesterday, by defeating New York University 8-2, behind the seven-hit pitching of ace hurler Joe Galletta. It was the fifth league loss for the Violets who had beaten the Beavers 9-6, earlier in the season.

Galletta, who struck out seven NYU batters while giving up five walks, was in trouble only once during the game. In the fifth inning, he walked the first batter Ray Epstein. Violet short-stop Joe Duva then followed with a bunt single, and Galletta loaded the bases by walking catcher Tom Curran. Bearing down, the Lavender hurler struck out his opposing pitcher Bob Goldsholl and leadoff man Phil Roberts. However, a single to center on a 3-2 pitch by Jimmy Nidds scored Curran and Duva. Galletta completed the inning by fanning Hal Cooley.

The Lavender cause, backed by eleven hits, was further aided by seven NYU errors. In the first inning two walks, an error, and a single by Jim Cohen put the Beavers ahead 2-0. They extended their lead to four runs in the second on singles by Lou Bernero and Dom Tenerelli, a wild pitch, and another Violet error. A double by John Ryan in the third drove in another Beaver tally. Back-to-back singles by Cohen and Ed Lubitz in the fifth with Kucklina on first, upped the score to 6-2. In the ninth, the Beavers completed their scoring Singles by Al Wolfman and Ryan, and a double by Raou Nacinovich accounted for two Beaver tallies.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young manager handles finances for building of $5,000,000 plant

In the next ten years, the demand for General Electric industrial heating equipment will double. To meet this demand, a giant new plant (model at right) is being built at Shelbyville, Indiana.

The plant will cost $5,000,000, and the man responsible for handling finances for the entire job is 32-year-old R. E. Fetter.

Fetter's job is important, responsible

Dick Fetter's work as Financial Manager of the Department began long before General Electric started building the plant. He and his group first had to estimate probable operating costs and predict whether the plant would be profitable.

Now, during construction, Fetter's chief concern is keeping track of all the expenses on this multimillion-dollar project. When the plant is completed, he will set up a complete financial section and manage everything from tax, cost, and general accounting to payrolls, budgets and measurements, and internal auditing.

25,000 college graduates at General Electric

This is a big job. Fetter was readied for it in a careful step-by-step program of development. Like Fetter, each of the 25,000 college-graduate employees is given his chance to grow, to find the work he does best, and to realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When young, fresh minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

DICK FETTER joined G.E. in 1947 after receiving a B.S. from Bucknell University, and serving 32 months in the Air Corps. At G.E. he completed the Business Training Course, class of '49.
