

NSA Seeking Cut in Fares For Students

A campaign for fare reductions on the facilities of the New York Transit Authority (TA) for college students has been initiated by the New York Metropolitan Region of the National Students Association (NSA).

The fare reduction, which would probably take the form of free rides from the colleges, is being asked because the TA is now making a profit according to Bob Scheer, School Affairs Vice-President of the region and a student at the College. "We have found," he declared, "that the TA is currently operating on a profit of $12,000,000. The cost of the reductions would cost at the most $2,000,000."

In the past, Scheer said, the chief objection to the reduction was that the system was losing money. "Now that they have a surplus," he continued, "college students should be granted the same reduction high school students receive. The rationale that high school students should receive relief because they are the future citizens of the city and will contribute to it in the future is just as valid for us, especially since TA is now in the black."

Students can contact Scheer through Box G-2 in Room 151, Finley Student Center.

UN . . .

Oscar Schachter, Director General of the Legal Division of the United Nations, will deliver a talk tomorrow on "An Inside View of UN Problems and Personalities" in Room 200, Shepard, at 1 PM. Mr. Schachter, Class of '36, will be addressing the College chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

Profs, Visitors Set to Discuss World Affairs

Students from foreign countries and several of the College's professors will discuss "The Challenge of International Problems to the World University Community" today at 3 PM in Room 132, Finley Student Center.

The session will be a part of the World University Service's WUS week activities at the College. Mr. Robert Fairgraser, a program specialist for the United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) will moderate a panel discussion on the subject.

Participating on the panel will be Prof. Stewart C. Easton (History), Prof. Abraham Halkin (Hebrew), Mr. Wallace Sokolsky (History), and Mr. John R. Bonforte, Director of the College's Placement Office.

Tomorrow, WUS Week will continue with the presentation of Hillel's Macabbean Festival in Harris Auditorium, at 12:30 PM.

Wanna Go?

Sights like the above will be commonplace at the College's Winter Festival, to be held at Grossinger's on January 23-25.

Fifty tickets are still available in the Ticket Bureau, Room 153, Finley Student Center, but $5 deposits must be made no later than Friday.

The cost of the three day Festival is $49 and includes eight meals, tips, dances, contests, activities, and transportation. This is a special price for the College and is almost $100 lower than the usual Grossinger rate.

A special attraction will be the new $1,000,000 swimming pool that is just opening. However, other more usual winter sports such as ice skating and skiing, are also offered.

Grossinger's guarantees all outdoor sports by keeping a snow machine on hand in case the weather is not cooperative enough.

Group Formed to Investigate Chance of Religion Classes

By STAN ZAROWIN

A committee to determine the feasibility of incorporating religious courses into the College curriculum has been established, according to President Buell G. Gallagher. The committee will be composed of four faculty members and four students.

The committee, whose formation was announced yesterday, includes two students from the Day Session, two students from Evening Session and four faculty members from the four schools of the College. The members are:

Israeli Official Foresees Possible Mid-East War

By DAVE GROSS

An aggressive war in the Middle East is foreseeable if Israel cannot obtain defensive arms from the United States, Semah C. Hyman, Consul-General of Israel, said yesterday. Mr. Hyman spoke on the Arab-Israel "crisis" in a lecture sponsored by Tau Beta Pi, the National Honor Engineering Society.

"Israel does not intend to begin a preventive war," stated Mr. Hyman, "she only wants to punish raiding across the border." He added that Israel asks for defensive arms, not arms for aggression. The Consul-General felt the U. S. arms are indispensable for the maintenance of the balance of power in the Middle East.

"Arms Must Be Obtained"

He warned that the Egyptians are buying jet planes and submarines from the Communist countries, against which Israel has no defense. "If Israel is not to be overrun," he continued, "arms must be obtained from the Western Powers to act as a deterrent against an all-out war with Egypt."

"The USSR will not be asked for arms unless Israel is absolutely desperate," the Consul-General emphasized.

Israel Will Retaliate

"Israel is here to stay," Mr. Hyman exclaimed. "Only when the Arab states realize this fact, will border warfare end." He said that if there is shooting across the border, Israel will retaliate.

"The Arab states are structurally medieval," Mr. Hyman explained, "the Israeli democracy acts a political ferment." Mr. Hyman concluded that the Arab rulers refuse to recognize the existence of the state of Israel and resent its democratic nature because they recognize its future influence on the thinking of the Arab people.

President Buell G. Gallagher
Legality Must Be Considered

Arnold Deutchman (Student Council) and David Krikun (Day Session), Alice Malloy (Vice-Pres. of Evening Session Student Council) and William Stern (Evening Session), Professors Burritt J. Hadow (Education), Alois X. Schmidt (Chem. Engineering), Charles Martin (Law), and Daniel J. Bronstein (Philosophy).

According to President Gallagher, the committee has to consider and solve two major issues before any courses on religion may be considered for acceptance into the curriculum. The first problem is to determine the legality and constitutionality of the courses. The President explained that since we are a public supported institution, the legality problem must be considered, since according to the New York State Constitution no public funds may be used, either directly or indirectly, to teach denominational tenets or beliefs. There are only two exceptions to this rule and neither of them may be expanded to include teaching religious courses at the College.

Dr. Gallagher also pointed out that the New York State Board of Regents will not give credit for courses on religion.

The second problem to consider

SG Names Two for Publicity Study; Asks Report on Board of Managers

By RALPH DANNHEISSER

The Executive Committee of Student Council last night appointed two representatives to the SG Commission investigating organizational publicity in the College papers.

Gil Tauber was appointed the chairman, and Bill Brown, SG treasurer, a member of the committee, which will look into charges that the papers are not giving sufficient publicity to various College organizations. The committee which includes representatives of several College clubs will hold its first meeting next week.

Also at last night's meeting, Joe DeMaio, chairman of the Finley Student Center Board of Managers, asked for the formation of a committee which would evaluate the functions of that agency. DeMaio pointed out the necessity to "delineate the lines of authority of the agency and of the Department of Student Life."

The Executive also decided to hold a meeting next week to discuss means of "broadening the base for major SC positions." The purpose of these changes would be to "make the requirements for qualified people running major office less stringent," according to Gloria Kingsley, SC President.

All students and organizational representatives interested in attending the meeting and presenting their views should leave their names in Box C-1, Room 151, Finley Student Center.

Dance Fee Proposed

Arnie Deutchman proposed the possibility of an admission charge for next term's Friday night dances. According to Deutchman this would put the dances on a self-supporting basis, and release $1,100 a semester for other activities. The Committee will act on this proposal on Tuesday, and will present its recommendations to Council on the following day.

Loaned Cards Mean Trouble

Students caught transferring identification cards to people not enrolled in the College will be recommended to President Buell G. Gallagher for suspension from the College, Dean James S. Peace, Director of the Finley Student Center, said last week.

Non-Students Have Cards

According to Dean Peace, there has been a "tremendous amount of transferring of identification cards to outsiders." He noted that three of four non-students recently picked up on the campus by the police possessed College identification cards.

One of these persons, convicted of stealing a coat, received a ninety-day work-term sentence. Another, accused of stealing a wallet and cashing a forged check, is being held for Grand Jury action. The third received a ten day jail sentence for loitering, and the fourth got a suspended sentence.

Resigns . . .

Last night, at a special meeting of Inter-Fraternity Council, Joe DeMaio announced his resignation as president of that organization. DeMaio said he resigned so he could devote more time to his job as chairman of the Finley Student Center Board of Managers. He is succeeded by Bob Castle, formerly vice-president of IFC.

Genocide . . .

Dr. Raphael Lempkin, Professor of Law at Rutgers University, will speak tonight on "Genocide: An International Crime" in Room 200, Shepard, at 6:30 PM. Professor Lempkin, who has been called the "Father of the Genocide Convention," will be delivering the fifth in the current series of Sidney Hillman Lectures.

Religion . . .

is to determine what the climate of opinion is within and outside the College Community, as the President explained. He said that a great deal of controversy has arisen around this issue. The problem of including religious courses in the curriculum has and is being debated among and within the religious groups in the city, he said.

Such courses are included in many privately endowed colleges, since the above mentioned legal consideration do not apply to them.

The President expressed a "profound regret that students in a public institution are denied full access to their cultural heritage in all its dimensions." He explained that it was unfortunate that "anti-religious" courses may be included under the present legal restrictions. The President cautioned that this does not imply that anti-religious courses are being taught.

The President hoped that something affirmative can be done to remedy this "vacuum of values." "Academic freedom," he continued, "remains crucial, but it should not be confused with ethical responsibility."

Dr. Gallagher claimed that anti-religious and religious stands should be "be put on equal footing."

The committee was established in response to a request by the Evening Session Student Council. The student members of the committee were chosen by the respective Day and Evening Session Student Councils and the faculty members were chosen by the Deans of each individual schools at the College.

Brahms, Mozart & Co. Break Chapel Monopoly

A monopoly of the Goldmark Wing chapel, which had lasted since the nineteenth century, has been broken.

Liturgical music, the only kind played in the chapel during the reign of the Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart, has been replaced by the secular music of Brahms, Bartok, Mozart and others.

Under the auspices of the Music Department, the chapel was converted into a recital hall, and in this transformed state, made its debut December 1.

At the north end of the hall is an organ which, after eighty years of use, is in need of repair, according to Professor Mark Brunswick (Chmn., Music). He estimated that about $2,000 will take care of the repair bill. To replace the organ would cost between $10,000-$15,000.

The organ was installed in the chapel in 1875 by Odell & Company, a Yonkers, New York firm still in existence today. There are approximately 1,500 - 2,000 pipes in the instrument, ranging from the size of a lead pencil to sixteen feet high and a foot across.

Several men were needed to operate the blowers until several years ago when the Manhattanville College installed an electric device to do the work. The rest of the organ is mechanical, each key operating an intricate system of levers, instead of by electrical relays as in organs, manufactured today.

Each pipe is made of pure tin, which gives a sweet, clear tone. The increase in the price of tin makes this feature a rarity in modern organs.

A spur to the repair-the-organ movement in the Music Department is the organ's reputation for hardiness—fifty years of service until the first repair.

Policing

Upon reading the article in last week's Campus about the Burns guards, I am led to comment on a similar policing incident. Last Friday several other students and I were sitting in Lounge Room 133 in the Finley Center. Some of the students were doing homework on the tables. (There were no signs prohibiting such action.)

Mr. David Newton of the Department of Student Life walked in and asked us why we wouldn't go up to the study room to do our homework. (No one said we wouldn't—this was evidently Mr. Newton's idea.) Before anyone could even turn around, Mr. Newton had marched over to the light switch, apparently as a further incentive to leave, and said "Come on! Scram!" He then told us that this was a lounge and not a study room.

Firstly, about half the people were "lounging" to begin with. Secondly, the manner and attitude of this representative of the Department of Student Life is interested in creating a "Big Brother is watching you" feeling among the student body. Such an atmosphere, however, is not compatible with academic freedom, freedom in general, or even our treatment as mature adults. A change is in order.

William Madkoff, U. F. I.

'Justice' Revisited

In the December 6 issue of Observation Post there appeared an editorial entitled "Justice." The editorial concerned the session of the Student Court on November 29. It states that "the public and the press were barred." The editorial stated that the offense with which the student was charged was "paltry." The student was charged with lending a student activities card.

First, we must realize that lending one's activities card is not a paltry offense. If the editorial board had taken time to read the reverse side of their activities card, they would have seen that it explicitly forbids the lending of the card. This action makes the offender liable to disciplinary action.

Lending one's card admits a non-student to the illegal use of the library. It also leaves the College open to thefts. Furthermore, if an accident should occur to a non-student on the campus, the College is not covered by its insurance. Therefore, a law-suit may ensue, dragging the College's name through the newspapers.

If, again, the OP editorial staff had taken the time to look at the "No Loitering" signs all over the campus, they should not possibly have called the offense "paltry."

As to the matter of open or closed sessions of the court, every student who appears before the Court is given the choice of having an open or closed session. It certainly should strike anyone as odd that on the afternoon of the appearance of the OP editorial, the court had a case where a student requested an open session. The press (interested, it appeared, in democracy) was "conspicuously absent."

Morton David Jared Jussim
Annette Fishbein
Student Court Justices

Ed. Note—We maintain that the offense is minor in the same way that passing a traffic light, while it could lead to a bad accident, is not a capital crime. As for closed or open meetings, we were informed that the Court, a comparatively new organization, had not formulated permanent policy. Our editorial was meant as a suggestion.

Dr. Gallagher Asks Increase In '56 Budget

A tentative budget of the College requesting $9,596,114.56 for the year July 1956 to June 1957 has been submitted to the finance committee of the Board of Higher Education. This request exceeds the present appropriation of $9,005,668.69 by $590,445.87, an increase of 6.5%.

Later this month, the request will go to the full Board for approval. If approved, it will then go to the Board of Estimate.

Increased Enrollments

President Buell G. Gallagher, in submitting the budget request, explained that the increase was made necessary by the increased student enrollments since the Fall term 1954 and to provide for mandatory salary increases for teachers. In the School of Technology alone, the President explained, enrollment has increased by 43% during the past three years.

The budget also requests a sum of $5,000 for Burns and Pinkerton guards to provide greater protection for students. Incidents of attack and theft, according to President Gallagher, make the granting of this request imperative.

'Five' Opposes Lafayette In Home Game Saturday

Continuing to diet on animal meat, the City College basketball team will feed on Lafayette Leopard this Saturday night when they engage the Pennsylvanians in its fourth contest of the season. The game is scheduled for 8:30 P.M. in the Wingate Gym. A preliminary game at 6:30 P.M. will pit the Frosh hoopsters against a Baruch School team.

Thus far the Lavender have dropped decisions to the Adelphi Panthers, 71-64, the Columbia Lions, 83-67, and the Hunter Hawks, 67-62.

The visitors are considered one of the outstanding quintets in the nation, despite an 81-76 setback by Manhattan, in Madison Square Garden on Saturday night. Their 24-3 record last season, included the winning of the annual Hofstra Invitational Tournament, and an 83-70 loss to Niagara in the post-season National Invitation Tournament (NIT). In this campaign, the Maroon has subdued Swarthmore, 73-41, Princeton, 85-83, and Delaware, 97-86. They will face LaSalle tonight.

The Leopards have the same starting five from last year, but have a new coach, George Davidson, who has replaced Bill Van Breda Kolff; the latter has transferred to Hofstra. George Young, a 6-4 senior, who netted eighteen points against Manhattan and scored thirty-one markers against the Purple Eagles in the NIT contest, will start at one forward. Jim Radcliff, a 6-5, 215 pound junior, who led the Leopards in scoring and rebounding last year, will be at the other forward post.

Todd Walker, a 6-6, 215 pound senior, who owns the Lafayette individual game scoring record of thirty-eight points, will open at the pivot position. The guard posts will be filled by 6-1 senior, Ed Knapp, and captain Ed Peters, a 5-9 senior. Peters is the first man in Lafayette history to be basketball captain for two consecutive years.

For the Lavender, Coach Nat Holman plans to employ the same quintet that started in the disappointing 67-62 defeat to Hunter last Saturday. Bill Lewis and George Jensen will hold down the forward posts. 6-8 Syd Levy will be the pivotman, while Ralph Schefflan and Joe Bennardo are slated to open at the guard positions.

Holman has expressed the opinion that the squad's rebounding and foul shooting will have to improve greatly if the Beavers are to upset the Maroon. "How well our big men, such as Levy and Jensen perform, will determine the outcome of the contest," says the mentor. The coach is also worried about the team's defense. "The inability of our backcourt men to stay with Hunter's driving players, forced Levy to help out too often. He committed five personal fouls, had to leave the game, and caused a general letdown in team performance.

SPORTS NOTES

•The World Series films will be shown tomorrow at 12:30 P.M. in Room 306 Shepard. All students are invited to attend as well as prospective candidates for the baseball team.

•The Women's basketball team will oppose the Hunter sextet tomorrow at 5:30 P.M. in the Park Gymnasium. Admission free.

•Track coach Harry diGirolamo will enter two men in the sixty-yard high hurdle, and two relay teams in the Metropolitan AAU Track and Field Handicap Meet. The meet will be held at the 102nd Engineers Armory at 7 P.M. tomorrow. The hurdlers will be Ants Tomson and Al Lampell.

•Tickets go on sale Monday and Tuesday for the City-Brooklyn basketball game, Wednesday, December 28, at the Kingsmen's court. Tickets may be purchased for fifty cents between 12-2 P.M. on these days in Room 2 of the Lewisohn Stadium Building.

Untested Fencers Face NCAA Champion Lions

Seriously weakened by the loss of veteran sabreman Dick Susco, and its entire foil team, the College's fencing varsity will be facing heavy odds this Saturday at 2 P.M. when it opens its intercollegiate season at Columbia University.

Coach Edward Lucia will be forced to field a promising, but inexperienced team in an attempt to defeat the National Champion Lions. Commenting on his squad, Lucia said, "Despite the fact that these boys have shown fine potential in pre-season practice sessions, the experience of actual competition is unquestionably necessary before judging a fencers worth."

Glassner Number 1 Foilsman

Captain Morton Glassner will be Lucia's number one foilsman, while Paul Tannenbaum and Stan Hochman are slated to fill the second and third slots. Glassner saw limited action last year as an alternate, while the other two have had no intercollegiate experience. Manny Feinberg will fill the vacancy on the sabre team left by Susco's graduation. Feinberg, also lacking competitive experience, is one of Lucia's prize sophomores.

With this inexperienced lineup, the burden has fallen upon veteran epeemen Joel Wolfe, Jonas Ulenas and Norman Zafman, and sabremen Marty Wertlieb and Elliot Mills.

Despite the loss of Lion captain, Barry Pariser in the sabre division, the Light Blue sabre team is still a threat to retain their Eastern crown. Returning veterans Jerry Kaufman and Marv Stein head Coach Irving Dekoff's sabre team.

The Lavender swordsmen will face the College's Alumni fencing team in a practice match tomorrow at the Fencers' Club, 320 East 53rd Street, at 6 P.M.

The competition will be formidable, as the Alumni will field several Olympic stars.
