Urge Revival Of Committee On Curriculum

By JACK LEVINE

The revival of a student-faculty committee to study the College's curriculum has been recommended by the presidents of both the Day and Evening Session Student Councils.

In a letter to President Buell G. Gallagher, Gloria Kingsley and William Stern, chief executives of the day and evening Councils, respectively, have urged that the dormant Student-Faculty Committee on Curriculum be set up again.

Faded Out

The committee was formed in 1951, and according to Miss Kingsley, did some "fine work" before "fading out." One of its chief activities, she said, was teacher evaluation.

"The newly formed School of Education Liason Council of Students," she declared, "is in the spirit of the kind of group we are seeking to reestablish." She expressed the hope that the other divisions of the College would soon emulate the School of Education.

Better Relations

The council will seek to provide better student faculty relationships, evaluate courses and textbooks, and feel out problems of education students. It consists of twelve student members, ten from the various education fraternities and societies and two from the Student Government.

The formation of the group was praised by Dean Harold Abelson (Education) as a step to encourage full consideration of student deliberation on decisions affecting them.

Prom . . .

Tickets will go on sale tomorrow for this year's Junior Prom, to be held on December 3 in the Grand Ball Room of Finley Student Center.

The tickets, at $3 per couple, will be on sale from 11 AM till 3 PM daily, in Room 151 Finley. This prom will be the first to be held in the Grand Ball Room.

Membership Lists Remain; Compromise Plan Adopted

By STAN ZAROWIN

An attempt to rescind the long-contested membership list ruling was rejected last night at a meeting of the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs. However, a new implementation of the ruling was passed, which provides for a special sub-committee of SFCSA to destroy the lists, required of all organizations on campus, after one academic year, at the discretion of the student involved.

The compromise supposedly offers a safeguard for students who do not wish their affiliations with either political or religious clubs to be recorded permanently.

After the attempt to rescind the ruling was defeated, Gloria Kingsley, Student Council President and SFCSA member, accused the committee "of completely disregarding the opinions of the student body." She referred to the opposition in the editorial pages of Observation Post and The Campus and a referendum which was put to the students last term, in which the ruling was rejected by a two to one majority. Miss Kingsley declared that SFCSA's action was "a basic infringement of student rights."

The motion to rescind the ruling failed by 5-2 with one abstention. Miss Kingsley had changed her vote from "yes" to a qualified abstention so that she might state her views to the committee. David Pfeffer, Senior however, that those members of the committee who voted against rescinding the ruling "did not care what the students wanted," and that "their opinions did not

Class President, and Herbert Geissler, President of TIIC, also voted to rescind the ruling.

Miss Kingsley said that the committee should be aware of the students' feelings. She added, mean anything to them."

Miss Kingsley and Pfeffer were the only members of the committee to vote against the new implementation ruling.

Bookstore to be Moved To Finley by November

The College book store will begin moving to greatly expanded quarters in the Finley Student Center October 30. The new site is on the ground floor of the Center, and faces the driveway of the South Campus.

The transfer of shelving and 700 cartons of books and school supplies is expected to take about three days.

At present, Ronald H. Garretson, the new manager of the book store, anticipates that the South Campus store will be able to handle all sales efficiently and he does not expect to continue operation on the North Campus location.

In line with the transfer to quarters approximately ten times those of the former site in Shepard Hall, Mr. Garretson plans a new sales set-up and an expansion of stock.

The book store will be divided into several areas, each selling a particular type of stock and having its own salesman and register. This set-up, Mr. Garretson hopes, will eliminate the necessity for students to wait on one long line when they have only small purchases to make.

Many new items will be added to the stock of the book store. Greeting cards, social stationery,

SG Sponsors Driver Course

Student Government is sponsoring a series of Driver Education courses at the College. The fees are $23 for six hours of instruction on cars with hydro-matic shifts and $38 for cars with standard shifts.

The course also include four hours of lecture.

The lessons and road test will be given in the vicinity of the College. Students may borrow a Driving School car to take the test at an additional charge of $3.

Driving instructions will begin on Thursday, October 27. Applications for the course are available in Room 151, Finley Student Center. The last day for filing applications for the first course is Thursday, October 20.

Further information may be obtained by inquiring in Room 151, Finley Student Center, between the hours of 11 AM and 1 PM, or by phoning FORDHAM 7-6577.

Postnotes . . .

• A four page publication called "Chalk Dust" (formerly the "Torch") will be distributed free on the campus Thursday. The publication is designed especially for Education majors, although the Education Society has printed 6,000 issues.

• Receptionists are needed for the Student Government information desk in Room 151, Finley Student Center. Anyone interested in the position should contact John Sherwood in Room 151, any morning at 11.

• Applications for transfer to the School of Education are now being accepted in Room 112 (Shepard). Only students who have not yet reached their senior year may apply.

Freshman Dance First Class Affair Set in Finley Ballroom

The Freshman Ball will be the first class dance to be held in the Grand Ball Room of the Finley Student Center. It will take place on Saturday evening, November 5.

Freddy Price and his ten-piece "Society" orchestra and Rubello's five-piece mambo band will supply music for continuous dancing at the Ball. Pat Collins, recording artist for MCR Records will be featured vocalist.

Highlighting the Ball will be the selection of a "Freshman Queen." She will be chosen by members of the faculty.

In addition, dance contests will be held at the Ball.

Tickets may be obtained in Room 151, Finley Student Center, from Audrey Smith, Secretary of '59.

Arthur Genen, President of the Class '59, said that he was hoping for a large turnout "to make the dance, which is the most ambitious attempt by a freshman class yet, a successful affair. If the Class of '59 shows that it can support this affair, many events that we have planned can also be implemented," he added.

GOP . . .

Representative Frederic R. Coudert (R-NY) will address the Robert A. Taft Young Republican Club tomorrow at 12:15 PM in Room 018 Wagner Hall. The topic of his address will be announced prior to the start of the meeting.

All those interested are invited to attend.

Inertia

The Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs went to elaborate lengths last night to "protect" the students whose names appear on membership lists. By so doing, they decided to retain the lists themselves. We cannot decide whether their decision arose out of sheer stubborn loyalty to the long-contested lists, or whether they really believe that Microcosm—the senior yearbook—desperately needs verification of the co-curricular activities written up.

At any rate, they justified their decision on the basis of Microcosm and electioneering material prior to student elections. In view of consistent and ardent student opposition to the entire idea of membership lists, these rationalizations for clinging to them are spurious and puny. Is it inertia that conditions SFCSA against change of a pet project?

The plan presented by the Student Council Civil Liberties Committee—and subsequently turned down—was one that a fair-minded body could easily have accepted. This called for membership lists on a purely voluntary basis, as they should be, with only the names of the four highest officers turned in to take responsibility for their organization. Instead of this, SFCSA preferred to advocate a subcommittee to take care of the lists, with cremation looming for them a year ahead of their submittal. We next expect to hear of Pinkerton guards being hired to change the guard in front of the vaults every night.

Of course, we prefer having the lists guarded and destroyed rather than kept about forever. But it's a poor exchange for the plan advocated by virtually every responsible student organization on the campus—voluntary membership lists. A reversal of its ruling by SFCSA would intensify the climate of intellectual freedom that we want here.

Opposition to compulsory membership lists is based on more than just the fear that they might fall into the wrong hands. We like the idea that college students may be responsible for their own after-school activities. We think that these activities are, indeed, their own affair. If they want credit for them, they may ask to be put on record with the Department of Student Life.

Forcing students to go on record, however briefly, remains as arbitrary and unwise as it was at the beginning. We keep getting compromise after compromise, plan after plan, and all of them disregard the central fact: the student body does not want membership lists in any form, sugar-coated as they may be. This was proven beyond a doubt in a student referendum last semester.

We will not accept this compromise. We intend to keep fighting it for as long as the SFCSA sticks to its indefensible, unwarranted, unwanted plan. They promote it in the name of efficiency—but when smooth bureaucracy becomes the one consideration of the College, overriding human considerations, we suggest they dispense with students in favor of IBM machines.

'Chalk Dust'

A game called "Start Your Own Newspaper" seems to be getting ominously popular at the College. The latest entry in the student fee sweepstakes is something called "Chalk Dust," an outgrowth of the Education Society.

We are particularly interested in "Chalk Dust" because it has requested $170 of the Student Faculty Fee Committee—the same Committee which is barely able to see Observation Post and The Campus through the semester.

A separate newspaper for the Education Department—which gets plenty of news coverage anyway—could lead to still further developments. We can envision a day of separate papers for every department, club, and clique at the College. The student, in order to get a clear picture of what's going on, can paste up their various stories.

Frankly, we resent the idea of sectional papers drawing much-needed funds away from the two papers written for the entire student body, in which all student activities are given publicity. Perhaps in an era of freely flowing funds—if there ever is such a time—budding journalists all over the College can have separate little sheets to play around with. This certainly is not the time.

Grade Statistics

As usual, Mathematics retained its leadership for failures last term. Topping Physics for the second straight semester. Math showed a 13.6% flunking average, a drop from the January figure of 14.4%. Failures in Physics also dropped, from 9.2% to 7.9%.

Only two departments had clean slates for the basic courses. The departments of Philosophy and Sociology and Anthropology were the non-conformists. Advanced courses saw twelve additions to this roster. The following departments also had a 100% passing average: Classical Languages, Economics, Films, Geology, German History, Hygiene, Industrial Arts, Military Science, Romance Languages and Speech.

The detailed statistics are as follows:

SFCSA Nixes Lists Repeal; Action Scored by SC Prexy

defense of the principle behind the membership list ruling by Professor Kurt Lowe (Geology) that "since the students in political and religious clubs using the College's name, the College has a right to know what organizations the students belong to." "Otherwise, the student is a secret member of a secret organization," he added.

The new implementation of the ruling will provide students the option of removing their name from the membership "slips" which will be kept by a special sub-committee of SFCSA. In this way, there will be no permanent record of their membership in a file. However, students may leave their names on these "slips" in order to get the extracurricular credit.

One month after the semester in which the "slips" are removed by the special sub-committee, these "slips" which have not been removed by the individual students, shall be released to the Department of Student Activities. These "slips" will then be filed in the individual students folders. As an additional safeguard, the students may withdraw their names from the student activity folder after the "slips" have been released by the special sub-committee.

Miss Kingsley cited many cases where students both in City College and outside the College are against the principle of membership list rulings.

The National Student Association which held a meeting last summer at the University of Minnesota unanimously voted against such a ruling and the misuse of these lists.

In a report submitted to SFCSA by Miss Kingsley and prepared by the Civil Liberties Committee of Student Council, it was stated that the ruling was "an infringement of the right of free association by the student body." "The ruling" the report continued, "is a form of indirect censorship . . . and it tends to instill fear of economic or social consequences in the minds of those who belong to organizations which support unpopular causes . . . and it would stop people from exercising their right . . . to free speech"

Miss Kingsley said that "our next recourse, it appears, is to take the case outside of the immediate college community. I believe there are many outside organizations concerned with civil liberties who might be interested in investigating this situation," she said.

Sport Notes

This Saturday's scheduled cross country meet between the Beaver harriers and Fairleigh Dickinson has been cancelled because of a misunderstanding between both institutions in scheduling.

The freshman basketball team will begin practice, Thursday, October 27, in the Main Gym at 4 PM. Eligibility cards are now available in the Athletic Office in Lewisohn Stadium.

Professor George J. Clemens (Electrical Engineering) has been appointed chairman of the Student-Faculty Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics, succeeding Professor John R. White (Civil Engineering), whose term has expired.

Herb Jacobsohn, a regular on last season's City cage squad, is now teaching Univac for Remington Rand, which plans to send him to Akron, Ohio.

Another ex-Beaver hoopster of the 1955-56 five, Walt Tanenbaum, is now in the Army.

Merv Shorr, last year's basketball captain and the all-time Lavender high-scorer, was rejected by Uncle Sam because of the bad knee which plagued him throughout his last year of varsity competition.

Dutch Garfinkel, former Baruch Center basketball coach, and Mike Wittlin, a member of the "Grand Slam" team of 1950, have both passed the Public School Athletic League (PSAL) basketball exam for referees.

Zafman, Piperno Make Olympic Fencing Squad

The roster of the United States Olympic fencing team is getting to look like a Who's Who of City College swordsmen.

Six of the eighteen fencers who represented the United States in Helsinki, Finland, in 1952 had previously competed for the College. Before the start of the 1956 Classic, the College's representation may rise to ten.

Twa Lavendar varsity fencers, Norman Zafman and Charles Piperno, and two recent graduates, Aubrey Seeman and Larry Lazovick, have been added to the Olympic fencing squads after successfully in tryouts at the New York Athletics Club. Last Saturday Zafman scored six consecutive victories to win a place on the epee squad. On October 8, Piperno, Seeman, and Lazovick made the Olympic squad in foil.

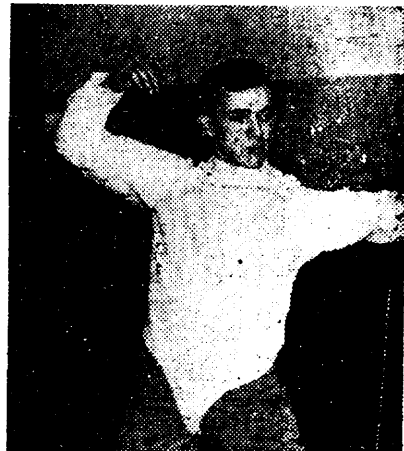

18 to Make Melbourne Trip

In each weapon (epee, sabre, and foil) there is a squad of twenty-five to thirty-five fencers. It is from these squads of the best fencers in the nation that the eighteen who will journey to Melbourne, Australia, will be chosen. The selections will be made on the basis of points compiled by the fencers in competition to be held during the coming months.

Zafman, a Tech senior, was a member of the College's epee team which placed third in the Eastern Intercollegiate Association meet last March. In AFLA (Amateur Fencers League of America) competition last year he was on both the Novice and Junior championship teams. Piperno, or "Pip" as he is familiarly known, was a member of the

1952 "Iron Man" team just before he entered the Air Force. Seeman to Get Service Leave

Seeman, last year's Eastern Intercollegiate foil champion and a three-year varsity fencer, graduated last June and is entering the Marine Corps as a Lieutenant in January. He is expected to be excused from active service while training for the team.

The six City alumni who fenced in the 1952 Olympics are: Hal Goldsmith, Abram Cohen, Albert Axelrod, James Strauch, Daniel Bukantz, and Nat Lubell. Goldsmith, who graduated in 1952, also won the Pan-American foil championship in Mexico City last year, and was National Collegiate Foil champion in 1952.

Booters Seek First Place Tie in Adelphi Tilt Today

The undefeated (but second-place) College soccer team will be aiming for a first-place tie today in the Metropolitan Conference when they engage a weak Adelphi College squad in Lewisohn Stadium at 3:30.

The Beaver booters are currently deadlocked with Hunter College for second place with both teams having won two conference tilts. The league leading outfit has been victorious in all three of their league games.

First Meeting

City, still fresh from a brilliant prestige-producing 3-2 victory over Army last Friday, will be meeting the Panther eleven for the first time in the history of the schools. In their first season of soccer competition last year, the Maroon and Gold compiled a 3-5-1 record. This campaign they have been toppled by the Mariners 1-0, in two overtime periods, Hunter 4-0 and Bridgeport University 4-1. Their lone triumph was a 9-0 whitewashing of Long Island University.

Adelphi mentor, Lisardo Diaz, has experienced many difficulties this season, because of the graduation of the Panthers two top scorers of a year ago. He has had to continually shift his offensive and defensive units in an attempt to discover a winning combination.

Adelphi Offense

Jack Hyman, six foot, four inch behemoth, who is Adelphi's ace football punter also, will start in the nets for the visitors. Jerry Romano, the Panthers high scorer, with four markers in the LIU victory, will start at the center forward position. The remaining attacking positions should be filled by Frank Russo, outside right, Saul Retelny, inside right; Isaac Gorn, inside left; and Don Macy, outside left. Macy tallied twice and Russo once against the Blackbirds.

The Beaver lineup will probably be the same one that opened against the Cadets last Friday. Wally Meisen, sporting a string of six successive conference shut-outs, will guard the Lavender goal. Robert LeMestre and sophomore Fred Munters will form the fullback duo. Co-captains Eddie Trunk and Bob Hayum, along with Novak Masonavich, will be the halfbacks.

Comprising the Lavender offense will be all-time high-scorer, center forward, Johnny Keutsantanou; outside left, Vahe Jordan, inside left, Wolfgang Wostl; inside right, Morris Hocherman and newcomer George Bonnett, outside right. Hocherman has been the "sparkplug" behind the Beavers three victories to date, while Jordan and Wostle have assisted heavily in the scoring.

Coach Hopes As Girls Start Hoop Practice

"The outlook for the coming season is very encouraging. The first time in the history of the College, we have girl Physical Education majors who makes our potential much better than in previous years, because our squads are larger," enthusiastically declares, Miss Laura Ham, Women's Basketball coach.

The Beaverettes, who opened practice last week, have most last year's old standby's returning. Ready and raring for action are co-captains Sandy Wein and Rusty Russell, and Brooks, Bernice Campbell, Ariel Cuttler, Joice Jessamy, Natalie Bowen.

The hoopsterettes will play games, seven of which are scheduled for their home court, William Park Gymnasium Building. An alumnae quintet will provide the opening opposition on Thursday, December 1.
