SC President Resigns:
Gruberg Plan on Ballot

A referendum calling for the creation of two new posts on the Student Council Executive was put on the ballot last night.

The proposal, suggested by the coordination Committee of the Executive Council, was moved by Martin Gruberg, who will ask the student body to pass an amendment which would create two additional vice-presidents with the responsibilities of the student Council representatives. The positions of treasurer and secretary would become professional positions, and a special assistant to the student body president would be appointed by Council.

In other action Council set up an investigating Coordination Agency to develop, encourage and coordinate activities of clubs on the campus. The agency, which closely follows a system now in operation at the nearby Bard College, will give member organizations certain responsibilities now in the hands of other Student Council agencies. The new agency will be in charge of regulating public media now supervised by the Student Government Agency. The agency will also run the Activities Fair and elect representatives to the Student-Faculty Committee and the Student Union Board of Managers.

Membership in the agency is optional, but only organizations which are members will receive the services offered by the agency. According to the Student Government Structures Committee report which accompanied the proposal, "the by-law will motivate organizations to join and give the agency real responsibility."

Harriers Quit Track League

The City College track team has resigned from the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Track and Field Conference, it was learned early this week. In addition to City, the Columbia and Brooklyn College track teams have also resigned from the league.

George R. Schulz, assistant di- rector of the Eastern College Athletic Association, said that the resignation of the Metropolitan Conference has been changed to allow colleges and universities within a broader New York metropolitan area to join.

Frankfurter Delivers Main Address
At Charter Day Ceremonies Today

By Fred Boretz

Felix Frankfurter, '02, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, will deliver the feature address of College's annual Charter Day ceremonies today in the Great Hall.

Chairman Gruberg, Student Council Vice President and endorsed "whole heartedly" by SC President Barney McCaffrey, the mission was referred to a subcommittee which was asked to consider the recommendation and to make positive recommendations at the next SFCSA meeting in June.

Gruberg suggested that the student members be elected for one year to SFCSA by the students. Gruberg wanted to have this plan included on this term's election, but the motion to send the recommendation to subcommittee caused Gruberg's plan to be put off until next term. Professor Marvin Magallanes (English) stated that he was afraid the election might turn into a "circuit" where the student who was most popular might win the election.

Professor Kurt E. Lowe (Geology) recommended that the main qualifications for the student members be maturity and a desire to aid the College community. A fear that the papers would only endorse candidates who sympathize with their policies, such as Al Eisenkraft, President of House Plans, is not known yesterday, will tender his resignation from the Metropolitan Conference Agency. Mr. Winter had been faculty advisor to the Social Science Foundation, the SFCSA, or the Senior Class. The president of the College at the next iSFOSA meeting in June.

Graduate Soc. Program Instituted at the College

by JACK MONTGOMERY

A masters program in radio and television (including Public Welfare) will be offered at the College in September, Professor Orator I. Janowsky (History) Director of the program. The program is designed for the first time in cooperation with Hunter College, to pool faculty strength and avoid duplication of courses.

"The program was instituted," Prof. Janowsky said, "because most students cannot afford to pay the high tuition fees required by private universities, and because a comprehensive survey revealed that both the students and the community needed a school for graduate training in this field."

Tuition will be about $10 a course, or $50 for the whole program. Prof. Janowsky estimates that this is 40% to 50% less than the cost at a private university.

Two admissions to the program, students are required to have a Bachelor of Arts degree from a college of approved standing.

Expel Student For Theifery

The suspension of a student from the College for his behavior was announced last night by Dean James S. Peace (Student Affairs). The action was taken by the Student-Faculty Disciplinary Committee in accordance with the "Student Code of Student Life." The name of the student was withheld.

The student, he said, was caught by another student who had several textbooks robbed from his possession. These items in question were reported missing in the suspect's room.

The fourth annual Israeli Independence Week, to be held at the College from May 9-13, will feature four programs of films, speakers, and other events in connection with the anniversary of the founding of Israel. The Week will also feature the sale of Israel Independence Bithday stamps.

The programs are sponsored by Hillel, Student Zionist Organization, House of the Sociology Society and the Ukrainian Society. On Monday, May 9, there will be a showing of the film "Swed in the Desert" starring Jeff Goldblum and Martha Dove. This film will be shown in Room 306 Main at 3 PM. On Wednesday, May 11, a Hebrew artist program featuring the 45-inch length play "The Violin." A program featuring Esther Kurlitz, Chief Consul of Israel, and another speaker, as chosen by the panel were: Max Siegel, of the Yiddish Theater, and Martin Zander of Rutgers University.

Cutters Not Automatically Dropped—It's Up to the Prof, Says Registrar

By WORLEY THORNE

Students who favor the cafeteria over the classroom may be encouraged by a recent dispatch from the Registrar's office. "There is no legal limit to the number of cuts a student may take in a course," says Robert L. Taylor (Registrar—but anyone who does cut—at least in Biology—is "mildly insane," according to Professor James A. Dawson (Biology, Chmn.).

Misconception
"There seems to be a misconception," added Mr. Taylor, "that students may be dropped automatically from a course for cutting. In addition, instructors are advised to recommend for dropping those students "with excessive absences," whom they wish dropped. In the Registrar's

Rutgers Tops Stickmen 17-6; First City Defeat

In the battle of the unbeaten teams, the Lavender lacrosse team came out on top by a 17-6 margin over the Violets, who had racked up four consecutive home victories.

Beaver Nine Trounces Violets 8-2

For Third Met Conference Victory

The City College baseball team scored its third Metropolitan Conference victory of the season yesterday, defeating New York University 8-2, behind the seven-hit pitching of ace hurler Joe Galletta. It was the fifth league loss for the Violets who had beaten the Beavers 9-6, earlier in the season.

Galletta, who struck out seven NYU batters while giving up five walks, was in trouble only once during the game. In the fifth inning, he walked the first batter Ray Epstein. Violet shortstop Tom Curran then followed with a bunt single, and Galletta loaded the bases by walking catcher Tom Curran. Bearing down, the Lavender hurler struck out his opposing pitcher Bob Goldschild and leadoff man Phil Roberts. However, a single to center on a 0-2 pitch by Jimmy Nidaa struck Curran and Duva. Galletta completed the inning by fanning Hal Cooley.

The Lavender cause, backed by eleven hits, was further aided by seven NYU errors. In the first inning, two errors, an error, and a single by Jim Cohen put the Beavers ahead 2-0. They extended their lead to four runs in the second on singles by Lou Ber-

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young manager handles finances for building of $5,000,000 plant

In the next ten years, the demand for General Electric industrial heating equipment will double. To meet this demand, a giant new plant (model at right) is being built at Shelbyville, Indiana.

The plant will cost $5,000,000, and the man responsible for handling finances for the entire job is 32-year-old R. E. Fetter.

Fetter's job is important, responsible

Dick Fetter's work as Financial Manager of the Department began long before General Electric started building the plant. He and his group first had to estimate probable operating costs and predict whether the plant would be profitable.

Now, during construction, Fetter's chief concern is keeping track of all the expenses on this multimillion-dollar project. When the plant is completed, he will set up a complete financial section and manage everything from tax, cost, and general accounting to payrolls, budgets and measurements, and internal auditing.

25,000 college graduates at General Electric

This is a big job. Fetter was reared for it in a careful step-by-step program of development. Like Fetter, each of the 25,000 college-graduate employees is given his chance to grow, to find the work he does best, to realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When young, fresh minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.
