Urge Revival Of Committee On Curriculum

BY JACK LEVINE

The revival of a student-faculty committee to study the College's curriculum has been supported by the presidents of both the Day and Evening Session Student Councils. In a letter to President Buel G. Gallagher, Gloria Kingsley and William Stern, chief executives of the day and evening sessions, respectively, have urged that the dormant Student-Faculty Committee on Curriculum be set up again.

Faded Out

The committee was formed in 1951, and according to Miss Kingsley, did some "fine work" before "fading out." One of its activities, the "You Shall," was teacher evaluation.

The affiliated School of Education Liaison Council of Students, she declared, "is in the habit of bringing groups up here seeking to reestablish." She expressed the hope that the other divisions of the College would soon emulate the School of Education.

Better Relations

The council will seek to provide better student-faculty relationships, evaluate courses and textbooks, and test out problems of education students. It consists of twelve student members, ten faculty members, and three deans of freshmen and seniors and two from the Student Government.

The formation of the group was praised by Dean Harold W. Huffman, who congratulated the students for their "forward thinking" and expressed the hope that his vote from "yes" to "no" would be emulated throughout the School of Education.

An attempt to rescind the long-contested membership list ruling was rejected last night at a meeting of the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs. However, a new implementation of the ruling was passed, which provides for a special sub-committee of the Senate to draw up the list, re-required of all organizations on campus after one academic year, at the discretion of the student body involved.

The compromise supposedly offers a safeguard for students who do not wish their affiliations with either political or religious clubs to be recorded permanently.

After the attempt to rescind the ruling was defeated, Gloria Kingsley, Student Council President and SFCSA member, asked the committee to consider a new implementation of the ruling which was put over to the students last term, which was rejected by a two to one majority. Miss Kingsley declared that SFCSA's action was "a basic infringement of student rights."

The motion to rescind the ruling failed by 5-2 with one abstention. Miss Kingsley had a change of heart, a "yay" vote from last term.

The committee was asked to study the College's history to determine whether or not the ruling was accurate in the first place. The committee shall be made up of the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs, the Student Government, the Student-Faculty Council, the Student-Faculty Senate, and SFCSA.

The compromise also includes a provision for the right of students to rescind their rulings if they change their minds.

'Jerusalem Bible' to be Given To Prexy by Jewish Group

President Buel G. Gallagher will be presented with the 'Jerusalem Bible' at a program sponsored by Hillel and the Students Zionist Organization (SZO) in the Townsend Harris Hall on Thursday, October 27, at 12:30 PM.

The bible, the first to be presented in Hebrew in Jerusalem, is a gift from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. The program will also include speeches by Professor Abraham S. Halkin (Hebrew Department), and performances by a dancer and a violinist. The program will be presented in the price of the 'Jerusalem Bible'.

Bill Rosenbaum, National President of the SZO and a senior at the College, will present the bible to President Gallagher. Rosenbaum was a student at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

The significance of the bible, according to Rabbi Arthur Zuckerman, Director of Hillel, lies in the fact that it is a special edition printed in traditional Jewish forms and symbols.

The ceremony will take place at a meeting of the Student-Faculty Senate on Thursday, October 27, at 12:30 PM in room 151, Finley Student Center.

The College book store will begin moving to greatly expanded quarters in the Finley Student Center October 30. The new site is located on the floor of the Center, and faces the driveway of the South Campus.

The trigger of shelving and 10000 items of books and school supplies is expected to take about ten days.

At present, Ronald H. Garretson, the new manager of the book store, anticipates that the South Campus store will be able to handle all sales efficiently and he does not expect to continue operation on the North Campus location.

In line with the transfer to quarters approximately ten times larger than those of the old site in Howard Hall, Mr. Garretson plans a new sales set-up and an expansion of stock.

The book store will be divided into several areas, each selling a particular type of stock and having its own salesman and registrar. This set-up, Mr. Garretson hopes, will eliminate the necessity for students to wait on one long line when they have only small purchases to make.

Many new items will be added to the book store's inventory, including greeting cards, social stationery, and other items designed especially for Education majors. Although the Education majors, although the Education Society will have the privilege of purchasing first, the public is welcome to make use of the book store.

Tickets may be obtained in Room 151, Finley Student Center, from Audrey Smith, Secretary of the College."
The Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs went to elaborate lengths last night to "protect" the students who have decided to leave campus, because it is requested $170 of the Student Faculty Fee Committee for clinging to them are spurious and puny. Is it inertia that forces students to go on record, however briefly requested $170 of the Student Faculty Fee Committee?

As usual, Mathematics retained its leadership for failures last month. Topping Physics for the second straight month, Math showed a 13.6% flunking average, a drop from the January figure 14.6%. Failures in Physics also dropped, from 9.2% to 7.9%. Only two departments had perfect 100% pass rates in their basic courses.

The departments of Philosophy and Sociology and Anthropology were the narrowest margins saw twelve additions to this roster. The following departments for Education and Psychology had a 100% passing average: Classical Languages, Economics, Films, Geology, German, History, Industrial Arts, Military Science, Romance Languages and Speech.

Bother Seek First Place Tie in Adelphi Tilt Today

The undefeated (but second-place) College soccer team will be aiming for a first-place tie today in the Metropolitan Conference when they engage weak Adelphi College squad in Lewishon Stadium at 3:30.

The Beaver booters are currently deadlocked with Hunter College for second place with both teams having won two conference titles. The league leading outfit has been victorious in all three of their league games.

First Meeting

City, still fresh from a brilliant prestige-producing 3-2 victory over Army last Friday, will be meeting the Panther eleven for the first time in the history of the schools. In their first season of soccer competition last year, the Maroons and Gold compiled a 3-5-1 record. This campaign they.

Adelphi Offense

Jack Ryan, six foot, four inch behemoth, who is Adelphi's ace football punter also, will start in the nets for the visitors. Jerry Romano, the Panther high scorer, with four markers in the ULI victory, will start at the center forward position. The remaining attacking positions should be filled by Frank Russo, outside right, Saul Rostovitz, inside right, and Don Mury, outside left. Mury tallied twice and Russo once against the Blackbirds.

The Beaver lineup will probably be the same one that opened against the Cadets last Friday. Wally Mason, spotting a string of six successive conference shutouts, will guard the Lavender goal. Robert L'Ecuyere and sophomore Fred Munters will form the fullback duo. Co-captains Eddie Trunnell and Bob Hayman, along with Novak Masonovitch, will be the fullbacks.

Comprising the Lavender Defense will be all-time high-scorer, center forward, Johnny Koutsantonis; outside left, Vace Jordan, inside left, Wallingford Wadell; inside right, Morris Hocherman and newcomer George Bonetti, outside right. Hocherman has been the "sparkplug" behind the Beavers three victories to date, while Jordan and Wadell have assisted heavily in the scoring.

Nimrods

Sergeant First Class Arthur Carididi, new rifle mentor, has announced the squad's 1955 - 56 schedule for the coming Metropolitan Intercollegiate Rifle League season. Stevens Tech is the only new entrant in this year's eighteen team league.
