Wagner and Sulzberger To Speak at Dedications

Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Mr. Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of The New York Times, will deliver the speeches at ceremonies officially dedicating the two remaining south campus buildings on May 5.

The day, in addition to the dedication ceremonies, will mark the observance of the first joint Alumni Homecoming Day and Charter Day in the College's history.

Mayor Wagner will speak at the dedication of Robert F. Wagner Hall, to be named after his late father, a member of the Class of '98, and Sulzberger will dedicate the John H. Finley Student Center, named after the College's third president, who subsequently became the editor of The Times.

To Unveil Plaques

After the dedication addresses, aluminum name plaques for the buildings will be unveiled by Robert F. Wagner III, the Mayor's son, and Mrs. John H. Finley, widow of Dr. Finley. Beginning at 3:30 PM on May 5, exhibitions concerning the lives and works of both Wagner and Finley will be on display in the Student Center.

Between 1500 and 2000 alumni, a record number, are expected to attend the annual Homecoming Day. The day's activities will include the holding of a box lunch on the South Campus lawn between 12:15 and 2 PM, and a dance in the Grand Ballroom after 4 PM, to the music of a name band.

A limited number of students, not to exceed 400, will be able to participate in the day's festivities, including the lunch, for $1 per person. Various organizations, including House Plan and the Classes of '56 and '57 will be seated as groups.

Students must be able to identify themselves by means of their student activities cards, but will be allowed to bring along one guest apiece. Reservations can be obtained at the Ticket Bureau, Room 132A Finley.

Student speakers at the combined Homecoming Day-Charter Day ceremonies will include Jared Jussim, Student Council President, and Evening Session Vice President, Alice Molloy.

"Ideal Alumnus"

On behalf of the student governments, they will present Joseph Schapiro, Class of '11 with a citation naming him as the College's "ideal alumnus." Schapiro was president of the Alumni Association during the Centennial Fund campaign, which resulted in the securing of the Student Center.

Cagers To Join New Loop? Athletic Comm. Votes Today

By BARRY MALLIN

The Student Faculty Committee on Athletics SFCA is meeting today to decide whether the College will accept an invitation to join the newly formed Tri-State Basketball League.

An invitation was extended to the school by George Faherty, acting president of the conference and basketball coach at Adelphi. If the SFCA votes to join the circuit, the motion will then go to the General Faculty Committee on Athletics for final approval.

Created about a month ago, the league is at present made of eight schools from New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. They are and Yeshiva from New York; Fairleigh Dickinson and Rider from New Jersey; and Bridgeport and Fairfield from Connecticut.

Commenting on the proposal, Dave Polansky, new basketball coach, said, "I don't see the purpose of our entering such a league. It would mean the end of some of our ancient rivalries with New York schools, while on the other hand we could still play some of the teams in the circuit without joining."

Faherty reported that a meeting will be held on May 9, at which time six other schools will state whether they wish to enter the league. Besides the College, Wagner, Brooklyn College, Upsala, St. Peter's and C. W. Post are considering joining the conference.

Schedules made for this year will remain the same, even if the College does join, but games between conference rivals will then be counted in league standings.

Health Insurance Program Receives Council Approval

By RALPH DANNHISER

A program of voluntary health and accident insurance for all students in the Uptown Center Day Session was approved unanimously last night by Student Council.

In other action, Council voted by an 11-8 margin to institute compulsory freshman beanies at the College, beginning in the Fall '56 term, and unanimously decided to bar all intercollegiate competition with schools practicing segregation.

The insurance program, which is expected to go into effect next term, covers treatment of accidental injury up to $500, and also hospital charges in case of sickness. The hospital benefits include remuneration for room and board, surgeon's fees, ambulance fees, doctor's visits, and such miscellaneous hospital expenses as x-rays, blood tests, and medicine.

Two plans will be available to the students, one providing coverage for the nine school months, and the other giving year-round coverage. The approximate cost of the twelve month plan is $26 for male students, and $20 for females. The nine month plan will cost about $19 for men, and $15 for the coeds.

The program was hailed by Louise Shacknow, SC Secretary, as "a tremendous step forward for the Student Government in serving the students. It will provide for them essential health coverage, which is not otherwise available at a comparable price."

Stuart Schaar, Class of '58 President, who was assigned last year by Council to investigate the area of health insurance said "after one and a half years of investigating health policies of colleges throughout the country, I feel that this policy is the best program for the College available at the price."

According to A. Lawrence Brown, the representative of the American Casualty Company, which is issuing the group policy, the plan gives the student the benefit of group purchasing pow-Patterned after England's open-air debating arena, the "Day" will be presented as part of Academic Freedom Week.

Speakers are: Robert Gilmore, secretary of the American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker organization; Hal Draper, editor of Labor Action, a socialist publication; Allan Douglass, a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism; and Simon Gerson, legislative director for the New York State Communist Party.

Teaching Right Of Marxists Discussed

By KEN FOEGE

Denying Marxists the right to teach is "imbecilic," Herbert Aptheker, faculty member at the Jefferson School of Social Science, charged yesterday at an Academic Freedom Week forum.

Not allowing Marxists to teach, he said, deprives them of their basic freedoms and also deprives students the benefit of hearing their viewpoints. "It tends to inhibit freedom of thought for all," he asserted.

Other speakers at the forum on "Who Should Be Allowed the Right to Teach" were Louis Joughin, assistant director of the American Civil Liberties Union, Professor Hillman M. Bishop (Government), and Herbert Romerstein of Students of America.

Mr. Joughin also felt that a Marxist should be allowed to teach, but only if his identity as a Marxist is not concealed. A Marxist intent on indoctrinating his students should not be allowed.

Krikorian Urges Stand By School Administration

By SHELLY HALPERN

School and University administrators must themselves take a definite stand opposing "pressure against intellectual liberty" and not leave the job to the faculty alone, Professor Y. H. Krikorian (Philosophy) said yesterday.

Speaking at a seminar on "The Scientist and Academic Freedom" Professor Krikorian defined Academic Freedom as "the freedom we give to the scientist or scholar to pursue his studies, teach, and publish his work." He said that the implications of Academic Freedom include respect to the scholar and scientist, independent thought and the pursuance of studies wherever they lead.

Other speakers at the seminar, sponsored by the Student Government Academic Freedom Week Committee, were Professor Harry Lustig (Physics) and Professor William Etkin (Biology).

Professor Lustig, speaking of the "International and cooperative nature" of scientific research, said that the United States' security measures keeping security risks from entering this country hinders research. This is so, he explained, because so many foreign scientists are Communists or have been associated with Communists.

According to Professor Lustig, the Geneva Conference on Atomic Energy was important because it showed that the Russian physicists, even though living under "political tyranny" had done work in the field of Atomic Energy as good as that in the United States. "Had they shared their knowledge as they worked," Professor Lustig felt, "they would both have progressed much further."

Professor Etkin believed that "a biologist could be a good biologist even if he is a Communist. Neither Democracy nor Communism commit one to certain ideas about cancer."

"Ethics," Professor Etkin said, "have little to do with scientists, and furnish no basis for scientific decision."

Blood Bank Opens

The Blood Bank will be operating today after 10 AM in the Grand Ballroom and tomorrow at the same time in Knittle Lounge. Michael Mound, chairman of the Alpha Phi Omega Blood Bank, has announced that students will be allowed to give blood even if they have not yet registered. However, parental consent is needed for all students under 21.

It is hoped that a new record for donations will be set. The record now stands at 561 pints donated in April, 1953.

William Lombardy, College Freshman Undefeated in World Chess Tourney

Competing against the best student chess players of the world, William Lombardy, a freshman at the College, finished undefeated in the international students' chess tournament, held in Uppsala, Sweden. Sixteen countries were entered in the ten-day competition, which began on April 5.

Awarded Trophy

Lombardy was awarded a cut-crystal vase trophy for posting the best score in the second board division. He completed the competition with a record of five wins and three draws, and had a better overall average than International Grand Master (highest rank given to the outstanding chess players of the world) Boris Ivkov of Yugoslavia.

The eighteen year-old Chess Master, having just returned to the country on Tuesday, felt that "It was a pity that the United States team didn't do as well as expected." (The American squad consisting of Lombardy and four other students from Fordham, New York University, Harvard, and Columbia, finished last in the final round).

This is the first time Lombardy has traveled to Europe, but it is by no means his first extended trip to compete in a chess tournament. Mexico, California and New Orleans are already among the places he has gone in short career as outstanding student player.

"The great deal of traveling I do is one of the reasons I enjoy the sport, Lombardy reported. Not only does it enable me to see the world, but I am able to make new friends as well." He felt that the trip to Sweden was "a very interesting experience."

Announce Two College Mags On Sale Soon

Promethean, the College's literary magazine, and Mercury, the College's humor magazine, will be on sale within the next two weeks.

Reappearing with a new staff after a term's absence, Promethean will be on sale throughout the school on April 25, 26 and 27, for twenty-five cents. Mercury will appear on May 1 and will sell for the same amount.

This semester's Promethean will include "Generation," an opening chapter, four short stories, poems, art cuts, and book reviews of the best-seller "The Last Hurrah," by Edwin O'Connor, and "Last Days Journey Into Night," by Eugene O'Neill.

Three of the short stories were written under the supervision of the College's creative writing courses.

According to Ira Koenigsberg, editor of the magazine, the literature in the magazine was chosen for its "quality and wide tastes in subject matter and style."

Mercury, according to editor Ronald Rower, will have a "spring house cleaning" in its current issue, "All the skeletons in the College's closets," he said, "will be brought out for an airing."

Featured in the magazine will be satiric articles on every institution in the school, including registration, Deans, newspapers, ROTC, etc. Two "Miss Mercuries," one each from the uptown and downtown schools, will be portrayed in the issue.

Distribution of Grades

The distribution of grades released this week by the Registrar's office, shows an increase in the percentage of failures among day session students last semester over the previous semester.

As in previous terms, most of the failures in both required and advanced courses, were in mathematics.

Three departments—Music, Psychology, and Social Humanities—reported no failures in their required courses.

Classics and Hebrew, Education, Film, History, Industrial Arts, Music, Philosophy, Romance Languages, and Sociology and Anthropology reported no failures in their advanced courses.

In the basic courses the percent of failures increased from 3.3% to 3.4%. Failures in the advanced courses increased from .18% to 1.8%.

Subway Spirit

Many, too many students feel that City College is playing the Subway Circuit.

They feel there isn't much of the collegiate spirit on the College campus and that's the way it is, and the way it will be.

To say they're wrong would be too simple. Even these students will admit that such student run events as the Boatride, Friday Night Dances, other dances and special events are almost perennial sellouts. They see that the collegiate spirit is there and manifests itself every time there is a well organized student function to be held.

But, they may say, these events are all too few and far between. If this is the feeling, and we know it is in a great many cases, then these students only have themselves to blame. If these students were as preoccupied in getting a seat on their student or class council as they are in getting one on the IND or IRT, there would be no need for this editorial.

But the fact remains that the deadline for filing nominating petitions is tomorrow, and to date only four petitions have been filed.

If you're cool toward student governmental activities here, it's up to you to put fire into them. If you want to see some life at the College you have to be willing to put some of your life into it.

Nominating petitions are available in Room 151 Finley.

Quiet Spectacular

Last week, final approval came for a plan which makes a quietly spectacular change in the way Fee Plan funds are allocated to student organizations.

Under this new measure student groups will no longer be required to spend a specific sum for a specific item but an organization will get a lump sum to cover all its expenditure items and will be allowed to spend it as it sees fit.

We meet this plan with wholehearted approval. Not only will this allow the releasing of club funds bottled up by circumstances unforeseen at the beginning of the term, but it will also give students the opportunity to show their intelligence and dexterity in the handling of financial affairs.

With this, however, added responsibility also falls on the students' shoulders. It is a responsibility that will have to be especially well borne since the measure will only be in operation on a trial basis. In any case, allocations will always be granted to student organizations on the basis of how judiciously they will have spent their appropriation.

We are happy to see this new power in the students' hands and hope they will make it permanent by using it wisely and well.

The Drama of Silence

The College last week received a dramatic example of the necessity of a two-newspaper press.

With The Campus stifled, the College was still getting all the news, not only on the suspension incident itself, but also on the important events that daily occur about the College. Students and faculty alike were kept informed on what was happening where and why. Organizations and functions got the publicity they so vitally needed—an event held one day can never be attended the week after.

The whole Campus story itself was told. Opinion of both students and faculty were registered in our pages. Editorial comment was made in Observation Post in support of The Campus, and in protest to the method and harshness of punishment for the suspended editors—an ironic turn since The Campus has always been the fervent proponent of a merger with OP and the establishment of a single newspaper at the College.

If we had but a single newspaper there would have been no news, no editorials, no announcements, no publicity, no anything. The silence that might have prevailed here last week is a thunderous argument for the necessity and benefits of a two newspaper system.

Deadline Near For Petitions

Tomorrow is the deadline for all nominating petitions for the forthcoming Student Government elections to be filed. The petitions can be obtained in Room 151 Finley. Candidates for major offices should have seventy-five signatures on their petitions, while those vying for class positions need the signatures of fifty classmates.

So far, only four petitions for Student Council Reps. have been submitted, three are from the class of '56.

All interested students should submit, with their applications, a fifty word campaign statement, and a list of their extra-curricular background done in triplicate.

Those wishing to serve on Student Council must be free after 4 PM on Wednesday, Council's meeting time.

lowed to teach, he said. Another point of view, expressed by Professor Bishop, was that a Marxist should be allowed to teach unless he receives his orders from a party on the outside. He said that the Communist party is based on discipline and that a Communist teacher would obey all orders.

Mr. Rommerstein concurred in the opinion that a Communist can do nothing but what the party tells him to do. Reading from a "Communist" magazine which stated that the job of a Communist teacher is to indoctrinate his students with communism, he accused teachers who hide behind the Fifth Amendment as admitting their guilt.

Students, Faculty Debate Lists Issue in 'Alumnus'

A team of six faculty members and students debate the question of membership lists in the current issue of the City College Alumnus. The controversy grew out of a 1954 ruling by the SFCSA making membership lists mandatory.

Arguments against the lists are presented by Professor Colman O. Parsons (English), Mr. Stanley Feingold (Government), and Miss Gloria Kingsley. Favoring the lists in the issue were Mr. Stamos O. Zades (Student Life), Professor Marvin Magalaner (English), and Jared Jussim, Student Government President.

In the first article, Mr. Zades argues that lists are useful to students when used in their individual personnel folders. He also points out that the name of the organization to which a student belongs is never divulged and only general information regarding co-curricular participation is ever given out.

Professor Parsons, former faculty advisor to Student Government, was formerly opposed to compulsory lists because according to him some of their original purposes were "servile, harmful, and illegal." He now maintains that some of the wrongs were righted, but still feels that list do little good, and some harm.

Arguing for the lists, Professor Magalaner, a member of the SFCSA, asserts that no student can demand to be treated like an adult on one hand and on the other insist on the protection of anonymity and the privileges of children.

Mr. Feingold, a graduate of the College, challenges the propriety of the lists "within the bounds of a sound democratic educational policy." More, he added, should be done to promote the spirit of free inquiry, which is under attack by the enemies of democracy.

Jussim, in his argument for the lists states that in a democracy the assumption of responsibility was a major requirement.

The concluding article by Miss Kingsley, former president of the Student Government, maintains that it is an 'educational fallacy' to think students could be forced to accept responsibility, rather than accept it voluntarily. She adds that no argument of sufficient weight has been advanced to show that "administration efficiency" will be increased by compulsory membership lists.

ten matches (eight in 1955).
The team has come up with a sophomore sensation each of the past two seasons. In 1955 it was Ferrara, and this campaign it appears as if Woodley will give them the extra little push they might need against NYU and Fordham.

Last year the Violets and the Rams handed City the only losses in nine decisions.

In the singles events yesterday, the Lavenders jumped off to a 5-0 lead, which clinched the match, and then let up in the final singles and doubles, to account for the two Brooklyn points.

Jong beat Ed Fuchs 8-6, 4-6, 6-4, in the number one match, and Ferrara easily defeated George Sartiano, 6-1, 6-4, in the number two event.

In the next three matches Woodley topped Mel Standig 6-1, 1-6, 6-3, Walter Ritter took Bill Carr, and Mel Drimmer beat Joe Katz, in straight sets. Brooklyn scored when Jack Fruling won over Howie Rothstein 6-4, 6-2.

The top doubles pairing saw Ferrara team with Woodley to roll over Fuchs and Sartiano, 6-0, 6-4. Jong and Drimmer also needed only two sets to finish off Standig and Carr 8-6, 6-3.

The Kingmen's second point was won by Katz and Fruling when they edged Ritter and playing manager Roy Fleischman in three sets, 6-0, 5-7, 6-4.

Incidentally, Coach Harry Karlin correctly predicted the score this past Monday.

Intras...

There will be an intra-mural track meet next Thursday. All students except members of the track teams are eligible to enter. Entry cards are available in Rm. 107 Wingate.

A program of entertainment, to be held on Thursday, April 26, will conclude the Fair. Although the final format is still not definite, the tentative schedule includes a fashion show, prepared by House Plan; a trick drill by the Pershing Rifles; and a concert by the Jazz Society.

Frat Award...

The Beta Chapter of Beta Delta Mu Fraternity is presenting the second annual Murray Waldman award to a student at the College. The award is given to the junior or senior doing most to further the fraternity's ideals of inter-faith and inter-racial unity. The recipient will be chosen by a faculty committee.

Dave Polansky To Coach Hoopsters; Holman Sabbatical Approved by BHE

By BOB MAYER

Dave Polansky, has been appointed to the position of varsity basketball coach for the 1956-'57 season. The action was taken shortly after the Board of Higher Education gave final approval to Professor Nat Holman's request for a one-year sabbatical leave. Polansky has served as freshman mentor since 1954.

Both Polansky and Dr. Hyman Krakower (Chmn., Hygiene), who made the appointment, emphasized that the assignment was a temporary one, to be in effect only for the duration of Professor Holman's leave. The leave is scheduled to last from September 1, 1956, to August 31, 1957.

Dr. Krakower also said that "in all likelihood" Mr. George Wolfe (Hygiene) will take over as freshman coach.

The announcement came as little surprise, since Polansky had generally been considered the most likely man for the job ever since Holman made public his request for a leave on March 6.

Polansky Pleased

Commenting on the appointment, Polansky said: "I like to coach, and I'm happy about the assignment. I think I'll enjoy it."

Coaching the varsity will not be a new experience for Dave. He filled the same post in the '52-'53 and '53-'54 seasons, when Holman was on leave. During that period his squads won twenty-two of the past eighteen years. While an undergraduate here from 1938-

Nat Holman "Delighted" at News

'42, he played three years of varsity basketball, ran for the track team, and was captain of the cross-country squad.

ty of thirty-four games, posting records of 10-6 and 10-8.

Polansky has been part of the athletic scene at the College for Upon his graduation, he served for one season as coach of the track and cross-country squads, before entering the service in 1943.

Becomes Baruch Coach

When he returned to the College in 1946, Polansky was given the job of Assistant Faculty Manager of Athletics. He preferred more direct contact with sports however, and so after a short period of time he became basketball coach at the Baruch Center. For the next five years he simultaneously coached the Day and Evening Session hoopsters, until he took over the varsity reins in '52. He became frosh coach when Holman returned two years ago.

Holman expressed pleasure upon hearing of the appointment. "I am delighted to hear the news," he said. "Dave is eminently qualified for the position. He did a fine job when he took over for me last time, and there's no reason why he shouldn't do so again."

Holman added that his own status is still the same as it was last month—that is, he expects to return to the College when his leave expires.

The new coach as yet has no specific plans for the team. "I can't formulate any opinions or decide on a style of play until I see who actually comes out for the team," he said. "I'd say that we have the nucleus of a fairly good squad—not a great one, but a fairly good one."

Run . . .

Students interested in joining the track team are urged to see Coach Harry deGirolamo today or tomorrow in Lewisohn Stadium after 3 PM. Distance runners are especially needed.

Netman Coast Past Brooklyn For 3rd Win

The Beaver Netmen look very much as if they're out for an undefeated season.

The raquetteers coasted past Brooklyn College 7-2, yesterday at the Kingsmen's court, for their third straight victory.

Leading the team once again was the one-two-three punch of Al Jong, Guy Ferrara, and sophomore Dick Woodley. All are undefeated this season and Ferrara has not been beaten in his last.

Trackmen Down Adelphi; Two Injured in Opener

By LEW EGOL

The track team opened its outdoor season Tuesday with a resounding 82-58 romp over Adelphi at Lewisohn Stadium, but all is not as well as the score indicates. For one thing, it is not entirely correct to say the track team won; in the running events the Beavers were beaten, 39-38. It was in the field contests that City showed its strength, winning five of seven events.

Secondly, the Beavers face the unhappy prospect of going for some time, which may extend to cover the length of the season, teen and one-quarter points, on first place finishes in the 440 and 880-yard runs and the broad jump. Best also ran the anchor leg on the Beavers winning four-lap relay team. He is already being compared to Joe Gold who graduated last year after setting a host of records and making a name for himself as one of the greatest runners in City College history.

The big events for the Beavers were the pole vault and javelin throw, in which City shut out the Panthers 9-0 and 9-0. Adelphi failed to enter anyone in the pole vault, giving the Beavers a clean sweep by forfeit and City's Bob Van Son, competing in his first meet, threw the javelin 142 feet 7 1/2 inches for first place. Joe Werfel and Len Olson finished two-three.

deGirolamo Pleased

Coach Harry deGirolamo was pleased with the squad's showing but said, "the boys can use a good deal of improvement, particularly in the distance events. I think they'll get better as the season goes along."

In the long distance runs Dave Graveson stood out for the Beavers, but the squad showed a definite lack of depth. Graveson finished second in the mile and two-mile runs. Bill Kowalski, in terrible shape, dropped out of the two-mile grind on the sixth lap.

George Best Top Point Getter

without two of their outstanding runners. Bill Plummer pulled a muscle in his right leg in the 440-yard run and will be out of action for at least a few weeks.

"I had the same trouble with my left leg a while ago, and it was a month before I could run," said the 23-year-old senior. Shelly Roach also pulled a leg muscle, but the extent of his injury has not yet been determined. Shot-putter Jack Kushner missed Tuesday's meet because of a virus, but he is expected to start working out in a day or two.

Oddly enough, the two injured men are co-captains of the squad. Sophomore George Best, the Beaver's outstanding performer, scored an individual total of six-

Weiss Stars as Nine Tops Jaspers; Beavers Tied for Met League Lead

Sophomore hurler Stew Weiss pitched the College's baseball team into a tie for first place in the Metropolitan Conference by going the route and posting a 5-2 victory over Manhattan College at Van Cortlandt Park Tuesday. The triumph gives the Beavers a 2-0 Conference record, tying them only earned run in the eighth inning, when they got half of their six hits. In the third, they scored the first run of the game, unearned, when Beaver shortstop Nacinovitch committed a wild throw with two out and the bases loaded.

Weiss Hits Too

In addition to his fine pitching performance, Weiss put the Lavender batsmen to shame by belting successive singles to center and right in his last two trips to the plate. The two safeties accounted for a third of the Beaver total, and made the little left-hander the most successful hitter of the afternoon.

Weiss, whose record is now 1-1,

John Ryan Late Class Casualty

complained throughout the game that he was cold, and couldn't cut loose with his fast ball. Beaver coach John La Place's only comment was, "I hope that he stays cold all season."

The College's star first baseman, John Ryan, was unable to play because of late classes.

Beaver catcher Ciccone didn't get into the game until the fifth inning for the same reason.

Stan Rothman, subbing for Ciccone in the first half of the fray, did a fine job, and may have earned a regular berth. Coach La Place said, "He caught a good game . . . If some of the outfielders don't start hitting, I may switch Ciccone to the outfield and use Rothman behind the plate." Ciccone patrolled the outer gardens in several games last year.

Troia Plays First

Pete Troia, the Beaver's jack-of-all-trades, seems to be a master of them all. He filled in at first base in Ryan's absence, and played a flawless game.

In addition to his pitching and hitting exploits, Weiss pulled the best defensive play of the game. He exhibited a brilliant pick-off move in the third inning, trapping Manhattan's Jim Killorian so far off first base that he had to break for second, where he was tagged out anyway.

The Beavers' next contest is Saturday, when they will meet Hofstra in a Conference game at McCombs Dam Park.

In the sixth, McGuire reached the point of no return. Weiss walked, and took second when Gramacy was hit by a pitch. Lucich then struck out, but solid singles by Maginley, Tellingier, and Nacinovitch scored three runs and sent McGuire to the showers.
