Brown Bids Council Adopt More Meaningful Program

Criticizing the amount of non-productive effort in Student Government operations, SG President Bill Brown last night called for a program of direct value to the student body.

In his welcoming speech at Council's first meeting of the term, Brown assailed what he called the "busy work" connected with the body's operation, and urged SG to take a greater role in achieving the educational goals of the College.

Brown advised the expansion of the judiciary branch of Student Government into a "meaningful, respected system," and the adoption of an SG sponsored cultural program as two steps which would strengthen Student Government. The contemplated cultural program would include a series of talks at the College by prominent outside personalities.

Nagler Moves

A specific motion to the effect that SG sponsor a public affairs forum of this type, made by Class of '58 representative Steve Nagler, was referred to Council's School Affairs Committee for further study.

In dealings with the administration, Brown counseled a policy of mutual respect, accompanied by student "faith in the integrity and intelligence of the faculty." He proposed a conference, to be attended by the President, deans, faculty members and student leaders which would, he felt, "provide a foundation for future discussion of President, demanded a "daring, inventive program" in his address before Council.

He urged a campaign to strengthen Student Government's voice in the College, which, he charged, "is not as democratic an institution as we think it should be." In suggesting the vigorous program, Schumann noted that "timidity has never won anyone's respect."

"Let us dare to think resolutely, without fear and without compromise," he concluded, "showing anybody who cares to see, that we never heard anyone say that we are a silent generation."

Last night's meeting was chaired by Joel Resnick, first person to hold the newly-inaugurated office of Speaker of Council. The post was created last term in order to relieve the Council president for other duties, and was approved in a school-wide referendum held in May.

City College Hosts WUS for First Time Oct. 14

By DAVE GROSS

The College will be host to the annual Metropolitan Regional Conference of the World University Service (WUS) on Sunday, October 14. This will be the first time that the College has had facilities to hold this type of conference.

Invitations have been extended to 1000 people throughout the colleges and universities within the metropolitan area. Annette Fishbein, President of WUS, expects at least 250 people to attend.

President Buell G. Gallagher, Chairman of the American World University Service and Vice-Chairman of the International University Service, will make the keynote address. Mr. Gallagher will tell the conference about his world travels this past summer and will also report on the annual International Conference held this summer in Mysore, India.

Commenting on the conference, Gallagher said that since the College has the facilities, it is "our line of duty" to be the host for the meeting. "World University Service is of tremendous importance to this college and all other colleges. It is the agency," the President said, "which embraces both professors and students."

Study East

The main theme for discussion at the conference will be the impact of WUS on emerging world relationships. Particular attention will be given to the study program for students in Africa, the Middle East, and Southeast Asia. The underlying situations of tension and educational need in these areas will be taken up by the general session of the meeting.

John Simons, Director of the Foundation for Youth and Student Affairs, and Jane Jacqz, Administrative Secretary of the United States World University Service, will also address the conference. Mr. Simons, one of the first persons in the United States to be involved in the international movement of WUS and an initiator of the Service here, will give a brief historical background of WUS and discuss what part this country has played in the organization.

Discuss WUS Impact

During the afternoon session of the conference a panel of six students from Asia, Africa, and the Middle East will discuss the impact of WUS on the colleges in these areas. They will also discuss the general background of college life in their respective countries and the need of the students at these colleges.

The meeting will then break up into small informal discussion groups and consider the question of "How WUS can be more effective on the American college campus?"

"This conference by being the first intensive meeting of this nature on campus," Miss Fishbein said, "will give the College an opportunity to achieve a higher status in the College Community."

Applications for Omicron Chi Phi, National Honor Society, Economics, may be obtained at the Economics Department, Wagner Hall.

Adlai...

Students for Stevenson, a new political club on campus, will hold its first meeting today at 12 Noon in Room 348 Finley Student Center. Business at the meeting will include election of officers, adoption of a constitution, and the formation of plans for the presidential campaign. All interested students are invited to attend.

Prof's Retire From College

The retirement of seven members of the faculty whose years of service total 219 years was announced today.

Professor Charles A. Corcoran, Senior Professor of the faculty and chairman of the Physics Department, has retired after fifty-two years as a member of the faculty.

Professor Corcoran is a graduate of the College, Class of 1904. Also retiring are Professors Joseph A. Baber (Chemistry), class of '16, and Professor Frederick Kuhlen (Mechanical Engineering), who have been members of the faculty for forty and thirty-two years respectively.

Professors Corcoran, Baber, and Kuhlen have been designated as Professor Emeritus by the Board of Higher Education.

Professors Thomas J. Pennington (Speech), Rene H. Driault-Gerard (Romance Language), Boris Dressler (Economics), and Hans Richter (Director of the Institute of Film Techniques) also retired.

PAC To Be Disbanded; Clubs Return to Campus

The Political Action Committee (PAC), the one organization on campus specifically set up to fight for the repeal of compulsory membership lists, is being disbanded.

PAC was formed last year by the five political clubs which left the campus in protest against the compulsory list ruling. These were Students for Democratic Action, Young Liberals, Young Democrats, Marxist Discussion Club, and Young Progressives of America.

A number of the clubs comprising the committee have decided to submit membership lists under protest to the Department of Student Life. A student organization loses its charter if it does not register for two consecutive semesters.

SDA Submits

According to Mr. Stamos O. Zades (Student Life), the political clubs should not have any more difficulty registering than any other organizations. The only exception, according to Mr. Zades, is the SDA. The club must submit a new charter since it has been off campus for two consecutive terms.

Clubs Protesting

Efforts to revise the regulation concerning membership lists will be made individually by each protesting organization. According to Seymour Migdal, President of SDA, an appeal will be made to the student body to elect members to the Student Faculty Committee on Student Activities who are opposed to compulsory lists.

Mr. Stamos Zades
SDA Exception

Farewell and Hail...

Mr. John Bonforte, Director of the Placement Bureau for the past four years, resigned from the position September 15. His replacement, Mr. Ernest Schnaebeler, formerly a member of the placement division of the Young Men's Christian Association, will begin work at the College in October. Mr. Bonforte is now working in the Division of Educational Guidance at the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Co. of Hartford, Conn.

Distribution of Grades

The distribution of grades released this week by the Registrar's office shows a decrease in the percentage of failures among day session students last semester over the previous semester.

Most of the failures in basic courses were in mathematics, while the largest percentage of failures in advanced courses were in physics.

Biology, Classics and Hebrew, Economics, Films, German, Government, Military Science, Philosophy, Physical and Health Education, Romance Languages, and Speech reported no failures in their advanced courses.

In the basic courses the percentage of failures decreased from 3.4% to 2.6%. Failures in the advanced courses decreased from 1.8% to 1.6%.

Hillel's Rabbi Zuckerman Back From Paris Study

By SHELLY HALPERN

Rabbi Arthur J. Zuckerman returned Monday from three months of research and teaching in France.

Involved in a study of medieval French Jewish History, Dr. Zuckerman, Director of Hillel, went to France to do research at the National Archives.

Rabbi Arthur J. Zuckerman Returns in Paris, and at the Biblioteque Nationale.

Dr. Zuckerman also examined manuscripts in smaller cities and towns throughout France where he knew that Jewish communities had existed between the ninth and the twelfth centuries.

Rabbi Zuckerman also lectured at the Institut International d'Etudes Hebraiques in Paris, for the month of June.

When classes at the Institute were over for the term, Dr.

Zuckerman began on his travels to the outlying towns that were once the center of Jewish Life, learning, as he went, about the people and their lives.

In the smaller towns, Dr. Zuckerman noted, the restaurants are in private homes, and the guests are served in the family living room or dining room, so one feels almost a part of the family.

Helped By People

As a result of this summer's trip, financed in part by private foundations, Rabbi Zuckerman has microfilmed about a half mile of important manuscript, that will be able to be used by other scholars as well.

Dr. Zuckerman found many people who were willing to go out of their way to help him with his search for material. In one place, the State Archives, closed for the month, were open especially for Dr. Zuckerman, and in another, the secretary stayed late so that Dr. Zuckerman could get some extra work done.

Rabbi Zuckerman, who has been at Hillel for ten years, will now begin the extensive job of reading, sorting and evaluating the material he has gathered, which will be part of a book that he plans for the future, on Medieval Jewish life.

Treasurers...

Treasurers or business managers of all organizations on the campus must register as soon as possible with Mr. Irving G. Slade, Central Treasurer, in Room 341 Finley.

Culture Group Being Formed

A new Student Government Agency, concerned with cultural activities and ultimately to be affiliated with the United Nations is now in the planning stage at the College.

Establish Outlet

According to Mario Santiago who has been appointed by Student Executive Committee to form the Agency, it will be concerned with such activities as are covered by the United Nations Economic, Sociological and Cultural Organization. "We are working with museums in the metropolitan area and also with Station WNYC to try to establish artistic outlets for students at the College," Santiago said.

He urged students who are interested in furthering cultural activities and in arranging special events at the College to see him at the Student Government Office, Room 326 Finley, or to call him at his home, MO. 5-3952.

WUS...

The World University Service and the International Agency will hold their first meeting of the team tomorrow at 4 PM in Room 320 Finley Student Center. The business of the meeting will be to discuss the October 14 regional conference and to plan a term program.

Persian or Iranian? It Still Was Greek

It was Persian. An expert on the "arena theater," Prof. Davidson C. Davidson (Speech) it was nine weeks of "sheer agony"—and it was Persian. An expert on the "arena theater," Prof. Davidson experienced the agony while staging Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" in Iran last spring.

Requested to go to Iran by the State Department as a specialist in drama, Prof. Davidson "wore out" three interpreters during rehearsals for the Wilder play. Rehearsals with an American company, according to the Professor would have taken half the nine-week period.

Iran (Persia) Liked Him

Prof. Davidson left for Iran this past January, originally intending to stay for three months but he was held over, however, at the request of Iran's Department of Fine Arts for five months.

Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" was another production of Prof. Davidson's, and he also directed "Picnic" for the Tehran Little Theatre.

He set up a department of drama at the University of Tehran, and, as a result, more than 200 students enrolled in three classes in directing, acting, and introduction to the theater. At the theater workshop he organized "The Glass Menagerie" for the Iran-America Society.

Prof. Davidson studied the theater on a Princeton grant in 1953 and his production of the "The Glass Menagerie" sponsored by the British Drama League, was staged for the opening of Coronation Week in England. He duplicated this performance—the first he had ever done "in the round"—for the Oxford University Drama Society.

Prof. Davidson was again involved directly with the theater, this past summer, when he was responsible for running, directing and producing for the American Theater Wing at the Cape Playhouse, in Massachusetts.

Stickler!

STICKLERS ARE TICKLERS and a mighty soft way to make money! Just write down a simple riddle and a two-word rhyming answer. For example: What's a ball player who gets a raise? (Answer: richer pitcher.) Note: both words must have the same number of syllables—bleak freak, jolly dolly, vinery finery. Send your Sticklers, with your name, address, college, and class, to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Don't do drawings! We'll pay $25 for every Stickler we use in our advertising—and for hundreds that never see print. And remember—you're bound to Stickle better when you're enjoying a Lucky, because Luckies taste better. Luckies' mild, good-tasting tobacco is TOASTED to taste even better. CLEANER, FRESHER, SMOOTHER!

SportOPics

By BOB MAYER

The gates of Lewisohn Stadium were closed last week, and the students in the noisy stream that flowed along Convent Avenue were too engrossed in the problems of registration and book-hawking to be conscious of the activity going on inside. But for those who knew or cared, the thudding echo of spiked shoe against leather ball gave notice of the start of another soccer season. And for those who cared enough to wander inside and watch, i.e. student sports editors, an interesting scene was taking place—the attempted rebuilding of a championship team.

Even those few who have followed closely the fortunes of the Beaver booters in recent years would recognize but a handful of the blue and white-clad figures that dotted the field. The stars are gone. The Koutsantanous, Trunks and Meisens have made their headlines and departed—and in their place are a group of inexperienced newcomers in the unenviable position of trying to improve on an undefeated record.

John Koutsantanous

The '56 booters face Coach Harry Karlin with the most difficult task of his coaching career. When he assumed the reigns of the soccer team three years ago, Karlin was presented with a ready-made squad—a squad which had won the Metropolitan Conference championship the year before. All he had to do was keep things running smoothly, and the Beavers rolled to their second straight title.

The situation was pretty much the same last season. Johnnie K. was unstoppable on offense as he broke the College's all time scoring record, and Wally Meisen was virtually unbeatable in the net, posting seven consecutive shutouts before being scored upon by Queens. The team won its third straight title, and posted the first undefeated record in the College's history. The mark was marred only by a 2-2 tie with the Knights.

This season, however, will be different. There are only seven returning lettermen from last year's squad, and only two or three of the newcomers have had any soccer experience at all.

The solid man of the team will be co-captain Wolf Wostl. Wostl scored six goals from his left forward position last year, second highest on the squad. He is in fine shape, and has been a tremendous aid to Karlin in coaching the offensive unit.

John Paranos and co-captain Robert LeMestre have been working with the defensive platoon, which will have to be particularly sharp due to the lack of an experienced goalie.

The goaltending job probably will go to newcomer Charlie Thorne. Thorne has never played soccer before, but has shown a great deal of hustle and spirit in the practice drills, and is learning fast. With a few games under his belt he could become a top-flight net man.

The prospects, therefore, are uncertain. The success or failure of the squad will depend largely on the degree of coordination and teamwork that can be attained. It's just a shot in the dark, therefore, but we'll predict a 7-2 league record for the booters, with another loss at the hands of Army.

The gates to Lewisohn Stadium will be open next Saturday, when the booters meet Kings Point in their first league contest. Last year the Beavers took a 1-0 squeaker from the Mariners, and another exciting game is in store. Registration and book-hawking will be over by then. Why not wander in.

Edward Lucia Olympic Fund Starts Tomw.

The Lucia Olympic Fund drive opens officially tomorrow.

Members of the fencing team, anxious to get their popular coach to the Olympics in Melbourne this November, will staff collection booths in the Lincoln Corridor of Shepard Hall, and the main entrance of the Finley Student Center. The booths will be open from 10 AM to 3 PM.

$2000 Needed

Contributions may also be mailed to the fund in care of Irving Slade, Finley Student Center, City College, 133 Street and Convent Avenue.

The drive, which is being sponsored by the Observation Post and Campus in cooperation with the fencing team, will last for three weeks, or until the necessary funds are raised. Approximately $2,000 must be raised by November 1 to make the journey possible.

Prepares Squad

Lucia, fencing coach at the College since 1953, was selected last June to serve as one of the two senior coaches of the Olympic Fencing Team. Since that time he has been preparing the squad for the international competitions, but he will not be able to accompany the squad to Melbourne unless the drive is successful.

This is due to an Olympic regulation which limits to two the number of non-playing members that may accompany a team at the expense of the Olympic Committee.

Athletic Interest Forms May Aid College Sports

The General Faculty Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics (GFCIA) has decided to do something about getting more students to come out for the various sports at the College.

Through the use of newly instituted Athletic Interest Cards, the committee hopes that the coaches will be better able to seek out new candidates for their teams.

The cards distributed at all health ed classes, request information concerning the students' main sports interests and their past athletic experience, if any.

The Student Athletic Association will then send postcards to all prospective athletes, asking are already attending the College, there is nothing wrong.

Opinion among the coaches was divided as to how successful the cards will be.

"Boys interested enough in basketball," says hoop mentor Dave Polansky, "will come out by themselves. Some need prodding, but it's not the general rule."

John La Place, baseball coach, felt that "the cards will help the minor teams, such as wrestling, fencing and swimming, where interest is small, but I doubt whether they will have any appreciable affect on the major sports."

Cards May Help

"Lacrosse," explained Chief Leon Miller, "has a different problem because of the absence of the sport in New York High Schools. Instead, I'm looking for boys who have played football, and the cards may help."

them to report to the respective squads.

The plan was originated by Professor Hyman Krakower (Hygiene) at last April's GFCIA meeting. Several of the committee members felt that the Interest Cards were a form of recruiting, but Prof. Krakower argued successfully that recruiting is done only before a boy enters the School, and since these students Intras . . .

The College's intramural season opens next Thursday with the start of the wrestling tournament. Handball, basketball, and touchtackle will begin on October 11, with road race and tennis taking place later in the term. Information concerning the program can be obtained from Dr. Alton Richards in Room 107 Wingate.

IT'S FOR REAL! by Chester Field

"To catch a man," said Violette
"The wisest gals play hard to get!"
To seem remote and quite aloof
She sat six years upon the roof.

"It doesn't seem to work," she said
And so she clobbered them instead.
She shrugged, "I do the best I can Unconscious or not, a man is a man!"

MORAL: Faint pleasure ain't pleasure!
In smoking too, take your pleasure BIG.
Smoke for real . . . smoke Chesterfield.
Packed more smoothly by Accu-Ray it's the smoothest tasting smoke today.
