Blood . . .

The College's semi-annual Blood Drive, conducted by Alpha Phi Omega, will be held on April 19 and 20. The Bank will be set up in the Grand Ballroom of the Finley Student Center on April 19 and in Knittle Lounge on the following day. This term's quota has been set at 600 pints of blood. Only 513 pints were donated last semester.

One third of the blood collected is to be given to the Red Cross, who in turn use it for emergencies, charities, and research. The remaining two thirds is reserved for students and faculty of the College and their immediate families.

Gallagher Hits Columnist For 'Misrepresentation'

President Buell G. Gallagher angrily denounced New York Post sports columnist Leonard Koppett Friday, for a column which exhibits the irresponsibility of mis-informed expression for which he (Koppett) has long been noted.

In a column appearing in Friday's Post, Koppett had accused President Gallagher of objecting to early registration for varsity athletes and of indirectly strangling the College's varsity basketball program.

Koppett also wrote that Dr. Gallagher "speaks glowingly of his desire for athletics 'at the proper level' . . . but his actions belie his words, and even his words reveal his basic bias towards intramural rather than intercollegiate competition."

'No Effort to Check'

"He made no effort to check his 'facts' with me," President Gallagher charged. "It is unnecessary to accuse him of deliberate distortion, merely because his distortion of my position on previous occasions has established a stereotype in his mind which makes it impossible for him to see or relate the facts as they are."

"As a columnist he has a living to make," the President continued, "and if he wishes to use my name as a whipping boy, he will doubtless continue to do so. I can only hope that in the long run the record, impartially and carefully examined, will show that he has erected a straw man and given my name to it." "I make no specific comment on any of the items in his latest column," President Gallagher added. "Instead," he said, "I invite (Koppett's) continuing attention to the actions I may from time to time take—which actions might in the end turn out less to 'believe my words' than to expose his misrepresentations for what they are."

'Source of Pride'

Koppett's contention in his column was that intercollegiate basketball, "a source of pride and self-respect" which had always meant something "special" to City College students, was on its way out at the College. "Not just on its way to lesser and lesser importance, but to non-existence."

"The latest incident," according to Koppett, in President Gallagher's supposed pattern of de-emphasis of athletics at the College, "is his objection to early registration for varsity athletes."

The remainder of Koppett's column is devoted to a review of the background of the Student Athletic Association's request for early registration of varsity athletes, and to criticism of Dr. Gallagher for linking the registration proposal with the "evils" that resulted from giving athletes privileges in the past.

Contacted late yesterday in Minneapolis, Minnesota, Koppett declined to reveal his sources for the information in his column. He did say, though, that he had not spoken to President Gall-

SFCSA Structure Altered; Action on Lists Postponed

A compromise plan for student representation on the Student-Faculty Committee Student Activities was adopted last Friday by the General Faculty Committee on Student Activities. The plan will go into effect next term, on a one-year trial basis.

In other action, GFCSA delayed a scheduled decision on compulsory club membership lists, since three Baruch Center members were not present. Before postponing the decision, however, the Committee heard several student opinions both for and against the lists.

Under the new representative system passed by the group, total SFCSA membership was increased to twelve, with six faculty members and six students. Three student members will be elected directly by the student body, while the other three will serve by virtue of being Presidents of Student Council, House Plan, and Technology Inter-Society Inter-Fraternity Council.

Combination

This plan combines features of the system until now in effect, and that proposed on January 13 by a unanimous SFCSA. Under the old set-up, the committee was composed of five faculty members and five ex-officio student members; the President and Vice-President of Council, and the Presidents of House Plan, TIIC, and the Senior Class.

SFCSA itself had voted on January 13 for a new plan under which four of the student members would have been directly chosen in the regular student elections in May, with only the President of Council serving by virtue of office. Qualifications for the elected representatives remain the same as under the SFCSA plan, and include extensive participation in extra-curricular activities.

Professor Michael Kraus (History), Chairman of GFCSA, pointed out that the new procedure "retains good features of both previous plans." He explained that the ex-officio members should remain on the Committee, because of the large segments of student opinion they represent, but that it is also a good idea to have several members elected by the student body at large.

Sharp criticism of the proposal came from Council President Jared Jussim, who asserted that it "combines the worst features of the original program and the SFCSA plan, and includes few of their good points." The new system, Jussim said, "represents confusion, chaos, and bad government."

Taking a less critical view of the GFCSA plan was Professor Marvin Magalaner (English), Chairman of the SFCSA subcommittee which had proposed the now rejected plan. He expressed

Dedication Ceremonies Set Thursday For Six Buildings on South Campus

Ceremonies for the dedication of six buildings on the South Campus in honor of distinguished alumni and faculty members of the College will be held Thursday. Classes will be suspended from 11 AM to 2 PM to allow students and faculty members to attend the ceremonies.

The buildings to be named and dedicated are William Park Hall, Alfred Stieglitz Hall, Mark Eisner Hall, Lewis Mott Hall, Charles Downer Hall and the Rubin Goldmark Wing of the Center.

President Buell G. Gallagher will preside when the ceremonies begin at 11 AM with a convocation in the Goldmark Auditorium. A prayer of dedication will be offered by Professor Daniel Parker (Government), an ordained rabbi. Musical selections will be presented by the College's Chorus.

After the convocation, individual ceremonies and exhibits will be held in the buildings being dedicated.

Aluminum plaques bearing the College seal and the names of the buildings will be unveiled by relatives or associates of the men in whose memory the buildings are being dedicated.

At the dedication of the Goldmark Wing, music composed by Rubin Goldmark and some of his pupils will be performed by the College's Faculty String Quartet and the Student Vocal Ensemble.

Park Hall, the women's hygiene building, will be named after Dr.

President Buell G. Gallagher Prevy to Preside

William Hallock Park, Class of 1883, who developed diphtheria antitoxin. Basil O'Connor, President of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, will deliver the dedication address for the building, and Ronald Reidler, President of the Student Athletic Association, will unveil the plaque.

Eisner Hall, which houses the Department of Art, will honor the memory of Mark Eisner, Class of 1905, former Chairman of the Board of Higher Education and a noted art collector and amateur painter.

Joseph J. Klein, Class of 1905, former president of the College's Alumni Association, will dedicate the building, and Mrs. Mark Eisner, his widow, will unveil the plaque.

The Goldmark Wing of the Student Center, used by the Department of Music, will honor Rubin Goldmark, Class of 1891, distinguished composer and musical educator. Goldmark's students include composers Aaron Copland, George Gershwin, and Abram Chasins. A speech, written by Copland, will be read at the dedication by Professor Mark Brunswick (Chmn., Music). Emil Goldmark, the composer's brother, will unveil the plaque.

After the convocation, a concert featuring works by Goldmark and his former pupils will be

Debating Team Ties for Fifth

The College's Debating Society tied for fifth place in a debating tournament held at Brooklyn College over the weekend.

Forty-five colleges were represented at the tournament. The topic debated was, "Resolved: That the Non-Agricultural Industries of the United States Guarantee Their Employees an Annual Wage."

Art Stupay and Mel Drimmer represented the affirmative team for the College, while Seymour Kopperman and Harold Lieberman defended the negative. Serving as one of the judges was Dr. Wayne A. Nicholas (Speech), coach of the Debating Society.

New Hampshire placed first at the tournament, and the individual honors went to Harvard and New Hampshire men.

A debate with Kings Point is scheduled for this Friday, and New York University will be host to the College's debaters the following weekend. On April 13, the College will compete in the Rochester International Debate, held between the United States and Canada.

Fast Shuffle

Last Friday the General Faculty Committee on Student Activities pulled a fast shuffle with a student referendum and a decision of the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Activities and gave the students a raw deal.

The students for once were playing a strong hand. Their decision to have the student members of SFCSA elected directly by themselves even met with the approval of the SFCSA itself. It was a strong hand and it looked for a while, like a winning one. But when the chips were down, GFSCA pulled a joker.

Instead of clearing out all the lobbying elements in SFCSA, it kicked one out, kept three in, and threw in another faculty member for good measure. What was to have been a sweeping reform came out a watered-down, washed-out mock reconstruction.

GFSCA, wearing a pious poker-face, in one stroke turned the students' referendum into a sham and SFCSA's recommendation into a shambles. The Chairman of GFSCA, Professor Michael Kraus (History), saw the change as retaining the "good features of both previous plans." In reality, it seems that just the opposite is true. The bulk of the pressure representatives still remain on the body and really only one representative of the entire student body was added. This innovation, however, is immediately neutralized by the additional faculty member.

Most of the time, GFCSA merely acts as a rubber stamp for SFCSA decisions. This is the first time, in our memory, it has ever failed to do so. Does the fact that the proposal came via student referendum alter the situation? It would be indeed unfortunate if GFCSA deems tainted any proposal brought about by virtue of student initiative.

Well, this is a hand the students lost. And, we must admit, it was a tough one to lose, as it's always hard when you're playing for high stakes. We can only hope that the GFCSA will soon come to realize that what it gave the students Friday was a misdeal.

Salute

Once again, as they have been doing throughout the season, the fencing team proved itself to be one of the outstanding varsity teams at the College. Last Saturday, at the Concourse Plaza Hotel, the swordsmen captured the sabre division of the Eastern Intercollegiate Fencing Championships. This victory was a product of rough and rigorous training. The team worked hard for this crown and it was well deserved.

Gentlemen, we salute you!

OP Poll

Students Go Stevenson

In a poll last week of more than 700 day session students, almost two-thirds, sixty-three per cent, voted for Adlai E. Stevenson as their choice for the next President of the United States. The second favorite was President Dwight D. Eisenhower with twenty-three per cent of the vote. Tennessee's Democratic Senator Estes Kefauver ran an unspectacular third with only three per cent of the total ballots cast.

Vice-Presidential favorites were Kefauver, Governor Averell Harriman and Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, in that order.

About thirty per cent of those polled were of voting age. The more than 700 students represent over ten per cent of the total day session registration.

The poll was conducted by Observation Post last Thursday and Friday and covered both campuses.

Similar OP Poll taken during October of the last presidential year, 1952, showed Stevenson with an even larger edge over Eisenhower: Stevenson seventy-three per cent; Eisenhower fifteen per cent.

doubts about the superiority of the new system, but pointed out that "We can't judge its merits until we see how it works."

On the matter of membership lists, the GFCSA heard opposing student views on the issue, in closed session. Speaking against compulsory lists at the College were Howard Schumann, head of the Political Action Committee (PAC), and Herman Karig, former President of the Young Liberals. Bill Brown, SC Vice-President, and Howard Sherman, President of the Senior Class, argued in favor of the lists' use.

The decision to delay action on the lists was interpreted by Schumann as indicative of a lack of unanimity on the question among Committee members. "Perhaps," he said, "we are finally meeting substantial gains in our appeal."

Sherman, speaking for lists, criticized the role of the student newspapers in the controversy. He charged that they have thus far "aided and abetted the causes of confusion and hysteria, rather than presenting the issue in a fair and reasonable light, so that the student body could make an objective decision."

Records Here Not In Groove

Although "Rock and Roll" has hit its peak throughout the nation, the Friday night dancers must still swing to the rhythms of Latin American music.

In an effort to modernize, the Student Center Ball Division of the Student Government Social Functions agency is asking students to donate up-to-date platters to its antiquated phonograph record collection. Records may be left in the office of Mr. Philip H. Brunstetter (Student Life), Room 120 Finley Student Center.

The phonograph records are broadcast over the loudspeaker system setup in the Finley Grand Ballroom during the breaks of the ten piece dance band. These records, unfortunately, consist almost entirely of pasodobles, sambas, and cariocas.

Stephen Scola, Director of the Student Center Ball Division of the Social Functions Agency, expressed the hope that "students would get with it" and "start the records rolling."

The Used Book Exchange will return all remaining books and money at the following times:

Thursday, March 22 — 12:30 PM to 7 PM

Returns will be made in Room 338, Finley. No claims will be honored after March 22.

Dedication...

Stieglitz Hall, housing the College's Institute of Film Techniques, will be named after Alfred Stieglitz, Class of 1884, who pioneered in the development of photography as an art form. Dorothy Norman, noted photographer and student of Stieglitz, will deliver the dedication address. The plaque will be unveiled by his brother, Dr. Leo Stieglitz.

Mott Honored

Mott Hall, used by the English Department, will be dedicated to Lewis Freeman Mott, Class of 1883, who taught English at the College for fifty years, and served as chairman of the Department from 1897 to 1934. The dedication speech will be given by Henry Neuman, Class of 1900, head of the Brooklyn Ethical Culture School, and Geraldine Thorsten, an English honor student, will unveil the plaque.

Chairman for 26 Years

Downer Hall, housing the department of Romance Languages, will honor Charles Downer, Class of 1886, chairman of the French Department for twenty-six years. Jacob Greenburg, Class of 1910, Deputy Superintendent of Schools, will dedicate the building. The plaque will be unveiled by Professor J. Salwyn Schapiro, Class of 1904.

Seeking a New Escape? Carriers Need Runners

Are you one of those students who's anxious to "run" away from all that classroom drudgery? Are you plagued by sore muscles coming back because of improper exercise?

The remedy sure to work out for the kinks and pains is to attend daily workouts of the College's outdoor track team. The workouts, under the direction of Coach Harry deGirolamo, commenced their first practice session yesterday, in preparation for the season's opener on April 9 at Hunter College. Workouts are held daily from 4:30 to 6:30 PM in Lewisohn Stadium, except Thursday when the workouts are held from noon-2 PM.

Professor deGirolamo explained that experience is not a prerequisite in order for a boy to make the squad. "However," he added, "I believe there are many boys at the College who have had previous high school training in the track and field game, and can help our team considerably. Those are the ones I would most like to see come out for the team." The mentor has a good nucleus of the forthcoming rough schedule which includes four dual meets against Hunter, Adelphi, Fairleigh Dickinson and Brook College, and a quartet of college conference relays and championships.

Expected to form the backbone of the team are such established performers as Bill Kowal—the Beavers outstanding cross-country runner; musclemen Dick Kushner and Irv Stein, who are slated to compete in the shot, hammer throw and discus events; George Best, who finished second in his final heat of the 100-yard handicap race at the annual New York Pioneer Club meet on Saturday night; and returning serviceman Bill Plum-

Others counted on by deGirolamo to score points in the outdoor contests are Joe Werfel, holder of the College's pole vault record; hurdlers Ants Tomsen and Al Lampell quarter miler and relay man Shelly Roach; broad-jumper and dash man Al Frost; and distance men Gene gher since December and that he had read the March 2 issue of The Campus, which featured statements by President Gallagher on the registration question.

The article included substantially the same facts and wording used in Koppett's column.

In a letter to the editor printed in the March 8 issue of The Campus, President Gallagher rebuked the newspaper for not giving the correct import of the interview printed in the March 2 issue. "The headline and story," President Gallagher wrote, "make me out to be unalterably opposed to advance registration of athletes."

"Buried at the end of the story," the President continued, "is a correct quotation of my opinion. I expressly stated approval of it (the early registration proposal) under proper safeguards. Can't," the President concluded, "we get it straight the first time?"

Commenting over the phone on Pres. Gallagher's criticism of him, Koppett said:

"He is certainly entitled to his opinion. I'm flattered by his attention and I think it's too bad he doesn't want to comment on the specific points raised in the column."

"My main contention," Koppett continued, "is that Dr. Gallagher improperly coupled two ideas (the early registration proposal and the reference to past 'evils') which have nothing to do with each other." According to Koppett, "Dr. Gallagher did this for the purpose of putting the early registration proposal in an unfavorable light."

The College's baseball team elected John Ryan, a senior first-baseman, captain of the squad for the 1956 season, yesterday, announced Coach John LaPlace.

Marty Wertlieb Wins Eastern Sabre Crown, Beaver Sabremen Take Team Championship

By NORM ZAFMAN

Two outstanding achievements in the sporting history of the College were made last Saturday when Marty Wertlieb became the first Lavender fencer ever to win the Eastern Intercollegiate sabre championship; and when Wertlieb with teammates Elliot Mills and Manny Fineberg captured the College's first sabre team championship. The competition, held at the Hotel Concourse Plaza in the Bronx, was the biggest fencing event of the year to date, with twelve leading Eastern Colleges competing for team and individual honors. It was the fifty-ninth annual meet sponsored by the Eastern Intercollegiate Fencing Association.

Only once before did a Lavender sabre team come close to matching Saturday's triumph. In 1941, the College shared first place honors with Harvard when the two teams finished in a tie.

In the epee and foil divisions, the Beavers tied for seventh and sixth places respectively, while Navy copped the epee title and Cornell took first in foil. The three weapon championship was won by Navy with sixty-four total victories. Individual honors in epee and foil went to Kim Hoitsma of Princeton and Joseph Crisanti of Cornell, respectively.

Entering the final round of the sabre team competition, the Beavers were deadlocked with Columbia, the defending champion, at twenty-two victories each. Two successive Lavender victories then broke the tie and brought the coveted crown to the College. The two wins came in the first two bouts when Mills and Wertlieb defeated the Lions' Marvin Stein and Jerry Kaufman, each by a 5-3 score. Mills, a junior, was handicapped throughout the competition by a serious back injury acquired during practice session last week.

Coach Edward Lucia

Wertlieb qualified for the individual finals in the number two pool with nine out of eleven victories, while Mills, with a 7-4 second was tied with NYU's Bernie Balaban for third qualifier of the number one pool. However, in a fence-off, Mills defeated Balaban, 5-2, and qualified. In the six-man finals that followed, Wertlieb swept through five straight victories to become the 1956 Eastern Intercollegiate Sabre Champion.

In the sabre team totals, the College finished with twenty-four wins, while Columbia was second with twenty-three. Navy and Princeton were next with twenty-two wins each, but Midshipmen copped third place when touches against were counted, and the Tigers had higher tally. NYU followed fifth place with twenty-one wins.

Coach Edward Lucia, who finishing his third year at the College, said he "was not surprised at the team's success." He called, "It was a balanced team. To win it was necessary to have three men who could each take his share of bouts. Mills did let us down in spite of his back injury, and Fineberg, who is only a sophomore, was our ace in the hole, coming through with eight victories. Of course, it was good to have the champion on our team."

City Mermen Take Seventh; Johnsen Stars

Swimming against top-flight competition, the College's mermen placed seventh in the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Championships held last Friday and Saturday night at New York University's Quigley Memorial Pool.

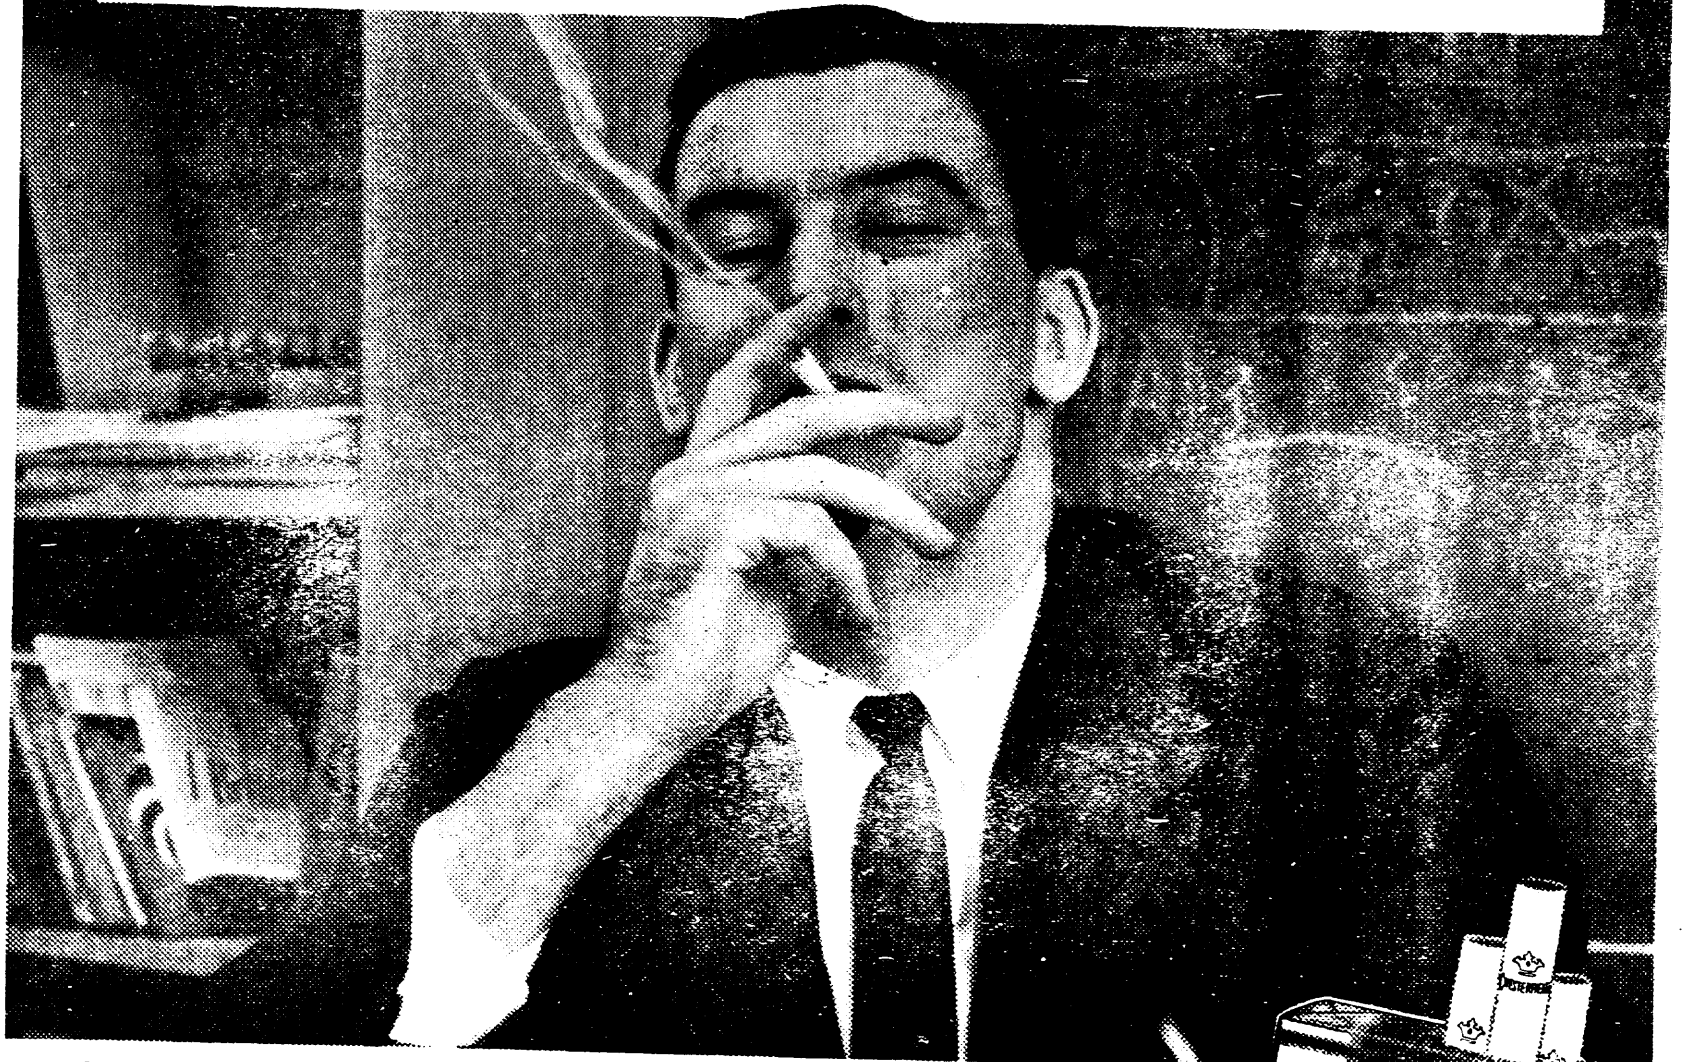

Pittsburgh won the crown for the fifth consecutive time with a record breaking 139 points. They completely dominated the meet with victories in ten of the thirteen races held in the two-day competition. Lehigh placed second with 71 points, followed by Rutgers with 33 markers. City tallied 11 points.

Jim Johnsen, the Met 220 and 440-yard free-style champion, provided the lone bright spot for the Lavender with a second place in the 200-Yard Individual Medley. In the 220-yard free-style event, Johnsen placed a disappointing fourth. The 300-Yard Medley Relay team of Richie Silverstein, Sol Stern and Shelley Manspeizer concluded the Beaver scoring, finishing fifth in the relay competition.

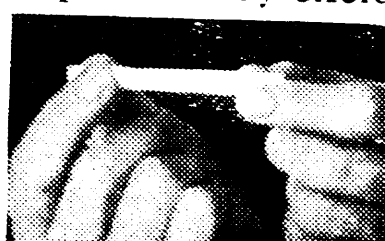

Despite the team's poor showing in the ECSC, Coach Rider expects a strong showing from his team next year. The nucleus of the team, Johnsen, Manspeizer, Stern and Silverstein will be returning, and the coach also hopes to get help from several newcomers.
