Wagner and Sulzberger To Speak at Dedications

Major Robert F. Wagner and Mr. Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of The New York Times, will deliver the speeches at ceremonies officially dedicating the two remaining south campus buildings on May 3.

The day, in addition to the dedication ceremonies, will mark the observance of the first joint Alumni Homecoming Day and Charter Day in the College's history.

Mayor Wagner will speak at the dedication of Robert F. Wagner Hall, to be named after his late father, a member of the Class of 1926, and Mayor Holton, the first Finley Student Center, named after the College's third president, who subsequently became the editor of The New York Times.

Jorrell Plaques

After the dedication addresses, aluminum name plaques for the buildings will be unveiled by Robert F. Wagner III, the Mayor's son, and Mrs. Holton, the widow of Dr. Finley. Students will be on display in the Student Center.

Between 1500 and 2000 alumni, a record number, are expected to attend the annual Homecoming and Charter Day event.

Krikorian Urges Stand By School Administration

By SHELLY HALPERN

School and university administrators must themselves take a definite stand opposing "pressure against intellectual liberty" and not leave the job to the faculty alone, Professor Y. H. Krikorian (Philosophy) said yesterday.

Speaking at a seminar on "The Scientist and Academic Freedom," Professor Krikorian defined Academic Freedom as "the freedom we give to the scientist or scholar to pursue his study, and publish his work." He said that the implications of Academic Freedom include respect to the scholar and scientist, independent thought and the pursuit of studies wherever they lead.

Other speakers at the seminar, sponsored by the Student Government Academic Freedom Week Committee, were Professor Harry Lustig (Physics) and Professor William Etkin (Biology).

Professor Lustig, speaking of the "International and cooperative nature of scientific research," said that the United States security measures keeping security risks from entering the country hinder research. This is so, he explained, because so many foreign scientists are Communists or have been associated with Communists.

According to Professor Lustig, the Geneva Conference on Atomic Energy was important because it showed that the Russian physicists, even though living under "political tyranny," had done work in the field of Atomic Energy as good as that in the United States. "Had they shared their knowledge as they worked," Professor Lustig felt, "they would both have progressed much further."

"Ethics," Professor Etkin said, "have little to do with scientists, and furnish no basis for scientific decision."

Blood Bank Opens

The Blood Bank will be operating today after 30 AM in the Grand Ballroom and tomorrow at the same time in the Kittinge Lounge. Michael Mound, chairman of the Alpha Phi Omega Blood Bank, has announced that students will be allowed to give blood even if they have not yet registered. However, parental consent is needed for all students under 21.

It is hoped that is new record for donations will be set. The record now stands at 561 pints donated in April.

SOMEONE'S OFF HER ROCKER in the Droole above—and for a damned good reason. The Droodle's titled: Whistler's Mother out shopping for Luckies. From where she sits, Luckies always taste better. William Lombardy, College Freshman
Undeletead in World Chess Tourney

Competing against the best student chess players of the world, William Lombardy, a freshman at the College, finished undefeated in the International Grand Master chess tournament, held in Uppsala, Sweden. Sixteen countries were entered in the ten-day competition, which began on April 5. Lombardy was awarded a cut-crystal vase trophy for posting the best score in the second board division. He completed the competition with a record of five wins and three draws, and had a better overall average than International Grand Master (highest rank given to the outstanding chess players of the world) Boris Ivkov of Yugoslavia.

The eighteen-year-old Chess Master, having just returned to the country on Sunday, felt that: "It was a pity that the United States team didn't do as well as expected." (The American squad consisting of Lombardy and four other students from Fordham, New York, University, Harvard, and Columbia, finished last in the final round.)

This is the first time Lombardy has traveled to Europe, but it is by no means his first extended trip to compete in a Chess tournament. Mexico, California and New Orleans are already among the places he has gone in short career as outstanding student player.

"The great deal of traveling I do is one of the reasons I enjoy the sport, Lombardy reported. Not only does it enable me to see the world, but I am able to make new friends as well." He felt that the trip to Sweden was "a very interesting experience."

College Delegation To Sponsor Bill At NY Intercollegiate Mock Senate

A delegation from the College will introduce a bill at the New York State Intercollegiate Mock Senate calling for "End of Encasulation of Home Rule by the New York State Legislature."

The College's delegation to college students to better understand complexities of modern democracy, are upper seniors Leo Hertz, Herman Karig, and Arnold Bornfriend. Professor John A. Davis (Government) will accompany the delegation as faculty advisor.

About 140 delegates from Colleges and Universities throughout New York State, will meet in the Assembly Hall at Albany from April 21 to April 23.

Actual Procedure
The procedure at the Mock Senate will be identical with actual State Senate procedure with regard to debate voting, committee hearings, etc.

Several members of the State's Executive and Legislature, including Governor Averell Harriman and Majority Assembly Leader Oswald Heck (Rep.) will address the Senate.

One of the student delegates will be elected President of the Assembly, at which every delegate will be expected to introduce a bill. Delegates will be assigned to the committees they express interest in. Some of the committees are Finance, Education, and Health and Welfare.

Swingra Spirit

Many, too many students feel that City College is playing the Swingra Circuit. They feel there isn't much of the collegiate spirit on the College campus and that's the way it is, and the way it will stay.

To say they're wrong would be simple. Even these students will admit that such student run events as the Bonfire, Friday Night Dance, other dances and special events are not collegiate in outlook. They see that the collegiate spirit is there and manifests itself every time there is a well organized student function to be had.

But, they say, most of these events are still too far and few between. If this is the feeling, and we know it in a great many cases, then these students only have themselves to blame. If these students were as preoccupied in getting a seat for their student or club meetings, then in the IND or IRT, there would be no need for this editorial.

But the fact remains that the deadline for filing nominating petitions is tomorrow, and to date only four petitions have been filed.

If you're cool toward student governmental activities here, it's up to you to put fire into them. If you want to see life at the College you have to be willing to put some of your life into it.

Nominating petitions are available in Room 151 Finley.

Quiet Spectacular

Last week, final approval came for a plan which makes a quietly spectacular change in the way Fee Plan funds are allocated to student organizations.

Under this new measure student groups will no longer be required to spend a specific sum for a specific item but an organization will get a lump sum to cover all expenditure items and will be allowed to spend it as it sees fit.

We meet this plan with wholehearted approval. Not only will this allow the releasing of club funds bottled up by circumstances unforeseen at the beginning of the term, but it gives the students the opportunity to show their intelligence and dexterity in the handling of financial affairs.

With this, however, added responsibility also falls on the students' shoulders. It is a responsibility that will have to be especially well borne since the measure will only be in operation on a trial basis. In any case, allocations will always be granted to student organizations on the basis of how judiciously they will have spent their appropriation.

We are happy to see this new power in the students' hands and hope they will make it permanent by using it wisely and well.

The Drama of Silence

The College last week received a dramatic example of the necessity of a two-newspaper press. With The Campus stifled, the College was still getting all the news, not only on the suspension incident itself, but also on the important events that daily occur about the College. Students and faculty alike were kept informed on what was happening where and why. Organizations and functions got the publicity they so vitally needed—an event held one day could not be covered the next.

The whole Campus story itself was told. Opinion of both students and faculty were registered in our pages. Editorial comment was made in Observation Post in support of The Campus, in protest to the method and harshness of punishment for the suspended editors—an ironic turn since The Campus has always been the fervent proponent of a newspaper OP and the establishment of a single newspaper at the College.

If we had but a single newspaper there would have been no news, no editorials, no announcements, no publicity, no anything. The silence that might have prevailed here last week is a thunderous argument for the necessity and benefits of a two newspaper system.

Distribution of Grades

The distribution of grades released this week by the Registrar's office, shows an increase in the percentage of failures among day session students last semester over the previous semester.

As in previous terms, most of the failures in both required and advanced courses, were in mathematics.

Three departments—Music, Psychology, and Social Humanities—reported no failures in their required courses.

In the basic courses the per cent of failures increased from 3.3% to 3.4%. Failures in the advanced courses increased from .1% to 1.8%.

Deadline Near For Petitions

Tomorrow is the deadline for all nominating petitions for the coming Student Government elections to be filed. The petition form may be obtained in Room 151 Finley. Candidates for major offices should have seventy-five signatures.

For the sake of clarity, while those vying for class position need signatures of fifty members, the total number of signatures required is seventy-five.

So far, only four petitions for the College's student government elections have been submitted, three are from the class of '55.

All nominated students should submit, with their applications, a fifty word campaign platform and a list of their extra-curricular background done in triplets.

The Nominating Committee must be free by 4 P.M on Wednesday, Council's meeting time. —Cohen

He said that the Communist party is based on discipline and a person who is a Marxist would obey all orders.

Rommert commented in the opinion that a Communist can do nothing but what the party tells him to do. Reading from a "Communist" magazine that stated that the job of a Communist is to indoctrinate his students with communism, he asked someone who might have perused here last week a thunderous argument for the necessity and benefits of a two newspaper system.
Students, Faculty Debate Lists Issue in 'Alumnus'

A team of six faculty members and students debate the question of membership lists in the current issue of the City College Alumna. The controversy grew out of membership lists in the current issue of the City College Alumni Government President.

Mr. Zades, (Student Life), and Jared Jussim, Student Government President, submits that lists are useful to students when used in their individual portfolios. He also points out that the name of the organization to which a student belongs is never divulged and only general information regarding co-curricular participation is ever given out.

Professor Parsons, former faculty advisor to Student Government, was formerly opposed to compulsory lists because according to him some of their original purposes were "servile, harmful, and illegal." He now maintains that some of the worst effects are being removed, but still feels that lists do little good, and some harm.

For the lists, Professor Magaziner, a member of the NFSCA, articulates that no student can be treated like an heirloom. He adds that no argument of sufficient weight has been advanced to show that "administration of efficiency" will be increased by compulsory membership lists.

Vacation

Students will have a chance to recuperate from finals by going on House Plan's Camping Trip over the week of June 11, 12 and 13. The price of $13 covers all expenses, including tips. Students can obtain full information in Room 331 Finley. A deposit of $5 is required by May 15.

"Council unanimously adopted a motion, introduced by Treasurer Arnie Deutschman, to the effect that the College will not engage in any type of intercollegiate competition with schools practicing segregation. The motion further called for the Secretary to send copies of the resolution to leading colleges across the country, asking them to issue similar resolutions.

Dave Polansky To Coach Hoopsters; Holman Sabbatical Approved by BHE

BY BOB MAYER

Dave Polansky, has been appointed to the position of varsity basketball coach for the 1956-57 season. The action was taken shortly after the Board of Higher Education gave final approval to Professor Nat Holman's request for a one-year sabbatical leave. Polansky has served as freshman coach since 1954.

Dr. Krakower (Chmn., Hygiene), who made the appointment, emphasized that the assignment was a temporary one, to be in effect only during that period of Professor Holman's leave. The leave is scheduled to last from September 1, 1956, to August 31, 1957.

Dr. Krakower also said that "inasmuch as Kraskow (Hygiene) will take over as freshman coach.

The announcement came as little surprise, since Polansky has generally expressed a desire to man for the job ever since Holman made public his request for a leave for the coming season.

"Polansky pleased

Commenting on the appointment, Polansky said: "I like to travel and I'm happy about the assignment. I think I'll enjoy it.

"Coaching the varsity will not be a new experience for me. I filled the same post in the 1932-33 and 1933-34 seasons, when Holman was on leave. During that period his squads won the New York Amateur Athletic Federation title and four of thirty-four games, posting records of 19-4 and 18-4. Holman has been part of the athletic scene at the College for twenty years, the last ten as coach of the track and cross-country squads, before entering the service in 1943.

"Becomes Baruch Coach When he returned to the College in 1946, Holman was given the job of Assistant Faculty Manager of Athletics. He preferred more direct contact with sports, so after a short period of time he became basketball coach at the Baruch Center. For the next five years he simultaneously coached the Day and Evening Session teams, before taking over the sports in 1951. He was coach in which Holman returned two years ago, having expressed pleasure upon hearing of the appointment. "I am delighted to hear the news," he said. "Dave is eminently qualified for the position. He did a fine job with the team, over for me last time, and there's no reason why he shouldn't do so again.

"Holman added that his own status is still the same as it was last month—that is, he expects to return to the College when his leave expires.

"The new coach as yet has no specific plans for the team. "I can't formulate any opinions or decide on a style of play until I see who actually comes out for the team," he said. "That's the think we have the nucleus of a fairly good squad—not a great one, but a fairly good one."
