COMMITTEE OF FIVE TO INVESTIGATE RADIO SITUATION

President Bueil G. Gallagher will appoint a five-man student-faculty committee to investigate the ways and means of implementing an FM station and Institute of World Communications to the College. The five committee members will be chosen from the Speech Department, the administration and the members of the Beaver Broadcaster station (WWCC). The appointment of the fact-finding committee was the result of a meeting on Friday between President Gallagher, Dean James S. Peace (Student Life), T. E. Levine (Public Relations Director), Dr. Marshall D. Berger (Speech) and several members from WWCC. Primarily the justification for the station and the institute, Dr. Gallagher said, will come from the student's permanent record in the office of Student Life at the end of the semester. This resolution was adopted by the GFCSA last May.

An amendment to the resolution requiring the information to be "safeguarded in strict accordance with city, state, and federal statutes" was also adopted at a meeting of the GFCSA last May.

The adopted resolution requires that each campus group submit a "Student Organization Form" and signed mem­bership cards for each member of the club to the Department of Student Life (PDL). The resolution also requires similar cards for students who become mem­bers after registration and signed letters of resignation from those who resign prior to the end of the semester.

Walter Reuther to Speak At Alumni Dinner Tomorrow

Walter Reuther, President of the United Automobile Workers, will be the main speaker at the seventy-sixth annual dinner of the Alumni Association tomorrow night. Other speakers will include President Bueil G. Gallagher, and Harold Lofgren, campaign chairman of the City College Fund. Dean Morton Gottshall, president of the Alumni Association, will serve as toastmaster.

Mr. Reuther will be introduced by Abraham Raskin, labor writer of The New York Times. At the dinner, Newbold Morris, chairman of the board of directors of the New York Center for Music and Drama, will receive the John H. Finley Medal for outstanding service to New York City.

In addition, Townsend Harris Medals for distinguished post-graduate achievement will be presented to Rabbi Mordecai Kaplan '06, leader emeritus of the Lubavitch Hasidim in America, and Bernard Hershkopf '06, attorney and authority on constitutional law. The Third Commandment will be read by Dr. Philip Levine, director of Student Life.

The drive is sponsored by the National Students Association in conjunction with Student Government's International Affairs Committee. The drive will start with a loudspeaker campaign on Thursday at 12 Noon and 2 PM.

Walter Reuther, President of the United Automobile Workers, will be the main speaker at the seventy-sixth annual dinner of the Alumni Association tomorrow night. Other speakers will include President Bueil G. Gallagher, and Harold Lofgren, campaign chairman of the City College Fund. Dean Morton Gottshall, president of the Alumni Association, will serve as toastmaster.

Mr. Reuther will be introduced by Abraham Raskin, labor writer of The New York Times. At the dinner, Newbold Morris, chairman of the board of directors of the New York City Center for Music and Drama, will receive the John H. Finley Medal for outstanding service to New York City. In addition, Townsend Harris Medals for distinguished post-graduate achievement will be presented to Rabbi Mordecai Kaplan '06, leader emeritus of the Lubavitch Hasidim in America, and Bernard Hershkopf '06, attorney and authority on constitutional law. Dr. Philip Levine, director of Student Life, will become a part of each student's permanent record in the office of Student Life at the end of the term. This resolution was adopted by the GFCSA last May.

An amendment to the resolution requiring the information to be "safeguarded in strict accordance with city, state, and federal statutes" was also adopted.

The appointment of the fact-finding committee was the result of a meeting on Friday between President Gallagher, Dean James S. Peace (Student Life), T. E. Levine (Public Relations Director), Dr. Marshall D. Berger (Speech) and several members from WWCC. Primarily the justification for the station and the institute, Dr. Gallagher said, will come from the student's permanent record in the office of Student Life at the end of the semester.

The drive is sponsored by the National Students Association in conjunction with Student Government's International Affairs Committee. The drive will start with a loudspeaker campaign on Thursday at 12 Noon and 2 PM. An occupied Hungarian student will be one of the speakers of this rally to be held on Friday at 4 PM in the Arrow Auditorium of the Finley Student Center.
Observation Post

Tuesday, November 13, 1956

Merc's Smirk Survives Sale

Mercury has staved off oblivion. Sales of the humor magazine Thursday through Sunday have been sufficient to enable the self-supporting publication to stay afloat. Chairman Frank Behrens.

It was reported last week that the magazine's financial situation was such that poor sales last week had forced it out of existence.

But Mercury has canceled its subscriptions, it was reported, and issued a new one in the Yule issue, Behrens said, would be a "virtual" one.

"Let's face it," he said, "we had to pull teeth on the second day sales. We have to give the students more than a month to save up twenty-five cents."

The next issue of Mercury will appear in early February. For the issue a contest for the Mizz Mercury will be held, probably in December, at both the Uptown Center and the Barrack Center.

Cricket Man Named Ugliest

Alpha Phi Omega's Ugly Man Contest, sponsored by Terry Tashbook of the City College Cricket Club, who outdistanced 25 other contestants, was won by Jerry Tashbook, who enumerated such hilarious examples as falling out 'bones.'

"Are you holding tight, dear?" she asked.

Harry fell and smashed his head right down the middle against the stove. In a moment, he was quite dead.

The proceeds, more than $65, will go to the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot" (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This is the same pitfall that Mercury has fallen into much too often in the past. They ditch out these old joke-hampered stabity. They try for sophistication, on the other hand, and if that student population in the current issue, is at all successful, and even the least demanding of readers would be left dissatisfied.

In the aforementioned contest Pearl of Great Portrayal of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This paid off for Tashbook, who admitted to "dying faith in his repulsiveness." He totally disregarded an academic climate of free inquiry and investigation into other ways of thought.

"The proceeds, more than $65, will go to the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot" (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This is the same pitfall that Mercury has fallen into much too often in the past. They ditch out these old joke-hampered stabity. They try for sophistication, on the other hand, and if that student population in the current issue, is at all successful, and even the least demanding of readers would be left dissatisfied.

In the aforementioned contest Pearl of Great Portrayal of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This paid off for Tashbook, who admitted to "dying faith in his repulsiveness." He totally disregarded an academic climate of free inquiry and investigation into other ways of thought.

"The proceeds, more than $65, will go to the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot" (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This is the same pitfall that Mercury has fallen into much too often in the past. They ditch out these old joke-hampered stabity. They try for sophistication, on the other hand, and if that student population in the current issue, is at all successful, and even the least demanding of readers would be left dissatisfied.

In the aforementioned contest Pearl of Great Portrayal of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This is the same pitfall that Mercury has fallen into much too often in the past. They ditch out these old joke-hampered stabity. They try for sophistication, on the other hand, and if that student population in the current issue, is at all successful, and even the least demanding of readers would be left dissatisfied.

In the aforementioned contest Pearl of Great Portrayal of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This is the same pitfall that Mercury has fallen into much too often in the past. They ditch out these old joke-hampered stabity. They try for sophistication, on the other hand, and if that student population in the current issue, is at all successful, and even the least demanding of readers would be left dissatisfied.

In the aforementioned contest Pearl of Great Portrayal of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This is the same pitfall that Mercury has fallen into much too often in the past. They ditch out these old joke-hampered stabity. They try for sophistication, on the other hand, and if that student population in the current issue, is at all successful, and even the least demanding of readers would be left dissatisfied.

In the aforementioned contest Pearl of Great Portrayal of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This is the same pitfall that Mercury has fallen into much too often in the past. They ditch out these old joke-hampered stabity. They try for sophistication, on the other hand, and if that student population in the current issue, is at all successful, and even the least demanding of readers would be left dissatisfied.

In the aforementioned contest Pearl of Great Portrayal of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This is the same pitfall that Mercury has fallen into much too often in the past. They ditch out these old joke-hampered stabity. They try for sophistication, on the other hand, and if that student population in the current issue, is at all successful, and even the least demanding of readers would be left dissatisfied.

In the aforementioned contest Pearl of Great Portrayal of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This is the same pitfall that Mercury has fallen into much too often in the past. They ditch out these old joke-hampered stabity. They try for sophistication, on the other hand, and if that student population in the current issue, is at all successful, and even the least demanding of readers would be left dissatisfied.

In the aforementioned contest Pearl of Great Portrayal of the Artist as a Blooming Idiot (if the cleverness of the title has not yet scared you away) you will be introduced at some time to a fascinating gentleman who draws beards on subway posters. He enumerates such hilarious exorcizements as falling out 'bones.'

This is the same pitfall that Mercury has fallen into much too often in the past. They ditch out these old joke-hampered stabity. They try for sophistication, on the other hand, and if that student population in the current issue, is at all successful, and even the least demanding of readers would be left dissatisfied.
Mayor Wagner at Dedication Of Hartman Student Lounge

Mayor Robert F. Wagner officially dedicated the Gustave Hartman Student Lounge (Room 348) in honor of the late jurist and City College graduate. The ceremonies held in the same Auditorium as the dedication of the Student Health Center by President Buell G. Gallagher drew over 200 people including New York Chief Justice Thomas P. Murrath, General Sessions Judge Jonah Goldstein, authors Fannie Hurst and May Hartman, widow of the honored jurist.

In his address, Mayor Wagner praised the late Justice Hartman for his leadership in the community, his dedication to public service, and his contributions to the city. He noted that the lounge would also serve as a reminder of a great man who had done much for the city, the state and the nation.

Switch...

Due to the unusual number of holidays falling on Mondays this semester, students will follow their Monday programs tomorrow, instead of their usual Wednesday schedules. Students are urged not to confuse this notice with last week's "Thursday-is-Tuesday" switch.

WVCC... (Continued from Page One)

"professional and educational training received by those participants in the enterprise." He said that he was not too excited about reaching student listeners, but that the value lies, Pres. Gallagher continued, in the broadcasting experience gained by the student participants.

The WVCC Seeks Funds

The initial cost of construction and technical equipment will amount to approximately $25,000. The yearly maintenance cost of the FM station will be about $2,000. WVCC plans to seek these funds from outside sources such as the Ford Foundation.

Finley Student Center "a dream come true" and credited Dr. Gal- len Armistead, WVCC Director of Studio Services. Two broadcasting studios and a control room will occupy Room 427 Finley, while a rehearsal studio, a control room and the administrative offices occupy Room 428 Finley.

Find Stempel Goof So—Stempel vs. Doc Again?

Herbert Stempel will have to compete once again tomorrow night with the Cuban doctor who drew him out to three rounds before apparently losing last week on the television program "Twenty-One."

Actually, the show's producers announced on Thursday that Stempel had incorrectly answered a question asking the name of the island from which the plane that bombed Hiroshima had taken off. Comedian Jack Barry mistakenly accepted Stempel's answer of Okinawa, since this appeared on the same card which Barry used to verify the reply as an answer to another question. The error was noted on Thursday, when the wife of the Right's co-pilot called up Producer Dan Enright with the correct answer, Tinian.

As a result, the show's producers have started a nationwide search for the doctor, Carlos Carballo of Havana, who is believed to be on vacation with his wife somewhere in this country.

If Carballo can be located before tomorrow night's program, he will be given a chance for a return match with Stempel at the rate of $1,000 a point for the difference between their scores.

Stempel may still keep the $50,000 he had won through last week's program. Contested last night he refused to record whether he will continue off the show if Carballo is not found.
Boots Set Goal Mark, Rout Maritime, 6-1 Can Clinch 4th Straight Title at Hunter Today

By BOB MAYER

The College's undefeated soccer juggernaut clinched at least a tie for the Metropolitan Conference championship and became the highest-scoring aggregation in league history Saturday by rolling up six goals to New York Maritime College's one on the frothy Goethals Stadium turf.

The Beavers, who now own a 9-0 league record, needed only a win or a tie to clinch the league crown and could have clinched outright with a win by New York Institute of Technology, who has lost only one game this season, an all-time high total of four.

At the Goethals Stadium, the Beavers put up a dream team against the Maritime netman. It gave Joe Thorne’s three goals, and his only assist was the one that gave New York's 57th minute winning goal.

The goal was Paranos’s fourth tally of the season, and his only assist was the one that gave New York's 57th minute winning goal.

The victory extended the Beaver’s undefeated streak to eighteen, and they can clinch at least a tie for the conference title with a win over New York Institute of Technology, who has lost only one game this season, an all-time high total of four.

Later, Sund had upped the pounds, now fighting for the "Y" title in the AFLA playoffs, and regained a berth in the National Soccer Association playoffs.

The easy victory naturally enabled the Beavers to clinch the league, and they could have clinched outright with a win by New York Institute of Technology, who has lost only one game this season, an all-time high total of four.

This is the big one for the College’s soccer team. Today’s game is a must. The College field, the Beaver boy, will attempt to put a stronghold on their fourth straight Metropolitan Conference title.

The meeting between co-captain Vince Rooters and New York’s headman at the start of the half, when with thirty seconds gone, inside left Jon Schuyler broke through the Beavers’ defensemen. All four goals were scored by New York’s Vince Rooters.

The probable lineups:

Wolfe Gains AFLA Finals in Novice Foil

Joel Wolfe, captain of the College’s fencing team, reached the finals of the American Fencers League of America (AFLA) Novice Foil Individual Championship, held Saturday at the Twenty-third Street YMCA.

The conclusion of the competitions could not be finished because of a time limit, and will be completed on Sunday, Nov. 25.

Matmen Lose Practice Meet

Facing the West Side YMCA for the second time in as many weeks, the Beaver grizzlies won only two of nine bouts and drew in a pre-season exhibition match as the Goethals Gym, Friday night.

The only Beaver victories were by Jordan B. Horowitz and co-captain Bernie Stoll. Horowitz defeated William Gross, 4-0, in a 14-pound match, and Stoll, wrestling at 177 pounds, defeated Leon Goldberg by the identical score.

The two matches that resulted in draws came in the 14-pound contest between co-captain Vince Norman and Dennis Liebman. In a weight class between City’s Leon Entin and Charles Munsteck.

Wolfgang Wostl

Wolfgang Wostl, who lined it into the lower left corner of the net. It gave New York the lead, which it never relinquished. This aggregate of that season was a vital defensive action, as the Brooklynites 2-0 victory on Sunday set the stage for a Citv College fumble in Met competition.

Directions to Hunter:

SULTRY SCENE WITH THE HOUSE-FRONT QUEEN

She sat next to me on the train that day. I was a wave of perfume wafted my way.

A dangerous scent that is called "I'm glad"

I tried to think about what they were and good

I did the very best that I could for a ride, but it was a wave of perfume that I gave her a kiss... and get a black eye!

The team of Stan Hochman and Mike Wolfe lost a heart-breaker to Lee Yahia, 4-2, in a weight class between co-captain Vince Norman and Dennis Liebman. In a weight class between City’s Leon Entin and Charles Munsteck.

The probable lineups:

The Matmen lost a heart-breaker to Lee Yahia, 4-2, in a weight class between co-captain Vince Norman and Dennis Liebman. In a weight class between City’s Leon Entin and Charles Munsteck.

The team of Stan Hochman and Mike Wolfe lost a heart-breaker to Lee Yahia, 4-2, in a weight class between co-captain Vince Norman and Dennis Liebman. In a weight class between City’s Leon Entin and Charles Munsteck.

The probable lineups:

The team of Stan Hochman and Mike Wolfe lost a heart-breaker to Lee Yahia, 4-2, in a weight class between co-captain Vince Norman and Dennis Liebman. In a weight class between City’s Leon Entin and Charles Munsteck.

The team of Stan Hochman and Mike Wolfe lost a heart-breaker to Lee Yahia, 4-2, in a weight class between co-captain Vince Norman and Dennis Liebman. In a weight class between City’s Leon Entin and Charles Munsteck.

The team of Stan Hochman and Mike Wolfe lost a heart-breaker to Lee Yahia, 4-2, in a weight class between co-captain Vince Norman and Dennis Liebman. In a weight class between City’s Leon Entin and Charles Munsteck.