SC Decision to Be Tested by SC Appeal

By RALPH DANNHEISSER
The use of compulsory membership lists will be appealed again, this time to the Board of Higher Education.

Student Council last night passed unanimously a motion which called for an appeal from the week's General Faculty decision upholding the lists' use at the College.

The SC resolution further empowered the Student Government Executive Committee to appoint a group which will prepare the appeal to be presented at the Board's meeting.

In a separate resolution introduced by Civil Liberties Committee Chairman Bart Cohen, the council expressed its "regrets" about what it termed the "unfortunate decision" made by the General Faculty.

The motion charged that the faculty group had "sacrificed a measure of our [the students'] freedom at the altar of administrative efficiency." The effect of

The group's decision. Council charged, will be to deny to this generation of City College students freedom to choose their intellectual convictions from the widest possible range of alternatives.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the chairman and secretary of the General Faculty, and to department chairmen.

Council gave unanimous approval to a plan which would enable students and faculty members to travel to Europe at reduced rates next summer. Under contract to be signed with the Open Road Inc., round trip transportation would cost $10. The date of the trip would be decided by those participating.

State Champ Booters Playoff Bound; Battle Springfield in Dec. 1st Opener

By BOB MAYER

The College's undefeated soccer team has accepted an invitation to represent New York State in the Eastern Intercollegiate Playoffs at Springfield, Massachusetts on Saturday, December 1. The booters will face Springfield College in the first round of the intersectional competition, which will determine the Eastern champion and may eventually lead to a national title.

Reuther Urges Stronger UN Police Forces

By KEN FOEGE

Walter Reuther, President of the United Automobile Workers, last night expressed the need for the United Nations to maintain a standing Permanent Police Force.

Mr. Reuther, speaking at the seventy-sixth annual dinner of the Alumni Association at the Sheraton-Astor Hotel, warned that, "without such a force, the United Nations, as an instrument of peace, may well suffer the same sad fate of the League of Nations."

Speaking of the value of such a force, Mr. Reuther claimed that if the UN could have landed as few as 20,000 troops in Hungary after the Soviet withdrawal, "Hungary would have a free and independent government today." He said that more is needed to halt aggressors than "eloquent speeches and resolutions of moral representatives to determine the Eastern Champion. Similar playoffs are being arranged in the Western part of the country, and if they are completed in time, the two regional titleholders will meet for the National crown.

The Beavers were named New York State Champions Tuesday in a unanimous decision by the New York State playoff committee. The four-man group includes chairman Huntley Parker, coach of Brockport State Teachers College, Jack Corkery, coach of RPI, Fred Holloway, Cortlandt State mentor, and Lavender coach Harry Karlin.

Karlin did not take part in the actual voting. "It came as quite a surprise," he said. "I expected to have to go to a committee meeting and fight for it. When Parker called Tuesday, I thought it was about the meeting. Instead, he said 'You're the champs.'"

Parker went on to explain that on the basis of comparative scores, officials' ratings, and City's undefeated record, the Beavers were the unanimous choice of himself and the other two committee members, and that a meeting was not necessary.

Stempel Rolls Merrily Along; Reaches Total of $55,500

By STAN HENDLER

City College senior Herb Stempel topped Dr. Carlos Carballo in the pair's third rematch last night on NBC-TV's "Twenty-One" quiz show. He then went on to outmaneuver a retired WAC Major, bringing his grand total for five weeks on the show to $55,500.

Stempel faced the Cuban physician for the first time three weeks ago, when the two contestants battled to the first tie in the show's history. Last week, Stempel won the second playoff game and earned $1,500, instead of the usual $500, for each point's difference between the scores.

Tonight a ten point question on ships clinched it for Stempel. The question: On September 23, 1779, an American ship and a British ship fought off Scarborough, England. Name the American ship, the British ship, and the Commander of the American ship.

Stempel's correct answers were: Bon Homme Richard, The Serapis, and John Paul Jones, respectively.

The City College senior then faced a new contestant, Miss Rose Legrand, holder of a law degree and a retired Major in the United States Army. He stopped the game while four points ahead, earning $500 per point, and walked off with a grand total of $55,500.

Carballo got another chance on the program because one of the answers accepted from Stempel last week had been incorrect.

Refugee Fund Begins Today

International Agency of Student Government in conjunction with the Metropolitan National Students Association will hold a fund raising drive and a rally at the College in behalf of the 2,000 Hungarian refugee students.

The drive, which will begin today at 12 Noon with a loud-speaker campaign, will run for four days, Thursday through Tuesday. World University Service (WUS) will circulate throughout the campus with collection canisters.

At the rally, to be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Finley Student Center tomorrow at 4 PM, an escaped Hungarian student, Mr. Louw, will speak. Other speakers at the rally will include President Buell C. Gallagher, National Chairman of WUS, Professors Mark Brunswick (Music), Hans Kohn (History).

The goal of the drive, Pres. Gallagher said, is to raise as much money as possible in order to send "immediate material aid to Hungarian refugees.

Shame and Disgust

I read your editorial in today's newspaper entitled "The Eleventh Commandment" with a deep sense of shame and an even deeper feeling of disgust. I have long been an ardent and outspoken opponent of compulsory membership lists, but if your editorials on the question represent the attitudes of that portion of the student body which is opposed to them, then I feel that I must change sides; not because of any change in my beliefs, but because I cannot retain my self-respect knowing that I am, out of choice, associating myself with those who stoop to name-calling, demagoguery, cheap innuendo, and who have not respect for the motives and feelings of the majority of the General Faculty.

To criticize their decision is your right and privilege; to do so by the use of phrases such as "insidious report," "merely fronts," "too dishonorable to state openly" and many others is not freedom but license. It is high time that students of this college, especially those that write for our college press, learned to show a little more respect for our faculty as adult, learned, honest and conscientious men and women. This does not mean that they are never wrong; it does mean that they are never dishonest and that they are at all times motivated by what they feel is to the best interests of the college community.

The other night I had the pleasure and privilege to discuss this question with several members of the faculty of this college. I was a distinct minority of one. Nevertheless, my opinions and those of other students as expressed by me, were treated with the utmost respect. Their opinions, stated both honestly and decorously, were obviously the result of much cogitation on their part.

If those of us who are opposed to these compulsory membership lists are unable to state our positions without the use of invective, are unable to bring forth cogent replies to their points, replies which can convince them that this is not a just decision, then I say that we are not mature enough to feel that we can dictate the policies of this institution.

Today's editorial, while the straw that broke the camel's back, is but one of a whole series of editorials on this and other questions which have appeared in both our semi-weekly newspapers which have exhibited an amazing lack of taste, taste worthy only of the tabloids of this city. I would like to recommend that you copy the editorial style and phraseology of the New York Times instead.

Mr. Reuther made known the United Automobile Worker's plans for the support of such a voluntary force. "We will solicit and welcome the maximum support from all other democratic American organizations," he said, "in encouraging our government to take the lead in United Nations General Assembly in seeking the establishment of such a force. In the meantime . . . we are undertaking to raise as much money as possible for the relief and rehabilitation (of Hungarian workers)."

CCNY Alumni Win 17 Seats In Legislature

By JACK LEVINE

A City College education combined with Democratic party backing proved a powerful formula for political success last week. Alumni with Democratic Party endorsement won in seventeen out of eighteen contests for seats in the national and state legislatures.

Their greatest success was achieved in the races for State Assemblymen. Thirteen members of New York City's sixty-four man delegation to the lower house of the state legislature were educated at the College. This includes one of the two alumni who were elected to the state legislature on the Republican ticket.

Six other Republicans and two liberals were unable to parlay their degrees into the winners' circle.

In Queens, two alumni squared off for the State Senate seat from the seventh district. Republican Irwin Pakulo defeated the incumbent senator, James G. Sweeney. The latter was the only graduate on the Democratic slate to lose.

The opening session of Congress will find a three man "City" delegation of Democrats sitting in the House of Representatives. Democrat Alfred E. Santangelo easily defeated the incumbent, James G. Donovan, in Manhattan's eighteenth Congressional District. The neighboring nineteenth is also represented by an alumnus, Leonard Farbstein. Abraham J. Multer was re-elected from the thirteenth district in Brooklyn.

record, was named yesterday to represent New England in the competition.

The first playoff game on Saturday, December 1, was originally scheduled for 2 PM, but according to Springfield coach Irvin R. Schmid, will probably be moved up to 1:00 or 1:30 to allow for the possibility of an overtime period.

Should the regulation play end in a tie, two overtimes will be played, and then another two if necessary. If the score is still tied after four overtime periods, sudden death rules will go into effect.

The Beaver booters will leave on the five hour trip to Springfield "sometime in the afternoon" of Friday, November 30, in order to be able to get in a brief workout on Brook-Affleck field the morning of the game.

Arrangements are being made to have a student bus leave for Springfield the day of the game. The cost will be approximately $3.50 per person. JULIE ANDREWS says:

"Verily, a Professor 'Iggins among magazines!"

Julie Andrews, twenty-one-year-old British girl, plays Eliza Doolittle in the sensational Broadway success "My Fair Lady"—a musical adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion."

Q. Miss Andrews, had you ever been away from your family before you arrived in this country two years ago?

A. Never, and I still become dreadfully homesick. But I do talk with them several times a week.

Q. By phone?

A. No—by phonograph. We talk into recording machines, and airmail the records. They are so clear I can even hear my brothers arguing in the background about whose turn is next. It is as if we were all in one room.

Q. You never exchange the usual kind of letter?

A. Very seldom, I'm afraid. But we post back and forth bits of particular interest—like newspaper reviews, and favorite articles from The Reader's Digest.

Q. Just the Digest?

A. Oh, no, there are others sometimes—but the Digest is our magazine. Mummy and Daddy have always read it, and I began when I was twelve, playing music halls. I had to miss school, and my teaching governess went through every issue with me on the run. It was part of my lessons.

Q. Do you still read it on the run?

A. Oh, yes—waiting for assignments, waiting for buses, even waiting for curtain cues. I hope I never have to be without it. When I wish to be amused, the Digest amuses me; and when I need to be scolded or instructed, I can always find an article that talks to me like—

Q. Like a Dutch uncle?

A. No, much more delightfully—more like Professor 'Iggins in "My Fair Lady" showing a new world to Eliza Doolittle.

In November Reader's Digest don't miss:

CONDENSATION FROM FORTHCOMING BOOK: "THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY." The all but incredible story of Nazi fighter pilot Franz von Werra—how he broke out of a British prison camp, audaciously attempted to steal a plane . . . and finally did escape.

REBELLION AT POZNAN. Here are eye-witness accounts of the June uprisings that may be a preview of the eventual end of the Communist empire.

TWO-EDGED DAGGER OF YUSOF HUSSEN. Eerie experiences of a British officer in the Red-infested jungles of Malaya.

THE ANDREA DORIA'S UNTOLD STORY. Heart-rending drama of Dr. Peterson's futile 5-hour struggle to save his wife—pinned under wreckage in their state-room—as the giant liner slowly sank.

Springfield Team Boasts 9 Wins in Tough Sked

By BERT ROSENTHAL

When the College's soccer team plays Springfield College of Massachusetts in the first inter-sectional soccer playoff game at the New Englanders' Brock-Affleck field on Saturday, December 1, they will be facing a squad with an almost identical record.

Springfield finished their season with nine wins and one tie in ten games. Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) held them to a 1-1 deadlock. At present, the Beavers have an 8-0-1 mark, with one game left against Pratt on Saturday.

As a member of the twenty team New England Soccer League, Springfield defeated six league foes. Two other conference schools, Trinity College of Massachusetts and Brown University, are currently unbeaten in loop competition.

Trinity was not selected for the playoffs because their school policy forbids them to participate in any post-season tournaments. Brown was not considered for the playoffs because they have lost to two Ivy-League teams, Pennsylvania University and

Yale University.

Springfield Coach Irvin R. Schmid, in his ninth campaign at the helm of the New Englanders, calls his aggregation, "one of the best I've ever coached." He added, "It is the best squad with the least individual stars. The other good teams I've coached have had all individual performers."

All-American Leads Defense

Right Fullback Richard Tiangley, a second team All-American back in 1955, and a first team All-New England selectee, is the bulwark of the defense. Bob Baker will probably fill the other fullback post. Daniel Sullivan, Richard Haran, and Donald Darling, (from right to left) will start at the halfback positions.

High scorer Richard Hungerford, spearhead of the Springfield attack, with sixteen goals, will open at center forward. He will be flanked on the right by Leon Konieczny and Thomas Stammers, and by S. K. Kasinathan and co-captain Paul Sweeney on the left.

Co-captain William Moore, who has permitted only 1.0 goals per game, will be in the nets for Springfield. Over the season, Moore registered four shutouts. He blanked Westleyan College, Boston University, Hofstra University and Williams College.

Oh, Yeah?

The N Y State Championship varsity soccer team will face the JV-Freshman team in a do-or-die battle at 3 PM next Tuesday in Lewisohn Stadium. The game is being described as an all-out affair, and JV goalie Marty Doherty has announced "I will shut out the varsity."

Fordham Tops JV-Freshman Soccer Squad

In a valiant effort to equal the exploits of their varsity compatriots, the College's JV-Freshman soccer squad tackled the Fordham University varsity at Rose Hill yesterday afternoon. With several of their key players missing however, the Beaverlings were no match for the Rams, and went down to a 5-2 defeat, their first loss of the season.

Ralph Garbe opened up the scoring for the Lavender, but Fordham bounced back with two goals to take the lead. Heinz Minnerup tied the count at 2-2 just before the half ended, but the next two periods were all Fordham.

In sharp contrast to this fray, however, was Monday's contest with the Queens frosh. The Beavers crushed the Knights, 9-0, for their second straight shutout.

Les Solney led the squad with four goals.

In their only other game of the year, the squad shut out the Columbia Soccer Club, 4-0.

Kisses & Wobbly Legs All Part of Championship

By LEW EGOL

Some were surprised, others expected it; most took it with quiet enthusiasm, yet the coach had to sit down, and a substitute goalie spontaneously kissed the nearest girl. But to every member of the Champion soccer team, selection for the Eastern Playoffs was a dream come true.

Perhaps sophomore fullback Saul Fein put it best when he said, "Ever since we heard about the playoffs, our main goal was getting the bid. Nobody seemed to mention the Metropolitan League any more."

As the grapevine spread, and team members first learned of the we'd never get into any playoff. I was almost sure the judges would bypass us for an upstate team," the senior happily said.

Much of the team's pessimism stemmed from the fact that the Beavers compete in a weak (without quotes) league, and might be passed by, despite an unbeaten season, for an upstate team such as Army, Brockport State, or Ithaca.

Apparently though, the judges combined the booters' fine showing against West Point with the fact that it takes quite a club to roll up forty-six goals in nine games while permitting only six, even against the weakest opposition, and arrived at the final decision which made CCNY a unanimous choice as N Y State Champions, and representatives in the Eastern Intercollegiate Soccer Playoffs.

Coach Harry Karlin was the most visibly affected by Tuesday night's announcement.

"When I heard the news, my knees began to shake and I had to sit right down," the Coach laughed. "I was really overjoyed, not so much for myself as for the boys. They really worked hard for this."

Reserve netminder Marty Doherty "got all excited and shook up" when he read of the selection. (Continued on Page Two)
