Student Government Petitions

The deadline for submitting petitions for Student Government offices has been set for 3 PM, Friday. Prospective candidates for major offices must present a petition signed by seventy-five students.

Promethean

Mr. Rivlin, the College’s director of Public Affairs and the College’s representative to the United Nations, will speak at the College Thursday. Mr. Rivlin will speak on “The Current Middle East Crisis.”

Student Government lists appeal

Dean James S. Peace has announced that the petition blank for the office of Student Government President will be on sale at the College Center starting Thursday, December 6. Work should be completed, ready for submission by 3 PM on December 11.

Petitions blank and further information regarding the process of obtaining a petition may be obtained from the Senate Office, Room 336 Finley.

Ho-Hum, Stempel Wins Again, Ups Total Take to $69,500

Like Old Man River, Herb Stempel just keeps rolling along. The 39-year-old history major added another $14,000 to his “Tonight’s Best” record. Stempel now boasts $25,000 in his win by Dale Strong, a choreographer and college instructor.

Miss Strong reached the winning total of twenty-one points before Stempel, but, as in his fifth round, she was unable to answer the final question correctly, answering a ten point question testing his knowledge of the Suez Canal. “But, it is a very difficult area,” she said.

Miss Strong chose to stop when given the chance of answering two more questions, each worth $500. But Strong took $1,000 a point in the tie-breaking match.

Miss Strong continued the game until the game ended, and Stempel tied the score of 21 on the next question. “One state is divided in half by two lakes, name the state and the lakes.” Stempel correctly answered Michigan, and Lakes Michigan and Huron.

In announcing at the beginning of the program that he would keep the Lounges for the duration of the program to $69,500, Peace stressed the importance of having such decisions made by students, “in a democratic way.”

A report of the Executive Committee to the Board of Advisors, or to Dean Daniel P. Brophy (Student Life), will be submitted on June 7, outlining as one of the functions of the student group the power “to make suggestions and recommendations to the Student Center.”

Agreed to Consultations

On September 18, Dean Peace issued a report in which he stated that any regulation initiated by the Executive Committee must be submitted to the Board of Student Managers. The Board, hearing that House’s request last week, had recommended that the two rooms be used as quiet lounges, so that all student groups would receive equal benefit from them.

Student Gov’t Exec Pushes Off ‘Lists’ Appeal

The Executive Committee of Student Government yesterday proposed a plan to postpone a Student Council appeal to the Board of Higher Education on the General Faculty’s decision to keep membership lists at the College.

The appeal has been postponed until a three-man advisory committee, to be appointed by President Bueell G. Gallagher, presents its evaluation of the case by General Faculty decision. Gallagher has said that he will not consider the appeal until after Christmas vacation. The committee, he said, will also “advise us on the procedures in the field of student personnel.”

Egyptian...

Mr. T. M. Bashere, press officer of the Egyptian Embassy in the United Nations, will speak at the College Thursday. Mr. Bashere will speak on “The Current Middle East Crisis.”

Media...

The Art Society will hold an art exhibition in all media in the Main Lounge of the Finley Student Center starting Thursday, December 6. Work should be completed, ready for submission by 3 PM on December 11.

Petition blanks and further information regarding the process of obtaining a petition may be obtained from the Senate Office, Room 336 Finley.
His Red Suspenders, Not Red Eyes, Explain Student's Night Activities

By SHELLY HALPERN

Frank Shayer, like other students, stays up late—but it isn’t his doing. For him, the night hours mean a full time job with the Fire Department. Nevertheless, Shayer, the station is a great big garage in which people live. It includes a kitchen, workshop, recreation area, television, showers, lockers, and bunk beds.

While on his shift, from 6 PM to 2 AM, Shayer manages to catch three to six hours sleep a night. At other times, he makes up his six minutes sleep wherever and whenever possible. "It’s gotten to a point where I can sleep sitting up," he says.

In spite of his exhausting schedule, he has succeeded in achieving second year honors, carrying seventeen credits a term, and is one of the few students to pass the oral education exam at the first try.

Just before he was interviewed, Shayer was working in the fire alarm box. Thirty-nine tenants and a fireman were killed. Shayer had been called upon to help people out of the fire and digging away in the rubble before he could return to the station house for a rest.

At other times, he has been called upon to help people out of burners, free children’s heads caught between the bars of fences, and save others from locked bathrooms.

Outside of these, he describes his duties as “going to fires, pulling down ceilings, smashing windows, tearing up floors, breaking locked bathrooms."

A Visit to St. Nicholas

Israel.

The Middle East can (be a progressive area of stability." As a result of our action," Mr. Rivlin said that the para-a popular problem today is whether "Sina- and Gaza will again be based on the foundation that the "only solution for peace in the Middle East" lies in the United Nations and the Arab states. "They must be made to realize that their plans are futile and dangerous for Israel are no more than dreams," he declared.

Continuing the trouble in the Middle East could be "the beginning of the State of Israel," Mr. Rivlin warned. He urged that the United States and the United Nations use "all their influence and power" to bring about negotiations between Egypt and Israel.

The Israeli official said that "Israel recognizes hope for "The Middle East can be a progressive area of stability."

Scores of City College students roamed in St. Nicholas Park last night looking for a place and knees, rooting in piles of dead leaves, peering under stones and snooping in tree holes and pipe openings. But their goal lay in a little pill bottle partly buried under a railing on St. Nicholas Terrace opposite Jasper Oval.

They were lured on the quest—a futile one—by visions of a $3.50 prize. A clue was broadcast. "Find the College With the Best of the pill bottle was spotted in the dirt under the railing by Josepf Green, a postal worker from Astoria, Long Island.

After the pill bottle was identified, the winner of the $3.50 prize was determined. The pill bottle was in the dirt under the railing by Joseph Green, a postal worker from Astoria, Long Island.

Soccermen Trip Alumni
In Championship Tuneup

By BERT ROSENTHAL

The greatest group of youth and experience ever assembled on one team in Lewisham Stadium could not stop the College's championship soccermen from rolling to a 7-3 win over an Alumni (and Freshman) squad on Saturday.

The contest was the Beaver's final competitive tuneup for Saturday's intersectional title match at Springfield College of Massachusetts.

The Alumni penetrated the Beaver shoes more than any other team that faced the Variety this season, and in general, gave goalie Charley Thorne a busy afternoon. Thorne was forced to make twenty stops, many of them on the spectacular side.

Forwards Fred Bonnet, Novak Mazonovich, the Meet League's scoring champion, and co-captain Wolfgang Wostl led the Lavender point parade with two goals apiece. Center-halfback John Paranos accounted for the seventh tally on his specialty, a penalty kick.

The major development of the game, however, may have been the discovery of a new defenseman—Eric Bienstock. Hardly Sunday's all-defense of two of his regular backs, co-captain Robert LeMestre and Fred Mumler, Beaver coach Harry Karlin inserted Bienstock, a reserve forward, at the right full-back position. He performed impressively, often kicking the ball out of danger to prevent many Alumni scoring opportunities.

The "visitors" also had their heroes. There was Johnny Scaramouche, the highest scoring forward in the College's history with thirty-one goals, who electrified the scorers with his persistent hustle and drive. "Kouts" notched his team's second goal on a rebound shot, had another nullified because of an off-side penalty.

Alumni scoring opportunities.

Wolfe Cops Novice Foil; Alumni Pace Olympians

Joel Wolfe, captain of the Amateur Fencers League of America Novice Foil Individual Championship, won the finals.

He defeated Paul Reyes of the Met League's Fencing Club, 5-3; Mike Brusco of NYU, 5-2; Mike Green, also of NYU, by the identical score; and finished the championship with a 5-3 triumph over Am Mercov, a third member of the NYU team who reached the finals.

Alumni Pace Olympic Fencers Three CCNY alumni led the United States Olympic fencing team into the semifinal round of the team foil competition at Melbourne, Australia Friday. Dr. Daniel Bukatskis and Albert Axelrod each scored four victories and Hal Goldsmith two in the squad's 13-3 defeat of Australia.

The three other American victories were posted by Sewall Schurtz, US foil champion who intends to enter the College in September.

The US squad could not win any of its semifinal matches, and placed fourth in the tourney.

Joel Wolfe, captain of the Amateur Fencers League of America Novice Foil Individual Championship, completed Sunday at the Salle Santelli.

Wolfe captured five of six bouts in the concluding round of the competition to place first ahead of six other finalists. His over-all record for the seven rounds of the championship was fourteen wins and only one loss. The lone defeat came in the final set against Nyles Ayres of Columbia.

Marly Westrie, former City College's fencing team, won the College's fencing title, won on his four remaining contests.

He defeated Paul Reyes of the Santelli Fencing Club, 5-4; Mike Brusco of NYU, 5-2; Mike Green, also of NYU, by the identical score; and finished the championship with a 5-3 triumph over Am Mercov, a third member of the NYU team who reached the finals.
