SC Hits Brooklyn College
For Suspension of Student

By RALPH DANNEHISBER

Student Council last night drafted a letter to be sent to Brooklyn College, criticizing that school's administration for their alleged "violation of due process and academic freedom" in its suspension of student Arthur Steier. The resolution to send a letter passed 9-2.

Steier, a senior, was suspended for three days last Friday, in what the "Brooklyn College Kingman," underground newspaper, called "a verdict without a trial situation."

Steier had been an outspoken critic of the administration of Brooklyn and its policies, and has been suspended at least once, from March 1953 for his anti-administration statements.

In a letter sent to Steier on Friday, Dean of Students Herbert Strop, repeated his suspension "continued disregard of rules and regulations of Brooklyn College,...continued indulgence in untruthful statements...about College officers and the College, and (his) patient unwillingness to heed the injunction of the College."

Steier was notified of his right to appeal his suspension to Brooklyn College President Harry D. Gideon. The President subsequently turned down his appeal.

SC's letter, which will be printed in the "Kingman" edition tomorrow, decries "the lack of specific charges against Steier, and the absence of 'a fair hearing at which he (would) have the opportunity to answer the charges against him and to submit the testimony of witnesses.'"

In a separate, unanimous resolution, Council voted to seek a dedication from New York City universities to "make known our views" on the suspension.

Previous to his current suspension, Steier had been notified by Dean Strop on June 11, of his ineligibility for "officer or membership in any student organization.

Strop cited "obvious and significant deficiencies" in Steier's record on the suspension. This lack of adjustment, the letter explained, was not to the policies and procedures of students and faculty followed in Brooklyn.

According to Steier, his suspension resulted from his continued efforts to have a system of student government instituted at Brooklyn College.

"We have no information to believe Mr. Moritz has been a democratic voice, or that Habenstreit had been an outspoken critic of the administration, and the apparent infringement of academic freedom and due process by Brooklyn College's Administration."

Use of Lists Is Criticized
By 2 Groups

The use of compulsory club membership lists in membership campaigns has been attacked by both Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) and the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU).

At its city-wide convention held last Saturday at the New Yorker, the ADA adopted a resolution condemning the use of lists at the municipal colleges.

The ADA resolution also approving a report in which the concept of membership lists comes under fire. The report, entitled "A Student's View of the academic Freedom and Civil Liberties in Student Life," was reprinted in the "Brooklyn Daily Eagle." The resolution called for the use of such lists in the interest of student democracy and student freedom.

We're not really that into this, though sometimes the pressure of putting out a newspaper makes it seem so. Actually, that's part of the fun of the job. The excitement of being on the spot and part of the scene. But we also like to write with accuracy, concern, and vivacity; we want to serve the College; and we're looking for people who want the same things. If you are interested in writing, art, photography, or business (or think you can come to meet people today at 12:15 PM in the Observation Post Office, Room 336 Finley Student Center. We'll be glad to see you, and we think you'll enjoy working for us.

Two Day Music Festival
To Be Held Dec. 20, 21

By MICHAEL SPIELMAN

A two-day long semi-annual music festival will be initiated at the College this semester.

The program, sponsored by the Music Department, will be presented entirely by the students of the faculty. It will be held in the Recital Hall at the City College of New York. The festival is to be held on December 20 and 21. This is the first such event to be held at the College.

All music courses meeting those two days will be held in Recital Hall. However, the recitals will be open to anyone interested in the campus. Faculty groups emphasized that the festival will be held on December 20 and 21 from 9 AM to 9 PM. The concerts will be held at the City College of New York. The festival will be held in the Recital Hall at the College. Of course, professors and students will not perform in the concert, but will try to have related music 'wherever possible.'

Anyone at the City College may perform in the concert. Those who wish to do so should contact either Professor Yaboda, or Professor Jack M. Shapiro (Eugene String Quartet, and more).

Senior Notes...

A Senior Yachting Party will take place on Saturday, 9 PM to midnight. Tickets for the moonlight cruise up the Hudson will be available in Room 336 Finley from 1:15 PM. Tickets are priced at $3.50 a couple with a class card and $4 without a card. The Senior Class will hold a formal dance at the St. Moritz Hotel on December 15. Tickets priced at $4 a couple with a class card and $5 without a card, may be obtained in Room 336 Finley. A floor show and dinner are included, plus free refreshments.
Injustice

There are times when we would rather not admit association with Brooklyn College through even the vaguest municipal ties that bind us. Such a time has now arrived.

The heavy-handed administration of President Gideonse ("administration," it should be remembered, is the technical term; "regime" might do just as well) has often been seen fit to slap down any feeble student, and most offensive blow, is the suspension from school of Arthur Steier, a student who had the audacity to question deficiencies in his conduct—so glaringly obvious that they could not be concealed. An administration so accursed as to have "helped the newspaper, the Kingsman, which the Guidance Counselor at an institution scornful of Marxism free." We have no intention of going on too long about the other cases, but there is an atmosphere of threat, a threat which Steier has been trying for a long time to reform the administration, in the form of Dean Herbert Stroup, Dean of Students, suspended him in June for "obvious and significant deficiencies" in his conduct—so glaringly obvious that they are only hinted at, and might, indeed, fit anyone the college took exception to. The administration could have "helped the newspaper, the Kingsman, which the Guidance Counselor at an institution scornful of Marxism free."

We find it necessary to speculate on the qualities in Steier that angered the Dean because they are only hinted at, and might, indeed, fit anyone the college took exception to. Perhaps they keep these interestingly vague descriptions for just that purpose.

After his suspension, he dared to give an interview to the newspaper, the Kingsman, which the Guidance Counselor at an institution scornful of Marxism free. ""The big problem is, steamship fare,"" offered the lupine. ""I'm hungry,"" moaned sad and reflective. ""Good idea,"" said the lupine. ""It's a long road to the sea,"" he thought. ""And the damp air came alive with electricity."

""Do you really think the Administration would go for that,"" asked the lupine. ""It's a long road to the sea,"" he thought. ""And the damp air came alive with electricity."

""Count it, hey."" Thereupon All welcome and costs are expected to be made available at the Olympic Committee."

Six Newspapers

Each spring the managing boards of the six undergraduate newspapers at the College will submit to the Board of Judges no more than two samples from the academic year’s issues. Observation Post, The Campus, Main Events (the uptown center’s evening publication), Tech News, and The Ticket and The Reporter, the downtown day and evening publications respectively of the Baruch School will each submit articles.

The Board of Judges, members of the Alumnus Magazine editorial advisory board are: Professor Irving Rosenthal ’33 (English), Kalman A. Seigal ’30, Associate City Editor of The New York Times, Morton Varnam ’34, Times staff member, Robert Stein ’47, managing editor of the Alumni Magazine, and I. E. Levine ’46, Editor of the Alumnus Magazine.

Cash Awards

The awards will be presented in the form of scrolls in news coverage, feature and editorial writing, and in the special categories. In addition, the news, feature and special award winners will receive a $25 prize. No cash award will be presented in the category of editorial writing.

GIVE YOUR BLOOD TO THE RED CROSS

Election of members to the Student Faculty Fee Commission (SFFC) will be held in Room 327 Finley Student Center tomorrow at 3 PM. Representatives from clubs, organizations and publications will be elected.

A “Welcome Dance” for the Sophomore class tomorrow night at 8:30 PM in the Finley Student Center Ballroom.

Although no admission will be charged, an ID card must be presented for entrance.

According to Arthur Genes, Class President, one of the high spots of the evening will be a mambo and foxtrot contest. In order to be eligible to enter the competition, at least one of the partners must be a Freshman.

Free Tickets

The winners of this contest will receive free tickets to Cabaret ’59, the Sophomore Prom, and major event of the Sophomore season, which will also be held in the Grand Ballroom. The exact date for the Prom will be announced later.

According to Anthony Calabrese, Class Treasurer, the Prom, complete with floor show, will be considerably cheaper than most College functions and “will not be the usual cut and dried affair.”

Also planned for the semester are a Mystery Bus Ride to destinations unknown and, tentative ly, a skiing and an ice skating party.

The officers of the Council feel they need more cooperation from the class members to carry out their plans successfully. At present, there are not ten chairmanships open. All members of the class of ’59 are welcome at the meetings which are held on Thursdays at 12:30 P.M. in Room 212 Finley.

TEA...

The College’s Debating Society will hold a tea today at 12:30 PM in Room 544, Finley Student Center, for the purpose of introducing prospective debaters to older members. “New blood” is needed to replace last term’s graduates, according to Society President Bill Roth.

Booters Face USMMA In Season’s Opener Sat.

By MARY GLASSBERG

Somebody had better watch the Mariners from Kings Point or the Stony Brook Roundtable, for USMMA肯定 is to do battle with the City.soccer League that the champions for the past three years are no longer present.

But what they don’t know is that this season’s Beaver aggregation, if it employs the exceptional line-up of Harvey at Hofstra last Saturday, will be just as troublesome as its predecessor.

The Lavender booters certainly looked impressive while after- manning a listless Dutchmen squad, 6-3. The forward line, which can no longer depend upon power alone to run up a score, by use of very neat passing and much hard work, played through the Hofstra defense. The attack will probably line up with Novak Masanovich, who tallied four times last Saturday, will be complemented by the “firmly set” upon coming up with Novak Masanovich, who will be the US Foil Champion has decided to come to City College later this year.

United States Fencing Champ To Enter CCNY Next Year.

By NORMAN ZAFMAN

Sewall Shurtz, twenty-three-year old United States Foil Champion and member of the present Olympic Fencing Team, has announced his intention to apply for admission to the College next September.

The fencing star, presently a sophomore at the United States Naval Academy, decided to enter CCNY as he feels that his mind is more influential for a career in education and athletics.

A veteran of Los Angeles, Shurtz began fencing as a small boy at the Faulkner School of Fencing in Hollywood. Since he was twelve years old, Shurtz has attended American Pan-American games in Mexico City, Shurtz placed second in epee, while he was a semi-finalist in the World Championships shipped in Rome last October.

Coach Lucia, happily anticipating the “presence of the man who we all think will lead the way to US victories in Venice,” said yesterday, “in view of the claim that big name athletes have a tendency to go to these games held in Rome last October, I am more than optimistic about the chances of the Beaver five, "Mr. Basketball reins in 1957. So far, there has been nothing to change my plans.”

Praises Beavers Hoosiers

Concerning the 1956-57 edition of the Beaver five, “Mr. Basketball” stated, “They should give an accountable credit of it all. Those Beavers will play a tough schedule. They are an experienced, seasoned team, and will hustle and pull together all the time.” His playing words were, “I would like to extend my best wishes to Tarifty (Dave) Polansky and the boys for a successful season.”
