

GFCSA To Meet Again To Discuss Lists Issue

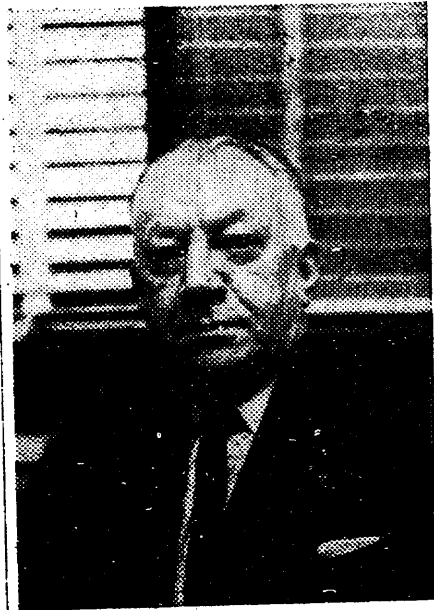

The General Faculty Committee on Student Activities (GFCSA) will meet again tomorrow evening, in another attempt to resolve the issue of compulsory membership lists at the college.

Since the GFCSA is to report its findings to the General Faculty for final resolution, a scheduled meeting of that body has been postponed until next Wednesday.

At its latest meeting, last Tuesday, the committee's members did not arrive at any decision on the lists question. It was also still unsettled after last week's meeting was the question whether Dean Daniel F. Brophy (Student Life) should use a committee vote on the membership lists.

Brophy Urged to Abstain
This problem was first raised by Howard Schumann, Student Government Vice President, in a letter to Dean Brophy in which he urged the Dean to disqualify himself from voting. The Student Council approved a letter suggesting that Brophy would be "an improper judge" in the matter.

definite stand advocating lists. The issue of membership lists is currently before GFCSA because the General Faculty last term voted for a reconsideration of the entire issue by the committee.

City Considers $16 Million BHE Request

A Board of Higher Education appropriation request for $16,393,508.50 during the fiscal year of 1957 for the municipal colleges is under consideration by the City Planning Commission. The BHE had originally made a request for $26,430,660.80.

The Uptown Center of the College would receive $10,446,998.50 of this sum. Brooklyn College, Hunter College, Queens College and the Staten Island Community College are scheduled to receive $5,102,010 and the Baruch School of Business Administration $502,500.

Of the funds earmarked for the Uptown Center $7,164,500 would be spent for a new Technology building, $800,000 would go for the construction of a new administration building, and $664,425 would be used for the rehabilitation of existing buildings and facilities. The remaining funds would be distributed in the following manner: $1,575,353.50 for repairs of the central heating system, $240,000 for improvements on the South Campus and $32,500 for plans to improve Baskerville Hall.

Senior Will Risk $9,000 On TV Quiz Show Tonight

Herbert Stempel, a senior at the College who last week won $9,000 on the TV quiz program "Twenty-One," told Observation Post yesterday that he won't stop tonight, but will risk his winnings to go on against other contestants.

In deciding to go on, Stempel can presumably lose all or part of the $9,000 or keep on winning indefinitely, since the show has no limit.

In the examination given to screen contestants for the show, Stempel answered 352 of 363 general information questions.

The program will be telecast tonight over Channel 4 at 10:30 PM. Through arrangements with the show's producers, Barry & Enright Productions, Inc., OP has secured a number of tickets for tonight's show, and they are now available in the OP office, Room 336 Finley.

Last week, Stempel won the $9,000 in less than five minutes

WVCC To Plan Program For College FM Station

The Beaver Broadcasters (WVCC) will begin tomorrow to organize a program and staff for the proposed frequency modulation educational radio station for the College. WVCC has scheduled a meeting for 12:30 PM in Room 323 Finley Student Center.

An exploratory committee, composed of College officials and members of WVCC, met last week with Dean James S. Peace (Student Life) to discuss the establishment of an FM station, and an Institute of Broadcasting and Directing, will plan the program of the station and begin writing scripts. The station would broadcast music and educational programs as well as publicize the activities at the College.

Under the direction of Kay Klemm, Technical Vice-President, the fifteen graduates of Brooklyn Technical High School who have first class operators licenses and experience in the operation of an FM station, will be organized into the technical staff of WVCC.

Department Support Needed

Essential to the creation of the institute and the station, Aaron Janowski, President of the Beaver Broadcasters, said, is the support of a College department.

For this reason Professor William L. Finkle, chairman of the Speech Department, was approached by Dr. Berger. Janowski said that Prof. Finkle was "very receptive" to the idea but raised the question of financial support for the institute and the station. Dean Leslie W. Engler (Administration) also raised the question of overloading the Speech instructor's teaching lines.

Techniques at the College. The station, after obtaining its frequency permit from the Federal Communications Committee, would be able to broadcast to the entire metropolitan area. The Broadcasting Institute would be modeled after the College's Films Institute.

At the meeting of the station Dr. Marshall D. Berger (Speech) will begin an announcing class. The class will be held every Thursday between 12:30 and 2 PM. Edward Hochstein, Executive Vice-President of Program-

Rep. Celler To Speak On Friday

The Student Council Affairs Forum will present Emanuel Celler Democratic Congressman from the eleventh district in Brooklyn, on Friday. Celler, the second speaker in the series, will speak in the Finley Student Center Grand Ballroom at 3:30 PM.

Mr. Celler, considered one of the most liberal Democrats in the House of Representatives, has been a member of Congress for twenty-four years. During this time he has worked on such legislation as the Federal Register Act, Foreign Trade Zone Act, and the India Immigration and Naturalization Act.

Several Speakers Scheduled

The Forum Committee has scheduled several other public figures to speak in the coming weeks. On Monday, Eric Haas, presidential candidate of the Socialist Labor Party, will speak. Next Thursday, another presidential candidate, Farrel Dobbs of the Socialist Workers Party will be here.

In mid-November, Captain William Bradley of the International Longshoremen's Association will speak on labor problems. Sometime in December, Eugene Dennis will speak on the purpose of the Communist Party in the United States today.

by answering the following questions:

In the Civil War, which side won these battles:

- 1) Vicksburg (the North)
- 2) Fredricksburg (the South)
- 3) The first Battle of Bull Run (the South)

His fourth question was:

A number of border incidents were recently brought to the attention of the United Nations. What is the name of the country which brought the charges and the name of the country's chief UN delegate? (Israel, Abba Eban).

There is no special category that contestants choose on this program and the questions asked cover the entire field of "general information."

EAST MEETS WEST

A Freshman From India

By Richard Nicodemus

Richard Nicodemus, a lower freshman, is also a new arrival to the United States. Born in India where he has spent all his life, Mr. Nicodemus, in series of articles for Observation Post, will contrast the life of a student in India with that of a student at the College.

On the day I registered at City College, the diversities of education both in the U.S. and in India began to dawn on me. The presence of girls at registration was not surprising since many of our colleges are co-educational. But I was bewildered to see some young ladies registering for Engineering.

Such a thing was unheard of in the Andhra University. Most of our girls study either Medicine or Physical Sciences and in those realms have proved useful both to their Alma Mater and their country.

At the Mrs. Ankitam Venkata Narasingam College, we were formally admitted after a brief interview by the Principal of the College. That dreaded dignitary would look at us above the rim of his bifocals and nod when he caught us staring at his toothbrush moustache. Our feet would be riveted to the ground while he wrote the fateful word "Admit" on our applications. With a muffled "Thank you, Sir" we would run out to breathe the fresh air again and resuscitate our bodies.

The ordeal had ended favorably and we were from then on college students.

During registration here some prospective students were discussing the entrance examinations held in April. Some appeared nonchalant, but the general atmosphere at the mention of that delicate subject was one of melancholia and hysteria.

The subjects offered at my former college were standard ones, and so there were no electives to choose and no closed sections to dread. A week after the college had opened our programs prepared by the staff would be distributed to us.

But at City, I was surprised that I had to prepare my own schedule. It was an agonizing three hours and how tempers began to fluctuate! This would not be practical or economical at home. This would result in confusion out of clarity.

At City an engineering degree can be obtained in four years after High School. But in India it would be six to seven years before such a degree could be supplicated for.

Of the 300 boys who registered along with me in June 1948, pre-engineering and pre-medical courses claimed 300 each. The remainder pursued fields of Commerce and Arts. Only about that number could be absorbed and accommodated each year into the college. We were officially the Junior Intermediate Class. Unlike at City, students registered only once a year.

Indian students are now more than ever coming forward in choosing their own careers. They are breaking the family tradition of son succeeds father in clerical and allied jobs. Their decisions are however along useful lines.

One young man at City asked me, when I told him I was from India, "And you speak English?" My positive assertion made his eyes pop out with incredulous wonder. He was suffering visibly to swallow the truth. After receiving Independence in 1947, English became overnight the second language of India.

Two weeks after we had joined the college, in India, the Senior Intermediate class would host to us Juniors at a very informal tea-party. The faculty were always invited and would be introduced to us. Some of the Seniors in a few speeches would welcome us to the college. One or two Juniors would reply to them. But either stage fear or some other phobia would drive them from the dais after an incomplete and unintelligible response.

During this gathering Juniors and Seniors mingled with each other and got better acquainted. The pleasant evening would be brought to a close by the Principal, who would endorse the welcome accorded to us with cordiality and great dignity.

This was a highlight which I missed at City College.

Ten dollars was hidden on North Campus last week as a promotion stunt by the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE).

The Society, seeking pledges, posted two-line rhyming clues as to the money's whereabouts on its bulletin board daily for more than a week. SAE learned that someone had found the certificate when the following couplet was found on the bulletin board:

"To tell the truth;
It's in the second phone booth."

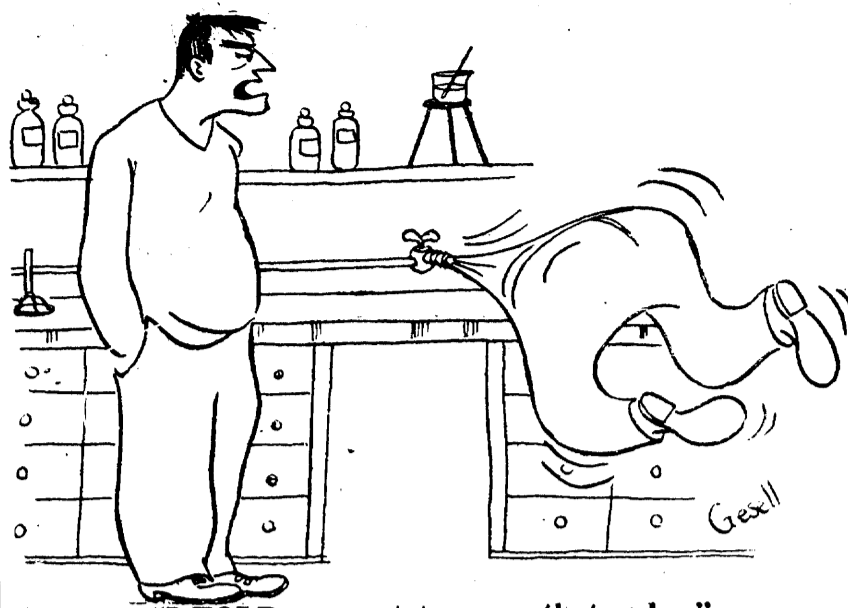

Harry Heller, a senior Mechanical Engineering student, had already found the $10 in Compton Hall and wanted to turn the tables on the Society with his own bit of poetry.

Heller is not pledging for SAE.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young mathematician helps pace engineering advances

Recently General Electric developed a compact, new motor for industrial use. But before the motor could be put into automatic production, one difficulty remained: to design a protective end shield that would confine any possible explosion to the motor itself.

The man who solved the tough mathematical problems involved is R. A. "Pete" Powell — a mathematical analyst whose job is to assist other engineers in math problems which arise in any number of different projects.

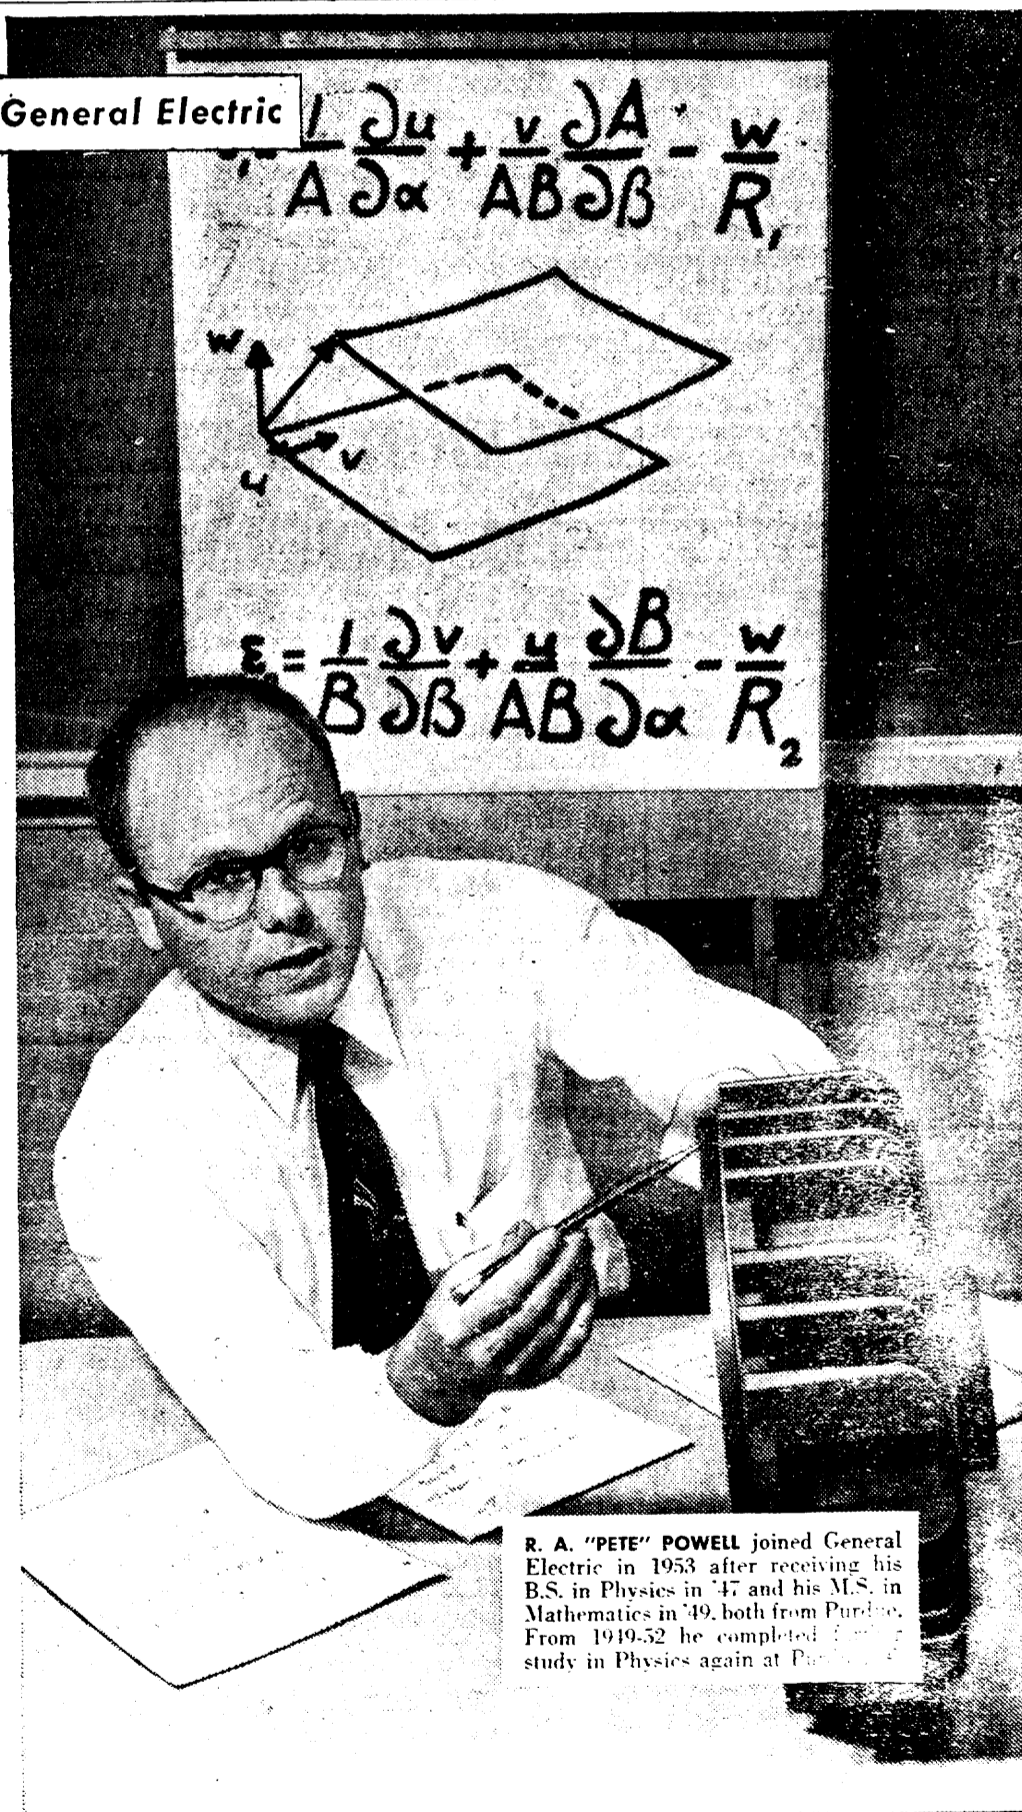

Powell's Work Is Varied and Important

Because he is not tied down to any one project, Powell seldom has two similar assignments. Taking established engineering and mathematical principles, some of them extremely complicated, Powell applies them to advanced engineering problems. In doing this, Pete is able to make such calculations as the distortion of a small part of a jet engine caused by vibrations, the deflection occurring in a turbine part when it runs at operational speeds, or the forces exerted upon a rotating shaft by lubricants.

27,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When "Pete" Powell came to General Electric in 1953, he already knew the kind of work he wanted to do. Like each of our 27,000 college-graduate employees, he is being given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: Whenever fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits — the individual, the Company, and the country.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, New York

R. A. "PETE" POWELL joined General Electric in 1953 after receiving his B.S. in Physics in '47 and his M.S. in Mathematics in '49, both from Purdue. From 1949-52 he completed further study in Physics again at Purdue.

Booters Storm West Point For Crucial Contest Today

Today is D-Day for the College's undefeated soccer team. The booters will invade West Point at 3:30 PM for what figures to be their most difficult and decisive battle of the current campaign. The Beavers have scored impressive victories in their first four skirmishes this season, but all four have been against comparatively weak local opponents. Today's game, the only non-conference contest on the schedule, will be their first test against top-flight opposition.

The Cadets have posted a 2-1 record this season. They dropped their opener to Ithaca, 4-1, but then bounced back and defeated Panzer, 3-2, and Colgate, 4-1.

Today's game could be a deciding factor in the selection of the New York State representative in the National Soccer Coaches Association playoffs. A triumph by the Beavers would not ensure their nomination, although it naturally would help; but a defeat would probably end all Laverden chances.

All Even

The contest will be the third in the series between the two squads. Each school has won one.

The Beavers have played fourteen games without a defeat since losing to Army in 1954. Last year they downed the Cadets, 3-2.

Beaver coach Harry Karlin is confident of another victory. "If we play the way we've been playing all season, we'll win," he said. "The only question is the score." He cautiously pointed out, however, that "Army has been known to spring upsets before."

Karlin will not decide on his starting lineup until game-time. He has intimated that several changes might be made to cope with the Cadets' unusual style of play. The Black Knights generally lack the finesse of their opponents, but are in better shape and usually attempt to run the opposition into the ground.

The Beaver front line will probably remain intact. Novak Masanovich, who has scored ten goals thus far, will be at the center forward slot. Co-captain Wolf Wostl (seven goals) and Billy Sund (three goals) will fill the inside positions. The wings will be shared by Eric Bienstock, Fred Bonnet, Manfred Loebel, and Danny McErlain.

Co-captain Robert LeMestre will lead the defense from his right halfback position. John Paranos and Stan Dawkins will probably start at the other halfback slots, with newcomer George Birutis also slated to see action. Charles Thorne will be in the nets.

The Cadets have only four returnees from the team that started against City last year. Bob

Robert LeMestre
Defensive Leader

Puff, an inside right, and Tom Carpenter, center forward, are the top scorers.

Runners Walking on Air — Post Fifth Straight Win

While lacrosse coach Leon A. "Chief" Miller is probably still frowning about the loss of a once-aspiring lacrosse player—Randy Crosfield—cross-country and track mentor Professor Harry di Girolamo is all smiles these days because of Randy.

Crosfield, the College's outstanding long-distance runner now that he has pacified his lacrosse aspirations, paced the Beavers to their fifth consecutive cross-country victory of the season yesterday, 20-36, against Adelphi over Van Courtlandt's five-mile course. With a clocking of 28:20 the junior Co-Captain led the Lavender runners over the finish line for the fourth successive time this season.

Lou Vlogianitis, Adelphi's number-one man, who was running neck-and-neck with Crosfield after three miles, (both were timed in 16:51) faded in the backstretch to finish second in 28:40.

The Beavers, however, captured four out of the next five places to dispel any illusions of an Adelphi upset, as Co-Captain Rick Hurford, Dave Graveson, Ralph Taylor and Tom Daugherty finished in third, fourth, fifth and seventh places respectively. Hurford, with a 29:24 time, and Graveson, with a 30:13 clocking, turned in their most impressive efforts of the year.

Coach Harry deGirolamo praised the entire squad for the Beavers' early-season triumphs. He stated: "The main reason for the team's success so far has been that they have been practicing very hard. This is evidenced in their steady weekly improvement. I have been entirely satisfied with their results to date but I will continue to look for improvement in our forthcoming meets."

Tough Opponent

However, DeGirolamo was quick to point out that it will require an excellent team performance, when they face the highly touted Kings Point aggregation this Saturday, if the Beavers are to keep intact their unblemished record.

Yesterday's setback was the fifth for coach Stewart Park's Garden City runners. They have yet to win this season and were previously defeated by St. Johns, Iona, Long Island Aggies and Brooklyn Poly.

Soccer coach Harry Karlin has agreed to serve on the committee that will select the New York State representative in the National Soccer Coaches Association playoffs. The invitation was extended to Karlin in a letter from Huntley Parker, coach of Brockport State Teachers College and Chairman of the committee.

The committee will select the top team on the basis of ratings given each squad by the referees and opposing coaches in all games.

Cage Preview

This is the first in a series of articles previewing some of the Metropolitan basketball teams. Today: NYU.

Experience Could Make NYU Tops in New York Basketball

The outlook is bright for the NYU hoop quintet this season. The Violets have lost only two men from last year's squad, which compiled an 11-8 record against tough opposition and won five of its last six games.

The only graduates were two 6-3 forwards, Ed Kramer and Irwin Lowenthal, who shared one starting berth last season. The remainder of the starting five is intact.

Bob Brown, at six-foot five, is the tallest Violet regular, and will fill the center slot. A burly 220-pounder, he is a fine rebounder, and will be a big help to the Heightsmen. He was out most of last year with a broken hand.

The Violets possess one of the finest backcourt combinations in the city in Tom DeLuca and Jimmy Nidds. Both have good set shots, and are excellent drivers. They do most of the play-making, and are the key figures in the NYU attack.

Tierney Key Man

One forward position will be filled by Art Tierney. The 6-3 redhead has a deadly one-hand push shot, and is particularly effective in opening up the defense for the drives of DeLuca and Nidds.

Other returning lettermen include Roy Halpern, Bill Shelley, Mike Muzio, and Alex Panos. At 6-6, Panos is the tallest man on the squad.

Two sophomores, Cal Ramsey and John Bucek, are being counted upon to bolster the squad. Ramsey scored thirty-eight points against the City freshmen last year.

Howard Cann, beginning his thirty-fourth year as coach of the Violets, is looking forward to a fine season.

"We'll definitely have a better team than last year," he said. Whether we'll have a better win-loss record is another matter. We play a tough schedule, and some of the other teams will undoubtedly be improved also."

Included in the Violet schedule are contests with such powers as Lafayette, Georgetown, North Carolina, West Virginia, and St. John's.

The Heightsmen will feature a varied offense. They began last season with a fast-breaking attack, but were more successful towards the end of the campaign when they switched to a possession-type of play. Cann intends to use both types this year, depending on the opposition.

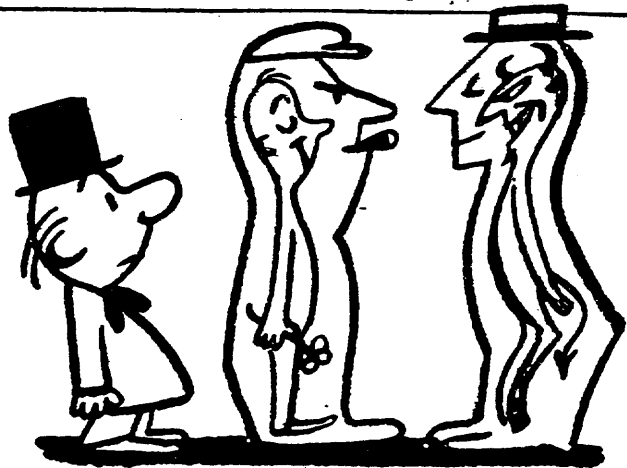

Cheers...

Tomorrow is the last chance for prospective cheerleaders to come out for the squad. The meeting will be held in Room 212 Finley Student Center at 12:30 PM.

Wilt Thou Act?

If so, come try out for a part in TWELFTH NIGHT Wed. 2-4, 440 Finley or Thurs. 12:30 111 Mott.
