HE Rejects Steier Appeal

An appeal by Arthur Steier for reinstatement to Brooklyn College was denied unanimously by the Board of Higher Education Monday. Dean Daniel F. Brophy informed of the decision, commented that there is more justice here than at Brooklyn College. He said he would now appeal his case to the Commissioner of Education.

Steier was expelled from BC last term, according to the college Dean of Students Herbert Brophy, because of continued disregard for the rules and regulations of Brooklyn College. . . . continued indulgence in untruthful statements about college officers and the College."

Policy Criticized
The Student Council sent a letter to the Board after Steier's suspension for "violation of due process of academic freedom." Steier was denied admission to Brooklyn College at the end of last year. At that time, Dean of Students Daniel F. Brophy explained that the College has consistently refused admission to students suspended or expelled from other colleges until they had cleared their differences with the college or on recommendation from the college.

Speaking on the BHE's action, Brooklyn College President D. Gideonse, a member of the Board, said that "We don't agree with his ideas, but his man-

CV Reporter Denies Claims Of Dual Ties

Richard O'Malley, a staff member of CV, denied yesterday that he had "ever insisted to any member of CV that membership in the Newman Club is also required."

An editorial in yesterday's issue of The Campus stated O'Malley had told a meeting of the staff of CV two weeks ago: "I must insist that you all be members of the Newman Club." According to The Campus, a member of its staff was present at the meeting.

No member of the staff of CV, O'Malley declared, has ever been forced to join the Newman Club.

In support of their claim that membership in the Newman Club is not required for the staff of CV, O'Malley said that members of the staff are currently filing with Dean James S. Peace (Student Life) statements which indicate whether they belong to the Newman Club. These statements, he said, will demonstrate that roughly half the staff including the Business Manager are not members of the Newman Club.

O'Malley also denied that the meeting attended by The Campus reporter was a staff meeting of CV. "It was," he said, "a meeting of students who shared common membership in both the Newman Club and CV, and the purpose was to discuss the part they would play in the future of both groups and in particular the Newman Club. This could not have been a staff meeting for the simple reason that less than one-third of the total staff and no officers were present."

Salk . . .

The second Salk vaccine injection will be given during the week of February 25. Individuals, to receive this second injection, should report to the same area where their first injections were received.

Yes, we are trying to attract your attention.

Why? Because we want to interest you in joining Observation Post.

What's in it for you? No pay, and lots of work. But if you want to learn about the newspaper business, then this is the best place to begin. City College offers just two formal journalism courses, and here you will have the opportunity for practical experience in the field.

Even if you are not a future journalist there is a great deal that you can get from working on Observation Post. You can get to know the faculty and administration on a friendly, personal level; you will be up to date on all the latest happenings at the College. You will have valuable writing practice; and of course you will be doing an important service for the college community.

There will be a candidate's class today at 1 PM in Room 301 Downer. Everyone is welcome.

Exec Takes Steps to Change Freshmen Advisory Program

By SANDY HELFENSTEIN

Initial steps to form a new Freshmen Advisory Program were taken last night by the Executive Committee of Student Government. According to Stan Wissner, SG president, the program which would supplement the Freshman Orientation program now in effect, would "enable freshmen to get direct help with their problems from informed and interested upper-termers."

The members of the committee who will carry out the new program will include faculty members and students from active organizations on campus.

In other business by Exec, a program to make the students at the College more aware of the "accomplishments and workings of the National Students Association (NSA)" was suggested by Joseph De Maios, chairman of the College's delegation to NSA.

Claiming that the "important programs of NSA are not reaching students on campus," De Maios proposed that Student Council be informed as to the work of the organization and its importance to college life. It was agreed that De Maios would speak about NSA at the next meeting of Council.

Exec also set up a committee to review the Inter-Fraternity Council's (IFC) Code of Ethics.

This action was taken in accordance with a recommendation by the Student Faculty Committee on Student Activities (SFC-SA). SFC-SA suggested that SG develop and implement a code of ethics for all student organizations. SG President Stan Wissner asserted "that the job of reviewing the codes is one of the most important jobs SG has this semester," because of the power it gives to student government.

Cohen Alleges Gray's Column Attacked Him

Larry Cohen, a Senior at the College, charged yesterday that New York Post columnist Barry Gray was referring to him when he accused an unnamed "young comic" of a "horrendous lapse of good taste."

Gray stated in his column on February 11—that a "knucklehead" had shown extremely bad judgment in "making jokes about the plight of the Jews" in Israel on the February 9 Multiple Sclerosis Telethon on Channel 9. He cited as a mild example a joke which called the entire Arab-Israeli situation merely a plug for "The Ten Commandments."

Cohen interpreted Gray's charges as implying that he (Cohen) displayed an anti-Israeli bias.

When reached by Observation Post, Sandy Howard, Gray's manager, refused to confirm Cohen's charge that the article was actually about him. Gray had not mentioned any name in his column because he did not want to hurt the individual's career, Howard added.

Cohen asserted, however, that the column already has hurt his career.

Gallagher Hits Commercialism In Basketball

President Against Return to Garden

By BARRY MALLIN

President Buell G. Gallagher said yesterday that he would do everything in his power to prevent the College's basketball team returning to Madison Square Garden while it is operated by commercial interests.

The possibility of the College's return to the Garden was raised earlier in the week by New York basketball writers because of a proposed formation of a Metropolitan Basketball League. The suggested league included the College and teams who now regularly play in the Garden.

"The fundamental evil in any return to the Garden," explained Dr. Gallagher, "is the difficulty running a college athletic program on a commercial level."

"Once you start in the Garden, you're in the entertainment business," continued the President. This forces the teams to compete with other amusements in the New York area. Thus, in order to put on a good show to attract a big gate, the colleges must buy star players in the form of athletic scholarships.

President Buell G. Gallagher Will Present Garden Play

"This offering of athletic scholarships is pure professionalism," he said, "and any school that does this is hiring professionals on a pay for play basis."

"Our successes this year have been attained without any change in our policy of non-commercialism," Dr. Gallagher asserted. "This is the policy that we are vindicating, and I don't see any reason why we should play in the Garden for the profit of Ned Irish."

West Indies

An American Views the World

By Prof. Stewart C. Easton

Professor Stewart C. Easton (History), faculty advisor to Observation Post, is currently on a trip around the world gathering information for a new course, The British Commonwealth in the 20th Century. This is the first of a series of topical articles Prof. Easton will write for OP from various points of interest.

Probably to most readers of Observation Post the Caribbean area, close though it is to the United States, is a vague area visited by cruise ships from the U. S. and by wealthy tourists in the winter time. But in fact it is a world of its own, still largely ruled by the British as a leftover from the period when they also ruled North America. There are a few French and Dutch islands, and in the north some independent islands such as Cuba and Haiti, noted mainly for their revolutions.

The British West Indies stretch from Antigua in the north to Trinidad in the south. There are also two British mainland territories which have so far not agreed to enter the planned Federation, British Honduras in Central America and British Guiana on the South American mainland, recently noted for the election of a Communist government which was in power for a few months while the constitution was suspended by the British.

Britain has gradually granted some degree of self-government to all the separate islands; but now at this moment she is trying to organize a federation with fully responsible government elected under universal suffrage. She hoped it would be called the British Caribbean Federation, but the statesmen in their wisdom chose otherwise. It is to be known simply as the West Indies; thus the harmless error of Columbus is to be perpetuated for all times.

All except Trinidad are very poor, no mineral wealth to speak of, and short of capital for basic development. Jamaica is large and has a growing tourist industry financed by Americans, but has always dreamed of being independent outside of any federation. Barbados is very British still: here it is said that whites, of whom there are a good many, "get along fine since everyone knows his place."

The great question which overshadowed all others at the conference was which island would be chosen for the capital. Dire threats of secession, even before federation, were banded about during the fateful three weeks. A British commission, going outside its terms of reference, criticized political conditions in Trinidad and complained of governmental corruption. This, of course, gained it the sympathy vote.

in the end, with Jamaica the runner-up. So the delegates returned home to lick their wounds and explain to their constituents how they lost the capital, and made impossible financial demands of the hard-pressed British, the various delegates vying with one another as to who could ask for the most.

The delegates will now come into being at once, elections will be held shortly, and a new political entity will have been born, at the accouchement of which your special correspondent entirely by good luck and owing nothing at all to good management was privileged to hold a front seat.

My chief impression—the general seriousness and sense of responsibility of the delegates. But the problems of the Federation remain, in essence economic.

In spite of the fanfare of the birth process and the mildness of the pangs, no political solution can solve them. But at least a federation of some two and a half million people may prove a more viable economic entity and a more reliable and credit-worthy debtor than a string of tiny islands in a cruel world. It will be sad, however, to see the last of the colorful stamps of the various islands. Better collect them fast, you philatelists!

I am happy to say that on my arrival in Barbados I already predicted the outcome successfully, even if I gained little popularity thereby. It was Trinidad

Cagers Face Rutgers Five Saturday; Three Squads to Conclude Seasons

Fifty-one victories, twelve losses, and one tie! That's the composite record of the College's athletic teams this season as five squads head into the home stretch of the winter schedule. The swimmers, wrestlers, and fencers will all wind up successful seasons Saturday at the College, while the basketball squad attempts to return to the tourney trail at Rutgers. The rifle team will engage Rutgers and Kings Point in a triangular match tomorrow.

The cagers, who have been "doing or dying for Old Allagaroo" of late, mostly doing, meet Rutgers in New Brunswick, New Jersey at 8 PM Saturday. With their hopes for a post-season tournament bid diminished, but not quite extinguished, by Tuesday's valiant but losing battle with Manhattan, the Beavers will be seeking their twelfth victory. The Scarlet, much improved over the squad that bowed to the Lavender, 92-80, at the College last year, has been hovering near the .500 mark all season.

The Beavers played one of their best games of the season against the Queensmen last year. They tallied sixty-two points in the second half, an all-time CONY record. The Lavender won't be shooting for any marks Saturday, but an impressive win will help their tourney chances. The fray will also serve as a tune-up for the big St. John's and NYU contests on March 2 and 5, respectively.

The swimmers will complete their dual meet schedule in the Wingate Pool Saturday, when they vie with Lafayette at 2 PM.

The Lavender mermen have already won the unofficial Metropolitan championship with a 7-0 mark against Met opponents (their only loss was to Ivy League opponent Columbia), and will be preparing for the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Championship meet at the NYU pool on March 2.

The matmen, who are 6-1 thus far, tangle with East Stroudsburg at 2 PM Saturday on the Goethals Gym mats. The highlight of the match will be the 147-pound contest, in which Bernie Woods will be striving to finish the campaign undefeated. He has scored seven victories in seven bouts.

The fencers, who have won their last three matches after dropping their first trio, will engage a strong NYU team at 2 PM Saturday in the Wingate Gym.

The five winter squads have combined to win twelve of their last thirteen events. They have swept through two perfect weekends in a row.

No Bus . . .

The proposed student bus to the City-Rutgers basketball game Saturday has been canceled due to insufficient registration. Students who have already paid for the trip can receive refunds in 338 Finley today and next week.
