Callagher Report:

No 'Ideological' Ban On Speakers; Council of Presidents' Ruling Stands

By SANDRA HELFENSTEIN

President Buell G. Callagher in his recommendations to the General Faculty urges that "no ideological or organizational restrictions" be placed on invitations to visiting speakers.

Although the ruling of the Council of Presidents, which bars speaking privileges from those convicted under the Smith Act, is binding on Dr. Callagher, the principles which he urges the faculty to support are in direct opposition to the ban.

In the text of recommendations to be discussed in a meeting of the General Faculty on Thursday, November 14, Dr. Callagher declares that "I would let them come and go as they have for years at City College, the Fascist and the Communist, the Racist and the Chauvinist, the Orthodox and the Free Thinker."

The report continues: "There is no campus in the country whose students are better versed in the meaning of constitutional freedoms, more alert to deal with specious arguments, less ready to swallow the easy speech of demagogues, more able intellectually to sift the chaff from the wheat and what is bad, than at City College." He adds that any arguments in favor of restrictions on speakers do not rest on an inability of students at the College to "discern truth from error."

Dr. Callagher had proposed to the Board of Higher Education that "the four presidents no longer hold in effect" the Smith Act

Dr. Callagher to the Committee. There was no vote by the Administrative Committee on the President's proposal but Dr. Callagher said "discussion made it clear" that feeling was against it.

At his press conference last Wednesday, Pres. Callagher said, "I have now reached a point where I cannot promise results from my continuing efforts to get this ruling changed." I can not single-handedly have this ruling rescinded," he said. It appeared from the disclosures at the conference that the President hoped that a stand would be taken by the General Faculty.

Dr. Callagher declared in his report that the course of action pursued concerning visiting speakers must be free from the pressures of public opinion and at the same time must reject the "doctrinaire assertions of the wing of the libertarian school which will tolerate expression only by the radical or by the eccentric."

Due Regard

He continues that "due regard must always be given to public reactions, to what goes on, on the campus" and adds that "due regard does not always mean compliance." "We must not be afraid of controversy," says the President. "If the learning process is to be free, there must be free enterprise in matters of the mind," he declares.

Dr. Callagher then differentiates between permission and approval, saying that permission may not be construed as College approval of the invitation of the invited speaker, or his point of view.

Arkansas NAACP Head Speaks on Little Rock

By MARTY LEVINSON

With a warrant out for her arrest in Little Rock, Mrs. L. C. Bates was greeted by a standing ovation at the College last Friday. Mrs. Bates, Chairman of the Arkansas branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), related her experiences in the Little Rock crisis to an audience of over 200.

very good one, and we're not very proud of it," Mrs. Bates said. She said that the nine Negro children only want to get a "good" education. Because of this, they have been opposed by a "vicious mob," a "mob" which shouts "Kill the Negroes" and "Keep the niggers' out of school."

The integrationist leader said that she didn't think that it was the right time to remove the National Guard from Little Rock Central High. "I don't know when," she said, "but I'm sure that one day these nine students will be able to walk down the street as normal citizens." When asked if she had come in contact with any racial prejudice while in New York, Mrs. Bates replied: "Fortunately, no."

Last Thursday, the Little Rock City Council ordered the arrest of all local officers of the NAACP. The arrest order was a result of the organization's refusal to submit membership and financial records to city officials. At a press conference, which attracted many photographers and correspondents from the Metropolitan press, Mrs.

Mayor Presented With SG Petition

Mayor Robert F. Wagner was presented with the Student Government sponsored Sharkey-Brown-Isaacs petitions after his pre-election campaign speech here last Friday.

The petitions, which were signed by more than 1,200 students, urge prompt passage of the Sharkey-Brown-Isaacs Anti-Discrimination in Housing Bill.

The Mayor, speaking to a crowd of more than 500 in the Grand Ballroom, Finley Student Center, discussed the main issues of the mayoralty race: education, housing and juvenile delinquency.

Defending the record of his administration, Mayor Wagner pointed to improved schools, better housing and the drop in the New York City crime rate. In discussing future plans, he pointed up

Soccermen Top Knights To Cop Divisional Title

With a 6-0 win over Brooklyn College yesterday, the College's soccer team clinched the Eastern Division Crown of the Metropolitan League.

The playoff between the College and the Western Division Champion (most probably Queens or Pratt) will be played on Saturday, November 16. The win, which marks the College's fourth straight victory over the Kingsmen, brought the total of undefeated matches for the Beavers to twenty-two in a row.

With a strong wind whistling through Lewisohn Stadium and playing tricks with the ball, the College was held scoreless in the first quarter. Beaver center forward Heinz Minnerop came close to scoring on a long shot, but his attempt was blocked by a leaping stab by Kingsman goalie Bob Ertel.

Schlisser Breaks Ice

In the second quarter, two Beaver attempts by Billy Sund and Gabor Schlisser were blocked by Ertel until finally Schlisser, at inside left, broke the ice at the 6:05 mark by taking a pass from Marco Wachter and making a sharp shot at the inside corner of the net.

Warmed up, the Beavers scored again when Minnerop took a pass from Sadino D'Agostino and sent it into the net, leaving a 2-0 score at half time.

Search For Musical Talents To Culminate on December 12

The College's Music Department has announced that their ninth annual music contest will be held on Thursday, December 12.

At that time, the finalists will compete before the student body in the Aronow Concert Hall, Goldmark Wing, Finley Student Center.

Each contestant will be required to perform one work of standard literature from memory. Singers and instrumentalists, other than pianists, must provide their own accompanists. All students at the College are eligible to participate in the competition.

Auditions for the contest will be held on Wednesday, December 4, at 4 P.M. Three members of the Music Department and three students majoring in music will act as judges of the contest.

Entry forms are available in the Music Department Office, Room 236 Goldmark. The deadline for submitting applications to the Music Department office has been set for Monday, November 25. Candidates will receive their audition appointments by mail.

The two winners will appear with the CCNY Symphony Orchestra and in one of the weekly Thursday concerts.

Further information may be obtained from the Music Department.

'Follies' Extraordinaire

The Smith Act Follies, reviewed by President Gallagher last Friday, is due for a command performance before the General Faculty next Thursday.

Instead of the usual playbills, the men of the General Faculty will have copies of Dr. Gallagher's report and recommendations to guide them through some of the more intricate routines.

Unlike the Follies, we are sure the report will receive rave reviews. We just can't see anyone panning freedom of expression and inquiry.

But we must probe beneath these terms that are so often allowed to degenerate into platitudes and to consider how best to implement these freedoms.

This insidious edict banning speakers convicted under the Smith Act is defended on the grounds that constitutional freedom in the academic community is restricted to bonafide members of that community.

Our Constitution guarantees freedom of expression to these people in public. Since it is the public that ostensibly supports the College, we can see no reason for them to be banned here.

We are disappointed to find that instead of calling for a revocation of the ruling, or at least the freedom to act independently (as promised in the original decree last March), Dr. Gallagher's report merely registers the fact that the ruling still stands.

Perhaps due to pressures not known to us, Dr. Gallagher cannot come out yet and ask that the ruling be rescinded. We hope, though, that the General Faculty will be able to take more positive action and recommend to the Administrative Council that this repugnant restriction be junked once and for all.

That phantom in this opera, the Administrative Council, remains hidden in the wings. Any move to revoke the ruling must be approved by them and so far they have held firmer than Knute Rockne's seven mules in resisting inroads upon their stand.

Dr. Gallagher says, quite rightly, that controversy should be welcomed. But all the controversy aroused thus far has missed the mark. Instead of discussing and debating the ideas brought to the supposed free market place, arguments rage as to whether certain speakers should be allowed to open their mouths on a college campus.

The report goes on to cite "instances of complete one-sidedness" in inviting speakers to the campus. This, we believe, is more an effect than a cause of a ruling such as the one banning a species of "controversial speaker." Student leaders have perhaps invited a preponderance of leftist lecturers, but only in an effort to protect their own rights. We think it is more a matter of sheer orneriness than anything else. We think it a healthy sign.

Once again we reiterate our belief that had these Communists been allowed to speak without all the ruckus, there would have been relatively few listeners and any damage that these speakers might have wreaked upon Democracy would be much less than that ensuing when their freedom of expression is curtailed.

Dr. Gallagher did well to point out the difference between permitting and approving an action. We ask the General Faculty to carefully consider the report and to submit a request to the Administrative Council to scrap the ruling on the basis of the principles outlined by Dr. Gallagher.

OPortrait

Silent films, talking films, cinemascope and all innovations in the film world are discussed in "The Liveliest Art: A Panoramic History of the Movies" by Mr. Arthur Knight (Films Institute). The book, which will be published Tuesday, November 19, by Macmillan, covers the development of the cinema from the early silent films to the wide, wide screens. It is an enlargement of the course he teaches at the institute.

First Novel

Mr. Knight has been writing film reviews for the Saturday Review but this is his first book size adventure in the literary field. He is also the film consultant for TV's "The Seven Lively Arts" and, in the past, has served as film consultant for "Omnibus" and "Odyssey."

Starting at the College as a Day Session student in 1934, Mr. Knight graduated six years later after having transferred to the Evening Session in 1938. After graduation he served in the army and worked in the Museum of Modern Art's film library. Mr. Knight saw combat in France as an infantry lieutenant and in 1950 he returned to the College as a faculty member.

Film Specialists

The growth of the College, in Mr. Knight's opinion, has not affected the Films Institute, which was formed during World War II to meet the government's needs for Film specialists.

Mr. Knight, who lives in Manhattan, is married — but there aren't any little "Knights" yet.

Prom Poultry Prize Phfft... Feathers Fly as Fowl Flees

The Five College Prom has inspired a rebirth of the "Turkey Trot." At least, puzzled students enjoying the relatively peaceful South Campus atmosphere were given this impression last Thursday when a file of disheveled individuals suddenly rushed past, crying "Here, Turkey, Turkey," and "Here Sam."

"This jaunt had its origin in a misunderstanding," says Prom

Turkey Trot

Chairman Arthur Genen. The object of the search, a white turkey to be given as a door prize at the Five College Prom, had been bought Wednesday night, Genen continued. Optimistic Prom Committee members had expected to house it in the office of Dean James S. Peace (Student Life).

Returning to the College with "Sam," Genen and Co-Chairman Bob Steinberg were informed that Dean Peace "did not relish the idea of a turkey in his office." Several other offices were tried, with similar results. "There was no recourse but to take the turkey back to Antze's Poultry Market, where it had been purchased," Genen said.

The absence of the gobble was discovered on Thursday, when it was to have been paraded around the campus in an effort to publicize the Five College Prom. Genen offered the explanation that the turkey had escaped, and had last been seen in the vicinity of Wagner Hall and Park Gymnasium. Innocent bystanders were questioned as to the whereabouts of the turkey, to no avail. Some of them vaguely recalled seeing pink elephants, but no turkey.

The mystery was solved when Genen later explained that the bird was really at the meat shop. The turkey was produced soon afterwards, and was led around the campus as planned.

By this time, however, students had become somewhat blasé and the stunt did not meet with its intended success.

New Election Procedure Suggested By SG Exec

By RITA ASHKENAS

A new student election system will be inaugurated at the College this term, pending ratification by Student Council tonight.

The Executive Council voted unanimously Monday night to approve a one term trial of the system presently being used by the National Student Association (NSA).

The NSA system utilizes nominations booths, set up in key places on campus, posting a list of the positions open and the qualifications, if any, for these positions.

New System

The nomination slips call for the name of the candidate, the position for which he is being nominated, and the signature of the nominee himself. All students so nominated are then checked for eligibility by the elections committee, and, if passed satisfactorily, appear on the final ballot.

This system would replace the present one, which mandates that any person wishing to run for office must obtain at least fifty signatures on a nominations petition.

Cohen Favors Motion

Bart Cohen, SG President, spoke in favor of the motion. By this system, he said, "Anyone can nominate anyone."

Entertainment

The Joe Cuba Sextet which has performed at El Morocco and Ciro's in Hollywood, will be featured at the semi-formal Five-College Prom, to be held at the Seraton Astor Hotel Thanksgiving night.

Hal Etkin and the Hotel Sheraton twelve-piece society orchestra will also entertain.

Tickets costing $5 per couple, can be purchased in Room 332 Finley.

Beaver Booters Raze Temple, 8-0, Minnerop's Four Goals Set Record

By PETER FRANKLIN

In the dreary setting of a haze-enclosed Lewisohn Stadium, Heinz Minnerop scored four goals Saturday to lead the College's soccer team to an 8-0 victory over Temple.

Minnerop set two records with his scoring outburst—his four goals in one half, and four goals in a match twice in a season. His other scoring explosion occurred against Long Island University.

The College's first team with Minnerop, Gabe Schlisser, John Paranos, Billy Sund and Marco Wachter leading the offensive—and matching each other in brilliance—scored six goals in the first half.

The Beavers began their rout when Schlisser passed to Sund who found the range at the four-minute mark of the first quarter. Ten minutes later, Minnerop took a pass from Sund and scored the second goal for the College.

At 21:45, Wachter made an attempt that was blocked by Temple goalie, Walter Manning. Minnerop recovered and sent the ball into the net for the third score.

In the second quarter the Beavers maintained their offensive press. Two goals were scored on corner shots. Sund passed to Paranos who tallied just three minutes after the quarter began.

Five minutes later, Wachter passed to Minnerop who duplicated Paranos' shot for the goal.

Minnerop scored again in the quarter by taking a pass from Sund at 16:55 and shot it out of the reach of the Owl goalie, leaving a 6-0 score at half-time. Rain began to fall hard in the second half and the action of the game was cut down considerably. There was very little of the combination of passing and dapper footwork that had been employed in the first half by the Beavers.

Defenseman

Defenseman Paranos, who was as usual, "the man you have to go around for a goal," scored the Beavers' seventh point on a penalty shot at 17:05 of the third quarter — his ninth such score over a two-year period—to extend

Cleary Leads Third Straight Harrier Win

The Beaver cross country team retained their undefeated record in dual meets by trouncing Iona, 19-40, Saturday. The Harrier's mark now stands at 3-1 in all meets.

Led all the way over the Van Cortlandt Park turf by Bob Cleary, the Beavers copped seven of the top ten positions, with Randy Crosfield and Ralph Taylor finishing second and third. Cleary's three mile time was 16:41, while Taylor and Crosfield were tied for second with 16:56.

At the end of the contest the Evening Session Harriers raced the Iona Frosh and defeated them, 26-31. Ed Cleary paced the Lavender in this match completing the three mile route in 17:44. He was closely followed by Phil Grau and Ernie Nichols, both from the College.

After the race, Coach Harry deGirolamo said, "Although the results were good, the one, two and three men should be breaking twenty-eight minutes while the four, five and six men should be approaching it."

Led by Donald Minevini's 290, the College's rifle squad downed Community College of Brooklyn, 1398-1188, Friday at the Lewisohn Stadium rifle range. Minevini's score is the highest reached by a Beaver rifle this season. Rounding out the top five Lavender scorers were Bob Helgans (282), Walt Venberg (277), Moses Tawil (276) and Ed Machcha (273).
