SFCSA Gives IVCF Charter After Inquiry

The Student Faculty Committee on Student Activities yesterday granted a charter to the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship (IVCF) Society after debating the implications of two articles of the group's constitution.

Four weeks ago SFCSA requested the Society to clarify two articles of the constitution which require prospective officers to take a religious qualification test.

The controversy concerning the separation of church and state caused the delay of the decision.

The SFCSA sub-committee investigated the IVCF chapters on other college campuses and referred the matter to Arthur Kahn.

Faculty Approves List Compromise; 'Visiting Speaker' Debate Postponed

Optional 'Lists' Plan Approved

By DAVE GROSS

Clubs declining to submit membership lists next semester may use the College's facilities and invite speakers but will lose fee funds and the right to use the College's name.

This was a compromise membership list plan evolved by the General Faculty yesterday as President Buell G. Gallagher's proposal for voluntary lists was accepted and then amended.

The plan was approved, 51-45, on a one-year trial basis. The balloting, as usual, was secret. Under the new plan, the members of each club will vote at the beginning of the semester whether or not to register a full membership list with the Department of Student Life. A majority vote, certified by the faculty advisor, will be binding upon all the members.

The amendment to Dr. Gallagher's proposal has two sections:

A) Only those organizations which submit a full roster will be known as chartered student organizations at the College. (This section of the amendment was passed by a 64-28 vote).

Prof. Samuel Hendel
Reintroduced Proposals

B) Non-chartered organizations will not use the name of the College publicly. (This passed by a 68-23 margin).

Under a Board of Higher Education regulation, fee funds can only be allocated to those organizations that are chartered.

In order to use the College's facilities unchartered organizations must have their faculty advisor certify there is such a group on campus. Neither the names of the officers nor the members of the club have to be submitted to the DSL.

Commenting on the amendment, Pres. Gallagher said, "If the student doesn't want his name used publicly he has no moral right to want to use the College's name publicly." If the unchartered clubs are going to act "anonymously," he said, "it makes sense" not to give these unchartered organizations an opportunity to "smear" the College's name.

Dr. Gallagher's proposals, rejected by the General Faculty last week by a 48-36 vote, were introduced yesterday by Prof. Samuel Hendel (Chmn., Government).

During the past week, those favoring Dr. Gallagher's suggestions "lobbied" to bring to yesterday's meeting those members not present last week, according to Professor Mark Brunswick (Chmn., Music). "We lobbied last week, just as the conservatives did the week before," he said.

The unofficial lobbying committee was composed of both faculty members and students, among whom are known to include: Professors Hendel, Brunswick, Robert Bierstedt (Chmn., Sociology & Anthropology), Bailey W. Diffie (History) and Student Government President Bart Cohen, Chief Justice Karen Gordon and SG Secretary Howard Schumann.

Professor Bierstedt said before the General Faculty, "The canon responsibility does not require us to surrender altogether the rights of privacy." He went on to say, "Responsibility can be encouraged and persuaded but it cannot be compelled. The term 'compulsory responsibility' is an axymonym." He concluded by saying that the position on membership lists taken by the faculty makes them appear "in the guise of schoolmasters wielding disciplinary ferule."

Two-Vote Edge Delays Debate

By SANDRA HELFENSTEIN

A proposal which would urge the Administrative Council of the five Municipal College Presidents and the Board of Higher Education (BHE) to rescind the ban prohibiting Smith Act violators from speaking at the College will be discussed at the next meeting of the General Faculty. No date has yet been set for the meeting.

By a slim two-vote margin, the General Faculty defeated the proposal to discuss the ban last night. The proposal was brought up after a motion to approve President Buell G. Gallagher's recommendations on visiting speakers was passed with only one dissenting vote.

Acceptance of the principles stated in the recommendations, said President Gallagher, is the first step towards eventually having the Smith Act ban repealed.

The recommendations state that "no ideological or organizational restrictions of any kind be placed on the issuing of invitations to visiting speakers."

The President said he would "let them come and go, as they have done for years—the Fascist" (Continued on Page 2)

Five-College Prom

Five queens of the municipal college campuses are competing for the title of "Metropolitan College Queen" of the Five-College Prom to be held this Thursday, November, 28, in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Sheraton-Astor.

The girls are (left to right) Manuela Torrens of the Baruch School of the College; Arlene Katz from uptown Hunter College; Laura Jehn of Queens College; and Paulette Goldberg from this branch of the College. Downtown Hunter College is holding a special election to choose its queen.

Tickets for the Five-College Prom may be purchased at $5 per couple in the Home Plan office, Room 333 Finley, and the Student Government office, Room 332 Finley. Tables for two, four or six couples may be reserved by leaving a deposit of two dollars.

SG Elections: Several Posts Unchallenged

The top posts in Student Government remained uncontested last night with the exception of the office of treasurer, according to an unofficial tally by the Elections Agency.

Only one petition has been submitted for each of the offices of SG president, secretary and treasurer. However, three have been filed for the office of vice president.

The only student to announce his candidacy for the presidency is Steve Nagler, now vice president of SG. Rob Steinberg is the sole self-declared candidate for treasurer.

SC Approves Hillel Plan, Students To Visit Israel

By JOAN REINSTEIN

Student Council on Wednesday approved a plan by Hillel to send at least five delegates to Israel next summer. They will be in Israel at about the same time that the Jewish Youth Festival will be taking place. Part of the Festival's program will be in commemoration of Israel's tenth anniversary.

Al Blank, President of Hillel Council brought the plan before Student Council. The plan was referred by Council to the Student Government International Agency for its cooperation on the project.

Delegates will be chosen on the basis of an essay contest and a personal interview. Student Council recommended that the judging of the applicants be only by merit and not on the basis of ideological beliefs.

The contest will be open to all Day Session students. Judges will be chosen by a committee set up for that purpose. The topic and submission dates will be decided upon later.

It costs approximately $850 to send a person to Israel. Hillel will try to raise about $500 for each delegate. The $850 covers the trip and living expenses. The delegates will go to Israel by boat.

Blank, commenting on Student Council's decision, said, "On behalf of Hillel Council I would like to thank Student Government for giving its approval of the program. It will be of educational value," he continued, "as well as giving at least five students the opportunity to celebrate Israel's tenth anniversary. As far as I know, no other college is sending delegates."

Rabbi Arthur J. Zuckerman, Director of Hillel, suggested the plan and Blank brought it up in Hillel Council. The plan was approved unanimously.

This is the first time that Hillel, along with the College, is sending delegates to Israel.

Debate Team Engages Foes This Weekend

By RITA ASHKENAS

The Debating Society will compete this weekend in its first major tournament of the year: The Twelfth Annual Tournament of the University of Vermont.

Over fifty colleges are entered in this tournament, which begins tonight and continues through tomorrow.

The topic to be debated is, Resolved: That the Requirement of Membership in a Labor Organization Should be Illegal.

Chosen by over 800 colleges in the country that have debating teams, this topic will be discussed throughout the year.

A new topic is chosen each year and is called the National College Topic.

The society is entering the novice division of the Vermont Tournament, in order to provide experience early in the term for some of its new debaters.

When questioned as to how he felt the General Faculty would vote on the ban, Professor Mark Brunswick (Chmn., Music) said there was a 51-49 per cent chance they would pass the proposal urging the Administrative Council and the BHE to rescind it.

The Smith Act ban became an issue last March when John Gates, editor of the Daily Worker, was invited by the Student Government Public Affairs Forum to speak at the College.

Dean James S. Peace (Student Life) reported there are chartered IVCF organizations on other college campuses including that of Brooklyn College. Professor Lawrence Podell (Sociology), however, argued that "discrimination is discrimination whether negative or positive."

HOW TO STUDY

The makers of Marlboro Cigarettes have bought this space so I can bring a message of importance to American undergraduates each week. There is no more important message I can bring you than this: College can be beautiful. Don't louse it up with studying.

That was my mistake. At first, cowed by college, I studied so much that I turned into a dreary, blinking creature, subject to dry mouth and night sweats. This dismal condition prevailed until I learned the real meaning of college. And what is that? I'll tell you what: to prepare you to face the realities of the world. And what do you need to face the realities of the world? I'll tell you what: poise. And how do you get poise? I'll tell you how: not by sticking your nose in a book, you may be sure!

Relax! Live! Enjoy! . . . That's how you get poise. Of course you have to study, but be poised about it. Don't be like some drones who spend every single night buried in a book. They are not learning poise; what's more, they are playing hob with their posture.

The truly poised student knows better than to make the whole semester hideous with studying. He knows that the night before an exam is plenty of time to study.

Yes, I've heard people condemn cramming. But who are these people? They are the electric light and power interests, that's who! They want you to sit up late and study every night so you will use more electricity and enrich their bulging coffers.

Don't be taken in by their insidious propaganda! Cramming is clearly the only sensible way to study. But beware! Even cramming can be overdone. When you cram, be sure you are good and relaxed. Before you start, eat a hearty dinner. Then get a date and go out and eat another hearty dinner. Then go park some place and light up a Marlboro. Enjoy the peaceful pleasure it affords. Don't go home till you're properly relaxed.

Once at home, stay relaxed. Do not, however, fall asleep. This is too relaxed. To insure wakefulness, choose a chair that is not too comfortable. For example, take a chair with nails pointing up through the seat.

Place several packs of Marlboros within easy reach. Good, mild tobacco helps you relax, and that's what Marlboro is—good, mild tobacco. But Marlboro is more than just good, mild tobacco; it is also cigarette paper to keep the good, mild tobacco from spilling all over the place. And a filter. And a flip-top box. And a red tape to lift the cigarettes easily . . . It is, in short, a lot to like.

Now you've got the uncomfortable chair and the Marlboros. Now you need light. Use the lit end of your Marlboro. Do not enrich the light and power interests.

Read your textbook in a slow, relaxed manner. Do not underline; it reduces the resale value of the book. Always keep your books in prime resale condition. You never know when you'll need getaway money.

As you read you will no doubt come across many things you don't understand. But don't panic. Relax. Play some Fats Domino. Remove a callus. Go out and catch some night crawlers.

Relax! Live! Enjoy! Remember—any number of people have bachelor's degrees, but precious few have poise!

It doesn't take any cramming to learn that the finest filter cigarette on the market today is Marlboro, whose makers take pleasure in bringing you this column regularly.

Unhappy Ending

We find ourselves unable to dredge up even the smallest grain of jubilation over the General Faculty's passage of the emasculated version of Dr. Gallagher's membership list proposal. To say we are disappointed would be an anticlimactic understatement.

With the indignant cries of protest over their action last week still ringing in their ears, the members of the General Faculty reconsidered their original rebuff and approved the motion they rejected last week. This rejection, incidentally, was in direct opposition to the expressed views of President Gallagher, student leaders, the Alumni Association, and such groups as the American Civil Liberties Union, The College's Chapter of the American Association of University Professors, the National Student Association and Students for Democratic Action.

Indeed, it seemed last week as if the only ones around campus who were for the measure were gathered among the forty-eight that mauled the Gallagher proposal.

In the final draft of this decapitated version of the extra-curricular bill of rights, a gimmick was attached which nullifies the very spirit of the original proposal and leaves the lists voluntary in name only.

Reversing the old axiom, that the power to tax is the power to destroy, the new edict denies funds to organizations that refuse to submit lists.

Then, perhaps fearing that these groups might be able to perform a bit of economic wizardry and survive without fee allocations, the ruling casts a further stigma upon them by refusing them the use of the College's name. Obviously, a group which must label themselves a "non-chartered organization of the College" will encounter difficulty in, say, inviting speakers to the institution that would not charter them.

In effect, the ruling in its present form says that the lists are voluntary, but that organizations had damn well better submit them—or else.

We think Professor Robert Bierstedt hit the nail on the head when he said before the General Faculty yesterday that, "Responsibility can be encouraged and persuaded, but it cannot be compelled."

Dr. Bierstedt summed up the outcry of this publication and other voices raised in protest against the lists since their inception when he stood before the Faculty and pointed out the contradictions in the concept of "compulsory responsibility"—a concept that seems to have been the guiding precept of the General Faculty since 1954.

It appears that the clock has not yet run out on the forced submission of lists. At the beginning of this session of the General Faculty, we had hoped to celebrate the demise of the unwanted lists—but today our glasses are filled with gall rather than with the wine of victory.

The ruling in this form is even more insidious than the original ukase in that it might tend to make some believe that the College now basks in the light of complete academic freedom. We must not rest until we have dispelled this mock-sun and until we have unequivocally rid ourselves of this blight upon the long cherished tradition of freedom of inquiry at the College.

'Living Textbooks' Used For Comp. Lit. Course

Comparative Literature 90, Current British and American Writers, is not a course contained only between the covers of books. A series of Monday lectures by eminent writers and critics has been arranged by Professor Henry Leffert (English) to supplement his classroom assignments.

Next Monday's talk on "The Responsibility of a Novelist" will be delivered by David Karp, a graduate of the College, whose fifth novel, "Leave Me Alone," was published recently and received favorable reviews.

Marianne Moore, poetess, will speak on "How and Why I Write Poetry," on December 2. She will be followed on December 9 by Eleanore Cruse O'Brien, critic and member of the Irish UN Delegation, discussing "Mauriac: Catholic Poet in Literature."

"A Rose is a Rose . . ." Glenway Westcott, prize winning novelist and critic, will talk about his friend Gertrude Stein" on December 16.

Spokesman for the "Beat" generation, Jack Kerouac, whose novel "On the Road" is currently high on best-seller lists, is scheduled for January 6. He will conduct an informal dissertation on "The Way I Write."

"Where is Literature Going" will be analyzed, on a date to be announced, by Jacques Barzun, critic and Dean of the Graduate School, Columbia University.

Besides these Monday lectures, which are held at 12 noon in Room 217, Finley, guest speakers have also been invited to the Friday Tea Meetings of the class. On January 10, Robert Penn Warren, Pulitzer Prize Winning author of "All the King's Men" and other works will deliver a reading. The noted critic, Cleanth Brooks is slated to appear at a future date.

All interested students are invited.

The same situation prevails in most of the Class contests. The Class of '58 has only one candidate for vice president and one for secretary. The Class of '59 has virtually no contests for any positions: there is one candidate for president, one for vice president, and none for secretary, treasurer, or Student Council representative.

Only one petition has been turned in for each of the following offices of the Class of '60: president, vice president, and secretary.

The only contested positions are in the Class of '61, which has fourteen petitions submitted for the four open seats on SC.

The deadline for filing petitions is 4 PM today and will not be extended.

Freshman Queen . . .

The Freshman Class is holding a contest for the Queen of the Class of '61. The winner will reign over the first Freshman Dance and be auditioned for Miss Mercury 1958. All girls interested should submit full length photos and descriptions to the Student Government Office, Room 332 Finley, before December 2.

Met Playoff Pits Soccermen Against Schuyler Tomorrow

By RALPH DANNHEISSER

The College's undefeated soccer team will be aiming for its fifth straight Metropolitan Intercollegiate Soccer Conference championship tomorrow, when it meets the New York Maritime Academy squad of Fort Schuyler. The game, to be played on the neutral Queens College field, will start at 1 P.M.

Since the outcome of the contest is almost a foregone conclusion, main interest will center on the various records which the Beavers...

Even a mediocre defensive showing by the Beavers would ensure a new record in the "goals against" department. So far, the team has allowed the opposition only five tallies. Last year's record-holding squad gave up nine.

The Privateers of Fort Schuyler have posted a 6-1-1 record for the season, 4-0 in League play. Their only loss, by a 7-1 score, came in their first game of the season against Adelphi, after only three days' practice. The Beavers beat the Adelphi squad, also by a 7-1 count.

On the basis of other comparative scores, the Beavers rate the nod. Both they and Fort Schuyler have beaten Long Island University, Hunter and Pratt. In each case, the Booters won by the larger score. Last year's game ended in a 6-1 win for the Beavers.

The Privateers attack will be paced by inside left Jon Schulmeisters and center forward Vern Unger. Unger holds the all-time Fort Schuyler team record of twelve goals in a single season. Completing the forward line will be Joe Lucie at outside left, Harry Rausch at inside right, and Eric Adema at outside right.

Though not over-optimistic about the Privateers' chances, Coach Myron "Bus" Recorden is "hopeful," and promises that "the team will do the best they can." Booter coach Harry Karlin dis-have an excellent chance of breaking.

Unbeaten and untied in nine games this season, the Booters have scored forty-nine goals, two short of the record set by last year's team. Heinz Minnerop, with sixteen goals thus far in the campaign, needs but one more in tomorrow's contest to eclipse the individual team standard, set last year by Novak Masanovich.

Beavers Face Indian Riflers

The Beaver Riflers go after their biggest game of the season tonight when they tangle with the St. John's Indians at the Redmen's range at 6:30 P.M.

The Johnnies have been one of the top rifle outfits in the City for many years. "For us, they've always been a team to beat," says the Rifler's manager, Lou Rubin.

The Nimrods go into the match with a record of 6-0, not including the protested two-point loss to Rutgers. In this match, the Beaver team has charged that several members of the Rutgers squad weren't eligible to compete.

John Paranos
Part of 'Beautiful Defense'

plays a much surer attitude. "If the boys play their normal game," he says, "they can't lose." Although overconfidence might potentially hurt the offense, he feels, "we have a beautiful defense which never lays down."

Sportnotes...

• The varsity wrestling squad will scrimmage the West Side YMCA tonight at 7:30 P.M. at the "Y," Central Park West and 63rd Street.

• Students interested in joining the track and field team are requested to report to Room 10 in Lewisohn Stadium, any afternoon between 3 and 5 P.M. Herb Rosenblum, Eastern Collegiate weightlifting champ in the lightweight division, will be there to answer any questions.

Wrestling Mentor Sees Potentially Strong Club

By STU BADEN

Beginning his twenty-fifth year as mentor of the grapplers, Professor Joe Sapora is "very optimistic" about this term's squad. "I have the potential to build a very powerful team," he said.

The nucleus of the club consists of co-captains Sonny Golia in the 157-pound class and Bunny Woods at the 147-pound level. Woods, who was undefeated last season (his record was 8-0), started off on the right foot this year by beating August Scheffleberger, ex-Swiss National Champ, in a practice meet with the West Side YMCA. Golia will be challenged for his starting position by juniors Jack Izower and Jerry Horowitz.

Berkowitz Tops 123-Pounders
In the 123- and 137-pound class, Sam Berkowitz and Jerry Isenfeld look like the probable starters, according to Coach Sapora. They will be given competition by Myron Wolin and Jerry Jacobs.

The 167-pound slot will be filled by George Chludzinsky or Walter Orlansky. Wrestling in the 130-pound division will be Ben Heller, while Mike Steurman and Milt Gittleman will be competing in the 177-pound and heavyweight category.

The Coach also sees a good year for his freshmen team. "Sparked by Dave Borah, Ronald Gilbert, and Tom Lopez, this year's frosh," says Prof. Sapora, "is the strongest in years."

7-1 Last Year

Last season's varsity had a 7-1 record, losing only to Wilkes College. This year's squad is composed almost entirely of newcomers with only three returning lettermen, while six have graduated.

"After last year's fine record, all the teams, especially those in the metropolitan fold, will be out to beat City, and City will be out to beat Wilkes," commented Dr. Sapora.

The Schedule:

Date	Team
Nov. 22	West Side YMCA (practice)
Nov. 26	Columbia (practice)
Dec. 6	Long Island Aggies (home)
Dec. 14	Temple (away)
Dec. 21	Brooklyn Poly (home)
