

Wagner Endorses Chancellor Plan; Alumni Group Requests Modification

Chancellor Power Termed Undefined

The Alumni Association yesterday urged modification of the present proposal for a chancellor to head the five municipal colleges.

A statement released by Mr. Seymour S. Weisman, executive secretary of the group, asserted that "the Alumni Association is opposed to the plan as presently constituted because it does not provide adequate safeguards of the autonomy of the individual college presidents or protect the integrity and distinct character of each of the municipal colleges."

According to Mr. Weisman, representatives of the organization will be present at the Board of Estimate meeting on Thursday to urge changes in the proposal.

In the past, the Alumni Association has taken a consistent stand against plans for a chancellorship. In 1955, after a study by its College Affairs Committee, the Association's Board of Directors unanimously opposed the plan.

The committee's report at that time declared that the title "chancellor" would in itself cause confusion in the public mind and present some difficulty to the members of the Administrative Council in the assessment of their individual and collective functions.

"Under the present proposal to make the chancellor the principal educational officer of the municipal college system," Weisman said, "it is inevitable that a chancellor would become the governing officer for the city colleges instead of merely providing the administrative coordination and assistance which, as we understand it, was the reason for considering such a post in the first place."

He added that "the Association is not unalterably opposed to the creation of the new administrative post to ease the presidents, but we want to make certain that the tail will not, in time, come to wag the dog."

Awards Given In Journalism

The winning writers of the first Annual Journalism Award at the College were announced by the Alumni Association Tuesday. Three of the awards were captured by The Campus, one by Observation Post.

The competition was open to the seven undergraduate newspapers vying for honors in the fields of news, features, editorials, and special features. Campus, CV, Main Events, Observation Post, The Reporter, Tech News, and The Ticker were the participants in the contest.

In the news category, Eli Sadowick of the Campus won an award for the coverage of the story of alleged defects in the Uptown Center's photo-identification systems, and Ticker reporter Stewart Kampelmacher received one for his coverage of a Baruch School bomb scare.

Jim Robinson, of the Reporter, received an award in the features category for an article surveying opportunities in advertising for Negro graduates, and Campus reporter Ronald Salzburg received an award for his "Thirty" column. Observation Post won the award for Editorial Writing for its editorial, "Fun . . ." The special features award was won by Campus for "News of the Term in Review."

Coordinating Post Proposed by BHE

The plan to place the administration of the five municipal colleges in the hands of a chancellor has been "strongly endorsed" by Mayor Wagner.

Requested by Dr. Joseph B. Cavallaro, president of the Board of Higher Education, the plan will necessitate an appropriation of $100,000 to cover the first year of operation of the new office.

It was indicated at City Hall that Deputy Mayor John J. Theobald, who is on a leave of absence as president of Queens College, would be the first to hold the new post.

The Mayor expressed the hope that the Board of Estimate would grant Dr. Cavallaro's request at its meeting on Thursday. He pointed out that the plan for the creation of the new post came at a strategic time, with immediate action required because of the need to meet the problems of an expanding municipal college system.

He recommended that the chancellor's salary be $25,000 per year. The presidents of City College, Brooklyn College, Queens College and Hunter College receive the same amount, and the president of the Staten Island Community College gets $15,000.

Commenting on the plan, Dr. Cavallaro asserted, "There is a need for a central educational administrative officer for the municipal colleges. The five college presidents act as an administrative council with the purpose of providing coordination among the colleges," he said, "but it is impossible for them with their exceedingly heavy burdens as the heads of huge institutions to do as much as they desire to do."

"The BHE," Dr. Cavallaro continued, "felt that the city's college system needed an educational officer who would devote full time as chairman of the council. His task would be to coordinate the business and the financial procedures of the five colleges and to represent the BHE and the colleges in dealing with outside agencies, including city, state, and Federal officials."

According to City Hall, it is expected that the chancellor will assume office at the start of the new college year in the fall.

Committee Investigate Brooklyn Case

The Student Government Civil Liberties Committee was empowered by Student Council last week to investigate the suspension of three Brooklyn College students from their editorial duties.

Committee Investigate Brooklyn Case

At a vote of 10-6, the Council adopted the following three-part proposal that:

expresses disapproval of any suspension of student press members who are found guilty of offenses which are deemed to be in violation of the college's goals and objectives.

The committee is to investigate the alleged censorship of the Brooklyn College student newspaper introduced by Mikeowitz, SG Secretary. The formation of a delegation of students from the municipal colleges to appeal to Mayor Robert Wagner to use his influence in the matter was suggested. This proposal was defeated by Council.

Committeeman Tells Students About List Study's Purposes

The Consultative Study of Students Records began its preliminary investigation of membership lists at the College last night. Mr. Dirck W. Brown, of Columbia Teachers College, Staff Director of the study, met with student leaders of major organizations to explain the aims and purposes of the investigation.

Meeting with Mr. Brown were Student Government President Marvin Gettleman, Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Social Studies, and representatives of Observation Post, The Campus and Newman Club. Mr. Brown explained that the study's primary purpose was to determine student views on membership lists. Its secondary purpose, he said, was to interpret the information gathered. The study, Mr. Brown continued, will analyze all records including those of the Department of Student Life, the medical division, the registrar's office and also academic records.

In order to obtain the views of every campus organization the study will send a questionnaire to each club. Questionnaires will also be sent to Faculty Advisors and the members of the General Faculty. The Study will ask three questions: how appropriate is the present membership list policy for the particular group; how appropriate is the present policy for all student organizations on campus; and what recommendations could be suggested for a common lists policy?

Interviews

Mr. Brown will be available for those students or faculty members who will not be able to answer the questionnaire or who wish to present their views in person next Thursday in Room 313 Finley between 10 AM and 9 PM and on Monday, May 6, in Room 321 Finley between 10 AM and 9 PM. Persons interested in such an interview must sign up in Room 151 Finley.

Arts . . .

The first Festival of the Arts, sponsored by the Art and Music Departments, will be held tomorrow. The Art Exhibition of student work will be displayed in Buittenweiser Lounge. Prizes will be awarded during the afternoon. A series of concerts will be performed hourly in Aranow Auditorium by music students between 10 AM-3 PM.

Guiding Light

At first glance, the proposal for the creation of a chancellorship to administer the five municipal colleges seems to be a good one.

According to Dr. Joseph B. Cavallaro, chairman of the Board of Higher Education, the chancellor would coordinate administer, and represent the colleges in their activities.

Mayor Wagner has also stamped his approval on the plan and will ask the Board of Estimate today to approve his $100,000 recommendation for the operation of the post in its initial year.

But before such a step is taken, we would agree with the Alumni Association that a second and more critical "glance" is necessary. The Alumni object to the proposal on the grounds that it does not provide adequate safeguards for the autonomy of the individual college presidents or protect the integrity and distinct character of each of the municipal colleges.

The College has already lost ground in its quest for complete academic freedom this year because of the influence of one of our sister schools—the Queens College barring of John Gates.

This action lost for the College something Queens College, Brooklyn College, and Hunter College never had—the right of the student to use his own mind; the opportunity to hear the "other side" of the story.

City College is now at the threshold of a new era. Our curriculum, campus and extra-curricular activities are being enlarged. There is an indication that eventually the College may begin to award doctorates, thus obtaining the status of a university.

If all this is to be stymied by the backward thinking of our sister schools by herding us all together, it will be our loss. Except for a few intrusions by the BHE, the College has handled its own problems for over 100 years.

We earnestly feel that a closer examination of the consequences of a chancellorship is necessary. The possibility of an almost supernatural guiding hand for the College may well fit us into the conformity pattern of our sister schools.

Thanks

The curtain may be drawn in front of the audience's view of the attempt to repeal the recent ruling denying those convicted under the Smith Act the right to speak on campus. but backstage the work is still going on. A great deal of the credit for this work must be given to Morris Ernst, the civil libertarian who has been retained by Student Government.

As one of the outstanding lawyers in his field, Mr. Ernst has given up much of his private practice in order to devote time and effort, without pay, to effecting some results in the case at the College. Besides meeting with the five college presidents, Ernst has worked intensively with student-faculty groups, and members of the Board of Higher Education. Civil liberties is more than just a profession with Mr. Ernst. It is a living practice.

AN OP SPECIAL

Scholarships, Loans and Grants

By Shelly Halpern

This is the second of a series of articles designed to inform the student body of the many scholarships, grants and loans available to them.

Interest in a particular academic field can result in a scholarship for some lucky student. Similarly, a cultural or national affiliation may be one of the criteria for the granting of scholarships. Unfortunately, many students are not aware of the wide range and diverse specifications of many existing funds for which they may be eligible.

The stipulations of many of the scholarship funds include a proviso that the money be invested, so that there is a continuous income to balance the withdrawal for scholarships. In some of these funds only the income may be used, insuring a reserve of the original bequest, while in other funds both the principal and interest can be used. A third group consists of uninvested funds, and once the funds are exhausted, the scholarship is defunct.

Students interested in studying abroad may be interested in the Downer Memorial Scholarship and the Naumburg Study and Travel Scholarship. Administered by the Department of Romance Languages, the Downer Scholarship provides an annual gift of $1000 for juniors or seniors to be used for foreign study in the field of Romance Languages. The winner of the Naumburg scholarship is entitled to spend his junior year abroad. This fund, which contributes $1500 to $1800 annually, is administered by Dean Morton Gottschall (Liberal Arts and Science) and Robert J. Taylor, Registrar.

Outstanding chemistry students, preferably of the Jewish faith, are eligible for the Arthur G. Levy Scholarships. This fund is administered by the Chemistry department and amounts to $250-$300 annually.

Graduating seniors who are outstanding both scholastically and in extra-curricular activities are eligible to receive one of the Morris Raphael Cohen Scholarships. Outstanding freshmen have a chance to win the Borden Freshman Prize, a cash award.

The Cadeuceus Society Award and the Professor William Stratford Prize present awards for excellence in the natural sciences and vertebrate zoology, respectively. Proficiency in the introductory economics course and in the History of Philosophy are rewarded with cash awards which comprise the Ketchum Prizes.

Cash prizes, granted in honor of Dr. Jonas E. Salk, '36, are bestowed upon outstanding seniors undertaking postgraduate study in medical science.

Engineering students also come in for their share of the grants. The efforts of outstanding technicians are rewarded with the Eliza Ford Memorial Prize, the Maxwell Henry Memorial Award, the Charles A. Marlies Award and the Frederic O. X. McLoughlin Memorial Award, all cash awards.

Further information on these and other awards may be obtained from the office of Mr. Irving Slade, Central Treasurer, Room 153 Finley.

Ref Late, Stickmen Wait Give Adelphi 12-0 Gate

By MARV GLASSBERG

Yesterday's City-Adelphi lacrosse game at Lewisohn Stadium was a half-hour late in starting but it was over before a minute of the first period had elapsed.

Once the referees arrived and the contest began, The College's stickmen bolted and weren't slowed down until the initial frame concluded. By that time the Brown and Gold were on the short end of a 7-0 score. City leisurely recorded five more points to finish as 12-0 victors.

Fun Begins

The Beavers first tallied at 0:47 when Ron Rose received a pass from co-captain Mike Volpe and fired a bullet past Panther net-minder Tony Dapilato. City captured the ensuing face-off and passed around until 1:23 when Merritt "Tiger" Nesin raced down the right side with the ball and threw to Marc Rosenberg who found the scoring range. Nesin entered the scoring column at 5:43 when Sy Stiegelfest raced the length of the field and passed to Rosenberg, who quickly flipped to Nesin.

The "Tiger" gave his team a 4-0 advantage at the 6 minute mark when he converted on an assist from Volpe. Co-captain Lenny Fagen recorded his first goal of the year when Dapilato stopped a hard shot. Fagen hit his stick and the ball bounded into an open cage.

While Marty Doherty was waiting out a penalty, sophomore Dave Elias received a pass from Vito Cutrone and rammed it home at 10:20 for his first varsity goal. Nesin presented the Beavers with their seventh marker by tallying unassisted at 11:22.

Joe Hernandez, alternating with Shelly Cashdan, took to the nets for the second stanza. He,

The College Netmen find themselves with a record of one win and two losses for their first three games. But the defeats are softened by the fact that of the seven men on the squad, only two are returning lettermen—the other five never played a varsity match.

After bowing to Adelphi, 8-1, in their initial trial of the season, the boys in white beat St. John's, 6-3, in an uphill battle.

Coming off two straight defeats in the singles, the Beavers won four consecutive solo matches as Larry Gittleston, Jay Hamme, Roy Fleischman and Ray Pestroy won handily. Two of three doubles matches were also swept by the netmen.

Paced by Len Olson, who captured six events, the Beaver track team romped over Adelphi, 81-60 last week. Olson won the 120-yd. high and 220-yd. low hurdles in times of 18.6 and 30.1 seconds. He also took the javelin, shotput, hammer and discus throws with marks of 130 ft. 8 1/4 in., 37 ft. 7 in., 98 ft. 9 3/4 in., and 102 ft. 4 1/4 in. respectively.

However, the Lavender controlled most of the action, keeping the ball deep in Panther territory. The constant pressure paid off at 5:52 when Nesin recorded his fourth goal on Fagen's assist.

The wiry captain arched the ball from the mid-field line to Nesin, situated near the nets, and No. 20 backhanded it in to up City's lead to 8-0.

Fagen registered the ninth Lavender goal at 4:48 of the third inning on a pass from Volpe while Rosenberg was out for one

Late BC Rally Ties Beavers In Game Marred by Errors

By JERRY ESKENAZI

The sight of victory for the first time this season must have been too much for the Beaver baseballers—they let a four-run lead slip from their grasp and had to be content with a 6-6 standoff against Brooklyn College yesterday at McCombs Dam Field in the Bronx.

Not that the Lavender didn't try hard enough to win it. They exploded for four runs in the very first inning and seemed to be well on their way to their initial triumph of the season (they tied in two of their last three) as the eighth inning rolled around with the Beavers in command, 6-4.

Kingsmen Tie

But the visitors from Brooklyn weren't finished yet. After Herman, the second Kingsman hurler, had doubled, Walt Edge, BC left-fielder hit a mile-high fly to Ron Welcome in right field. After doing a fancy two-step under the ball, Welcome just missed the ball with his outstretched glove and the boys from across the river had men on second and third.

This set the stage for Marty Grossman, hard-hitting Brooklyn catcher, and he didn't disappoint his coach. Grossman singled up the middle to score the anxious baserunners and the score remained at 6-6 till the end—the game was stopped at the end of nine innings because of a Parks Department ruling that no inning start after 6 PM.

Stew Weiss, Beaver moundsmen, pitched excellent ball for six innings, but was just too knocked out to make it for the seventh. Although Weiss allowed three runs during his tenure,
