

Soccermen Lose First Game in Six Years

Hunter Wins 1-0 On Early Goal

By STEVE SOLOMON

The game had ended, but the Beaver players didn't move. For a few seconds they just stood there not knowing what to do.

For forty-nine straight games, extending through six years, they ran off the field unbeaten. Yesterday they ran off the field on the short end of a 1-0 decision to Hunter.

For six years they had won the Metropolitan Championship. Yesterday they lost it.

For weeks they were anxiously awaiting a bid from the NCAA committee to play in the National Championships. Yesterday they knew the bid would never come.

Pressed

To say that they didn't play hard would be a lie. They played hard, maybe a little too hard.

Coach Harry Karlin
"Team doesn't deserve a bid."

As the final seconds were being counted off by the Hunter faithful, the Beavers were pressing desperately for the ball.

This was exactly how they were playing for the good part of three periods. They had control of the ball, but they were pressing and

Bull's Eye

The Pershing Rifles, a military fraternity, gave their fellow cadets the benefit of their advanced training by inviting all pre-summer camp cadets to a firing exercise at Fort Dix, New Jersey last Sunday. This gave a group of ninety ROTC cadets the opportunity to fire M-1 rifles on a known-distance range. Although cadets have plenty of practice with the .22 caliber rifle, most never fire a .30 caliber rifle until they get to summer camp between their junior and senior years. The Pershing Rifles, however, fire these weapons at least once a year.

Two busloads left the College at 6 AM, last Sunday morning. The cadets were split into two groups; one served as pit detail, marking and scoring targets, and the other fired. After a break for "chow" (hot meals were provided by the Army) the cadets who fired became the pit crew and vice versa.

Borough President Jack To Speak At The College

By BARBARA SCHNEIDER

Hulan Jack, Manhattan Borough President is one of four prominent municipal officials who will speak at the College on "The Housing Situation in New York City."

The program, a forum, sponsored by the Conference of Democratic Students (CDS), will take place on Thursday, December 3, in the Grand Ballroom at 12:30 PM.

The forum will be moderated by members of the faculty.

Franz S. Leichter, Housing Chairman of the Riverside Democratic Club, Paul T. O'Keefe, Deputy Mayor of New York City and Harold Birns, Deputy Commissioner of the Department of Buildings are the other three members of the forum.

In a letter to Gus Bennett, chairman of CDS, Mr. Birns stated, "I believe you should know that my immediate interest in connection with substandard housing is related to the enforcement of the multiple dwelling law."

This statute concerns the number of people safely allowed to live in each apartment.

According to Mr. Bennett, this program is the "first of this type," where four people of such stature have a discussion concerning "one of the big issues."

The New York City housing situation has been a controversial one recently. The Title 1, Slum Clearance Program is one of the major points to be discussed at the forum. "The question of whether New York City is becoming one vast mass of dying slums is a burning and vital one," said Al Furman, last semester's president of CDS. "The housing situation should of necessity be of interest to students at the College," said Furman

Student Wage Increase Recommended by College

By PETER STEINBERG

Pressure to force an increase in the maximum salary allowed student employees at the College has culminated in concrete budget recommendations during the last few weeks.

Mr. Aaron Zweifach (Business Manager) said last night that a request for an increase in the maximum allowed student employees has already been included in a budget report to the Board of Higher Education.

He said that the report recommends a $1.25 maximum for student employees.

The College's Review Committee, at a meeting two weeks ago, unanimously recommended the wage increase, according to Dean William Allan (Technology), a member of the committee.

The Committee is composed of the four academic deans of the College, and President Buell G. Gallagher. It is the highest policy-making body at the College.

Present Maximum

The present maximum is $1 per hour. It has been fixed by the New York City Budget Bureau. The College's Bookstore and Cafeteria are exempt from this restriction. The administration has, however, also set a $1 maximum on these enterprises.

"There is a maximum in these areas so we will have no bidding back and forth" between different branches of the College, said Pres. Gallagher yesterday.

The President said that "We have been trying to get a higher maximum for the last few years . . . but have been unsuccessful."

He said that during his chairmanship of the Administrative Council of Municipal College Presidents that group had attempted to gain approval of the wage hike. Brooklyn College President Harry Gideonse is present chairman of the body.

President Buell G. Gallagher
Pro Student Wage Raise

"The Administrative Council will continue to work for the wage increase," said Pres. Gallagher.

The College's budget requests will be made in a report by Mr. Zweifach to New York Budget Director Abraham Beame in January.

"The request for a wage rise has been included in our budget requests for the last three years, and we've asked for a raise for next year again," said Mr. Zweifach yesterday.

"We hope to get the raise this time," he said. "All four Municipal Colleges have asked for it."

Mr. Zweifach said that there has been some sentiment for requesting a $1.50 maximum, and this may be the final amount proposed in his January report.

"The proposal for next year of a $1.25 maximum," said Dean Allan, "is reasonable. I personally would hope it might rise higher than that. But with the Budget Director's austerity program, to expect more would be unreasonable."

Student Government President Barry Kahn declared last night that "Student wages should be raised. It is up to the College to help these students. They are working, and they need and deserve more money."

He said that the present maximum is "very little." Kahn added that he will propose that Student Council send a "letter of support" for an increased maximum to the Budget Bureau.

'Treason' Trials Topic of African

Hans J. Beaukus, a native South African, is speaking at the College tonight on the treason trials in Southwest Africa.

The Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) is sponsoring his appearance at 10 PM tonight in Room 348 Finley.

Beaukus, a student from South West Africa had to smuggle himself out of Capetown, Africa, to Bechuanaland, a British Protectorate.

Apartheid policies of racial segregation and discrimination against natives practiced there forced him to flee.

Beaukus was then granted a scholarship by the Norwegian Federation of Students.

American students, many of their representatives of the National Student Association (NSA) Congress which was held at the University of Illinois last summer, raised $700 dollars which enabled him to come to New York to appeal to the General Assembly in behalf of his people.

High Finance

According to a ruling of the New York City Budget Bureau, students employed part-time by a municipal College can receive a maximum wage of $1 per hour. The College's Bookstore and the student cafeteria do not fall under the jurisdiction of the ruling. Their offer of wages above the city maximum was stopped by the Administration's wish to curb competition between different sections of the College.

A requested increase in the student maximum wage has been recommended in the College's budget report to the Board of Higher Education. The request was supported by the College's Review Committee which is composed of President Buell G. Gallagher and the deans of the four schools of the College.

While President Gallagher was chairman of the Administrative Council of Municipal College Presidents, the Council continually recommended the wage increase, but to no avail.

The maximum wage has remained constant for the past few years, but the student's expenses have increased. It is unrealistic not to make the student's salary aid him in meeting that increase. The $1 maximum is an anachronism in the city budget.

President Gallagher and the Administration have recognized the necessity for the increase and have taken the initiative to try to do something about it. The Administrative Council of Municipal College Presidents, as well, has done its share in this campaign. The final results of this work is in the hands of the City Budget Bureau. We can only hope that these commendable recommendations will be honored and adequately enforced.

Worthwhile

The formation of a Blood Bank Council, apart from its immediate purpose to run an efficient blood drive, is remarkable for the unique demonstration it provides of the ability of diverse organizations at the College to cooperate fully with one another to help a worthwhile cause.

The present membership of the new-born Council includes House Plan, Inter-fraternity Council, ROTC, Hillel, the Newman Club, Christian Association, Gamma Sigma, and Alpha Phi Omega. All clubs at the College are welcome to join forces, and we urge more to do so.

The scantiness of last year's blood-bank contributions must not be repeated this year. To this end the Council was formed: to counteract the ineffectiveness that resulted when the responsibility for conducting the blood drive was given to a different organization each term. To this end all the member-organizations must work in unison.

The importance of the purpose for which the Council was established cannot be disputed. The demand for blood in emergencies from both students and faculty at the College have dangerously depleted the supply.

But the Blood Bank Council is not a panacea. The success of this semester's campaign ultimately rests with the students. The fact remains that students are needed to donate the blood, and donations are necessary to provide blood when it is most needed.

If a large number of students at the College are not willing to give their blood, not enough of this life-giving substance can be made available.

"CONTACT-ETTE" News For House Planners

For three days, Nov. 27-29, Surprise Lake, in Cold Spring, New York, will be overrun by House Planners with the advent of our first camping trip of the semester. Just $11 per person will get them there, keep them alive, and bring them back in time for classes the following Monday. There will be sports for the sporty, singing for the noisy, bridge for the bridge players, and for everyone else, it's coed. Why not join the happy crew. Have HOUSE sign up for its own cabin in the House Plan office, 326 Finley.

It seems that perhaps Wingate '62's athletic hopes for the triple athletic crown are well founded. They won their last basketball game 40-5.

Is Baron '63, having elected Raymond the Bagelman King with a fine song and skit at the Election Eve Rally, is celebrating by holding a drag party this Saturday evening in the Finley Center.

Also on Saturday, the Wittes Dynasty is holding its semi-annual prom in Lewisohn Lounge.

Houses may now submit applications for adopting children at House Plan's annual Christmas Party for underprivileged children and orphans to be held Saturday morning, December 19.

Is Downer '61 is looking into the possibilities for holding a student-faculty dinner. Good luck and hearty appetite.

We now have a new dynasty. Compton '60, '60.5, '62, and Sis Compton '63 have joined together. In addition to the obvious advantage of strength in unity, they are also eligible for a permanent dynasty room.

Last Friday, House Plan began its 25th Anniversary celebration by serving tea to students and 28 members of the faculty and alumni. Past issues of Microcosm were displayed along with the deliverance of short talks by President Steve Swartz of House Plan, Mr. Joseph Kriveloff, President of our Alumni Board of Directors and Dean Morton Gottschall of the College of Liberal Arts and Science.

Harris '62 has solved its off campus room problem. They have rented one in Mount Vernon and commute there by New York Central.

Brill '60 had a party with girls from Empire House at N.Y.U. A few days after the party they received a note from the girls thanking them for the wonderful time. Nothing new under the sun, eh?

And finally, do not forget the 25th Anniversary Rally today in the Grand Ballroom, at 12:00. There will be an old fashioned songfest before the contest. The songs have been printed so that everyone will know the words.

House Plan Council will elect an Upper Class Representative to the Managing Board at its regular meeting this Monday at 4 PM in room 121 Finley.

To Aid Students Frat Holds Sale

Sigma Alpha fraternity (SA) is sponsoring a flower sale today for the benefit of handicapped students at the College. A flower and caricature will be sold for fifty cents at the College Book Store. Flowers will be sold separately for ten cents elsewhere in the College. Additional contributions will be accepted.

This year, SA is celebrating its tenth anniversary. Martin Jacobs, Chancellor of SA, said, "The criteria of the society are scholarship and service." To qualify for membership a student must be at least a lower junior and have a B average.

Jacobs added that "the purpose of the organization is to recognize superior intellectual achievement and to utilize abilities of superior students in the service and betterment of the students at large."

He explained that "during the past ten years SA has functioned as an initiating service organization by starting such services as Blood Bank, the Used Book Exchange and the Beaver Handbook."

Jacobs said that the free tutoring service has been quite popular with the students. He said that "at the present time all math, science and engineering tutors are busy, but tutoring is available in other subjects."

Jacobs added that "SA is contemplating making a survey to see how students feel about having students on the Faculty Committee on Curriculum and whether they think that students should get a half vote."

Jacobs also said his organization deplores the lack of Saturday night events. He said that last Saturday night's Square Dance helped correct the deficiency.

Jack . . .

"Many students who get married and look for adequate housing encounter this problem," he said.

The four men represent diverse opinions and approaches to the housing problem. Mr. Birns, as Deputy Commissioner of the Dept. of Bldgs. is a technician, he enforces the law rather than produces constructive proposals.

Hulan Jack as the elected representative of the people, has a humanitarian rather than a legal function, of protecting the people. Mr. O'Keefe as Deputy Mayor, is a coordinator of the overall activity.

While the three men just mentioned are members of the city administration, Mr. Leichter on the outside, local level, works to improve housing conditions. He is more free to criticize and objectively evaluate the policies of the city because of this, said Furman.

According to Furman, Mr. Leichter is concerned with the role that local political organizations should have in housing. Mr. Leichter feels strongly that Tammany Hall political clubs have not done any part of the job which they are capable of doing to improve living conditions.

"CDS is interested in creating a reputation for City College for having good speakers," said Bennett.

"It is difficult to get good speakers because of the poor turnout," he added.

Opportunities . . .

The History Society is presenting Dean Sherburne F. Barber (Liberal Arts and Science) and Professor Michael Kraus (History) to speak on "Scholarship and Fellowship Opportunities in the Social Sciences" in Room 105 Wagner at 12:30 PM today. The Society hopes to present a program of this type periodically, about once each term, in an effort to make the students of the social sciences more aware of the many and varied stipends which they can receive as aid during their pursuit of post-graduate courses.

Soccer Squad Loses Bid for Playoffs As Hunter Breaks Unbeaten Record

never got good shots or.
As soon as Joe Santos booted in a loose ball in front of the beaver nets at 1:10 of the second period, they started clogging the ing good soccer.

Hunter was satisfied in playing defensive soccer the rest of the afternoon, but the Beavers refused to play their kind of game.

Instead of opening up the middle as they had done in the first period, they started clogging the middle. Passing became sloppy and the College's shots were being blocked.

Heinz Minnerop
"Had tough shots."

In the last few minutes of the game both Marco Wachter and Heinz Minnerop had decent shots at the net. But the middle was clogged and so they fired them over the players and both shots went far over the nets.

Hunter in the meantime, was playing smart soccer. They had the lead and were concerned with holding it, not adding to it.

Beaver Saves

Everytime they gained possession of the ball they kicked upfield or out of bounds. Tony Papa, the Beaver goalie who replaced Andy Houtkruyer in the nets, was called upon to make only two saves the entire second half.

Houtkruyer was injured early in the third period when a Hunter player accidentally hit him in the face. He was helped off the field but the injury is not believed to be serious.

Hunter Coach Mike Yahia was overwhelmed after the game. "We waited a long time to beat City and I'm really excited."

Ironically enough, Yahia was a player on the 1953 Brooklyn squad which was the last team to beat the College. The score in that game was also 1-0.

Smarter Soccer

"We might not have outplayed City today, in the sense of controlling the ball," he said, "but we played smarter soccer. City could have beaten us if they would have continued playing the same way they had played in the first period.

"Somehow I'm a little sorry we had to beat City. They have such a fine team and they were headed for the NCAA. Now I'll have to find out if the Committee wants A disappointed Beaver coach, us instead of City.

Harry Karlin, said after the game that "The boys showed that they didn't deserve a bid to the NCAA."

"I thought that they'd be better," commented Hunter goalie Steve Barrow. "Pratt played us and I thought they functioned better."

"Maybe City has a better offense than Pratt but they're not a better team. They panicked today."

Barrow played a fine game in the nets, but was not called upon to make too many tough saves. "Minnerop and Wachter are good," he said, "but they blasted their shots instead of placing them. Maybe it was because we forced them to take tough shots."

Whatever it was, the College's undefeated streak is over. For the first time in six years the Metropolitan teams can sit back and say "Thank God that's over."

Runners Can't Stop For Cold Weather

When the cold weather sets in, people head for warmer surroundings. Even the animals in the forest prepare for the winter. Birds fly south, bears hibernate, and groundhogs retire to their burrows.

However, coach Harry "Doc" deGiralomo and his Beaver trackmen defy nature.

It was after 6 PM and the lights were on in Lewisohn Stadium. I was following Doc as he ambled over the frozen turf supervising the workouts of his athletes as they

The cold was so intense that my teeth were chattering and my complexion was turning a patriotic shade of Lavender. It didn't bother Doc though, because he was dressed as if he was to be included in the next Arctic expedition.

The runners, who were wearing considerably less (the track uniform consists only of shorts, T-shirt, and track shoes) were running around the track trying to keep warm. Doc said they were practicing.

"Sport is essentially primitive," said the Doc. "It is the only area of human endeavour left where physical ability means more than mental ability."

"You can't rationalize your way into a victory. You have to go out and get it," continued the coach. "We have to be in top shape to get the most mileage out of our runners."

Manager Gerry Fazman suggested another method for getting the most out of the Lavender runners. "If they finish first, we give them oranges after the race. If they finish last, we give them cranberries."

It should be a wonderful year for our winter runners.

Coach Sapora Optimistic, Has Capable Substitutes

This is the second in a series of articles on the College's winter teams.
By JOE LOWIN

"I'm optimistic, even though I've had so many bad breaks with the team." This is wrestling coach Joe Sapora's way of describing his team's chances for a successful season.

The coach does not regard the loss of two of his top wrestlers through graduation as a bad break. Every coach has to face that at some time or another. But Sapora will have to look mighty hard to find a replacement for the likes of last year's heavyweight co-captain Milt Gitelman, and for Jerry Horowitz too.

Aside from losing these two, the grapplers will be without the services of Phil Rodman, who has dropped off the team this year. But Sapora's real troubles stem from the loss, due to serious illness of his light and light-heavyweight performers.

At the light end of the scale there is 137 pounder Ronnie Alter, who is according to Sapora "a big loss to the team." Further down, is 177 pounder Jerry Levkov, who is suffering from the same type of illness as Alter.

Coach Sapora explained that "Those two guys took a trip down to Mexico and picked up some kind of virus there." Alter had to drop out of school entirely for the fall term in order to insure complete recovery. He should be ready by February. Levkov, while he hasn't been forced to leave school, is not expected to be back for the team until next term.

But the coach is optimistic about the team despite all the heavy losses. He has four reasons for being hopeful and he went on to list them.

"First there's co-captain Myron Wollin. He steps up from 123 to 137 to take Alter's place. I expect him to be one of the strong wrestlers on the team."

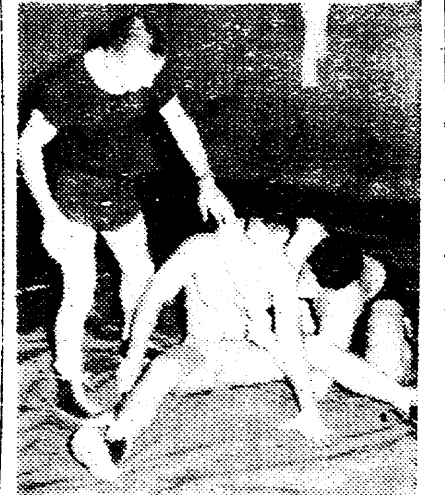

The coach became more laudatory as he went on. "At 147, I'm expecting junior Dave Borah to be one of my big men this year. I'd go as far as to say that he'll be one of my great City College wrestlers someday."

Then Sapora came to one of his more established stars, and probably the brightest one of them all.

"At 157 there's Jack Izower. All I can say about him is that he is one of the best wrestlers I've ever coached since I've been here."

Tommy Holmes, who tips the scales at 167 was the fourth twinkle in the eye of the four-time intercollegiate wrestling champ. "Tommy was a varsity man last year, and has vastly improved his wrestling this year."

"I don't know about the rest of the team," Sapora went on. "The other men are of unknown quality." At the light side there is Jerry Kaplan, who is taking over for Wollin who has moved up. Marv Goldliss and Sol Brand two sophs will fight it out for the 137 spot. Three men will have to battle for Levkov's 177 position—Paul Amonick, Jerry Robinson, and Larry Grohl. The heavy load will be handled by either Ed Ratner or Roland Bulower.

As to this season's record, Coach Sapora feels, "it will be as good as last year's 4-4 record, if not better."

Monday night, the wrestlers will have their last practice meet before the season starts against Yeshiva University. The Beavers open their season at home against BPI, Dec. 5.
