Interviews Set... Observation Post will interview candidates for SG posts Thursday from 3:40 PM and Friday from 3-4 PM. All candidates who have not sent their qualifications and who have not appeared for interviews should attend.

Fee Raise Likely; Propose Job Shift

Would Switch Finley Posts To DSL

In a budget recommendation carried late last night, the Board of Advisors of the Finley Student Center proposed a switch in six administrative jobs from the Center's Student Grill to the Student Life.

Only four of the positions are presently occupied.

The switch would affect four secretaries; an instructor and a bookkeeping assistant.

Those who would be affected are: Mrs. Rose Lombardi, Mrs. Clara Payne, Miss Carol Thomas and Miss Sarah Swartz.

The move was made ostensibly to divert the money now being paid in salaries to programming.

Dean Brophy Considers $2 Hike

A proposed increase in the Finley Student Center fee which will cost day session students $2 more a term stands an excellent chance of being enacted, informed sources said today.

The Finley Student Center Board of Advisors, in an emergency meeting last night, approved a proposal to increase the fee from $2 to $5 for day session students and from $1.50 to $3 for evening session students. It also called for a fee to be paid by summer session students.

The proposed increase was embodied in a recommendation to Dean Daniel F. Brophy (Chmn., Finley Student Center Board of Advisors).

If Dean Brophy approves the recommendation, it will go to President Buel G. Gallagher and from there to the Administrative Council and the Board of Higher Education, which meets Wednesday.

At present, the Center derives money from three sources: the CCNY fund, income from services (the snack bar, dance lounge rentals, etc.) and the Finley Student Center Fee.

(Continued on Page 3)

What Has Plastic Arms and Spider Legs?

The bright red-back chairs with beige plastic writing arms and tabular steel spider-legs, decorating Room 212 Mott, are part of an experiment to "keep up with the times," according to Kenneth Fleming, Building 2 and Grounds.

Among their advantages, the "modern" seats are easier to clean and the angular legs make it difficult for students to pull the chairs back. One drawback, however, the colored chairs are twice as expensive as the wooden ones.

Students, who attend classes in the Mott classroom have a generally favorable opinion of the recent additions. "It is so much nicer to be able to write on a surface that isn't marked with the writings of someone who leaves someone else," one-red-haired said.

However, one strong protest was raised by a student who described the chairs as "extremely uncomfortable and looking ugly. They were a needless expense," she added.

Student Government (SG) members were questioned about the new chairs on Friday afternoon.

Prior to this action Milicent Berman's appeal that SG election by May 21. run for the SG Presidency, is now extended until this Thursday at 6 PM.

Provision for filing petitions was extended until this Thursday at 3-4:30 PM and Friday from 2-4 PM. All candidates who received the Party of Liberal Students endorsement endorsed by PLS and the latter by DFU.

Both Diana Laster and Alan Steinberg have been endorsed for Vice President.

What Has Plastic Arms and Spider Legs?

Carmine G. Desapio accused the metropolitan press of "manufacturing stories" about the October Democratic Convention in a talk sponsored by the Democratic Forum last night.

Speaking before a group of one hundred students in Town Hall Auditorium, the First Assembly District Leader said that the "fog" appellation was unfounded and only based on conclusions by people who were "befuddled by the press.

"Many people had to worry about keeping up sales," he charged. "Others were eating the "fog.""

Desapio said, "the press ignored one of its prime responsibilities. It seems to me it is always fashionable to attack Tammany because nobody knows what it actually is."

He blamed the internal conflicts of the Democratic Party on the reactions aroused by "certain insurgent groups within the party."

"Many people find it difficult to understand," he said, "why I don't rant and rave to counteract the attacks of my opponents who question my qualifications to hold office."

"They think that in order to be a politician one must be a demagogue," he continued. "This is not the case. For it is a demagogue who is the exception rather than the rule."

A political organization, according to the controversial Democrat, must be an option for "civic action, but it serves also as a forum for debate of political items."

"Intra-party debate," Mr. Desapio said, "is a healthy sign of a vigorous organization whose members explore and evaluate its platform." (English) and Kalman Seigle. Su-

In a talk sponsored by the John H. Finley Public Lecture Series for the publication of "Fair Play," a story entitled "Tea Party."

The Campus will also be honored for their feature articles on D. Buel G. Gallagher by Edward Konets.

The award was presented at the John H. Finley Public Lecture on "The Newspaper and Society" at 1 PM in the Faculty Room.

OP Editorial Wins Journalism Award

Observation Post will receive the annual undergraduate Journalism Award Thursday for its editorial entitled "Fair Play."

"The popular vote" criticized the suspension of four Prominent editors last Spring for the publication of a story entitled "Tea Party."

The Campus will also be honored for their feature articles on D. Buel G. Gallagher by Edward Konets.

"Fair Play?" criticized the suspension of four Prominent editors last Spring for the publication of a story entitled "Tea Party."

The award will be presented at the John H. Finley Public Lecture on "The Newspaper and Society" at 1 PM in the Faculty Room.

Judges for the competition included Professor Irving Rosenblatt (English), Kalman Seigle, Sarita Neuman, Edward Konets, and John H. Finley.

The meeting will be held in Room M 118 Finley if it rains.
Where It Hurts...

As students play the part of agonized spectators again, their pocketbooks are being drained and their self-respect insulted.

The Finley Center, supported in large part by student fees, appears more and more costly to operate. Now, only the apparently certain approval by Dean Daniel F. Brophy remained. The two dollar raise in the Finley Center student fee is instituted. And the students watch, unconsulted and unnoticed.

The money will go through the same channels, of course. It will reach Dean Brophy’s desk and he will probably sign it. Then President Gallagher will pass it on to the administration. This, after all is the Finley Student Center. If they don’t like it, they can resign.

And the students will prepare to dig up two dollars, not knowing why, just knowing that there must be an increase.

But grave doubt exists whether the real problems surrounding the center are being solved by the two dollars. In any effort being undertaken to route payment to personnel who receive salaries, one must go to the financial offices and actually hold one’s position.

Are organizations like House Plan provided with any effort being undertaken to rule out payment to personnel who receive salaries from two sources but actually hold one’s position? It was one of those nights. And we were pretty lucky.

As students play the part of agonized spectators again, the question of the religious and political clubs... Oh, but that’s where we...

The Lost Tome

There were 80,000 words composing seventeen editorial and twenty-nine pages of qualifications and candidates’ statements. Members of the SG, not being addicted to trigger-happy gunslingers, thought the SG Executive Council said it was all off. Next week, said Like Mellie Berman was ineligible, and this would give candidates for all SG and class offices an opportunity to fill petitions.

Of course the boys in the SG Election Agency weren’t too happy about the whole thing. They had just alphabetized 5,000 names. Like Mellie Berman was kind of disappointed. Willow Spruce was relieved and apparently had a better picture of the candidates than her picture was on the page. Upper right hand corner too. Well Mellie, there’s always tomorrow.

Pres. Buell G. Gallagher

Moderates Discussion

“I have met and supervised competent teachers,” he said, “and I have found that the competent teacher has presented controversial material sufficiently well to teach,” he said.

Dr. Lenz testified “that a teacher should be dismissed or refused appointment only if he has been proven to be professionally incompetent.”

Mr. Ruscher sharply differed with the professor. “I disagree that any old individual should be allowed to teach until it is proven that he is not competent,” he declared.

“The burden of proof, for the sake of the academy, ought to be on the accused to prove that, despite everything, he can be a good teacher,” he said.

QUESTIONS TASTE

Academic Freedom Week without the usual discussions and debates between conventional and controversial persons has met with varying reactions among members of the faculty and the student body.

Pres. Buell G. Gallagher said that he has always supported the ideas of Academic Freedom Week; as set forth by the United States National Students Association. He felt that it was the privilege of the student body not to have guest speakers if it did not wish.

Prof. Brunwick, the recipent of the first Academic Freedom Award in 1964, stated that “the procedure adopted by the College in dealing with students involved in this question of taste need reform.”

If you're stting with the good old non-filter cigarette, you can't do betther than Philip Morris—a mild, rich, tasty smoke, made by the people who smoke Marlboros.

SCHULTZ IS A MANY SPLENDORED THING

Beppo Schulta, boulevardier, raconteur, connoisseur, sportsman, bon vivant, halliwell fellow wet—in short, typical American college student, made today’s front page.

“Why do you smoke today’s Marboros, hey?” a friend recently asked Beppo Schulta.

“I smoke today’s new Marlboros,” replied Beppo, looking up from his 2.9 liter L-head Hotchkiss drive double overhead camshaft British sports car, “because they are so much better than yesterday’s.” said Beppo.

“Like this 2.9 liter L-head Hotchkiss drive double overhead camshaft British sports car?” asked the friend.

“Exactly,” said Beppo.

“She’s a beauty,” said the friend, looking admirably at the car. “How long have you had her?”

“Five weeks,” said Beppo.

“Sorry,” said the friend. “How long have you had him?”

“About a year,” said Beppo.

“Have you done a lot of work on him?” asked the friend.

“Oh, have I not!” cried Beppo. “I have replaced the pushrods with a Roots type supercharger. I have replaced the torque with a synchromesh. I have replaced the tachometer with a double side draft carburetor.”

“Grazioso!” exclaimed the friend.

“I have replaced the hood with a bonnet,” said Beppo.

“Load o’ Gothen!” exclaimed the friend.

“And I have put gloves in the glove compartment,” said Beppo.

My, you have been the busy one,” said the friend. “You must be exhausted.”

“Maybe a little,” said Beppo, with a bravo little smile.

“Know what I do when I’m tired?” said the friend.

“Light a Marlboro?” ventured Beppo.

“Oh, phew, you guessed!” said the friend, posting.

“But it was easy,” said Beppo, chuckling kindly. “When the eyeless drop and the muscled nail and the psyche is depleted, the more sane thing to do is to park up with today’s new Marlboro!”

“A great new smoke with better ‘makins’ and a great new filter,” said the friend, his young eyes glistening.

“Changed to keep pace with today’s changing world!” declared Beppo, whistling his arms in concentric circles. “A cigarette for a manner age, an age of greater leisure and more beckoning horizons!”

Now, tired but happy, Beppo and his friend lit Marlboros and smoked for a time in deep, silent contemplation. At length the friend spoke. “He certainly is a beauty,” he said.

“Mean my 2.9 liter L-head Hotchkiss drive double overhead camshaft British sports car?” asked Beppo.

“You,” said the friend. “How fast will you go?”

“Woll, I don’t rightly know,” said Beppo. “I can’t find the starting line.”

© 1959 Mac McGee
Hypnosis Helps Students

BY EDITH SHAPIRO

Not only is hypnosis of great aid to surgeons and detectives, but it can also be valuable to students.

Dr. Nelson LiCalzi, in a talk sponsored by the Caduceus and Psychology Societies, said Thursday, "A hypnotized student would retain more knowledge he had prepared for a test than would an unaffected person. The use of this method," he said, "can bring in stored and forgotten mental recordings."

The medical profession is currently using hypnosis in instances of cardiacs who cannot tolerate anesthesia. "Hypnosis has none of the drawbacks of dulling medications," he said. "This system is non-toxic and relieves the patient completely."

"A post-hypnotic suggestion can be placed and reinforced regularly so as to prevent pain during early convalescent stages," he continued. "Bleeding under hypnosis is only 10% of normal blood flow," Dr. LiCalzi said. He proved his point in a recent instance of a patient's left arm. While the equanimity of the audience groaned, the subject, a young girl, did not change her relaxed facial expression. After awakening from her trance, the subject acted upon a post-hypnotic suggestion and removed the object herself. One drop of blood flowed as a result of this puncture.

Criminologists find hypnosis more valuable than the lie detector, he asserted. "A person may sometimes lie successfully when tested by the lie detector," said Dr. LiCalzi, "but he cannot do so under hypnosis.

The doctor scored the Bing Morphy episode as "a lot of bunk." "It is impossible for a person to be repressed beyond birth," he said.

According to the doctor, the black magic or voodoo art practiced in ancient civilizations is actually a form of hypnotism. "When a witch doctor sticks pins into dolls and repeatedly tells the patient he is going to die," he is using suggestibility, he said. The person who is mentally stronger will win in the end.

The Mayo Brothers Clinic, in Minnesota, has on file case histories of healthy people who informed the consulting doctors of their imminent death. Although there was nothing physically wrong, these people were convinced they were going to die and they did die—very often on the day they had predicted," he said.

"When little Johnny begs his mother for Post Toasties or the Lone Ranger's authentic badge, he does not necessarily want them, but is being hypnotized by the advertisers' hidden persuaders," he said the physician.

Dr. LiCalzi warned against hypnosis in the hands of an amateur. "Failure to remove a post-hypnotic suggestion can ruin the patient."
Rah, Rah . . .

There are still positions open on the cheerleaders squad for any male or female interested. The squad is an all year affair, with competitions and games throughout the year. The next meeting of the Beaver cheerleaders is to be held Thursday, at 3:30 P.M. in the coliseum at Lewishon Stadium.

Netten Win Against Rams At Fordham

Barely averting a shutdown by a draw and a doubles victory, the College's netmen were soundly defeated by Fordham Saturday, 7-4, 1-8, at the victor's Bronx courts.

The other Lavender victory was easier as Jay Hammel teamed up with Deutschman to outplay Rams, 6-1, 6-4. Fordham decided to leave its two top rams, Larry Brown and Dave Dizzy up by doubles after six straight Ram singles victories. Brown, one of the top players in the city, handed Hammel his first loss of the season earlier, 6-1, 6-4. Mark Buckstein moved up one notch to number two position behind Hammel as Mike Stone followed with a hit to center and the top players in the city, handed Hammel his first loss of the season earlier, 6-1, 6-4.

Leder pitched a strong game for Manhattan and when he was relieved in the seventh, the Jaspers had a comfortable lead. The only run allowed was due to a pitching lapse, but rather to some clever base running by the Beavers.

Against Rams, 6-1, 6-0. Jay Hammel his first loss of the season earlier, 6-1, 6-4; 6-0.

Tom Sullivan opened the fourth double with a single to right. Bill Nicholas followed with a hit to center and when the throw went to third, he second and second and took third on a throw to the plate.

The third baseman threw to second, but Nicholas was already there and the second sacker could make a return throw.

Leder pitched a strong game for Manhattan and when he was relieved in the seventh, the Jaspers had a comfortable lead. The only run allowed was due to a pitching lapse, but rather to some clever base running by the Beavers.

The third baseman threw to second, but Nicholas was already there and the second sacker could make a return throw, Sullivan.

The score was 3-1, with Luby forcing two batters for 15 hits; the sixth inning, when a fielding error gave them an opportunity that they quickly crashed in on.

The score was 3-1, with Luby forcing two batters for 15 hits; the sixth inning, when a fielding error gave them an opportunity that they quickly crashed in on.

Rosenberg and Marty Dougherty.

Willie Rodriguez with four goals.

Leading the attack for the former stars as Ron Bose, Mark Schiano on the hill for the Lavender, but Schoenberger, to a double by Schoenberger and a single by O'Leary. They stayed in the third on a triple to John Curry and singles by Bocca, Burkoski and Schoenberger.

In the seventh, with John Cusick on the hill for the Lavender, man Schoenberger came again with a mate on and point to thirty-foot homer.

His individual totals for the day: four hits, three runs, three batting in and eight total bases, but just what the Yankees currently produce per game. The Beavers scored a pair in the ninth off reliever Bob Sullivan, with walks to Dernas and Tom Sullivan and singles by Nicholas and Whelan.

The line score:

CCNY 000 100 002 — 3 7
Manhattan 012 003 21x — 9 15

The score was 3-1, with Luby forcing two batters for 15 hits; the sixth inning, when a fielding error gave them an opportunity that they quickly crashed in on.

The score was 3-1, with Luby forcing two batters for 15 hits; the sixth inning, when a fielding error gave them an opportunity that they quickly crashed in on.

beaten up 9-3 by Manhattan at Van Cortlandt field. Their 2-5 league record leaves them in fifth place in the standings. Although the Jaspers slugged two Lavender pitchers for 15 hits, the big break of the game came in the sixth inning, when a fielding lapse gave them an opportunity that they quickly crashed in on.

The score was 3-1, with Luby forcing two batters for 15 hits; the sixth inning, when a fielding error gave them an opportunity that they quickly crashed in on.

In his haste to start the twin-killing, he threw the ball wide of second and John Whelan was able to get back to the bag. So, instead of two out and nobody on, the Jaspers had two on and nobody out.

Mindana bore down to get Bob O'Leary on a fly, but Tom Leder, who obviously didn't know that pitchers aren't supposed to hit, tripled over Bob Catterson's head for two runs. Leder came scurrying home many moments later with the third run of the inning on a sacrifice fly by Roger Lesser. Thus, the error resulted in three unearned runs and a 6-1 deficit, which seemed to take the fight out of the Beavers.

Leder pitched a strong game for Manhattan and when he was relieved in the seventh, the Jaspers had a comfortable lead. The only run allowed was due to a pitching lapse, but rather to some clever base running by the Beavers.

Tom Sullivan opened the fourth double with a single to right. Bill Nicholas followed with a hit to center and when the throw went to third, he second and second and took third on a throw to the plate.

The third baseman threw to second, but Nicholas was already there and the second sacker could make a return throw, Sullivan.

leaves them in fifth place in the standings. Although the Jaspers slugged two Lavender pitchers for 15 hits, the big break of the game came in the sixth inning, when a fielding lapse gave them an opportunity that they quickly crashed in on.

The score was 3-1, with Luby forcing two batters for 15 hits; the sixth inning, when a fielding error gave them an opportunity that they quickly crashed in on.

Jaspers Defeat Nine Team Drops to Fifth

The College's baseball team suffered its fifth Met Conference loss Monday, being upended 9-3 by Manhattan at Van Cortlandt field.

The Beavers won all eight running events, but dropped five of six field contests against the Knights who topped the College, 76-61, last season.

Stan Dawson spearheaded the Lavender drive with four victories and 26 points. Dawson ran the 120 yard low hurdles in 10.78 twice thus far, and Herb Rosenberg, who has previously bettered the winning mark, committed fouls.

Coach Harry deGirolamo predicted our taking second and third places and their strength in the field.

Our taking second and third places and their strength in the field.

Before the meet, Lavender Coach Burkoski predicted, "This is going to be our toughest dual meet and it all depends on our taking second and third places and their strength in the field."

That's what happened as the Beavers were booted out as a surprising second place finish by Charlie Ligieri in the shot put and a victory by George Best in the broad jump put the Beavers out of the FDU reach.

In all, the College posted nine first places, eight second and six third places.

But Beavers led the Knights scoring with three wins and a second place showing in the field contests.

In the opener, the Beavers from double the FDU total, 52-26.

In the opener, the Beavers from double the FDU total, 52-26.

In the opener, the Beavers from double the FDU total, 52-26.

In the opener, the Beavers from double the FDU total, 52-26.