Pres. Requests SG Aid in School Bond Drive

Student Government was urged to play an active role in securing passage of a proposed $500,000,000 school bond issue by President Buell G. Gallagher yesterday.

"We have a great interest in quality of public education," said President Gallagher, who is also a member of the Board of Education. "Student Governments, which aren't always able to find worthy issues, might do well to take on an issue such as this bond issue."

By pointing out that the College eventually will receive students affected by a change in the status of the city's public schools, he said, "We should encourage them."

The bond issue will be brought up for a vote at the regular meeting on November 3. It is in the form of an amendment to the state Constitution, which requires a referendum outside of its constitutionally mandated limit.

President Gallagher also suggested that individual students at the College take a greater interest in the bond drive activities going on in the Harlem area.

He said that students might function their energies in the form of volunteering their services in the Physical and Health Education Department. And, he continued, "The students are the active majority of the Keep in mind that there is a strong atmosphere prevailing to prevent a recurrence of ballot stuffing..."

President Barry Kahn, the defeated candidate for Senior Class president, wrote in a letter to the Elections Agency, "I want the election results to be counted right.

Some of the students affected by a change in the status of the city's public schools, he said, "We should encourage them."

Although President Gallagher devoted most of his remarks to the bond issue, he did comment on the aid the Municipal Colleges received this year from the state. The College was originally to receive over $70,000. However, the city reduced its appropriations by $124,000. This means that the College will get only $97,000 extra, according to the President.

Most of this amount has been used by routine faculty salary increases, according to the President. Gallagher said, the city will not cut its appropriation.

Voice of the Student Body

Star of Female-Hoosiers Now Coaches Teammates

The petite forefront flash of last semester's Girls' Basketball Team is now the coach of the squad.

At twenty-one, Miss Betty Castro, a June graduate, has been appointed as a lecturer in the Physical and Health Education Department, and is also assisting in the Agricultural Department. Appropriately, her new duties include guiding the squad she captained the past two years.

Miss Castro,trim and attractive, with a large brown eye, is as sweet-looking as any of the girls wandering in and out of the South Campus Park Gymnasium building.

She is a good student, knows the game, and her knowledge was outstanding in it, in fact," Professor Laura Han, women's staff director, on the "recommendation of all the class members."

Along with Miss Mary Tansy, also twenty-one when named to the department staff, Miss Castro possibly holds the distinction of becoming a faculty member in the youngest age in the history of the college. They are among twelve women's physical education majors majoring in the College, since the curriculum was established in 1956.

For her first two years here as a student, Miss Castro majored in biology, planning eventually to become a faculty member at the College. She also instructs an evening session gym class.

"I can't remember exactly what prompted me to change majors," she said, "I guess I just like to work with people and this provides the opportunity on a broader scale." In her first semester as a lecturer, Miss Castro is teaching calisthenics and modern dance in a freshman class and a course 1n tennis at the university. She also instructs an evening session gym class.

In addition she'll devote eight hours weekly to coaching the junior varsity basketball team.
Insulation

Students at the College as well as Student Government were urged yesterday by President Gallagher to play a more active role in the community surrounding the College. They were asked to look beyond our hallowed Convent Avenues to an area which is the College's geographical neighbor as well as one of our city's most troubled sections.

Many have come to the College in the past, spent four years here, and gone away with a measure of "learning" compiled from a long list of excellent books, and the teachings of some of the most learned men in the world. The College has much to be proud of in this field.

But many of these same students neglected something which later cost them very dearly. They forgot that anywhere man lives and works he must involve himself with the community, or both he and his community will suffer from a lack of proper guidance and contact. Man cannot be whole and complete if he isolates himself from the realities and problems of his surroundings. In the same way the College and its students and faculty members cannot expect and should not attempt to seal the College off from the Harlem community of which we are a part.

The President's suggestions provide a forward-looking answer to the College's involvement in community affairs. All of us should be aware of the great revolting taking place in Harlem today over the question of the fitness of public schools. Part of the answer to this great question obviously lies in the procurement of additional funds with which to attract more and better teachers for the city's young people.

The President's plan includes a partial answer to the question of where additional funds will be found. In addition to the millions of dollars which the College has already secured for SG to play an active role in an area which it has never attempted to influence before, the College is planning to speak to past SG Presidents. It appears that the Committee will prepare a lengthy and detailed report. However, time is short. Student Government suffers from a lack of officers and a lack of officers and a lack of interest on the part of the students. This Committee is one of the most important groups of the College, and we are a part of it.

The Committee begins its work this term while Student Government is one of the most important groups of the College, and we are a part of it.

The legal status and powers of Student Government (SG) will be discussed by the Committee to Reorganize SG at its first meeting today at 12 Noon. President Buell G. Gallagher appointed the committee of two students and two faculty members last semester.

Mr. Stanley Fegmold (Government), Professor Lawrence Podell (Sociology), Renee Roth, last term's SG President and Stanley Gross, previous Editor-in-Chief of Tech News comprise the four member committee. Mr. Fegmold agreed to coach the coed squad. Miss Castro has agreed to coach the coed squad.

It appears that the Committee will prepare a lengthy and detailed report. However, time is short. Student Government has been deteriorating for the past few terms and if the present condition continues it is doubtful whether it can be saved. The President has believed for election in the future. If students run for Student Government they must feel they are voting for something responsible, and they should be able to pass legislation which will be implemented.

We hope for the sake of the future of Student Government that a report appears in the new future, a report which will add new life and revitalize our crumbling Student Government.
A student who attends Harvard's Public Health School, for example, might study preventive medicine, with an emphasis on international health. Or he might choose to specialize in infectious diseases, with an emphasis on tuberculosis or malaria. In either case, he would be expected to complete a two-year course of study, followed by a year of supervised practice in a hospital or clinic.

Lavender Five Prepare, Faces Tri-State Schedule
BY JOE LOWIN
An automatic bid to the NCAA Small College Basketball Turnney is open to the Lavender Five this year as a result of joining the Tri-State League. The league consists of eleven teams from the states of New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. Each year the winner of the Tri-State League is automatically tendered an invitation to the NCAA tournament.

Some of the Tri-State teams the college has met in the past are: Fairleigh Dickinson, LIU, Adelphi and Hunter. In addition the College will play Yeshiva University, Kings Point, Bridgeport, and Fairfield.

In order to make room on the schedule for the College's new rival, the traditional two game series with Hunter, Brooklyn and Queens was terminated. The College will meet these teams only once this year.

Coach Nat Holman, however, is very pessimistic about the team's chances this year. "We've lost Hector Lewis and Joel Ascher and Mike Gerber, one of the finest freshmen in years, winning eleven out of eighteen games. Among the standout performers were Mike Gerber, who set a new freshman scoring record for a single game, and Alasco Shapiro who averaged sixteen points a game."

The coach then explained that last year's freshmen will be used extensively to fire up the team. "But," he admitted, "varsity ball is a lot tougher than the competition encountered in frosh games."

Last year's Frosh squad posted 125-pound, five-foot-six Beaver wrestling coach has the record to prove the worth of a good little man. As an undergraduate at the University of Illinois, Professor Saporin won the NCAA title in the 119-pound class in 1929 and 1930.

In 1931 and 1932 he won the Met National Commissioner of Pop Warner's Midget Football Team, granted by the Franklin Society of Philadelphia and the US Marine Corps. Coaching soccer since 1920, his team has won the Metropolitan Conference outright four times and tied for it once.

Jack Rider was appointed head coach of swimming in 1946. His teams have thrice captured the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association and as Secretary-Treasurer of the Metropolitan Swimming Association.

As the week progressed, new circumstances, good and bad arose. Nick Wohlgemuth was injured his right knee and he will sit out for about a week. On the plus side of things, Alan Houtkruyer, a goalie for the Jags last year, is showing a very well on the practice field. He says, "this season we'll have a strong team that will improve as the season progresses."

In last year's Tri-State League competition Adelphi came out on top, with Fairleigh Dickinson and Yeshiva, a close second and third respectively.

As to the raction of the League as a whole to the acceptance of Yeshiva and the College, a spokesman said, "We think it's wonderful; the more, the merrier."

A spokesman for Yeshiva University, the first League team on the College's Schedule, said he expected the Beaver's to be a contender for the title. "Sure, we'll be tough," answered Professor Holman, "if the boys come out regularly. I expect to put together a strong team that will improve as the season progresses."

A member of the faculty since 1920, Professor Karlin has either coached or taught every sport ever played at the College, including water-polo. Because of this versatility, he now holds the title of National Commissioner of Pop Warner's Midget Football Team, granted by the Franklin Society of Philadelphia and the US Marine Corps. Coaching soccer since 1920, his team has won the Metropolitan Conference outright four times and tied for it once.
