Non-Partisan Appointments to BHE Alumni Association President Urges

Protection against partisan politics influencing the appointment of members to the Board of Higher Education (BHE) has been urged by Clifford O. Anderson, President of the Alumni Association in a statement to Mayor Robert Wagner.

"We are not saying that this is present in this administration but it has existed in the past," said Anderson, a member of the special Alumni Association Committee to Study Vacancies on the BHE.

Suggestions for uniform qualifications for service on the BHE were offered to the Mayor in the "Statement of criteria" submitted by the special Alumni Committee.

The twenty-two members of the BHE serve nine year terms by appointment of the Mayor who does not presently have any set qualification standards to guide him in appointments.

"The standards of higher education and the expansion of educational opportunities in New York City depend on the policy decisions adopted by the BHE," according to the statement submitted to the Mayor.

"Therefore it is the goal of our alumni organization to see to it that only the best qualified citizens serve on this policy making board for the municipal colleges," the statement continued.

According to the provisions set forth in the statement, to qualify for the BHE position, men and women should have:

- Demonstrated exemplary leadership in civic and communal affairs in the city and a record of being in the forefront of fighting for worthy causes.
- Expressed a firm commitment to the ideal of free public higher education.
- Demonstrated a sympathetic

Alumni Association. "We wish to establish the principle, not have a specific person appointed to the post," he continued.

He urged that in the future there should be more outstanding members in the field of education appointed.

The statement also emphasizes the desirability of the appointment of graduates and former professors of the municipal colleges.

Anderson and three members of the special Alumni Committee; Judge Stanley Fult '24, Murray A. Gorden '41, and Judge John M. Murtagh '31, presented the statement of "criteria for service on the BHE to the Mayor.

Subsequently it was approved by the other members of his committee and the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association.

Copies of the statement were circulated to the alumni officials at the other municipal colleges with a request that similar action be taken by them as part of a coordinated effort at all four institutions.

Humanist Group Forms at College

A club has been formed at the College for those students who feel that "the supernatural aspects of living should be abandoned and replaced with a stress on science."

David Bell, chairman of the new chapter of the American Humanist Association, said that "Humanism is a philosophy which can enable the individual to better understand life" by abandoning the mystical way of life and emphasizing science and its contribution to human well being.

"This organization is for students who value the concepts of humanism as distinguished from supernaturalism," he explained. The American Humanist Association is strongly in favor of religious tolerance and civil liberties.

Bell explained that "We formed the chapter because although all the religious denominations had organizations, the many Humanists of the College had no organization to represent its viewpoints." He added that "This organization has no set dogma or creed and leaves the choice of action and belief entirely to the individual."

The group is considering a general program of lectures by prominent humanists and some social activity, but a specific program will be left to the decision of its members. A current topic on the agenda is the Asch Bill, currently before the legislature. Many humanists favor the bill which will establish Blue (Sabbath) Laws.

Classes are now being formed for Driving Education courses which are given by the Empire Automobile Driving Association in conjunction with the SG Service Agency. The duration of the course is six weeks. There are two different plans used costing $50 and $32. The latter course offers fewer driving and observation hours at the more expensive one.

The lectures are held at school on Fridays, from 5-7 PM in the City Center. Deadline for registration is Monday, November 9. For additional information, driving manual, and application blanks go to Room 341 Finley.

Gallagher Charges:

Alleged Existence of 'Widespread' Bigotry

By ED MARSTON

President Buell G. Gallagher said yesterday that Observation Post had alleged that "discrimination is widespread at City College."

The story and editorial in Tuesday's issue concerned the exclusion of a Negro girl from Sigma Tau Delta (STD) on the basis of race.

The newspaper's charge that discrimination is widespread at City College is so contrary to the facts that it does not demand even a defense from me," the President said in a statement released yesterday.

Sigma Tau Delta does not have a policy of discrimination and has had one," wrote President Gallagher, Tuesday.

In his Wednesday press conference he said, "I have already had such procedures as I deem necessary to find out what (Psychology), one of the men who prepared the briefs in the 1954 Supreme Court desegregation case, said Tuesday, "It is not news to me that discrimination exists here.

"City College people are not isolated from the society in which they live. They do, however, show more anguish and soul searching when discrimination does occur," Professor Clark said.

Professor Mark Brunswick (Chmn. Music) said, "Everybody was completely shocked that the situation exists. I think this is a situation that should be looked into particularly by Student Government."

Professor Stanley Feingold (Government) said that "City College students are not purer than others. They too are guilty of prejudice. A large proportion of them," he continued, "are particularly conscious of race and religion. They go to great lengths to disclaim any prejudice," he said.

of the STD situation. I shall continue to do my best at the facts of that situation," he said. "It is now a serious story."

President Gallagher said that he was pleased that the members of the college had "unanimously reaffirmed the principle that race or religion never play a part in any evaluation of a candidate's qualifications."

"Common sense tells us that fraternities and sororities are not democratic. The genius of fraternities and sororities is not a democratic one," he said.

"Before, I am always endeavored when I find a sorority or fraternity working for the common good or making a serious effort to be inclusive in its membership," Gallagher said.

Russian Enrollment Quadruples

By LEONARD SALTZBERG

Student enrollment in Russian 51 has quadrupled, announced Professor John B. Olli (Germanic and Slavic Languages).

The Professor, who has taught Russian at the College since its introduction two years ago, attributed the tremendous increase in student interest to the recent importance which Russia has gained through its scientific and technological advances.

"Two years ago, we had only twenty-five students enrolled in our Russian 51 class, but this semester we have more than 100 people taking the course," Professor Olli said recently. He expressed the hope that more people would take Russian at the College.

"Knowing Russian would be a helpful link between the Russian and American people as it would make possible an exchange of customs and ideas," he said. "However, this does not mean that there would be a strengthening of ties between the two countries."

"The College has been very cooperative in meeting the demands of the students by supplying teachers and facilities upon request."

he remarked.

"I feel that we would have a relaxation of tensions between much greater enrollment if students would lose the general misconception that Russian is a difficult language. It is no more difficult than other languages," he observed. "Any average student can overcome the difficulties that there may be in the language."

Professor Olli asserted that one reason students do not take Russian in College is that "they prefer continuing with the language learned in high school. It's too bad Russian is given only in a few high schools in the city," he added.

Your Turn

Observation Post discovered discrimination existing in a sorority at the College.

Observation Post reported the facts of the situation, commented on it editorially, and was accused by President Buell G. Gallagher of charging that "discrimination is widespread at the College."

We did not say discrimination is running rampant throughout the College. We did say and we reiterate that Sigma Tau Delta's situation is not unique.

President Gallagher said the "genus of fraternities and sororities is not a democratic one. Common sense tells us that fraternities and sororities are not democratic." He also said that no "group is permitted to exist if its charter or by-laws excludes individuals on the basis of race, religion, or national origins." If an organization does not follow its by-laws it does not deserve the right to exist at the College.

If fraternities and sororities are not democratic—not in that they exclude—but that they exclude on the basis of race, religion, or national origins they should be abolished.

We have discovered discrimination in one sorority. It is not our duty to discover if all the social fraternities and sororities practice discrimination.

We feel that as a newspaper we have done our part. We have reported the truth: the evidence and the facts have been printed.

It is now the administration's turn. The administration can let the issue slide. It can assume that Sigma Tau Delta is a unique group at the College; or it can face the issue squarely and search out the truth whatever it may be.

We have done our part.

BHE Criteria

We who are truly concerned with the welfare of our schools recognize the great importance of keeping partisan politics out of our school system.

A document which holds a great deal of significance for the future in this area is the "statement of criteria" for the filling of vacant posts on the Board of Higher Education.

This statement was submitted to the Mayor by the special Alumni Committee to Fill Vacancies on the BHE. It proposes that the mayor be guided by a uniform set of qualifications in appointing members to the BHE.

Presently the mayor has the power to appoint members to the nine year post but there is no set criterion to guide him in his selection.

In the past, competence, integrity and experience have not been primary considerations in the selection process. In one year two men were appointed by the mayor whose only qualifications seemed to be that their fathers were campaign treasurers of the mayor in two previous election campaigns.

Clearly these men were not qualified to know or understand the problems of the municipal colleges and were influenced in their decisions by extraneous interests.

There is an incredible absence of educational experts on the BHE.

We along with the Alumni Committee would like to see a BHE composed of educational experts, who have educational know-how, parents who are most concerned, experts in the field of school construction and finance, and former faculty members and alumni of the municipal colleges.

We urge the other municipal colleges and the mayor to endorse this proposal.

In the future this would enable only those with a sincere concern for public education and a progressive attitude on the school problems facing them to serve and would separate politics from education.

Work On E-Day '60 Is Begun

Preparations for next term's Engineering Day (E-Day) program are now underway, according to the newly elected chairmen of the event.

The Technology Intersociety Interfraternity Council (TIIC) last week elected Michael Cook and Michael Blum as co-chairmen of this spring's E-Day. Both seniors have served on previous E-Day Committees.

E-Day is the day when various scientific exhibits are put on display at different points at the College.

According to Cook, next term's E-Day program will "be designed to especially appeal to high school students."

Cook said yesterday that each of the four major divisions in the engineering school are already preparing exhibits for the program. In addition exhibits will be open to high school students, other students at the College, members of industry, and the general public.

In order to arouse high school interest, said Cook, "A plan which involves the sending of representatives to various high schools to publicize E-Day is now under consideration."

Last semester a large number of high school seniors attended the E-Day proceedings.

"We are still searching for new ideas," said Cook. "All suggestions for a better, more successful E-Day will surely be welcomed."

The co-chairmen urged students who wish to work on the E-Day publicity committee to sign their names on the TIIC bulletin board at Technology Crossroads.

USIA Translates 'Liberals' Book

A book written by twelve men presently or formerly connected with the College has recently been translated into Hindi and Vietnamese by the United States Information Agency.

The book, "Great American Liberals," is composed of new interpretations of the lives and influence of twelve great Americans, according to a communique from Beacon Press, publishers of the book.

President Buell G. Gallagher contributed an article on "Tom Paine" to the book.

Supreme Court Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter, Class of '02, added an article on the famed jurist, Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Among others contributing to the book were Dean Samuel Middlebrook (Liberal Arts), Dean Oscar Zeichner (Graduate School), and Professor Bernard Reush (History). The latter three contributed articles on Henry David Thoreau, Abraham Lincoln, and Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Proceeds from the sale of the book will go to the City College Club. According to the publishers, the proceeds will be used to aid athletics at the College, student guidance, and the cultural program of the City College Club.

LANGUAGE MADE SIMPLE: NO. 1

In this day of swift international communications, like radio, television, and the raft, it becomes more and more important to be solidly grounded in foreign languages. Accordingly, I have asked the makers of Philip Morris whether I might not occasionally forego levity in this column and instead use it for a lesson in language.

"Of course, silly!" chuckled the makers of Philip Morris, tousling my yellow locks. Oh, grand men they are, just as full of natural goodness as the cigarettes they make, just as clean and fresh, just as friendly, just as agreeable to have along in all times and climes and places. "Of course, fond boy," laughed the makers and tossed me up and down in a blanket until, giddy with giggling, I bade them desist, and then we all had basins of farina and smoked Philip Morrises and sang songs until the campfire had turned to embers.

For our first lesson in language we will take-up French. We will approach French in the modern manner—ignoring the tedious rules of grammar and concentrating instead on idiom. After all, when we go to France, what does it matter if we can parse and conjugate? What matters is that we should be able to speak idiomatic conversational French.

So, for the first exercise, translate the following real, true-to-life dialogue between two real, true-to-life Frenchmen named Claude (pronounced Clohd) and Pierre (also pronounced Clohd).

CLAUDE: Good morning, sir. Can you direct me to the nearest monk?

PIERRE: I have regret, but I am a stranger here myself.

CLAUDE: Is it that you come from the France?

PIERRE: You have right.

CLAUDE: I also. Come, let us mount the airplane and return ourselves to the France.

PIERRE: We must defend from smoking until the airplane elevates itself.

CLAUDE: Ah, now it has elevated itself. Will you have a Philippe Maurice?

PIERRE: Mercy.

CLAUDE: How many years has the small gray cat of the sick admiral?

PIERRE: She has four years, but the tall brown dog of the short blacksmith has only three.

CLAUDE: In the garden of my aunt it makes warm in the summer and cold in the winter.

PIERRE: What a coincidence! In the garden of my aunt too!

CLAUDE: Ah we are landing. Regard how the airplane depresses itself.

PIERRE: What shall you do in the France?

CLAUDE: I shall make a promenade and see various sights of cultural significance, like the Louvre, the Tomb of Napoleon, and the Eiffel Tower... What shall you do?

PIERRE: I shall try to pick up the stewardess.

CLAUDE: Long live the France!

College's newly formed JV Basketball team held practice session of the season last Friday at the Center Gymnasium.

"I'm not at all surprised at the outcome," commented Coach Wolfe afterwards. "I only had a small number of boys out, as has been the case in the past. The team will be comprised of the boys who aren't quite good enough to play varsity."

and Friday, from 4 to 6 PM. Coach Wolfe plans to carry eighteen men on the roster.

"Varsity Coach Nat Holman and I will work together in shifting boys from the JV to the varsity, and vice-versa. In this way a boy who shows he might have what it takes, will get a chance to prove it, and one who doesn't live up to the original expectations of Nat (Holman) will be provided with an opportunity to get more work."

Coach Wolfe expects Herbie Brandwine and Howie Bresslow, both of whom played on the Baruch team last year, to find berths with the varsity this season. He has a few boys returning to his own squad, including Lenny Quadnitz, who in the Coach's own words "has played very good ball in the past."

The JV schedule will consist of ten games, the first of which will be played against the College's Freshman here at the Goethals Gym on December 7, at 6:30 PM.

No admission will be charged to any of the games.

'We Not I'

By STEVE SOLOMON

How good is our soccer team? With only two days left before RPI invades Lewisohn Stadium to decide who will be eliminated from contention for the New York State title and a bid to the National Championship playoffs, this question deserves attention. The Beaver eleven has whipped two opponents already this season but there has been an unusual amount of doubt regarding the merits of the team. They have been compared with amazing regularity to former College squads. No one, however, has made a fair comparison.

I walked into the squad's locker room Saturday, right after their victory over the Long Island Aggies. Heinz Minnerop was standing near his locker drying himself from the shower he had taken. "How do you feel Heinz," this reporter asked, "you know you just broke the College scoring record." "So what?" replied Minnerop. The answer floored me. Here I was ready to take down some juicy remarks and all he said was: "so what." The answer was easily understood, though. What he meant was that his individual record doesn't mean anything.

It's the team's record that's going to determine the New York State Champion.

Heinz Minnerop is the star of the team, if this team has a star. In past years the Beaver squad was made up of the greatest individual players in the country. They combined to make the team one of the finest in the country. This year the team is made up of players who were hidden in the backround of the former squads. Players like Marco Wachter, Andy Soukas, Les Solney, whose names aren't as recognizable as those of Paranos, Schlisser and Sund. Man for man this year's team can't compare with former teams but what good are man for man comparisons? The big thing is how the boys play together. The comparisons this year have been unfair because they've been man to man comparisons. People have failed to see, that as a team this is just as great a club as any in the past.

In the locker room they were a relaxed group of athletes, but they still resembled a team. The boys were milling around each other discussing the game. Next to Minnerop's locker was an occupied cubicle of a player on last years squad. Written on it in big white letters was "prima donna." I didn't inquire why, or who put it there. I just took a guess, inwardly.

Some of the boys had finished dressing and were about to leave. I looked at them and realized what a big part each had played in helping the team to its two victories. There was Les Solney, the greatest defensive back I have ever seen with the possible exception of John Paranos. There was Andy Soukas, a player who is finally getting the recognition he deserves because he's getting the opportunity to score. There was Marco Wachter, who was injured last year but is playing the finest soccer of his career this year. And there were others — Minnerop, Bilous, Wohlgenuth, Houtkruyer, Papa, and all the rest, each one of them an integral part of the Lavender machine.

The machine goes back to work Saturday. For those who think it isn't as strong as it was in years past, the final score may change your mind. "The Phoenix," an undergraduate newspaper of Queens College wrote on October 6, of this year — "Coming up this Wednesday is a match with the mighty CCNY team, one of the best in the country." If the opposition still thinks so, why don't we?

RPI Not Invincible, Lost Saturday, 4-3

"Always worry about a team that loses, because they'll be up for the next game," was Coach Harry Karlin's way of saying that Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's upset defeat last Saturday does not make that team any less tough to beat.

Brockport State Teachers stunned the RPI club which rates as one of the College's strongest foes this season, 4-3, in a game which required two overtime periods to decide on the losers' own home field.

The teachers had not fared too well before this contest, which Brockport Coach A. Huntley Parker described as one in which "we got some breaks." He confessed that the RPI booters didn't look overly impressive in this contest in which his boys had to come from behind in the second overtime, after permitting their opponents the lead goal in the initial overtime frame. Parker hinted that RPI's inside left, Hector Leal was a boy to contend with.

Before the fray, Parker admitted that he didn't expect his young club to beat the Engineers, who ranked seventh in the nation last year. But RPI showed that it missed several of last campaign's top men by making some mistakes not made by men with experience.

Coach Bob Lueft of RPI admitted the defeat was an upset but is not concerned about it. He stated that "we made mistakes. Our goalie, who had never played the position before this season, is inexperienced. We're not concerned about our offense, though."

While Coach Karlin is taking one game at a time, the November 8 duel with Pratt looms not far away. With the probable elimination of RPI this Saturday, at least, according to Brockport Coach Parker, the Pratt game will be the main hurdle for the booters in their drive towards victory and Storrs, Connecticut.

Cross-Country Meet Declared Void Adelphi Unable To Field Full Squad

By WARREN GREENBERG

The Harriers' scheduled meet with Adelphi was declared void yesterday when Adelphi was unable to field a full complement of runners at Van Cortlandt Park. The event was proclaimed a "practice meet" in a statement issued by the two coaches after the Jean Brief, the co-captain of the team, finally ran the race he is capable of running, according to coach Harry deGiralomo.

phi's top runners. "He can really move. If he hadn't gotten off to a bad start he could have broken twenty-nine minutes."

Everyone was visibly pleased with Brief's performance. It was the consensus of opinion on the squad that with Brief healthy, and sophs John Rohde, Marty Weinless, and Dennis Clark, each improving his time, and with Mel Siegel, the other co-captain, back, the squad will become something to be reckoned with as the season progresses.

"The boys really ran well," boasted Coach deGiralomo, "Almost everybody's time was improved, and I was especially pleased with Jean," he explained. "He really looked great."

"I won't make any predictions about the rest of the season," Coach continued. "I'm just ahead to Kings Point on Saturday. They're a tough team, but can be beaten," he added coolly.

Harry deGiralomo 'Looking ahead'

Jean, who got off to a poor start, drew praise from everyone on both teams. "That French guy really ran a nice race today," remarked Bill Jaker, one of Adel-
