Music...

Brochard A. J. Moute of the Ethical Culture Society will speak on the topic of “The Kennel Ethical Culture Society will do what is right in the face of the future.” In his talk, sponsored by the College’s Committee for African Student Affairs, he will discuss the future policy of the administration, and how it will affect the students. The talk will be held Thursday at 12:30 PM in Room 207, Finley.

Rockefeller Signs City U. Measure

The College, together with the remaining three municipal colleges, officially became the City University of New York at 4:30 PM on Tuesday, when Mayor Robert F. Kennedy and Dr. John R. Everett signed the bill enabling the City University to become a reality. He was present when he becomes chancellor this year when he becomes chancellor for less than a year. Dr. Everett will have occupied the present post for less than a year when he becomes chancellor of the new university. He was selected by the Board of Higher Education (BHE) as the first Chancellor of the Municipal Colleges on June 3, 1960.

(Continued On Page 6)

Re-evaluation of Bobby Sand Case Ordered By State Supreme Court

State Supreme Court Justice Russell Hunt ruled March 31 that the Commissioner of Education must reconsider Harry R. (Bobby) Sand’s appeal for reinstatement as a hygiene teacher.

President Buell G. Gallagher had suspended Mr. Sand from his teaching position in 1955 for his part in the 1951 baseball scandal. Mr. Sand was reassigned by Prov. Gallagher in 1954 to an administrative post in the Department of Planning and Design.

During Education Commissioner Edwin R. Noyes had ruled in August, 1950 that too much time had elapsed since Sand’s transfer from the Department of Physical Education for him to consider the case.

Justice Hunt’s ruling orders the Commissioner to disregard the passage of time and “consider the case on its merits.”

The former assistant coach said yesterday that his main interest in the case is in “regaining my teaching position in the Physical Education Department.” Mr. Sand had achieved tenure in 1950 and is drawing the same salary in his administrative post as he would as a teacher.

This will be the second appeal the former assistant coach has directed to the Commissioner of Education. He unsuccessfully appealed his case before the Board of Higher Education (BHE) in March.

At his press conference yesterday, President Gallagher said Education Commissioner James Allen had three possible courses open to him in responding to Mr. Sand’s latest appeal: He can consider the case on its merits, appeal it to a different court, or appeal it back to the State Supreme Court.

Boycott of Cafeterias Approved by Council

Student Council acted late last night to authorize a possible boycott of the College’s cafeterias.

Charging that the Student Faculty Committee (SFCC) “has been intolerably slow in acting upon recommendations of SC,” Council sets Tuesday and Wednesday, April 25 and 26 as target dates for boycott.

In a resolution passed 18-4, 4, one of three student members of SFCC said that “the student faculty committee... has not acted promptly in responding to student demands.”

In a resolution passed 18-4, one of three student members of SFCC said that “the student faculty committee... has not acted promptly in responding to student demands.”

The resolution demands that “satisfactory explanation” be given for the profit by April 21.

In opposing the resolution, SC representative Les Fraidstern, one of three student members of SCF said that “the committee acts slowly,” as do all SF committees, and we will not change this.”

Fraidstern announced his resignation from SFCC immediately following the passage of the resolution in order to protest against what he termed Council’s apparent “contempt” for the student faculty committee. SFCC will have the power to institute the boycott next Friday.

The editor of Main Events, the College’s evening newspaper, was ousted from his post Monday night by Dean James S. Peace (Acting Dean of Students) for printing a “completely false and misleading article in another otherwise legitimate issue.”

An unabashed April Fools story announced the official formation of a City University at which a “modest" tuition of $25 per credit would be charged. The tuition was set at the state’s underwriting the cost of the university “up to fifty percent of its capital budget and up to seventy-five percent of its operational budget.”

Dean James S. Peace, Outas Editor, charged that the article was an April Fool story.”

The Dean said that the appearance of the story had caused a great deal of difficulty at the College. Many people telephoned the Dean asking for an April Fool story.”

The Dean said that the appearance of the story had caused a great deal of difficulty at the College. Many people telephoned the Dean asking for an April Fool story.”

ALXII - No. 15

Editor of ‘Main Events’ Suspended For ‘Misleading’ April Fools Story

Irvin Becker, suspended Main Events editor, charged Tuesday that although the April Fools article was the explicit reason for his suspension, the implicit reason was “dislike of our policies and our views” by the Evening Session administration.

“You claim that we don’t give enough coverage to Evening Session activities and too much cover age to outside news,” he said.

“I don’t see how events stop outside the College,” he said. “They are trying to prove that students’ brains stop at Convent Avenue and that it is not true.”

Dr. Martha Farmer (Department of Student Life) denied Tuesday night that any reason other than the “irreconcilable” April Fools article caused Becker’s suspension.

“I felt that he did not give adequate coverage to Evening Session organizations in the last two issues,” she said. “But if a college newspaper wishes to cover the Cuban Revolution, why not?”

The No. 19 issue of Main Events, contained two pages of letters to the editor concerning the Cuban Revolution.

President Buell G. Gallagher received an Ap peal. A meeting, called by Dr. Farmer, was held last night to form an acting editorial board of the paper. All former editors are eligible to be staff members since the academic requirements held only for officers.

This story is completely false and misleading. I am, therefore, directing you to appear in my office on Monday, April 10, at 6 PM in order to determine the responsibility for this story.

The order of the Managing Board will recall that on April 6, 1960, a misleading article appeared and I spoke to the

Dean James S. Peace
Art Student Has One-Man Exhibition; Landscapes Depict Love For Nature

By BARBARA SCHWARTZBAUM

A woman wearing a hat brimmed with purple poppies came into the Gallery. "I was invited to the showing by Mr. So and So," she said looking around hopefully for the cocktails which are standard equipment at a New opening.

"The opening was yesterday," George Preston said. "Oh," she said. "Beautiful colors," she said. "So lovely," she said. "I must be going," she said, her high heels tapping across the room to the door.

George Preston, an art major at the College, is having his second one-man show. He thanked her for coming and smiled. The show which will run until April 29 is being held Tuesday through Saturday 12-6 PM at the Duo Gallery; occupying the ground floor and garden of a graceful, converted brownstone at 42 East 76 St. The Duo is a co-operative art gallery run by fifteen young people, three of whom go to the College.

Artist Is A Poet

Preston, an old hand at greeting prospective customers, is a thin, seemingly tense man, who is an artist to his marrow, and oddly enough rather looks like one. He is also a poet.

"I painted that picture [pointing to a sensuous landscape] because it made me feel good. Nature to me is fantastic and mysterious and I love it." Preston feels "the function of the artist is to put on canvas the order that is lacking in reality. You know Van Gogh said that the world was one of God's disregarded sketches. And Camus replied that it is the function of the artist to re-order it."

"Being an artist, one is of necessity observant, and from observation [he] becomes a moralist and then in logical order a political being. An artist is so aware of reality that he must become political."

Preston's sculpture rather than his canvasses seem, at least in their themes, to reflect his political interests.

One piece—a free torse in planed sheets of metal, the figure holding a gun—is called "Mercenary, You Are Your Own Killer". The figure is a grotesque, child's nightmare that verges on the comic, the face swirling into the shape of a bull's eye.

Preston, who will graduate next term, plans to become a leader in South America. "I don't have much respect for the ethnic or cultural standards of Europe or the United States. In South America I would feel a greater sense of belonging."

Patronize Our Advertisers
Villagers Protest Folk Song Ban - Are Joined By College's 'Beatniks'

Monroe Wasch, a sophomore at the College, went down to Washington Square last Sunday afternoon "to read a book." By the end of the afternoon he, as well as 5,000 other people, found themselves participating in a protest against Park Commissioner Newbold Morris' ban on village folkings.

Each year, for seventeen years, a permit allowing people to sing in the Square was given to a member of the Village community. This year the permit, applied for by Mr. Israel G. Young, owner of the Folklore Center on MacDouall Street, was not granted because the singers "trampled on the grass and pulled up shrubbery."

"When I got off the train, I noticed there was no singing," Wasch explained. "This was unusual for a Sunday afternoon. Then I saw the students marching from MacDouall Street."

"When I saw what the police riot squad was doing I activated the protest," he continued. "It was the first time in my life I saw brutality like that," Wasch registered as "witness to brutality" at the Judson Memorial Church in the Village.

Commissioner Morris, in a statement issued Sunday and he intended to "make Washington Square an attractive area for both passive and active recreation." To accomplish this end, he forbade Village folk singers and listeners from congregating in the Square. "As I see it, it's not just a case of singers against non-singers," Wasch said. "I think the real issue is the changing character of Greenwich Village. The new residents who would like to put Fifth Avenue through the Square and call it Fifth Avenue South do not like the older residents."

Wasch also cited the battle as being between the "Carmine DeSapio types, versus the Village's older residents."

Main Events

- The episode "points up the responsibility which must be accepted by an organization's faculty advisor," he continued. The faculty advisor must sign a statement attesting to the eligibility of the officers of a given student organization.

- The newspaper's "recent change in faculty advisor" makes it wrong to continue the job," the Acting Dean of Students said. "The newspaper has already been taken care of by the Dean."

- The "non-violent demonstration" was "unsuspecting," he believed. "The students in the Square came to protest, not to fight." Wasch also stated that the government was "responsible for the situation." He was the "Only person on the ground." Were Cách, who was killed that day, he continued. "I want to thank you for what you've done for the Village." Wasch also cited the battle as being "between the 'Carmine DeSapio types, versus the Village's older residents."

- The episode "points up the responsibility which must be accepted by an organization's faculty advisor," he continued. The faculty advisor must sign a statement attesting to the eligibility of the officers of a given student organization.

- The newspaper's "recent change in faculty advisor" makes it wrong to continue the job," the Acting Dean of Students said. "The newspaper has already been taken care of by the Dean."

- The "non-violent demonstration" was "unsuspecting," he believed. "The students in the Square came to protest, not to fight." Wasch also stated that the government was "responsible for the situation." He was the "Only person on the ground." Were Cách, who was killed that day, he continued. "I want to thank you for what you've done for the Village." Wasch also cited the battle as being "between the 'Carmine DeSapio types, versus the Village's older residents."

For a preview of the fun come to McBurney any Sat. night! For more information write or call "Weekend" McBumey YMAA, 23 St. & 7th Ave., N.Y., 11. Ch 3-1922.
Correction

It has been brought to our attention that in the editorial entitled "To Judge A Man" which appeared in the Tuesday, April 11, issue of Observation Post there appeared two factual inaccuracies.

In it we mistakenly stated that President Buell G. Gallagher had endorsed the student movement to abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee," and had called the southern sit-in movement "communist inspired". He has warned that a Communist inspired northern sympathy sit-in movement would harm the cause in the south and urged that the original northern sympathy sit-in movement leadership be reorganized to prevent this.

We extend our apologies to the President for this error.

Outlook

Once again a College newspaper editor has been suspended from his post for an April Fools article. Once again we cannot defend the "humorous" contents of the article.

While to us, the article was offensive and does show a degree of irresponsibility, we do not feel that any one man should have the power to suspend a student editor.

The Dean has the authority from the Board of Higher Education to act alone in suspension, without an extra-curricular activity. However, it is in just such cases that thorough and dispassionate thought by a body of men is needed to serve the cause of justice.

One man alone cannot bring to bear on a "trial" all the points of view, evidence, and experience needed to make a just decision.

For this reason a re-evaluation of the discipline system at the College is necessary.

From the beginning, Dean Pease has acted with efficient haste at the expense of well-considered justice. In cases involving serious disciplinary action such as suspension from an extra-curricular activity, from classes, or from school the individual should be given the right to a hearing before a committee or board in accordance with the precepts of due process of law.

The Dean stated that the April Fools article demonstrated an example of "irresponsible" journalism but not once did he define what responsible journalism was. This is quite understandable, for like all other forms of judgment, "responsibility" is clearly difficult to define as a standard.

Because the criteria of what constitutes "responsibility," are vague, undefined and open to individual interpretation, and because there is no specific regulation empowering the Dean to pass judgment on the contents of a newspaper, we feel that the editor of Main Events should be immediately reinstated.

A fair impartial trial, and a free uncensored press, are not only symbols of democracy but two of its guarantors.

mercY

Debate...

The Debating Society's 12th Annual Invitational Tournament will take place in the Filer Center this Saturday. Twenty-five colleges will debate the topic "What economic and social changes in the United States adopt a program of compulsory health insurance for all citizens." In addition to the three-round double elimination system, there will be a extemporaneous speaking competition held. The three extemporaneous topics will be revealed Saturday morning, but the winners announced at the end of the first round. The final round will be broadcast live on WCRB radio beginning at 10:00 PM. Please join us for the final round of the Debating Society's 12th Annual Invitational Tournament.
Academic Freedom Week...

Academic Freedom Week begins next Monday at the College. Carl Frank offers his thoughts on "Academic Freedom of the First Amendment," in Room 217 Finley.

BOOM!

Today, foregoing levity, let us turn our keen young minds to the No. 1 problem facing American college today: the population explosion. Only last week four people exploded in Cleveland, Ohio—one of them while carrying a plate of soup. In case you're thinking such a thing couldn't happen anywhere but in Cleveland, let me tell you there were also two other cases last week—a 45 year old man in Provo, Utah, and a 19 year old girl in Bangor, Maine—and in addition there was a near-miss in Land, let me tell you there were also two other cases last week—

By a 45 year old man in Provo, Utah, and a 19 year old girl in Bangor, Maine—and in addition there was a near-miss in “Academic Freedom of the First Amendment,” in Room 217 Finley.

Today, foregoing levity, let us turn our keen young minds to the No. 1 problem facing American college today: the population explosion. Only last week four people exploded in Cleveland, Ohio—one of them while carrying a plate of soup. In case you're thinking such a thing couldn't happen anywhere but in Cleveland, let me tell you there were also two other cases last week—a 45 year old man in Provo, Utah, and a 19 year old girl in Bangor, Maine—and in addition there was a near-miss in

Library Shows English Dept. Books; Ten Years of Literature Presented

What does an English teacher do when he escapes from a literary lecture in a crowded classroom? Here at the College, he goes home and writes a book. And he has a book on his hands, a sixty-seven book exhibition concerned Harland Arn

What does an English teacher do when he escapes from a literary lecture in a crowded classroom? Here at the College, he goes home and writes a book. And he has a book on his hands, a sixty-seven book exhibition concerned Harland Arn

Society Notes

BASKERVILLE CHEMICAL SOCIETY

Will continue planning the raid tomorrow at 11 A.M. in the Harris Auditorium at 12:20 PM.

Foods who will speak about industrial problems associated with the food industry

Government and Law Society

Presents Mr. John Scott. Special Assistant to the publisher of TIMS, who will speak on "Philosophical Aspects of Greek Tragedy" in Room 105 Wagner.

New Politics in Room 105 Wagner.

Future" in Room 207 Harris.

Publications in Room 207 Harris.

BENSON SOCIETY

Will hear Prof. Richard Kohn speak on "The Influence of Social Science in the United States," in Room 03 Finley.

CADUCEUS SOCIETY

Discusses plans for Junior Day in Room 101 Mott. Will meet in Room 202 Harris.

MATH SOCIETY

Will tutor all students in Math, Physics, Chemistry and Drafting in Room 205 Harris.

THEATRE SOCIETY

Will hear Mr. Jason Grosz give a lecture entitled "Theatricals and the Press." in Room 105 Wagner.

MUSICIANS

Will hear Prof. Richard Kohn speak on "The Advantages of Social Media." in Room 02 Finley.

SANE

Will hold an important meeting of council in Room 428 Finley at 3 PM. Student work will be heard.

Highlights

GOVERNMENT AND LAW SOCIETY

Presents Mr. John Scott. Special Assistant to the publisher of TIMS, who will speak on "Philosophical Aspects of Greek Tragedy" in Room 105 Wagner.

NEW POLITICS in Room 105 Wagner.

FUTURIS in Room 207 Harris. Will hear Mr. Jason Grosz give a lecture entitled "Theatricals and the Press." in Room 105 Wagner.

MATH SOCIETY

Will tutor all students in Math, Physics, Chemistry and Drafting in Room 205 Harris.

THEATRE SOCIETY

Will hear Mr. Jason Grosz give a lecture entitled "Theatricals and the Press." in Room 105 Wagner.

MUSICIANS

Will hear Prof. Richard Kohn speak on "The Advantages of Social Media." in Room 02 Finley.

SANE

Will hold an important meeting of council in Room 428 Finley at 3 PM. Student work will be heard.

Highlights

GOVERNMENT AND LAW SOCIETY

Presents Mr. John Scott. Special Assistant to the publisher of TIMS, who will speak on "Philosophical Aspects of Greek Tragedy" in Room 105 Wagner.

NEW POLITICS in Room 105 Wagner.

FUTURIS in Room 207 Harris. Will hear Mr. Jason Grosz give a lecture entitled "Theatricals and the Press." in Room 105 Wagner.

MATH SOCIETY

Will tutor all students in Math, Physics, Chemistry and Drafting in Room 205 Harris.
Infamous US ‘Weather Men’ Visited By Meteorologists from the College

Unlike most tourists who go to Washington, a group of seventeen people from the College did almost no sightseeing, and were completely unconcerned with political activities in the Capitol.

Members of the American Meteorological Society at the College, along with three friends of society members, and the mother of the secretary of the Society took two days out of their Easter vacation to visit “Weather Central.”

This cryptic name is used to designate the central weather forecasting station in the country. It is from this agency that the weather maps used throughout the nation as a basis for forecasting originate.

Blond Frances Henney, secretary of the Society, who expects to go into the Weather Bureau upon graduation in August, was very enthusiastic about the trip. “We expected a short tour of Weather Central,” she said, “and got five hours.”

“They showed us everything,” she added, “When we went to the various departments we were met by the head.”

A highpoint in the tour was a visit to the daily conference on the weather map held at Weather Central. “You may think that weather is weather,” Miss Henney commented, “Actually, there can be many interpretations of the weather map because of the scarcity of data.”

One of the departments the group visited was the satellite project. Although the information being gathered at the present by the satellites is not usable for forecasting, it is extremely valuable because it is confirming already known data about cloud formations.

Most impressive to Miss Henney was the mechanization which is being built into the weather bureau. “New a weather analyst can be gotten in one and a half minutes instead of an hour,” she said.

The trip offered other rare sights to the touring meteorologists. A miniature boy scout jambooree encamped behind their motor court cabins, and the presence of a number of Indians did much to liven the atmosphere.

Five of the budding weather men remained in Washington another day to do some more traditional sightseeing. While keeping a weather eye out for interesting sights, they found themselves close to Kennedy and Macmillan whom they observed through their binoculars.

City U. . . .

(Continued from Page 1)

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Abraham A. Ribicoff, will be the featured speaker at the inaugural ceremony.

Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg, Chairman of the BHE, witnessed the signing of the manifesto and termed the event “thrilling.”

“The Governor was just as enthusiastic as we,” Dr. Rosenberg declared Tuesday.

The city university “went into effect immediately” upon Governor Rockefeller’s written approval, the BHE chairman said. “Letterheads, everything is being changed,” he said.

While declaring the formal creation of the city university to be an “important step forward,” President Buell G. Gallagher remarked that it ‘won’t change the situation at the College one whit now and commencement.”

Plans for programs leading to a PhD degree are being discussed, but realization of these studies depends on the allocation of sufficient funds by the legislature, President Gallagher said.

Seniors . . . .

Seniors may purchase caps and gowns in the Senior Class Office, Room 233 Finley. Prices are $5.50 to holders of (a class card) and $6.25 (to those without a class card). The sale will continue until May 8, after which a $1 late fee will be charged.

If you are forming a new organization, let us help you design your insignia. Our long years of experience in the design and manufacturing of quality badges and emblems are at your command. In our die files are many hundreds of stock dies which are available to you without die cost.

We have an unlimited number of dies for badges which require no more than a new top panel die to provide your organization with a badge. By the use of these existing base dies, the die charge for a new top panel die will not exceed $5.00. Complete new badge dies and tools range in cost from $60.00 to $250.00 where plain and jeweled base dies as well as two and three panel top dies are necessary. We manufacture a special design. Our dies are guaranteed for life. A fine coat of arms die is also available from stock dies at reasonable cost. When completely new dies must be cut, the cost will vary from $40 to $60 depending upon the design.
Sports...
The annual All-Sports Nite dinner will be held at the Hotel St. George in Manhattan, Thursday evening, April 27. Awards will be presented at 7:30 PM, after the dinner which begins at 6 PM, announced Mr. Leo Klauer, head of the Alumnae Association.

Blood Bank Drive Opens; Students Urged to Donate
The Red Cross is setting a goal of 500 pints of blood to be accepted from its current drive at the College. The pledging of blood, which started Monday and will end April 26, is taking place in the Kittle Lounge and opposite the lounge in Finley Student Center in the Daytime Center. Students under 21 years of age will be permitted to give blood. All donors will be entered from classes for the day on which they give blood, and ROTC members will be awarded five merit points.

The game was called after the Beavers had batted in the top half of the seventh because of the extreme cold and wind.

The entire game was played in temperature-lightening 40 degree windy weather.

The Beavers got to lucky right-hander Don Blaha (who doubles as a forward during the basketball season) almost immediately in their first time at bat.

George Lapac took a called third strike, but Artie Goldner spanked a double to left and Joe Marais reached first safely on interference.

Lucky Strike Presents:

Dear Dr. Frood:

Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard.

He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood: Before vacation, my girl and I agreed to exchange Christmas presents. I sent her a sports car from her. What can I do now?

Dear Dr. Frood:

Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood:

Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: On New Year's Eve I foolishly negleged to be more generous with my Luckies. My friends have held me to this, and I've been forced to give away several packs a day. What do you think would happen if I broke this resolution?

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood: Before vacation, my girl and I agreed to exchange Christmas presents. I sent her a sports car from her. What can I do now?

Dear Dr. Frood:

Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood:

Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood:

Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood:

Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood:

Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood:

Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood:

Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.

Dear Dr. Frood:

Most of my life here is extracurricular. I carry the drum for the band, pull the curtain for the drama society, wax the court for the basketball team, scrape the ice for the hockey team, clap erasers for the faculty club and shovel snow for the fraternity houses. Do you think these activities will really help me when I get out of college?

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't think the college will let you out.

Dear Dr. Frood: Can you help me convince my girl that I'm not as stupid as she thinks I am?

Dear Dr. Frood: Our college mascot is a great big lovable Saint Bernard. He loves everyone—except me. In fact, he has bitten me viciously whimper affectionately.
Tennis Forces Trounce Panthers For Eleventh Triumphant in Succession

Stan Freundlich lost his first singles match in two years yesterday, but the College's tennis team still had too much for Adelphi's netmen, beating the previously unbeaten Panthers, 5-1/2 to 3-1/2.

The Lavender extended its winning streak, which dates back to the spring of 1959, to eleven, in court action at the Fleet Swim and Tennis Club.

Al Smith, by Silver, Joe Berovsky, and Larry Goldhirsh all won their first sets matches to offset Freundlich's unexpected defeat.

Freundlich was beaten 5-7, 6-2, 6-3 by Adelphi sophomore Pete Jurow. Smith extended his two-season win skein to fourteen by defeating Mel Couplink, 7-2, 3-6, 6-4.

Silver had little trouble disposing of Larry Toocock, though their match went to three sets, 6-1, 3-4, 6-1.

Berovsky triumphed over Norm Reich in a quick two sets, 6-3, 6-7. Goldhirsh played the two sets match, beat Mike Coruplind, 7-6, 2-6.

Coach Harry Karlin's recrue嗣s guided an exact split in their three doubles events—winning one, losing one, and tying one.

Freundlich and Smith, rated as the best doubles pair in the city, upset by Jurow and Mel Couplink in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1.

Last season, the Beaver entry swept to an undefeated record in doubles play.

But Berovsky and Silver who had done so well individually teamed up, giving the victory to the Lavender with a 7-5, 6-2 decision by it all, Saturday.

Harry Karlin
Tennis Coach

More New Clubs Expected in Fall

Three additional freshmen teams at the College have been established for the coming term, Dr. Arthur H. Des Greys, Faculty Manager of Athletics, announced earlier this month.

The expansion of an athletic program which was previously the most extensive in the metropolitan area, was achieved through the cooperation of the General Faculty Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics.

Earlier this term Dr. Des Grey announced the establishment of five freshmen teams, three of which are active at the present time: baseball, track, and lacrosse.

Elected New Hoop Captains

Irwin Cohen, Mike Winston Elected New Hoop Captains

Irwin Cohen and Mike Winston have been elected co-captains of the College's basketball team for the fall season; Coach Dave Polansky announced last week.

Cohen was the team's third high scorer last season with an 8-point-per-game average. Winston tallied 7 points from ten points a game.

It was Winston, together with his counterpart in the "dwarf duel," Hurwitz, and high-scoring Tor Nilsen who sparked the Beaver mid-season spurt which guided them to four straight wins. Mike's scoring output in those games also helped the team's momentum.

Besides his value as a scorer, Cohen was a great help in the rebound department, a most important factor against teams like NYU two years ago.

The New "Look of the Hour"

The New "Look of the Hour"

The College's basketball team is still a very young one, but the addition of three new teams for the 1960 season, all sports will be represented in every athletic event on the campus.

The new Frosh swimming, tennis, and rifle squads enable the freshman class to compete in every sport at the College.

The expansion of an athletic program which was previously the most extensive in the metropolitan area, was achieved through the cooperation of the General Faculty Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics.

The second committee, the Faculty-Student Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics, consists of nine voting members, five of which are members of the faculty, and three non-voting participants.

The Faculty-Student Committee has the authority to "design plans for the organization and implementation of athletic activities. It also functions in any advisory capacity to determine "the code of basic policies and general procedures which shall govern the intercollegiate athletic program of the College.""

The advisory committees and the College administration were most cooperative in the development of the athletic program, Dr. Des Grey asserted.

The program as it stands today is a mammoth one. The budget allotted to athletics has doubled and participation has more than tripled.

A feasible relationship has been instituted between scholarship and athletics. Scholarships have been restored to their proper subordinate capacity and athletic eligibility is no longer a bar.

The great athletes are gone and with them the stigma and tragedy of scandals.

The Beavers no longer are escorted by an entourage of inquiring reporters at their games, but they now have time to study.

Athletic scholarships are non-existent, preference for admission to athletic applicants is no more, and attendance revenue is minimal.

The change during the Gallagher Years has affected to the greatest degree the average student, who has little time to watch the Beaver play—he's too busy practicing.