Trackmen Win CTC's; Upset FDU And Iona

By RICHIE COE

The Beaver boardmen won a thrilling upset victory in Collegiate Track Conference (CTC) Championships at Queens College Gymnasium Saturday. Iona, Fairleigh Dickinson (FDU), and Connecticut State (CCS) came close, but the Beavers gained a narrow victory winning the final event, the Two-Mile Relay.

Co-captain Vince Hanzich led the scoring for the trackmen by winning the 16-Pound Shot with a toss of 46'10". By the time the runners arrived, the field had already scored 15½ points. FDU had 12, CCS 11½, and, significantly, Iona only five.

FDU took over the lead when Beaver Norman Jackman barely missed qualifying in the 60-Yard Dash Semi-Finals and Billy Deangelis was tripped by Iona's Robert Blank in the 1000-Yard Run just as he was making his bid for first place with a lap-and-half to go.

But Lenny Zane took a second in the Mile Run behind CTC cross-country champion Jim Keefe to put the Beavers back on top for good.

Bill Hill set the pace in the final of the 600-Yard Run, but he couldn't pull away from Iona's Norm Cracovia who has given the Beavers trouble all season. Coming off the last turn Cracovia made his move, and Hill was unable to hold him off. But Hill's 1:17.5 did earn the Lavender four more points.

Connecticut made a bid to take over first place when Keefe won the Two-Mile Run in 9:46.7, and his teammate Norm Marincic took third for a total of eight points from this one event. But Paul Lamprinos turned in a personal best 10:09 clocking to nab fourth place and keep the College one point ahead.

The Beavers couldn't get a single man into the finals of the 60-Yard High Hurdles. Iona, meanwhile, scored four points in this race. Iona was still four points behind, but their strength in the

Leader

Frank Wilkinson, a leader in the fight to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HUAC), will speak here tomorrow on the "Threat of American Fascism."

Mr. Wilkinson recently completed a nine month prison term for contempt of Congress. He will speak on his experiences while in jail and his reasons for opposing the Committee, at 12:30 PM in the Grand Ballroom.

'Grange' Bill Entangled By Fight On Poll Tax

The relatively obscure bill to make Hamilton Grange a national monument and move it to the College's South campus has become the center of nation-wide controversy through a civil rights rider that was attached to it.

The rider, which was added by Senator Spessard L. Holland (Dem., Florida), provides for a constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax. When the rider is passed, the original bill, dealing with Hamilton Grange, will be dropped.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (Dem., Montana) has promised that the Grange legislation will then be resubmitted to the floor by the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

The tagging-on of the rider to the seemingly innocent Grange bill was due to complicated legislative maneuvering, Sen. Holland said. Ordinarily, a constitutional amendment would have to emanate from the Judiciary Committee. But this committee, chaired by Senator James O. Eastland (Dem., Mississippi), a staunch segregationist and supporter of the poll tax, has three times voted down the proposed amendment.

Fee Referendum Vote Starts Tue.

Students will be requested to show their support for a one dollar increase in the Student Activities Fee in a special referendum Tuesday and Wednesday.

Polling places in Trophy Lounge, Finley, and outside Knittle Lounge in Shepard will be open on the two days next week from 10 AM to 4 PM. Students will be required to show their ID cards and bursar's receipts.

Fred Bren, Student Government President, expects the referendum to be approved. "History is on our side," he said yesterday. "With each succeeding referendum the margin of defeat has become smaller. The Technology Council, Hillel and House Plan have already officially endorsed passage of the motion, and Student Council is expected to follow suit this evening.

If the fee increase is approved by the students, Bren plans to ask President Buell G. Gallagher and Dean James S. Peace (Student Life) to forward the request to the Board of Higher Education (BHE). The BHE must approve the raise before it can go into effect.

At a recent meeting of the Student Faculty Fee Commission (SFFC) it was indicated that virtually all the members unofficially favor the raise. The body has not taken an official stand. Professor John H. Hutchins (English) a member of SFFC, said, at a recent meeting that "there are a lot of things that ought to be done but we don't have the money for it."

Bren has sent a mimeographed appeal for support to the presidents of all campus organizations and personal letters to the heads of the largest ones.

College Club Will Aid Lane

Students at the College supporting Assemblyman Mark Lane's (Dem., Man.) bid to Congress, have banded together to aid him in his campaign.

"It is of the utmost importance that Lane be elected to Congress so that his voice will be heard on a national scale," Barbara Johnston, secretary of the Student Committee for Mark Lane declared Monday.

The committee hopes to get many members from the ranks of those who worked for Lane's election to the New York State Assembly as a reform candidate.

The Assemblyman will first seek the Democratic nomination in the 19th Congressional District in the September 6th primary. Overcoming this first obstacle will be the bulk of the work of the new committee.

Lane has been the main antagonist of Assembly Speaker Joseph Carlino on the conflict of interest issue over fallout shelters. He has also been active in the fight for rent control and the humane treatment of narcotics addicts.

Robert Moll, chairman of the College's chapter of Young Democrats (YD), said Monday that he expects several of his club's members to work individually for Lane.

Although he considered the formation of the new committee "a very good idea," he said that under their charter the YD's are prohibited from supporting candidates in primaries.

Gallagher + Festivals: The Long Struggle

By BARBARA SCHWARTZBAUM

An innocuous-looking piece of paper distributed by President Buell G. Gallagher at his first press conference of the term was instantly recognized by veterans of the school's press.

Attacking the upcoming Eighth World Youth Festival, the statement marked the latest episode in Dr. Gallagher's long crusade against student participation in the ten-day European youth junkets.

The festival was the subject of an address given by Dr. Gallagher before the National Student Association Congress in a hot summer month five years ago. The heat of the weather was nothing compared to the torrid content of the President's speech.

The then Moscow gathering was termed a tool for Soviet propagandists, student participation in it had "damaged the nation's prestige," and those who had gone would only be "steered around by Soviet agents."

Certainly the single most spectacular incident involving the College and the various youth festivals was the news story sent clicking across thousands of miles of cables when the leader of the American delegation to the Moscow fete—a nineteen-year-old junior at the school named Jacob Rosen—allegedly dipped the American flag before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. "He has disgraced, and hu-

White Paper

President Gallagher recently issued his expected white paper denouncing this summer's Helsinki World Youth Festival and urging Student Government formally to oppose student participation in the event.

We have no quarrel with the President expressing his personal objections in regard to the Eighth World Festival, or any other activity that concerns students at the College.

We do decry the implication of his statement that those supporting the festival should expect to be criticized. We infer from these words, we know from President Gallagher's past actions, that the students supporting the Festival will be criticized, not their views on this matter alone.

Unlike his predecessor, former Acting President Harry N. Rivlin, who declared that he would never use his office to publicly criticize an individual, President Gallagher did not hesitate last year to demean himself and the position he held by personally and vindictively attacking individual students:

The Facts

The Helsinki Youth Festival is Communist dominated. It is supported in the main by Communist funds and, in all probability, will be used to further the propaganda aims of the Soviet Union. These facts cannot be contradicted. These facts formed the basis of President Gallagher's indictment. But these facts may be misleading when considered in isolation.

These are some other facts: Any student who so desires may attend the Festival. Political beliefs of participants are not screened. Instead of only attracting "Communist-sympathizers", the policy of the present United States Festival Committee is to try and get as many different viewpoints as possible represented.

No statements or resolutions are released at the Festival. No one can issue a policy stand for the United States delegation. Students attend as individuals.

Unsavory Labels

The ostensible purpose of the Festival is to further peace and facilitate cultural exchange. The alleged ulterior motive is to "show" the rest of the world that students in every country are ready to stand with the USSR. This supposed ulterior purpose will most certainly be achieved if only students who support the policies of the Soviet Union attend the Festival.

A ten-day gathering of students from all over the world, including representatives from neutral nations, provides a unique opportunity to listen, to discuss, to propagandize, to learn and to teach. And the propagandizing, learning and teaching is a two-way process that enables those who oppose the USSR to give their views of the advantages of life in the United States, not just vice-versa. It is particularly important in an age when misunderstanding through biased communications is constantly endangering world peace.

Ultimately, it is up to each student to decide for himself whether or not to attend the Festival, whether to favor or oppose it. Hopefully the decision will be based on thoughtful consideration of the facts, not on unsavory labels.

miliated all of us," President Gallagher said.

A Student Government representative and a member of The Campus news staff, Rosen's headline-making travels led Dr. Gallagher to add "I will be interested to see what reaction accompanies his return."

He didn't have to wait that long. A four foot high dummy hanging from a traffic light on the College's North Campus provided the answer several months before the student's homecoming.

Stuffed with empty beer cans and old copies of life magazine, its "head" made of red crepe paper, the name "Jake Rosen" scrawled across a piece of note paper pinned to its chest, the khaki clad dummy

SHAKESPEARE DOESN'T LIVE HERE ANY MORE

A recent and most heartening development in American college life has been the emergence of the artist-in-residence. In fact, the artist-in-residence has become as familiar a sight on campus as Latin ponies, leather elbow patches, Rorschach tests, hula hoops, and Marlboro cigarettes.

And we all know how familiar that is—I mean Marlboro cigarettes. And why should it not be familiar? Why, where learning is king, where taste is sovereign, where brain power rules supreme, should not Marlboro be everyone's favorite? The same good sense that gets you through an exam in Restoration Poetry or solid-state physics certainly does not desert you when you come to pick a cigarette. You look for a flavor that is flavorful, a filter pure and white, a choice of pack or box, a lot to like. You look, in short, for Marlboro—and happily you don't have to look far. Marlboro is available at your friendly tobacconist's or vending machine, wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states and Las Vegas.

But I digress. We were speaking of the new campus phenomenon—the artist-in-residence—a man or woman who writes, paints, or composes right on your very own campus and who is also available for occasional consultations with superior students.

Take, for example, William Cullen Sigafos, artist-in-residence at the Toledo College of Belles Lettres and Fingerprint Identification.

As we all know, Mr. Sigafos has been working for many years on an epic poem in rhymed couplets about the opening of the Youngstown-Akron highway. Until, however, he went into residence at the Toledo College of Belles Lettres and Fingerprint Identification, his progress was not what you would call rapid: He started well enough with the immortal couplet we all know: They speed along on wheels of rubber, rushing home in time for supper...

Then Mr. Sigafos got stuck. It is not that his muse deserted him; it is that he became involved in a series of time-consuming episodes—a prefrontal lobotomy for Irwin, his faithful sled dog; fourteen consecutive months of jury duty on a very complicated case of overtime parking; getting his coattail caught in the door of a jet bound for Brisbane, Australia; stuff like that.

He was engaged in a very arduous job in Sandusky—posing for a sculptor of hydrants—when an offer came from the Toledo College of Belles Lettres and Fingerprint Identification to take up residence there, finish his magnum opus and, from time to time, see a few gifted students.

Mr. Sigafos accepted with pleasure and in three short years completed the second couplet of his Youngstown-Akron Turnpike epic: The highway is made of solid concrete and at the toll station you get a receipt.

"What is truth?" said one.

Then a few gifted students came to visit him. They were a prepossessing lot—the boys with corduroy jackets and long, shaggy beards; the girls also with corduroy jackets but with beards neatly braided.

"What is truth?" said one. "What is beauty?" said another. "Should a writer live first and write later or should he write and do a little living in his spare time?" said another.

"How do you find happiness—and having found it, how do you get rid of it?" said another.

"Whither are we drifting?" said another. "I don't know whither you are drifting," said Mr. Sigafos, "but as for me, I am drifting back to Sandusky to pose for the hydrant sculptor."

And back he went, alas, leaving only a fragment of his Youngstown-Akron Turnpike epic to rank with other such uncompleted masterpieces as Schubert's Unfinished Symphony, the Venus de Milo, and Singer's Midgets.

Take cheer, good friends, from one masterpiece that is complete. We, refer, of course, to Marlboro cigarettes. Filter end and tobacco end are both as good as tobacco artists and science can make them.

was put up by three students because "we decided we hated his guts."

The festival seemed a dead issue at the College until its sudden reappearance two years ago as part of an eleven page report by Dr. Gallagher charging that the Observation Post editorial board in general and its Editor-in-Chief in particular were "communist oriented Marxist sympathizers."

Dr. Gallagher based his charges in large part on a favorable article written by the paper's Editor, Peter Steinberg, and his predecessor, Mrs. Sandra Rosenblum, on their experiences at the Seventh World Youth Festival held in Vienna, Austria.

At present: a festival club is forming at the College, a motion is scheduled to come up tonight at Student Council urging that the College send an official observer to the Eighth World Youth Festival, and one out of every six requests for accommodations received by the US Festival Committee is from students at the College.

Tennis Team: 'Loaded'; Trys For Met Champs

This is the third in a series of articles previewing Spring sports.

By JOE LOWIN

If things get any harder for tennis coach Harry Karlin during the season, the Beaver netmen may well wind up undefeated.

The hard thing for the Coach right now is to pick his top six men for the season opener against Pace three weeks hence. According to Vinnie Catrini, best known in the past as the top Number Six man for the Lavender, the Coach's troubles stem from the fact that "this team is loaded. Between many of the positions, there is only a nuance of difference."

To solve his problem, the coach has arranged for a weekly "Karlin Playoff" for each position. Every Saturday, each of the starters will be challenged by someone who thinks he can move up.

Right now, fighting for the Number One position is a pair of players who for the past two years have held the Met Conference Doubles Championships, Stan Freundlich and Al Smith. Freundlich and Smith have been having a friendly feud for the top spot since last year. Neither has been able to beat the other with any consistency, and since Stan held the lead spot last year, he gets the nod right now from Karlin.

"But," says Stan, "I'm going to have a tough time beating Al this year. He has the edge right now and I'll need at least another week to get into top form." Stan suffered a setback in his conditioning program last week, when he came up with blisters on his feet after a practice session.

The most improved man on the squad is Joe Borowsky who has climbed up to the third spot. The broad-shouldered, muscular senior will be challenged for this position by Bernie Wasserman, Captain Jeff Zupan, and newcomer Karl Otto. But Borowsky is expected

Fencers Take Eighth Place In The IFA's

By STEVE ABEL

The College's fencing team had only a few bright spots in two dark days of fencing this weekend as Coach Edward Lucia's seventh place prediction turned into a skimpy eighth against the top teams in the nation.

New York University (NYU), the national champions for three years in row, will now have to share the three-weapon trophy with Columbia University. Both scored 59 points in the Intercollegiate Fencing Association (IFA) championships at the Violets' Alumni Gym.

Vito Mannino was the Beaver's only finalist. He led the first pool in the qualifying rounds with a brilliant 8-1 record, losing only to his nemesis, Herb Cohen of NYU.

In the Finals, Saturday Mannino surprised Jay Lustig, Columbia, with three touches in the last minute of the bout, to win his first in the individuals, 3-2.

But Vito dropped his next four in the round-robin, with a couple of close scores, leaving him tied for fifth with NYU's Jerry Cetrullo.

Ray Fields proved he still had it in the saber when he clipped NYU's Israel Colon, 5-4, destroying Colon's chances at a finalist spot. But by then it was too late to have any effect on Ray's hopes for a finalist position.

to hold his own and leave the other men fighting for the remaining three positions.

The Beavers play a total of ten matches this year, and will be trying to regain the Met Conference Championship trophy from Kings Point. The only trouble the Beavers expect will come from Brooklyn, and perhaps Adelphi. The Kingsmen have in Steve Rubin one of the top men in the League.

But the Beavers are pretty confident. "We're just starting to get used to the new courts," said Stan Freundlich. "They're good for a hard game and give you increased power on serves. Besides, the guys like the idea of the possibility of having a crowd watching."

If the crowd watches enough, they just might see a winner.

Punished Enough . . .

Bobby Sands, a former Physical Education Instructor at College who was dismissed shortly after the basketball scandal came to light in 1951, is now seeking reinstatement here.

An attorney for Sands appealed to the Board of Higher Education (BHE) for his reappointment at a meeting of the BHE Monday, indicating that Sands had been punished long enough. The matter was referred to the BHE Administrative Committee for College.

Beavers Win CTC Champ

only two events left, the relays, made them the team to watch.

Coach Francisco Castro really was worried about the Mile Relay. It looked as if he was justified when Joel Saland handed off dead last with Iona in first.

But Hill, running 53.9, moved the baton up to third. Jackman, whose 51.2 leg was the fastest on the relay, caught one more man. Co-captain Bill Casey anchored in 51.9, fighting off Queen's Stoney Ford and almost catching Iona as both teams broke the old meet record.

With the Two-Mile Relay the only event left Coach Castro felt pretty secure with a 3 1/2 lead. But then in the past had consistently beaten the Beavers over this distance.

Lenny Zane, running a 12 lead-off leg, passed off in place. Julian Offsay and Cavellini kept the baton in

But when Billy DeAngelis started the anchor leg, Iona's star runner, Cracovia, wasn't far behind. DeAngelis tore out, pulling away from Cracovia in the early and, as it turned out, his 2:01 clocking was just unbeatable.

When the final score was tallied the College had 34 1/2 Iona's 31, FDU's 26, and CC 24 1/2.
