Cuba...

Cuba, communism, and civil liberties will be the topic under discussion at the first SG Public Affairs Forum Thursday, Dr. Maurice Zeitlin of Princeton University, who has made several visits to Cuba in the recent past, will speak in the Grand Ballroom from 12:30-2 PM. All students are invited.

SG’s Sphere of Activity Is Disputed Anew Here

By TIM BROWN

New controversy erupted last week over the oft-debated “Students as Students” clause in the SG constitution.

The clause restricts the jurisdiction of SG to matters relating to “students in their role as students.” The conflict was brought to the fore again Wednesday, as a motion to support a Southern civil rights project was ruled out of order by Student Council.

In speaking against consideration of the motion ’66 representative Daniel Katkin expressed his belief that Student Council existed merely because the General Faculty (GF) allowed it to.

“Most deans have definite headings such as Director of Curriculum or Admissions,” Dean Engler explained, “but I have a variety of small ones.”

Bearing witness to the “multiplicity of duties” which make his job “full but not too much as admin­istrator,” the dean’s desk is covered with a “mount of details” which are his responsibility, including “other-than­academic side of the college,” the dean said. Engler was very much involved in College activities.

The MIT Civil Engineer has been a member of the College faculty since 1949. Even after his appointment to the administration, the dean said, he taught one course a term for six or seven years. But he found that “to be too much as administrative responsibilities grew. Since then I’ve done no teaching. I’m sorry to say. This is one of the things I miss—contact with the students. I don’t know where you’ll find students that are more challenging and up-to-date in their (Continued on Page 2)

President Kennedy Signs Bill Repealing NDEA Affidavit

President John F. Kennedy signed a bill last week abolishing the disclaimer affidavit as a prerequisite for a loan under the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) last week.

President Kennedy said that it is “highly unlikely that the affidavit requirement, kept any Communist out of the programs. It did, however, keep out those who could use the disclaimer affidavit a bridge upon freedom of thought.”

The requirement of an affidavit prompted thirty-two colleges to withdraw from the federal student loan program under NDEA, many other institutions participated reluctantly, he said. Spokesmen for a number of colleges testified that the oath “discriminated against college students and was offensive to them.”

A new provision added to the law makes a crime punishable by imprisonment or a political party only last Thursday. The Independent Reform Party’s Constitution, Weitzman repeated, was necessary to have a restrictive clause.” The educational opportunity of those who because of their economic, racial, or ethnic background, would otherwise be at a disadvantage.

More Scholarships

He proposed an increase in the number and amount of Regents’ scholarships, and the putting of the community colleges on a free tuition basis as a means of giving higher education “to those who would ordinarily not even seek to apply.”

In the long run, Morgan­thau said, the State would save more by spending money now on additional trained personnel and facilities to keep these people in school and to continue their education than by having to spend it later for welfare benefits.

With November 6th only two weeks away, the Democratic candidate bore down hard on what he called the Republican opponent’s “total failure” to take any real steps.

Students" Clause Aired By SC Members Here

(Continued from Page 1) tion for the existence of Student Government is the propriety and necessity of representing the students in the University Community. See text page 6 "It is in the best interest of the University as a whole that the students be represented by the University, but said that other views are necessary in the University Community," his statement continued.

Kathkin said that Brown's stand had been misrepresented by Brown.

A spokesman for the Student Government said that he had meant that SG was not really representative of the student body, and thus his thoughts "spring from the GF, which is seen as being a barrier to the students' views." Bloom maintained.

Katkin said that he had opposed consideration of the motion because "if we limit ourselves, we can do a better job." He added that this would induce students to become more interested in SG, and turn out to vote in greater numbers.

Katkin said that he favored the discussion of other matters relating directly to the campuses of the University, but said that other issues should be discussed if SG obtains greater student support.

Brown countered this by saying that "the apology of the student body is indeed a problem, and this is where the student leader comes in. It is his job to safeguard the students' rights and represent their views no matter what the voting turnout is, and to try to increase participation."

He said that the GF was not being "tarnished, but highlighted, in the sense that it was the student who went to the GF, which then recognized the correctness of the principle."

Another Council member, Vice-President Ira Bloom, expressed a more limited view of SG's role. While concurred with Brown on the "need" for Student Government, Bloom contended that SG should be "institutionalized" in the matters it discussed.

"Even if fully representative, SG should not act in off-campus matters," Bloom maintained. "SG, by its nature, and limitations imposed by its constitution, is here only to represent the student in this academic community," he went on.

North continued by saying that "nothing in the SG Constitution or Bylaws stipulates how an organization should be organized and therefore Roberts' [Roles of Order] applies.

He added that Roberts' states that only those persons in sympathy with the purposes of an organization should be invited to the organizational meeting.

The HIP Constitution was amended in this regard by Roberts, who was the constitution of the College's chapter of the Young People's Socialist League.

Brown indicated that the Student Affairs Committee of Council will be instructed to investigate the use of rooms at the College for closed organizational meetings.
Lustig On Peace
By DAVE ROTHCHILD

"The United States has not worked very seriously or allcerely for disarmament. The stand of the Soviet Union also leaves much to be desired in this area." This is what Dr. Willem Lustig (Physics) told the Society for Criticism and Discus-ion Thursday.

Prof. Lustig covered the "unrealistic" attitudes of both the US and means that the US yields far more influence than it would if all countries had power proportional to their populations.

In much the same manner as a regional physical system would reach an equilibrium condition, he asserted, "left to itself, our power in the world will decrease, not increase. I hope that the US can get weaker without the Soviet Union geting stronger.

"Unless the US is willing to contract its economic and political interests, there will be no peace and no disarmament," he concluded.

NY Discrimination

Negroes and Puerto Ricans moving into predominantly all-white neighborhoods are being cheated by real estate agents and speculators, a representative of the City's anti-discrimination commission charged Thursday.

Mr. Richard Goldman, general coun-celor, of the National Commission on Human Rights accused East New York real estate agents and speculators of "scaring" white residents into "panic selling" by minority groups, by claiming that the property values would fall unless they sell out immediately. Then, Mr. Goldman charged, the agents and speculators buy cheap and sell dear. He spoke before the Borough President and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mr. Goldman said that the "real victims" is the bank which refusopportunity to minorities.

"It said that the areas in which minority groups move are morerev a fact that would significantly lower the price of the property. It is not important to the real estate market, because few people will take the risk of buying in these neighborhoods.

Under the law it is illegal to discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed or national orig'n.

The Southern wing of the Democratic Party is the only clearly racist party in the US,
"and will be an indeterminate jail sentence ately, it still does not include the Southern wing of the

As the debate over SG's jurisdiction continues, it becomes obvious that the student's role is continually broadening and including a larger segment of life outside the physical confines of the campus.

It is true that SG is constitutionally limited to action in matters concerning the student in his academic existence; it is well that this clause is retained, as it saves Council hours of consideration on matters too remote to be discussed with any consequence.

However, this rule should not be used to transform Council into a place for brainstorming sessions on the College's cafeterias, and some members of that body would advocate. Instead, it should be intelligently employed as a guide to achieve efficiency and establish priority for vital issues. While many students continue to remain unconcerned about national issues of civil rights and civil liberties, they repeatedly choose to scheme the fray.

The battle for free speech was fought here at the College last year; other issues may and must be considered. In these instances, apathetic students here did not avoid involvement, but rather wound up on the defensive when the issues presented themselves in a forceful and offensive way. In spite of this, these travesties were fought and defeated.

We at the University have both the right and capacity to accomplish this. The boundaries of learning are not confined within the walls of the College. It is rather the duty of the student, while still unrestricted by employment and the mores of the outside world, to question and study the important institutions of society.

Only the student has the time to make such inquiry, the facilities to conduct that study, and the proper surroundings to formulate independent, rational ideas and opinions. We at universities are dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge— all knowledge. It is for this reason that we have not terminated our education with secondary schools, and it is for this reason that we must not end our search for truth in the classroom or with pedantic studies.

Isolationism does not bring enlightenment—it only promotes ignorance and complacency, and often leads to negllect of the more subtle issues which do concern us. Inbreed-ing, even of educational and scholarly ideas, leads to decay, neglect, and intellectual sterility. Its products are uninteresting and not nearly so useful as those resulting from the intermixing, and even the conflict, of ideas.

It is true that SG owes a primary responsibility to the Student Body here, as its representative in its dealings with the faculty and administration. When time permits, however, other issues may and must be considered.

With the advent of an efficient administration of its own, SG has a chance to wake up to the student's widening role, and to allow Council to fully represent its constituents. It is only through education, and not through being "talked down to," that the students will abandon their apathy and begin to take an interest in the College's affairs.

Spectators Become Participants In Mind-Probing Sociodrama

By LENA HAHN

Thirty students who just wanted to take it easy and find out what a sociodrama was found out Thursday—by taking part in one.

Sociodrama, like psychodrama, is a projective technique used widely in psychotherapy. People take sides on a controversial social issue and actively participate in a discussion of it.

Professor Martin Haskell (Sociology) of the Baruch School ex-jailed and coerced the students into taking sides on what he thought was for them an important issue. "Does politics interest you?" he asked. "Nah" came the reply. "Does the conflict in the Romance Languages (Department) distress you?" "Nah." The audience was being non-committal.

Finally, four students brought their seats up to the front of the room: two to oppose and two to defend the recent Supreme Court decision declaring unconstitutional the daily reading of a prayer in the New York public schools.

...thinking than at the College," Dean Engler explained. The hectic post-war years found the Dean right in the middle of College life as a member of both the former Student Faculty Committee on Student Activities and the General Faculty Committee on Inter-Collegiate Athletics. There was "much more agitation at that time," he reminisced, "with a multitude of student strikes and rallies."

This period also witnessed the College's basketball scandal in which student players were accepting bribes to shave points. "We all learned a bitter lesson at that time," the Dean, a past MIT committee on Student Activities and Inter-Collegiate Athletics. Emerging from the fifth floor of Shepard, a hardened political science student displays contempt for the College Commutator. "Sure, Mathematics used to be my field," chuckles a Townsend Harris gargoyle. "They cemented me out here for questioning the validity of a system of logic."

Sixth Place...

In the last two weeks the Beaver bowlers have climbed from dead last to sixth place in the Met Conference. After losing three to NYU, they came back to sweep three from C.W. Post and split with Long Island University.

The first game with LIU was tied at 832 apiece. Led by Mike Beckman and Frank DiCostanzo shared Lavender scoring honors with a 529 series and a 234 high game respectively.

The third game 849-842.

Man's 193 the Beaver then won 832-813. But LIU came back to win Island University.

Beaver captain Amy Bierman rated his team as "potentially very good," but short on experience.

Coaching Edward Lucia Results Significant Marshall Pastorino took fifth in saber and eighth in epee, fencing more than two dozen bouts. Pastorino has the rare gift of being suited to all three fencing weapons and has made use of all of them at one time or another. He displayed this ability against top-flight opponents from all over the eastern United States. Canada and Europe.

Lucia termed the results as extremely significant because of the fencers' ability to achieve honors after a long road trip, in a strange environment, against international stars. "They're in mid-season condition after only three weeks of training."

Freshman Booters Defeat Pratt 4-2 In Opening Game The College's highly touted freshman soccer team won its opener Saturday, defeating Pratt 4-2 on Lewishohn Stadium turf.

"They looked very, very good," beamed fresh coach Les Solney after the game. "There are a couple of things to be ironed out, but we played a strong, bustling game." Solney predicts a good, winning season. In fact, he "wouldn't be surprised if we win all six games." Ray Cicchillo scored two unassisted goals from his center forward position. Marcel Corret (whose twin brother Amelio also on the team) headed another. The other Lavender score was put in by an obstruction, if not too skillful, Pratt fullback.

For the first time in many years, a non-College team is in the football starting lineup. The 1962 team includes 21 College students. The starting lineup features five new faces. The other Lowell player not in the starting lineup is in by an obstacle, if not too skillful, Pratt fullback.
Wing Ong Scores With a Minute Remaining

By RICHIE COE

The College's soccer team was edged 2-1 by the New England Champs from the University of Bridgeport in Levishoe Stadium Saturday. But the Beavers played well enough to revive their Met Championship aspirations.

Nick Patruno started in the Ben­tender goal because Adolf Putre was benched with a knee injury. Patruno played with such courage and skill that Putre may be benched for quite some time.

Center forward Pat Quigley opened the scoring for Bridgeport at 14:45 of the first half. His shot was a low shot toward the goal. Patruno, who stands barely 5'9, jumped and got his flat on the ball, but could not deflect it. It looked as if the Beavers had tied the score at 6:45 of the second period when the ball caroomed off Dan Raskin's hands into the net. Patruno, who stands barely 5'9, jumped and got his fist on the ball, which rolled back to Checcio. who fed inside left Steve Dunbar. Dunbar smashed the ball with a low shot toward the goal mouth and dove right on the score. Coach Harry Karlin sent in Mike Didyk as a substitute and scored the next ten minutes across the midfield line, leaving only Patruno to defend the goal. Even center halfback Neil Parker took a shot. But the Beavers could only deflect it.

The ref's best player rating went to Beaver goalie Harry Karlin, tren­dently outplayed by what he saw — even though the booters dropped a 2-1 deci­sion to Bridgeport.

"If they play this way they can beat both Brooklyn and Pratt," exclaimed Beaver Coach Harry Karlin, tremen­dously enthused by what he saw — even though the booters dropped a 2-1 deci­sion to Bridgeport.

"I never saw a team hustle so well. If they had scored earlier they would have saved their morale." The referee thought their hustle was pretty good too. He gave the Beavers a perfect five-point rating on the National Collegiate Athletic Association evaluation card. Bridgeport also got a perfect rating.

The ref's best player rating went to Beaver goalie, Nick Patruno. Coach Karlin agreed: "Nick gave me a good game. I think I'll stick with him next week!"

The rally was tentatively scheduled for November 30. Attempts are being made to break the College's record for the course as the Beavers smashed Montclair State.

Winter Sports Rally Is Scheduled

College Groups Asked to Participate

The first formative steps towards the proposed Winter Sports Rally were taken at the Varsity Club meeting Thursday. The rally was tentatively scheduled for November 30. Bernie Wasserman, Varsity Club president, will seek approval for the rally from Dr. Arthur DesGrey, Faculty Manager of Athletics, and Dean James S. Peace (Student Life). After clearance is obtained, preparations can get under way.

"Attempts are being made to bring back the personality from the world of sports. Beaver runners and athletes will be app­roached. In addition, invitations will be extended to former All-Americans from the College."

"Beaver cage Alex Blatt recommended a Convent Avenue motor­cycle race as a specific idea, a feature the Lavender cheerleaders will perform. The Lavender cheerleaders will perform and include floats and other catches designed to draw stu­dents to the rally."

The Fire Department might object to certain proposals, such as a bonfire or firecrackers, but that "would hardly mind a tug-of-war or short skits.

Other College organizations are being invited to join the Varsity Club in sponsoring the rally. Interested groups should send rep­resentatives to the Varsity Club meeting on Thursday or contact Bernie Wasserman.
