The Best In Queens

Those students used to the gargoyles and turrets that characterize the College's medieval brand of architecture would probably never adjust to the circular hall and steel-arched concrete dome of the latest addition to the Queens College Campus.

The modernistic lecture hall, which is part of the Social Science Building at Queens, was awarded a special bronze plaque as the "outstanding structure" in the annual building awards competition of the Queens Chamber of Commerce.

Few Candidates On SG Ballot; Four Contest Presidential Post

An unusually small number of candidates will seek seats on Student Council in next week's election. Only thirtyseven aspirants are running for the twety-four openings. The SG Presidency will be contested by four students: two heading slates, two running independently. The other executive posts :re each being sought by two candidates.
Howard Simon heads the Competency Slate (CS), as presidential candidate. The slate includer Girard Pessis as vice-presidential candidate, Larry Steinnauer for Treasurer, and John Zippert foi Secretary.
The other group running is the New Ferspectives Slate (NPS) headed by presidential candidate Boh Rosenberg. rice-presidential aspirant Daniel Katkin, former SG President Alan Blume for Treas-

Ask A JFK Drive Tc Honor Kennedy

A petition to have the West Side Highway renamed in honor of President Kennedy has been initiated by students at New York University and the Bronx Community College.
The object of the petition is to have the two highways which run along the edges of Manhattan mamed after the last two presidents to die in office: Franklin Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy. Because relt and John F. Kennedy. Because linth were referred to by their initials, Manhattan would then have FDR Drive on the east and JFK Drive on the west.

A special aviation training program which will teach ROTC officers to fly is currently under study by the College's Reserve Officer Training Catps. Lt. Colonel Perrepont F. Bartow (Mil. Sci.), commander of the unit, said that approval of the program would make süch instruction available to advanced córps offi-
There are several factors, however, which may prevent its execution, including the need of giving the program during students' free hours and the necessity of traveling to airfields for practical and in-flight training.

The House of Kepresentatives refused Monday to pass a Reserve Officers Training Corps bill without a ban on racial discrimination following a complaint by Representative Otis K. Pike, (Dem. N.Y.) that he was being "bilked, trimme? windled." swindled.'

4 New Referenda Placed on Ballot

To Decide SAB, Athletic Issues

Last night, in its final meeting before the start of Student Government elections, Student Council placed four additional referenda on the ballot. Three of the referenda are concerned with the Student Activities Board (SAB). The first calls for its abolition; the second maintains the statusquo; and the third asks that SC's Executive Committee hold open hearings on the SAB , and report its findings back to the student body in the form of referenda in the next regular election.
The fourth referendum requests President Gallagher to take "proper steps" to restore competition between the College and top-rated basketball powers throughout the nation.
The first referendum. which was prepared by Larry Steinhauer, came out of Council's Internal Affairs Committee. If approved by the student body, it would remove all references to the SAB from the SG Constitution.
Mike Ticktin defended it, deseribing the abolishment of the SAB as "not eliminating the concept" of student control over student activities. All that would be eliminated, he maintained, would be "this structure," noting that SG would retain all the powers that had been delegated to the SAB.

- SG Secretary Joe: Cooper opposed the referendum, declaring that while clubs and organizations are dissatisfied with the SAB, its abolition "is not a black and white question. The solution is to come up with a structure that the clubs and organizations agree with."
The other two SAB referenda were introduced after Council's regular business had been concluded. Treasurer Danny Katkin, who the SAB, suggested that a referendum be placed on the ballot mandating next term's Council's Executive Committee to hold open hearings on the SAB, and report its findings back to the student body in the form of a referendum in the next regular election.
Katkin, whose motion had been declared out of order by President Ira Bloom earlier in the evening, said "the concept on trial is to a very great extent the concept of student government."
The last referendum concerning the SAB, if approved by the student body, would maintain the status quo.
A student voting in next week's election will be presented, in regard to the SAB, with three choices: he can ask that it be abolished; he can ask that it be maintained in its present state; or he can ask that it be improved. The final referendum Council placed on the ballot asks President Gallagher to take "proper steps" to restore competition between the College and colleges throughout the country with toprated teams.
In 1950, the College's basketball team won the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship, and was recognized as the best in the country. In 1951, it was revealed that several of the playwas opposed to the abolition of Rep. Hebert told newsmen that he would not resubmit his bill to $r \in v i s e$ and expand the ROTC program under the regular rules, which require only a simple majority to pass.

"I don't want to have the civil rights issue involved with the ROTC," he said. "The two issues don't mix."

Lavender Cagers Crush Rutgers; Everyone Plays In 89-61 Romp

If B-52's got off the ground like the Rutgers' Bombers did last night, the Air Force would ground them forever. The Beavers rolled over a weak Newark squad, 89-61, rolling up their highest score in several years. The Beavers were hitting from all over the court and Coach Dave Polansky pulled his whole starting team out with 10 minutes left to play. The Lavender squad was leading 67-43 at the time. It was the squad's first win of the young season following Saturday's opening night loss to Columbia in a heart-breaker.
The big news, in fact, wasn't the win but the temporary loss of C foot 5 inch Steve Golden who took a stitch in his mouth following a collision carlier this week ing a collision carlier this week with captain Alex Blatt.
Packcourt ace Julie Levine also went on the injury list when he felt too sick to play the second half. Both should be back for Brooklyn Saturday however. If Polansky could get along without Golden as well against Brooklyn as he did with Newark, he'd probably be shouting from he'd probably be sho
the highest roof-top.
The Bombers started out looking like they'd put up a terrific battle. Beaver Bob Kissman hit the first point of the game on a foul shot but Newark took the lead from there. They moved out 4-1 in what may be described as a mental lapse by the Beavers. The Lavender knotted the score at $8-8$ and then Newark put their best drive of the game. in 8 points between them and the Bombers moved out to a $17-11$ lead with 10 minutes left in the first half.
This got the Lavender squad a little annoyed and they began to score points again.
Mike Schaffer opened the bar rage with two jump shots when Alex Blatt got into the act. He hit for 4 points on a follow-up and a pass from Schaffer.
Six foot 3 inch Ira Smolev got annoyed the way they were stealing the show so he put in three straight field goals of his own. In the next five minutes the Beavers put in another 15 point and rialked off the court at half-time with a 40-32 lead.
The second half was almost a complete rout. The Bombers complete rout. The Bombers coouldn't do anything right. They may have been demoralized because $\qquad$

After trading baskets at opening of the half Polansky's squad took off on another tear which resulter in a $56-36$ lead. Schaffer scorer lansky to take out all his starters and give the subs some experience They looked they almost didn': need it, running off 30 of the: own in the 10 minute period.

The freshman team also ripped their Rutgers opponents by a score of 75-53.
This brought their season's rec ord to 2-0.

Beaverettes...

In case you can't wait until Saturday night to see a good Beaver basketball game, you can see one tonight when the Women's baskethall team faces Adelphi at 7 PM in Park Gymnasium.

In a warmup for this evening's contest, last Tuesday, the Beaverattes trounced a team of the College's alumni by a 49-25 margin. Mag. gie Kalb netted 22 for the varsity which was equal to almost the entire total for the alumni.

Mermen Defeated By Jaspers In Season's First Competition

The spirits of the College's varsity swimming team were sodden yesterday after dropping a hard-fought contest to Manhattan in Wingate pool. The Beaver mermen clipped Manhattan in the dives, with Lavender men Rich Woska and Al Carter splashing up eight points to the Jaspers' one. The final tally for the meet was 68-28 in favor of Manhattan.
In the grueling 500 -yard freestyle, the Beavers' Walt Konon copped second place for three points. SG vice-president Girard Pessis, team co-captain Pessis, team co-captain, swam in the 400 -yard medley relay and in the 200 -yard butterfly. Pessis is asually a "flyer" and in the butterfly he came in second, losing to Bill White who turned in a good time of $2: 30.0$
In the 200 -yard breast stroke competition Beaver's Ron Greger and tSan Gedzelman took first and third place, respectively. Lavender man Tom Hoeppner claimed third place in the 100 -yard freestyle, while Konon came in third in the 200-yard freestyle race. The Green and White took first and second place in the 200 -yard backstroke event, with Beaver Al Frishman taking third.
Beaver Coach Jack Rider, with seventeen years coaching experience behind him, said his team is not so strong as last season's, and he has little hope of winning

Pinning Matmen Down To Practice Would Help Pin Down Some Wins

The College's wrestling team lost its first match of the season last Saturday. It was also the first time that the team has ever lost to Newark of Rutgers. Coach Joe Sapora has the answer for the defeat. "The boys are not in shape," the professor exclaimed. terms and studies. In addition, a
