Not Funny...

Christmas cards come in different styles. Sometimes they're funny, sometimes they're arty. And sometimes they even have something to do with Christmas.

The Congress of Racial Equality is selling Christmas cards this week. Proceeds will be used to continue their efforts to achieve equality for all. The cards can be purchased at a booth across from Room 152 Finley.

Prof. Defends Students' Rights As Speaker Ban Is Protested

The right of college students to hear any speaker they may choose was upheld by Dr. Robert W. Edgar, president of the Queens College chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP).

Dr. Edgar was replying to a decision by Queens College President Harold Stokes to ban Stephen Martinot, a student who visited Cuba this summer, from speaking at Queens College.

Stating that "University students are not children," Dr. Edgar maintained that "one can recognize no limit on either the people or the ideas which they confront. If they desire to hear communists, fascists, racists, one must allow them."

Dr. Edgar claimed that "Martinot's rights had not been violated. It is the student's rights which have been violated," he said.

He stated that the general principle involved is that "all responsible members of the university may bring any person, just as they may use any books, onto the campus."

Pointing out that in the last few years "at least four people have been prevented from speaking," Dr. Edgar said that "if part of the student body, the staff, or the public condones such suppression, one can only lament the sad state of liberty."

Council Asks Gallagher To Reply On Objections To Enrollment Plan

President Gallagher was asked to reply to student objections to his proposals for meeting the enrollment crisis at the Student Council meeting last night. In the event that the President declines to answer, authority is provided to send a copy of a report written by the President's Ad Hoc Student Committee on the Enrollment Crisis to the Board of Estimate and the Board of Higher Education.

The Committee's report has been sent to President Gallagher, but the President has said that he won't comment on any such reports until after the Board of Estimate allocates money to handle the additional students he would like to see enter the College.

Allocations

At its meeting last night, Council also passed on the allocations of most student organizations. Observation Post and The Campus received the largest single allocations. Each will receive $4,600-$5,200 for twenty-one to twenty-four issues. This term each received $4,700-$5,000 for the same number of issues.

Other major allocations were $1,150 to the Beaver Deb Society,

Ira Bloom Opposed Resolution

$3,791 to House Plan Association, $590 to the Inter-Fraternity Council, and $591 to Hillel.

The Friends of Upper Volta received $50.50.

Greek Letter and Contact, HPA and IFC organs, respectively, received $150 apiece. This is intended to cover one eight-page issue for each. They will be required to apply to Council at a later date for further allocations.

SG President Ira Bloom opposed the resolution on the enrollment crisis. He characterize it as "insulting," and as "going over President Gallagher's head."

"It will alienate Student Government from the Administration for a long time," Bloom declared.

Joel Cooper, who sponsored the resolution said that all he wanted was for President Gallagher to "answer" the students' objections.

Cooper emphasized the fact that the resolution only provides authority to send the report; it does not mandate anything.

Danny Katkin, another supporter of the motion, asserted that he "expects to be convinced" by President Gallagher and doesn't think it will be necessary to carry out the latter part of the resolution by applying to the Board of Estimate and the BHE.

Douglas To Speak As HPA Guest; Inaugurates Cohen Lecture Series

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has accepted an invitation to speak at the College next term. It will be the Justice's second appearance here in just over one year. He will inaugurate House Plan's Morris Raphael Cohen Lecture Series on April 15.

Justice Douglas' topic will be "The Non-Conformist in Our Society." He will deliver his lecture at 4 PM, April 15, 1964, in the Great Hall. All students and faculty members are welcome to attend.

He spoke here last April 2, under the auspices of the History Department and in the wake of charges that the Department had "usurped" an original invitation from House Plan.

Both House Plan and the History Department had invited the Justice to speak, but subsequent confusion in his office led him to accept the later invitation.

Daughter Will Speak

Morris Raphael Cohen's daughter will also address the Great Hall assemblage. She will discuss remembrances of her father.

Professor Cohen served for thirty-four years here as a teacher of first Mathematics and then Philosophy. He graduated from the College in 1900.

The week of April 12 will be designated Morris Raphael Cohen Week, according to Gene Gitelson, chairman of the Morris Raphael Cohen Lecture Series Committee. "Literature and displays" pertaining to the Professor's life will be on display at the College.

The Morris Raphael Cohen Lecture series is the first at the College to be organized and run entirely by students.

Seminar

A seminar of faculty members has also been scheduled. Topics and questions related to the interests and to the career of the late educator will be discussed there.

Reception

A reception will be held in Justice Douglas' honor, as a gesture of welcome. President Gallagher and several Chairmen and members of departments will attend the affair.

On his visit to the college last year, Justice Douglas spoke on "The Edosion of Liberty."

HPA Election Is Hardly In Doubt

House Plan Association is holding its elections this week, but most of the results really aren't in doubt. Three of the four top posts are uncontested, the only race being for treasurer.

Bob Singer is running for President, Dave Kohl for Vice-President, Steve Weinberg for Secretary. Matched in the election for Treasurer are Alan Fleischman and David Camm. With the exception of Treasurer, all the contests are yes or no votes.

Balloting started Monday and will continue through tomorrow, between 10 AM and 3 PM in front of Room 326 Finley.

Current HPA President Andrew Lien declared that the sparsity of candidates for office this term is a result of the "overly emotional" election last year.

MORTON GÖTTSCHALL DAY:

'Mr. City College' to be Honored

A "Morton Gottschall Day" will be held at the College February 13 to honor the Dean of Liberal Arts and Sciences, who is retiring at the end of this term.

Ceremonies are planned for the Great Hall, and classes will probably be cancelled so that students can attend. All student organizations will probably be invited to send two representatives to march in a procession as part of the ceremony. Representatives of the academic departments will also march.

Speakers will include President Gallagher, Student Government President Bob Rosenberg, and representatives from the Schools of Education, Technology, and Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Music will be provided either by a mixed voice and orchestra or by the Great Hall organ. The ceremony will be followed by a luncheon.

Dean Gottschall, known as "Mr. City College," has been on the College's staff for fifty years. His association with it dates back even further, to when, as a twelve-year-old school boy in knickers, he entered the College's Townsend Harris Preparatory School.

Dean Gottschall graduated from the College itself with the second highest academic average ever received here. He joined the staff in 1913 as history instructor. In 1919 he was appointed registrar.

During his stay here, the Dean has also taken an active part in the College's non-academic life. He has served at various times as president of Phi Beta Kappa, City College Alumni Association president, and as an early organizer of House Plan.

Both Dr. Gottschall's patience and his memory have been legendary at the College. Assistant Dean of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Samuel Middlebrook, has said of him: "I have never seen him lose his temper, raise his voice or forget a relevant fact."

Letters to the Editor

DISGUST

To The Editor:

After viewing the recent campaign and election I find it necessary to voice my disgust of the childish behavior of some of the candidates.

I have often had conversations with some of the members of Student Gov't. Concerning the true importance of SG. My contention was that although there certainly is a heavy responsibility in student allocations and fees, it is still under the "supervision" of the faculty and administration of the college. I always thought that the SG leaders took their position too seriously.—My friends always objected to my contentions and said that there was "more to it than meets the eye."

Well, fine I said, and was almost duped into believing the possibility that Student Government was composed of mature level-head people that were getting good experience in politics.

But to get back to my original point, some of the candidates acted like junior high school children. One objected vigorously to the fact that his opponent was making false statements about support from one of the newspapers.—He ran to the elections agency to protest in fury.

If a slanderous or false statement of some kind is made wouldn't it be more dignified to stay quiet. The people that are going to be influenced by either candidate will check to find out the facts. Those that have pre-chosen who they'll vote for will still vote for him.

Must everyone make an uproar just so he (or she) can be heard? Must people take offense so readily and go crying to the proper authorities.

Relax, I say. The truth will come out. The better man will win . . . sometimes.

Michael Russnow

DISINTERESTED

To The Editor:

With approximately 20% of the Student Body voting, the results would appear to indicate that the other 80% are entirely disinterested in Student Government; the remainder, an extremely small number, consider the college environment as a place not particularly conducive to individual commitment to the vital problems of the day. However, once stepping outside the portals of the hallowed college gates with his "piece of paper" in his hand, the student will face these problems. If he faces them with continued indifference they will remain.

Barry S. Smith
Class of '64

"SIC"

To the Editor:

The method by which you "prepared" Barry Smith's letter for the issue of December 13, represents the basest, most vile form of journalistic slander ever to stain the printed page. Apparently, your annoyance at Mr. Smith's persistence in the face of your editorial attempts to negate the significance of his candidacy prompted the use of so subtle and underhanded a form of personal attack. It is incredible that a newspaper which declares itself to be non-affiliated could so unequivocally discount the platform of an independent candidate, and still retain any claim to rendering fair and impartial endorsement. Even more appalling is the manner in which Mr. Smith has been relegated to the role of a semi-illiterate crackpot who has the audacity to challenge the campaigners of the established parties, while the rather superficial and trite issues which characterize these parties' platforms go completely unnoticed.

Such irresponsible conduct on the part of a newspaper that seeks to influence the opinions of others is a deplorable abuse of the power of the press and a blot on the tradition of free student journalism.

Rumble In Shepard Hall Makes A Mirror Move

Rumble! There is going to be a rumble in Shepard. You can see it in the cool abyss of Shepard Basement's north side next week or better yet outside the Geology Department next term.

Part of the earth will rumble and students at the College have the indubitable distinction of being able to witness it, as it will be recorded on a new seismograph (earthquake detecting) machine which is due to arrive here assembled from its Columbia University next week.

According to Prof. Daniel T. O'Connell, who supervises operation of the seismograph station in the Shepard basement, the new instrument will be an improvement over the present one "we'll be able to see earthquakes as they happen, instead of from photographs.

"Now we have photographic recordings," he explained. "When an earthquake occurs, a current causes a cord of wire which is like a pendulum, to make a mirror move. Now when the mirror moves, we catch this on sensitive photographic paper. Instead of a photographic paper, this machine will write directly on paper. "The pendulum," he added, "is the seismometer."

Prof. O'Connell added that the new seismograph machine has an additional benefit over the present equipment in that we now operate in a darkroom because of the fact that light would ruin the photographs the machine must take. The new set up would permit the machine to be used in daylight, such as outside the Geology Department Office, where all students would have the benefit of seeing earthquakes recorded as they occur.

Arrangements for the equipment were made by Prof. Don (Geology) who has contacts at Lamont Geological Observatory at Columbia University. Donations will probably finance most of the cost, Prof. O'Connell said.

Hoopsters Back In Action Jan 4; Play Queens And Then Howard U.

It's hard to think of playing basketball again after last weekend's tragic events that hit so hard at the College's basketball team, but before another of the College's newspapers comes out again, the Lavender cagers will be back in action and will have played two games.

On Saturday night January 4, the Beaver cagers will travel to Queens for a game against the Queens College Knights.

So far this season, the Knights have looked good. Last week they against the highly touted St. Francis team, Queens stayed with all the way until Tom Kurowski of St. Francis hit a swinging hook, with two seconds left to snatch the victory.

In their most recent game, they downed Paterson State by eighteen points.

Six-foot-two-inch Mike Craig and six-foot-three-inch Roger Ratner hold down the corner position for the Knights. Steve Auerbach, a six-foot-five-inch junior is the team's center.

Robert Lazone, a six-foot-two-inch junior has been the mainstay of the back court so far this year.

In last year's contest with Queens, the Beavers were victorious by the score of 53-47.

On Monday night, January 6, the Beavers will play their next home game. Originally scheduled as an away game, the contest against Howard University is now set for Wingate.

At the same time that the Howard game was switched to Wingate, the Hunter game was put on the rode.

In their fifty-eight year history of playing basketball, the Lavender has only face Howard once. In that game played in 1931, the Beavers were the winners by a 43-26 margin.

Coach Dave Polansky's charges presently have a 4-1 won-lost record. If they can win eight of their thirteen remaining games, they will make the College one of the few teams in the country to have won 600 or more games.

Mermen Topped By Columbia; Try Again At Adelphi Tomorrow

The Beavers seemed to be a little bit wet behind the ears yesterday as the College's swimming team dropped a valiantly fought meet to the Columbia Lions. The final score was 60-34.

The highlights of the meet for the Lavender were the 400-yard medley relay, the dives, and the 200-yard breast stroke in which Beaver mermen took first place.

Beaver's Al Frishman, Girard Pessis, Dennis More, and Ron Greger swept a victory in the 400-medley in good time of 4:24.5. Rich Voska took first place in the diving competition and team co-captain Al Carter took second place for a total of 8 points.

The most exciting event of the afternoon was the 200-yard breast stroke, won by Beaver Stan Gedvelman in 2:45.6. His teammates gave him a rousing cheer as he beat his opponent, John Ostro of Columbia by two seconds.

As usual, the Beaver divers Al Carter and Rich Voska looked good on the board. They executed some very nice single and double somersaults with tucks and back layouts.

The meet against Columbia will be followed by a swimming match with Adelphi on Friday, December 20, in Garden City. On Saturday, December 28, the Beavers will compete in a Holiday Tournament to be held at Queens. These meets will be followed by a contest with Brooklyn Poly on Saturday, January 4, in the Central "Y" pool in Brooklyn.

Parriers Battle Lions Tom'w; Hope To Wilt Violets On Jan. 4

The College's fencing team won't have time to rest on its laurels. The Lavender parriers have been successful against Harvard and Yale so far this season but their next two matches will see them face some "local" nemeses.

Today, the Beavers will face Columbia on the Lion's home ground. According to Coach Edward Lucia, the Columbia match will be the hardest the Lavender will have to face.

Columbia is currently the defending NAAC and ECAS champions. Although Professor Lucia said this will be a difficult match he feels it could go either way. Last week the Professor said that his major problem is "sophomoreitis;" that is, too many sophomores with too little experience.

Last year, the Beavers faced Columbia in an almost similar situation in that they were undefeated. The Lions were the first to blemish the Lavender record as they beat them 16-11.

The Beavers will face another team that was one of the three beside Columbia that beat them. On January 4, the Beavers will start the new year against the Violets of New York University. The NYU match is always a tough one and this season's will be no exception.

Coach Edward Lucia

Last season, NYU edged the Beavers by a 15-12 margin.

In last year's NYU match, the Beavers almost nipped the Violets, fighting an uphill battle to tie them at 10 all. But the Violets rapped 10 up by taking five of the last seven bouts.

The match against NYU will be home while Columbia is an away match.

Matmen Vs. RPI Away Saturday

By IVAN WEINBERG

Fresh from a strong victory over Brooklyn Poly, the College's wrestling team will travel to Troy, New York, Saturday to do battle with Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (RPI).

The Lavender looked good against Brooklyn Poly in their last match but more important, the victory did a great deal to lift team morale.

One Beaver who has done a lot this year to help raise team morale is 147 pound Mark Miller. "Killer" Miller has fought three matches and won all three by pins. He has done away with his opponents so quickly that the total number of minutes he has wrestled is under nine minutes which is the regulation time of a match if there is no pin.

SHOULD AULD ACQUAINTANCE AND JAZZ LIKE THAT

I am now an elderly gentleman, full of years and aches, but my thoughts keep ever turning to my undergraduate days. This is called "arrested development."

But I cannot stop the healing tide of nostalgia that washes over me as I recall those golden campus days, those ivy-covered buildings (actually, at my college, there was only ivy: no bricks), those pulse-tingling lectures on John Dryden and Cotton Mather, the many friends I made, the many deans I bit.

I know some of you are already dreading the day when you graduate and lose touch with all your merry classmates. It is my pleasant task today to assure you that it need not be so; all you have to do is join the Alumni Association and every year you will receive a bright, newsy, chatty bulletin, chock-full of tidings about your old buddies.

Oh, what a red-letter day it is at my house, the day the Alumni Bulletin arrives! I cancel all my engagements, take the phone off the hook, dismiss my resident osteopath, put the cheetah outside, and settle down for an evening of pure pleasure with the Bulletin and (need I add?) a good supply of Marlboro Cigarettes.

Whenever I am having fun, a Marlboro makes the fun even more fun. That filter, that flavor, that yielding soft pack, that firm Flip Top box, never fails to heighten my pleasure whether I am playing Double Canfield or watching the radio or knitting an afghan or enjoying any other diverting pursuit you might name—except, of course, spear fishing. But then, how much spear fishing does one do in Clovis, New Mexico, where I live?

But I digress. Let us return to my Alumni Bulletin and the fascinating news about my old friends and classmates. I quote from the current issue:

"Well, fellow alums, it certainly has been a wing-dinger of a year for us old grads! Remember Mildred Cheddar and Harry Camembert, those crazy kids who always held hands in Econ II? Well, they're married now and living in Clovis, New Mexico, where Harry rents spear-fishing equipment, and Mildred has just given birth to a lovely 28-pound daughter, her second in four months. Nice going, Mildred and Harry!

"Remember Jethro Brie, the man we voted most likely to succeed? Well, old Jethro is still gathering laurels! Last week he was voted 'Motorman of the Year' by his fellow workers in the Duluth streetcar system. 'I owe it all to my brakeman,' said Jethro in a characteristically modest acceptance speech. Same old Jethro!

"Probably the most glamorous time had by any of us old alums was had by Francis Macomber last year. He went on a big game hunting safari all the way to Africa! We received many interesting post cards from Francis until he was, alas, accidentally shot and killed by his wife and white hunter. Tough luck, Francis!

"Wilametta 'Deadeye' Macomber, widow of the late beloved Francis Macomber, was married yesterday to Fred 'Sureshot' Sigafos, white hunter, in a simple double-ring ceremony in Nairobi. Many happy returns, Wilametta and Fred!

"Well, alums, that just about wraps it up for this year. Buy bonds!"

Old grads, new grads, undergrads, and non-grads all agree: that good Richmond tobacco recipe, that clean Selectrate filter, have turned all fifty states of the Union into Marlboro Country. Won't you join the throng?
