Student Leaders Sign Appeal; Protest 'Advance' Prosecution

A statement urging students to cut classes to protest the McCarran Act investigation of the Advance Youth Organization was signed by nine student leaders at the College yesterday.

Bob Atkins, chairman of the College's ad hoc committee to defeat the McCarran Act, commented that the proceedings against Advance were "unconstitution" and "only intended to destroy progressive moments." He suggested that students attend the hearings in order to learn more about "the anti-democratic intent" of the Act. The Students For A Democratic Society and the College's Chapter Americans for Democratic Action, co-sponsors of Tuesday's picket line, argued, in a statement, that their concern is not primarily with Advance, but "with the McCarran Act itself, with the right of people to organize and to advocate political ideas."

"Since every peace and civil rights organization in the country takes some positions more or less similar or 'parallel' to the Communists', all are more or less vulnerable to inclusion under the provisions of the McCarran Act," the two groups noted.

The investigation, which begins Monday at 30 Church Street, is being held to determine if Advance will be required to register as a "Communist-front organization" under the provisions of the Act. The youth group has been charged with advocating some views identical to those of the Communist Party and with allowing Communists into its leadership.

Marvin Markman, vice-chairman of Advance, said that the purpose of the McCarran Act was "to destroy organizations purely because of political beliefs." He stated that his organization "assures that the protest demonstration will be conducted in a dignified and proper manner."

Rocky Road

Rocky will definitely not be a candidate in '64. Not for OP, he won't. In the first place, he hasn't returned some library books or paid his bursar's fee.

You, on the other hand, have no such handicaps. You are a suitably enrolled, emaciated, persecuted, struggling student. Maybe you can even write. Why not come up to Room 336 Finley.

The first meeting is at 12:15 PM today. If you start now, you just might be elected before Rocky is. Election to what? No comment.

Vigil Requested By SC For Birmingham Dead

A resolution urging President Gallagher to set aside time next Thursday for five minutes of silent meditation commemorating the death of six Birmingham children, who lost their lives during racial disturbances in that city, was passed by Student Council last night.

SC representative, Bob Atkins, one of the original supporters of the resolution, later expressed the hope that President Gallagher would take an active role in the proceedings.

Earlier in the meeting, three members of SC were selected as executive vice-presidents. Bob Atkins, Richard Kane and Mike Ticktin were elected to the three vacancies on the first ballot.

During the Treasurer's report, a $300 allocation to Greek Letter was reduced to $135. Reduction followed the announcement that Greek Letter's first issue would contain six pages instead of twelve.

SG Treasurer, Danny Katkin, also reported that SG's estimated income for the term should be $32,700 of which $7,700 may still be allocated to campus organizations.

At the beginning of the meeting, SG Pres. Ira Bloom outlined his objectives for the term. High on his priority list was the creation of a functioning student court by next September.

Bloom also suggested "a study on the qualities of a good teacher" as a first step in a course and teacher evaluation program, and increased participation by students in SG and Student-Faculty Committees.

During the debate on the Birmingham resolution, Richard Kane, one of the three representatives to vote against it, argued that "a representative government should not say what is moral and what is immoral."

Ira Bloom
First Meeting

Larry Steinhauer, on the other hand, declared, "not to comment on this issue means that we, as students, don't give a damn about what is going on."

In other action, Council ended the power of its committees to kill legislation. Under the new ruling, committees can now only report favorably or unfavorably on legislation.

In another internal change, Council provided for its committees to meet for an hour weekly, shortly after the start of each Wednesday meeting. Council also allocated $150 to hire a student

NSA Demands Troops Be Sent to Birmingham

The National Student Association, of which the College is a member, has asked President Kennedy to send Federal troops to Birmingham, Alabama, scene of the recent church bombing which killed four young girls.

Gregory M. Gallo, President of NSA, in a September 18 telegram to President Kennedy, demanded that the Federal Government "delay no longer" in sending troops to Birmingham to protect the lives of those "abandoned to racist terrorism."

"Four dead children," Gallo added, "are decisive testimony that the resources of state and local authorities . . . are inadequate to provide this protection." Gallo went on to state that any action less than "full Federal protection" would only serve to foment "further violence against the security and conscience of this nation and the safety of its citizens."

SG Asked To Protest

NSA is also asking that member colleges take action to protest the bombing, and in a statement of September 18, that requested that student governments organize vigils, write letters to President Kennedy and Congressmen expressing their feelings, and encourage student bodies to do the same.

The NSA statement noted that the University of Illinois was organizing a boycott of ten national corporations which employ 35% of Birmingham's segregated work force; these corporations are: United States Steel, Saint Regis Paper, Martin-Marietta, Lone Star

Cement, United States Pipe and Foundry, Republic Steel, Union Carbide, Harbison-Walker Refractories, Natco, and Hutting Sash and Door.

Defense Dept. Proposes New Two-Year Plan As Supplement For Present ROTC Program

An additional two year ROTC program may be offered by the College as a result of a recent Defense Department proposal. A cut in the regular four year military science may be necessary in order to include the new plan according to The New York Times.

The measures were contained in the testimony of Assistant Defense Secretary Norman S. Paul before the House Armed Services subcommittee.

The bill may also make available a limited number of scholarships for ROTC students, according to Major John M. Gilbert (Military Science).

The proposed move is designed

ROTC may have more students to joint the ranks of those parading above under the proposed two-year program.

to produce an increase in the number of second lieutenants (the position that ROTC participants attain upon graduation).

Two-year programs may be established at certain community colleges assuming that expected enrollment and the number of students involved are acceptable to the Defense Department and Congress. An unprecedented increase in number and growing size of existing community colleges contributed to the decision to make the program available for two years, said Major Gilbert.

The College presently has one of the largest volunteer ROTC programs in existence, with over 600 students enrolled.

BHE To Request Budget Increases

The Board of Higher Education (BHE) voted Monday night to increase its budget request for the new Kingsborough Community College by $501,000.

The BHE action followed approval this month by the State University Board of Trustees of a proposal to establish the new community colleges in Manhattan and Brooklyn.

BHE chairman Gustave G. Rosenberg expressed hope that the $636,000 allotment could be applied to the renovation of the now inactive Manhattan Beach Air Force Station for the Brooklyn college. No site has been found for the proposed college in Manhattan.

Preliminary funds were also allocated for three buildings on the Kingsborough Community College campus, and two projects on the Queens College campus.

The Senate-Next?

The right of students to associate with their peers for the purpose of increasing their knowledge, socializing, or attempting to improve their society has long been defended by Observation Post. When some authority, be it on a college, state, or Federal level, attempts to deny this right, all those interested in academic freedom and the most basic principles of democracy itself must be let their voices be heard.

The application of the McCarran Act to the Advance Youth Organization offers one such occasion. While we don't, and other supporters of student rights may not, necessarily share this group's political views, we do wholeheartedly support their right to believe in, discuss, and demonstrate their opinions.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy is basing his order for Advance's registration as a Communist-front group on two counts. He accuses them of having some Communists among their leadership, and of committing the horrendous crime of agreeing with the Communist Party in certain of their policies. In regard to the first, we support the right of an organization to admit members without previously investigating their political persuasions. Secondly, the charge of parallelism is one of the most dangerous weapons ever to be used by foes of free thought. Wielding this sword, one can scar almost every one of the nation's progressive political organizations, labor unions, and religious groups. The Communist Party supports a nuclear test ban, but so does a majority of the United States Senate.

We call on all those who support free thought, word, and deed, regardless of their own political views, to indicate their opposition to the dangerous classification of organizations as "pink", "fellow-traveling," or Communists. The hearings of the Subversive Activities Control Board will be open, and all those interested in free inquiry and able to attend should be present at 30 Church Street on Monday at 10 AM. Picket lines will be conducted from 2-4 PM on that day and Tuesday.

Remember that your group, be it CORE, the National Student Association, the Young Democrats, or Student Government, may be next. The time to take preventive steps is now.

Commitment

The National Student Association's appeal for student governments to bear witness to the Birmingham slaughter and demand meaningful Federal protection for the Negro citizens of that city deserves an immediate commitment from all persons at the College.

Our Student Government was rightfully joined with student organizations across the country in providing significant leadership for such action on this campus.

The NSA has called for a letter writing campaign and five minute vigils throughout the coming weeks. This is little enough to ask from anyone at the College, especially those in positions of leadership.

The murder of four children in an Alabama church capped a century of horror and racial murder in our country. We have all been witnesses to this horror. We must refuse to remain silent witnesses.

Disturbed Student Bolts From Police In Finley Center

An emotionally disturbed student at the College was forcibly restrained by police officers yesterday in the Finley Center.

The student, who transferred the term from the Bronx Community College, had spoken at length with Associate Dean of Students James S. Peace (Student Life), who decided that he needed hospital treatment.

Dean Peace had hoped to persuade the student to submit to hospitalization voluntarily, but did not do so. That police men be present as a precaution. However, when the student suddenly bolted in front of the Bittenweiser Lounge, two officers threw him to the floor and handcuffed him.

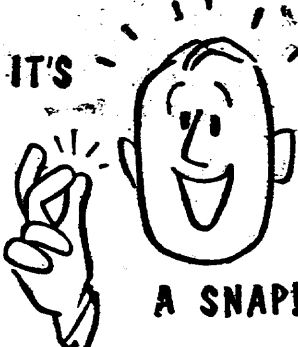

Taken first to Knickerbocker Hospital, the student was then sent to Bellevue.

Noting that the student had serious personal problems, and adding that he had been found earlier the week wandering around Idlewild Airport in a confused state, Dean Peace said he had still hoped that the student could be helped without resorting to hospitalization. After speaking with him yesterday, however, he realized that the boy was more seriously disturbed than he had thought.

Electric Hound Haunts Excesses of Baskerville

By CAROL HERRNSTADT

Don't walk around with liquor on your breath on North Campus, you may be detected by a "mechanized hound of Baskerville."

Thus warned Professor Henri L. Rosano (Chemistry) in discussion of the electric nose with which he and sophomore Sheldon Scheps, have been experimenting.

The nose, Dr. Rosano explained, detects scents by registering the change in the current of a solution on a recorder. Every smell has a corresponding solution to which it reacts. The amount of an odor is determined by the change in current per unit of time.

Scientifically, people have been able to do better than their senses," the chemist stated, giving the photographic lens as an example. A mechanical nose, which promises not to catch cold, can record odors which the human nose cannot detect.

Guerrilla warfare is only one application of this olfactory device. A village could be dusted with a chemical, the professor pointed out, and the smell of anyone leaving the area would be picked up by the electric nose.

Manufacturers of food and paper products as well as air pollution experts are also interested in the machine, invented by a Frenchman, Alain Berton.

The complex of tubes and electrodes must be further experimented with, Scheps stated, in order to "fingerprint" electronically the reactions of specific odors with corresponding solutions. Until now, the experiments have been chiefly concerned with different alcohols.

...and a couple of lab reports

Just about the time you figure your Wordmaster should be running out of ink, unscrew the cap. The new see-thru refill says in no uncertain terms that you've got enough ink left to go on writing for quite a while. You shouldn't be surprised. For even though Wordmaster is slim and streamlined, it has a much larger ink capacity than ordinary dollar pens. And that makes it just about the most inexpensive dollar pen around.

By the way... you can get a handsome matching pencil to go along with your Wordmaster. And that's only a dollar, too.

The Executive Committee's recommendations for committee chairmanships were also approved by SC. Martin Kaufman will head the Internal Affairs committee. Larry Steinhauer will chair the School Affairs Committee, and Mike Engel will serve as Academic Affairs Committee chairman. The Civil Liberties' chairmanship was left vacant when appointee Ticktin was elected executive vice-president.

Vacancies Announced

Pres. Bloom announced a number of vacancies which will be filled at next week's Council meeting. Positions on the Student-Faculty Discipline, Cafeteria, Bookstore, and College of Liberal Arts and Sciences Committees are open.

Chairman of the Public Opinion Research Bureau, Facilities Agency and NSA Committee must also be elected. Candidates for the Finley Board of Advisors, Fee Commission and Used Book Exchange Committee are also needed. Any student at the College may fill these positions.

With the announcement that councilman De Stefano of the class of '65 had resigned, Bloom stated that school-wide elections will take place in the fourth week of this term to fill vacancies in the class of '64, '65 and '67. Only upper freshman are eligible for seats in the class of '67.

OBITUARY

The death of Mr. Walter A. Stalb the College's business manager and the business officer of Finley Center saddened the Administration and staff.

Mr. Stalb was business manager until his compulsory retirement in 1953 at the age of 70.

His untiring zeal and his dedication to the College and to his work, compelled him to return in the capacity of business officer of Finley Center, a position which he held for the past ten years.

A successor to Mr. Stalb has yet to be named.

NSA...

All students interested in serving on the College's National Student Association (NSA) Committee are invited to apply in the SG office, Room 151 Finley. The Committee, as the College's representative of the United States NSA, needs members to help in the programming and administration of its projects.

Space Shortage Foreseen In New York State Colleges

Within six years there may be a shortage of 130,000 to 180,000 places for students in the state's universities and colleges, according to a State Office of Planning in Higher Education report.

Dr. S. V. Martorana, who prepared the report, urged education authorities to give "direct financial aid" to private institutions. At present, public funds are unavailable to private institutions.

The report, submitted to the Board of Regents last July, warned that private colleges would be forced to raise tuition if they were denied aid. This would increase the already considerable range in tuition existing within the state's institutions. Tuition is free at the City University's four-year colleges, while the State institutions charge $400, and Columbia University, for instance, charges $1,700.

The authors of the report expect opposition to their recommendation that the Regents support private institutions. A revival of the controversy over aid to church-related schools, which the Senate Constitution explicitly prohibits, is anticipated.

The report also urged the establishment of public and private agencies to guide plans for new collegiate institutions. The State University Trustees have recently approved two new Community Colleges, one in Manhattan and one in Brooklyn.

Examination of the state's educational facilities has become necessary, since 63,000 more students are expected to graduate from New York State's high schools in 1965 than in 1962, the report stated.

Booters Demolish Columbia, 5-1; Cliff Soas, Newcomer, Scores Twice

The Lions of Columbia roared into Lewisohn Stadium yesterday, but before the afternoon was over, the College's soccer team was doing the roaring as the Beavers beat Columbia, 5-1. The Lavender scored first, when Tom Sieberg slammed home a penalty shot at 2:40 of the first period.

The Beavers dominated the play for the rest of the period until 17:25 when Columbia's Bob Trouner beat Walter Kopczuk, the Lavender net-minder and the score was deadlocked at 1-1.

In the fourth quarter Columbia put in its second string team to give them some experience under fire. Instead the Beavers lit a bonfire.

At the two minute mark, center forward, Cliff Soas, moved into position and headed the ball into Columbia's net.

About five minutes later, Emilio Couret took a pass, some thirty-five feet in front of the Columbia goal and blistered a shot past Dave Rassin, the Lion goalie.

After Patruno replaced Kopczuk in the Beaver net Tony Negovetti intercepted a stray Columbia pass and beat the Lion goalie, as the score mounted to a 4-1 margin.

Less than a minute later, Soas got his second goal of the day as he scored from the midst of Lion defenders.

At this point, with the Lavender on the long end of a 5-1 bulge, Coach Harry Karlin emptied his bench giving the second team a chance to play.
