More Classes, Not Bigger Ones
Requested By Four Departments

By JERRY NAGEL

Four departments at the College last week declared themselves in agreement with President Gallagher's proposal to increase the number of lecture classes in order to ease the enrollment crisis. But all of them objected to the President's plan for enlarging the size of lecture classes.

The President had advocated larger classes, and an extended day session with 8 PM and Saturday classes, in a speech to the general faculty October 8.

The Philosophy, Sociology, and Anthropology, Biology, and Chemistry departments have gathered their discussions of the various facets of the President's plan and submitted their reservations to Morton Gattschall (Liberal Arts) instructors in these departments.

Main Events Editor Removed; New Constitution Is Written

Main Events Acting Editor Steve Somerset was removed from his position last week by Dr. Martha Farmer (Student Life). His scholastic average was C-minus.

At the same time the Main Events constitution was revamped to allow first-term candidates to figure in editorial decisions.

With the loss of Somerset, and the disqualification of four Day Session students, the only remaining members of Main Events are twenty-seven candidates.

Under the old constitution candidates had to wait one term to as well as an added burden on themselves.

The Philosophy, and Sociology and Anthropology departments favor Saturday classes rather than enlarged weekday lectures.

"We don't favor combining large lectures with small discussion groups," declared Prof. Phillip Weiss (Chairman, Philosophy).

"We do think that with increased emphasis we can handle the load. We would come in on Saturdays if necessary. In other words, we feel the paper is a part of our department does."

"A department that depends on discussion cannot have large lecture sections," he added, "we hope that the College will provide increased money to enlarge the staff."

Prof. Milton Bencowitz (Chemistry, Sociology and Anthropology) said that his department agreed to cooperate with President Gallagher.

Galagher Scored at AAUP Meeting

President Gallagher was criticized at a meeting of the College's chapter of the American Association of University Professors Thursday for not allowing the faculty sufficient time to study his proposals for increasing the enrollment of the College.

Saying that "education is too important to be improvised,"

Professor T. Bailey Harvey (Speech), treasurer of the chapter, declared that if the situation is as serious, as Dr. Gallagher feels it is, the faculty should have been given more time to study the situation and come up with its own plans and suggestions.

Prof. Harvey's remarks received the "most enthusiastic and long-lived applause" according to a member of the AAUP who was present.

Gallagher's remarks followed a speech by the University's Dean of Studies, Harold Levy.

Dean Levy's speech had supported the main points of Dr. Gallagher's proposals for increasing the enrollment of the College.

Chariots to Race in Lewishohn

If chariots come racing down Convent Avenue, there won't be any room this week, don't be surprised. For days now the brothers, have been hammering and sawing in every fraternity house around, in preparation for the annual event. And chariots should be the main results of this activity.

Lewishohn Stadium will be the scene of the chariot races Thursday, with the brothers doing the pulling (for lack of noble steeds). Football, a more modern type of inter-fraternity rivalry will also occupy the type of students for three places in the Class of '67.

The election was unusual in that only one of the candidates running on slates was elected. Gloria Flenman of the 5,000 Better Freshmen became a Council representative for the Class of '67 along with Linda Rosman.

Two hundred and eighty ballots were cast in the Class of '67 with Howard Simon and Jack Becker, coming out on top. Simon had ninety-eight votes and Becker eighty-four to defeat Eric Eisenberg, Ray Goldfield, Robert Levin, Prof. Harvey's remarks received the "most enthusiastic and long-lived applause" according to a member of the AAUP who was present.

The Real Question

special committee headed by Student Government President Ira Bloom introduced proposals last week which it hopes will do away with much of the internal political wrangling hampering Student Council.

The proposals, which would require amendments to the Constitution, provide for the creation of three more vice presidencies, each with special duties, and the election of the SG President for a year instead of a term.

This is one more, in a long line of proposals, which were designed to rejuvenate Student Government. Like all the others, it does not come to terms with the real question:

The creation of the Student Activities Board, two years ago was hailed as a milestone in SG history. It too did not come to grips with the real question. It has come to an infinite end.

The real problem, and the one the Committee has not confronted, is that Student Government can never succeed when faced with blatant student apathy.

Previous Presidents have failed to get their programs through, not because they had only five months in which to do it, but because a large enough number of students simply don’t care enough.

It is worthwhile noting that the SG-led Anti-Tuition Fee strike at Albany was a great success from the standpoint of informing and organizing the student body. But the matters which come before Council from day to day are apparently not so vital to the students as a threat to their pocketbooks.
We do not look askance at this, but only suggest that all of us be honest enough to admit it.

Perhaps SG can rally the collective support of the student body from time to time, but it has failed miserably to effectively sustain this support. And more internal reform is not likely to make the difference.

Is there a better alternative? Perhaps, but what seems to be needed is a fundamental revision of SG goals. This might require a change from the present SG structure to a new, perhaps less cumbersome one.

The Sociology Department, under Professor Lejeune, has undertaken a survey to determine the attitude of the student body at the College towards SG. It hopes to find out why so many students are indifferent to SG and what, if anything, can be done about it. We believe that the report, which the Department submits, may hold the answer to this dilemma.

In any event, a proposal based on the report’s empirical data is sure to be more helpful than any resolution that can be offered now.

Dr. Farmer said the meeting had been called “at the request of several of the candidates on the paper” and that the event was “meaningful in that the meeting would be entirely up to those on Main Events.”

We're looking ahead 15 years, because within that period Con Edison will have about 800 top management and staff positions opening up. Right now we can offer ambitious young college graduates unique opportunities to move to the top. We're looking for engineers, accountants, economists, math majors...and chemists who can be trained now, to be ready to move into these important posts.

Graduate prospects at Con Edison are bright, too, for the right men: good starting salary...an Individual training program, with interesting assignments from the start...the chance to be a part of original, creative work in a progressive company that's pioneered many developments in the power field...generous financial help toward graduate studies. And in all the stimulating environment of exciting New York!

So don't miss the chance to get the low-down on Con Edison's great new program for college graduates. Write, calling attention to your academic record...on your experience...on Con Edison itself. Write to:

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS...NOVEMBER 1

Drop in at your College Placement Office. Get a copy of our brochure...also time and place for your interview.

The rally on the South Campus lawn was sponsored by the College's Marxist Discussion Club, a cooperating affiliate of Advance. Eric Eisenberg, President of the Student Peace Union (SPU), Bob Atkins, and Eric Eisenberg, a member of MDC and Advance. Eisenberg moderated the program.

Mr. Markman declared that Advance would refuse to register unless the provisions of the McCarran Act are changed. "If the public recognizes the fundamental flaw in the affiliate's stance, we will vote to refuse registration," he said.

Fisher, speaking for SPU, called the Advance hearings part of a pattern of "restrictions by the press, power structure against all progress in the fields of peace and civil rights."

Fisher was followed by Pessis, who compared the registration proceedings of the Act to the Nazis. He said that

"Registration is a form of censorship as the journalism is the same journalism that cannot cope with homosexuality."

"That is the same journalism that cannot cope with homosexuality." -Wiegarten

House Plan...

Al Skerker was elected secretary of House Plan in a special election last week. He defeated Alex by a 71-63 vote to win the post vacated by the resignation of Claire Levine.

Fellowship Grants

Candidates for doctoral degrees will not have to pay taxes on scholarships or fellowships. A ruling issued by the Internal Revenue Service last week provides that grants will be exempt if the only work required for the grant is in the research work required for the degree. Awards that require teaching or other duties will be taxable.

The tax agency stressed the fact that equivalent research would be required of all candidates for the same degree at each university. It is not required that the research cover the same subject.

The Time Is Now

Act is used against them it will be too late.

Petitions were handed around to be signed after the rally by Eisenberg, who then left to address a rally of about 200 students at Columbia.

5 Teachers Retire from Lang. Dept.

Putting lecture notes aside, five distinguished professors have retired from the Romance Languages Department this term.

Only last week, Spanish Professor Ekptrians Cross made College headlines by winning a court battle to allow foreign language instructors tax deductions on trips to countries where their special language is spoken.

With a year's more seniority than Dr. Cross, Professor Pedro Beck-y-Rita's name was associated with last term's controversy over alleged discrimination against Spanish in the Romance Languages Department.

Messers' "The Marriage of Figaro" and "The Barber of Seville" have been translated by Professor Vincent Luciani. He is currently writing Italian grammar books and articles for the "New Catholic Encyclopedia."

Emily Dickinson's poetry in Italian is a known creation of Professor Guido Errante. The College's language workshop and tape recordings and films of current developments are the work of Professor Orlando Bonestele.

Now the College's Department of Romance Languages is without these five men.

The College's soccer team took a busload of spirit and enthusiasm along with them to Adelphi University Saturday, but they would have traded even the bus for a healthy Neville Parker as they dropped a heart-breaking 5-2 decision to the Panthers.

The star Beaver center halfback suffered a leg injury in the Brooklyn game and did not suit up for Adelphi. His absence left a big hole right down the middle of the Lavender defense, and the Panthers were quick to take advantage of it. Adelphi star Constantinos Dodos was the first to score. Picking up the ball at midfield, at the 18-minute mark of the opening stanza, the speedy Panther dribbled down the middle. About fifteen feet in front of the Beaver net, he cut to his left, faked to his right and sent the ball into the upper left hand corner of the net. Beaver goalie Walter Kopczuk never had a chance.

Earlier in the period, Kopczuk had the same one-on-one situation, with Dodos again the aggressor. But that time though the amazing goalie stopped the shot with a fantastic save.

In fact, the score might have been twice as high had it not been for Kopczuk. His saves made all the difference. In the second half, Kopczuk (as his teammates more often than not refer to him) stood between the post for most of the game and did not let his team down.

During the second period, while "Klutch" Kopczuk (as his team mates call him) was thwarting the onrushing attackers, the Lavender was thwarting itself. The Beavers had trouble setting up a good offensive pattern which did penetrate the stubborn Adelphi defense, their shots were either wide or off target.

Many of the Beaver shots were "topped," the goalies hitting them on top of the ball. This seemed to be due, in part, to the grass. The Lavender hooters appeared to be looking for the ball to hop on the soft grass. Many of the Beaver shots were either wide or completely blocked.

The Beavers weren't about to lay down and die; and, moreover, for the first half of the final quarter they played like the team that had been victorious in the two previous meetings this season.

At 13:51 Beaver Bob Molko corralled the elusive ball in front of the Panther net and sent it right at Kopczuk. A second tally of the afternoon at 12:51 scored by Cliff Soars, moved in on the Adelphi net. As he entered the penalty area surrounding the Adelphi goalie, he was hit and high and low by two burly Panthers. The Lavender awarded a penalty shot and halfback Tom Sieberg was elected to take it. He shone the ball just under the crossbar to knot the score at one apiece.

It stayed that way until the 17:56 mark of the same period when Beaver's center forward Alejandro Ponce scored to put the Panthers back on top. A minute and a half later, Ponce did a repeat performance and going into the final stanza the Beavers were down 3-1.
