Chmn. Villard: 'I Don't Care' But Ballroom More Convenient

"I don't care where I lecture," Professor Henry Villard (Chmn., Economics) said Friday. Dr. Villard was commenting on student objections to the planned Economics 1 lectures in the Finley Grand Ballroom. The objections had been raised because previously only student activities were allowed in the Ballroom.

Professor Villard then explained, in a telephone interview with Observation Post, that the Ballroom had been selected because it was on South Campus and free on Monday mornings.

The only other auditorium facility on South Campus, Aronow Auditorium, is in use during those hours.

The South Campus location was desirable, Prof. Villard felt, because he believed most students taking Eco. 1 have their other classes on South Campus.

"But, if you can prove to me," he added, "that this is not true, I would be happy to use the Great Hall."

"The main purpose of the lecture is intended as an experiment with class sizes. All lectures are not good and all seminars are not good," Prof. Villard continued, "but students at the College have seldom been exposed to good lecturing. It would add to the variety."

In an interview Saturday, Robert Taylor, the College's registrar, estimated that approximately 60% of Eco. 1 students have their other classes on South Campus. "It may be closer to 50-50," he noted, "nobody really knows something like that."

"Conditions are so chaotic now," he commented, "that the additional

Arrow Is Suspended; Internal Dispute Cited

The Arrow, undergraduate newspaper of Hunter College was suspended Thursday by John J. Meng, President of the College. Dr. Meng stated that "The substantial reason for the suspension is that Hunter Arrow no longer has an effective editorial board to direct its action." Dissension had been brewing among the members of the editorial board over the powers of Allan Coleman, the editor in chief, and finally came to a head when impeachment charges were brought against him.

The members of the board claimed that Coleman was trying to usurp their power by not following their constitution. They brought the charges up before the Judicial Board, a student-faculty-administration panel, which ruled that since the Arrow constitution had never been officially approved, the impeachment procedure was illegal.

Immediately following the ruling, the complete story of the proceedings was printed in The Arrow, along with an editorial signed by Coleman stating his position. President Meng then stated that he felt that the conflict had reached a point at which the staff was no longer able to work with

Ribs Muslims, Rocky

By VIVIAN BROWN

"There's a logical reason why the Black Muslims like fighting," declared comedian Dick Gregory last Thursday. "They can't smoke, can't drink, can't eat pork, and can't fool around (whatever that means). What else have they got to do?"

The entertainer turned civil rights demonstrator offered his views, both humorous and serious, on topics ranging from smoking to President Eisenhower before a Great Hall audience of over a thousand students for the benefit of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee's Mississippi Summer Project.

"I wish that Surgeon General's cigarette report had come out a month earlier in time for my mother-in-law's birthday," quipped Gregory. "I'd have given her a cartoon of cigarettes instead of a case of tuna."

The comedian who had participated in the World's Fair stall-in made fair game of his patriarchal in-law. "I told them down at the stall-in headquarters to get my mother-in-law. She can do more by accident than they ever could do on purpose."

On President Eisenhower—"He sounds like a white Joe Louis."

On marriage—"Instead of pronouncing you man and wife, now they say go and sin no more."

On Civil Defense—"You know how many millions of dollars a year we spend on Civil Defense buildings? And did you know they're closed on weekends?"

On Governor Rockefeller—"I really feel sorry for that guy. Those Republicans put him down because he got divorced. But it's a good thing he got divorced before the election. What if he waited until he was in the White House and his wife got custody of the country?"

On Pope Paul's Holy Land trip—"I didn't believe he really went to Israel and Jordan until

DEMONSTRATION AT THE FAIR:

Students Demand 'Freedom Now'

Wednesday, April 22nd dawned on Flushing Meadow damp and chilly. The construction crews and maintenance men were still busy priming the World's Fair grounds for the Fair's gala opening later that day. By nightfall more than 300 people had been arrested including twelve students from the College, and many had been clubbed, kicked, dragged and carried by the City, Transit Authority and Florida State Police, and Pinkerton Guards.

Robert Heisler, Barry Markman, James Halpern and Mark Brody, students at the College, left a Brooklyn church with twenty other civil rights fighters for the Flushing IRT subway line which transports people to the Fair. This group had been assigned to board a Fair-bound train and prevent it from leaving the 74th Street station for as long as possible. The train pulled into the station; the members of the group prepared to go into action; some passengers got out and many boarded the train; then the demonstrators ran into the doorways of the train to prevent them from closing; two ran onto the tracks and laid down to prevent the train from pulling out.

When the train pulled out, after a delay of twenty-eight minutes, the twenty-three demonstrators were taken, singing freedom songs as they rode, to the police station and arrested. None of the injured participants was given qualified medical attention until more than six hours after the arrest.

At the Fair grounds picketing sponsored by National CORE was done at the Mississippi, Maryland, New York State, Louisiana, Florida, Schaeffer Beer, and Ford pavilion. The CORE pickets at the New York State pavilion demanded a $1.50 minimum wage, integrated low-cost urban renewal, an end to hiring discrimination in public utilities, state-wide rent control, state-wide quality integrated education, and state-wide civilian police review boards.

After picketing at the New York pavilion for some time, about twenty-five of the pickets sat down on an escalator and one of the many stairways leading to the second level of the pavilion. This group included Georgette Kagan, Dennis Mora, Gene Sherman, Judy Pierce, Johnny Fisher, Eric Sisenberg, Jeff Katz and Diane Weierman from the College. After being stepped on, spat on and cursed at by visitors who insisted on using the particular stairways which were being blocked, the demonstrators were told by the police that they would have to move or be arrested. When they did move, the police threw many of the demonstrators down the stairs, and then dragged them to the police van. One demonstrator lost consciousness after

Lien: To The Fair - Sahbra: We Sue

The Senior Prom is going to be held at one of the pavilions of the World's Fair this term.

Prom Committee Chairman Andy Lien and Senior Class President, Ronny Friedman, have examined several of the pavilions and expect to use either the Japanese, the Hawaiian, or the Louisianaian.

Originally the Prom was scheduled for the Cafe Sahbra, but Friedman said that complaints from several students caused a change in location.

Lien said, however, that he is personally responsible for the contract with the Sahbra and that there is a chance they may sue him for breach of contract.

Observation Post is published and edited by students of the City College.

The editorial policy of Observation Post is determined by a majority vote of the Editorial Board consisting of the Managing Board and Carol Herrnstadt, Marc Brody, and Ronnie Reich.

Our Position...

Technically speaking, tuition refers only to teaching. Maybe that's why the battle-cry in Albany has always been Our Position—Free Tuition. The College does supply tuition free of charge. Of course there are some other things that traditionally go along with tuition—or at least with learning. We have in mind things like libraries, laboratory supplies and the like. There are also things like athletics (intramural and intercollegiate) and students centers which we have come to associate with Colleges.

President Gallagher and the College, city and state administration seems to think there is an important distinction between paying for tuition and paying for other parts of a college education.

Of course there is precedent for President Gallagher's latest announcement of a $27 Bursar's Fee for next term, students have been paying Bursar's Fees since before President and Mayor Wagner was Mayor—this term it was $17, before that it was $15, before that it was $14, before that it was $12...

Mayor Wagner, a powerful advocate of free tuition, has just found funds to eliminate the $300-year-year tuition fee at the City's community colleges. For the same reason that he was willing to strain the City's budget in that area he should try to find funds to eliminate the bursar's fee.

Maybe it's our fault, but we're having trouble imagining ourselves taking biology without our frogs; and the library without aides would be rather useless during finals week. Moreover, a college without athletics or a student center doesn't fit our image either.

President Gallagher has one very powerful argument which he uses to support his fee increase—there is no other way to get the money, he says, the City just won't give it to us. It sounds pretty good—until you realize that by this argument the students will be paying for the new Humanities building also. And several million dollars—even split 8,000 ways and spread out over several years—is a lot of money.

To President Gallagher there may be a difference between paying a tuition fee and paying a bursar's fee. Take it from those who will be doing the paying, President Gallagher, it's only the number of dollars that matters.

A Night To Remember

The Senior Class is thinking of holding their prom at the Louisiana pavilion at the World's Fair.

We suggest that they think more deeply and drop this particular pavilion from consideration. We see no necessity for holding an event of this sort in a structure raised in praise of a racist-dominated state. The Japanese or Hawaiian pavilion would be a far better choice.

Admittedly, that Dixie atmosphere will be present in Louisiana's pavilion, what with the promised Pinkertons dragging civil-rights protestors from the building, but we frankly feel this college's students can afford to forgo this sort of thing.

Can the Senior Class, in good conscience, lend the College's name in any way to the cause of racism? We say no!

Arrow Suspended

"true corporate responsibility" and he was forced to suspend the paper until they were able to function properly.

Ira Furman, one of the five members of the editorial board who brought the charges against Coleman, said Friday, that two other members who had brought charges had gone to Dr. Meng and requested suspension until an official constitution could be decided upon. He gave as the main cause of conflict the lack of communication between the members of the editorial board. He said also that the writing down of the charges as presented before the Judiciary Board clarified their objections and helped bring them closed to reconciliation.

The editor-in-chief agreed, saying that he felt the "suspension was unnecessary, since the problems brought up were in the process of being resolved."

 traffic [which Prof. Villard feared] would not make much difference. "In fact, it might even be good to use Great Hall, Mr. Taylor stated. "Until now it's been pretty much of a white elephant."
 The Great Hall is the only large auditorium at the College which is not being used intensively. No courses were given there this term and only one is scheduled thus far for next term.
 That course is a special offering by the Chemistry Department.

"It will be a small tutorial section," Prof. Nathan Birnbaum (Chm., Chem.) explained, "which students who have specific questions may attend. It will compensate for some of the large lectures where students can't ask questions." He noted that the class will probably use only a small corner of the hall.
 The Finley Grand Ballroom is now used only for student activities. Last Monday, the Finley Board of Advisors, a student-faculty committee, voted not to allow use of the Ballroom for lecture purposes.

The chairman of the College's CORE, Steve Cagan, said there would be future demonstrations. He felt the city should be concerned "not with what cars will be used in the year 2000, but what schools will be in Harlem next year."
 The demonstrators, after spending up to 48 hours in Hart Island, or in the Women's House of Detention, were released on bail ranging from $500 to $1,500.

 In a more serious vein, Gregory declared that he was "all with the stall-in." He explained that the action would have acted as a tension remover. "If that stall-in had come off like planned you could have had a guarantee that there wouldn't be any race riot in New York this year. Now there may be."

Baseballers Nipped Twice By St. John's; Lacrosse Team Upsets West Point 7-3

League Mark Now 4-4

By HARVEY WEINBERG

The St. John's Redmen took two heartbreaking decisions from the College's baseball team Saturday as the Beavers dropped their third and fourth Met conference games in a row. The winning margin in both games of the twin-bill was one run, 6-5 and 5-4 with each contest going down to the final out.

The Lavender is now 4-4 in league competition while St. John's is 3-2.

In the opener, a big part of the story was told by the fact that the Beavers stranded 14 runners. They left the bases jammed in both the first and fourth innings but could only manage to push across one.

The Redmen took the early lead in the first game but the Beavers fought back and knotted the score at two apiece going into the eighth.

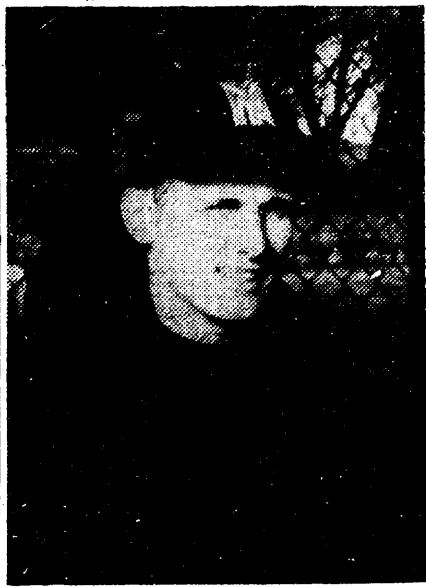

With Redmen on first and second and one out, first baseman Rheinhard Griesman lined a shot to right field. Beaver defender Lou Henik made a valiant dive for the ball but when he failed to nab it, Griesman had a double and two rbi's.

Roland Meyerelles came in to relieve Beaver starter Ron Muller, and the next batter, Lou Alba, lined a single to center for the third run of the inning.

Muller pitched well but the slender southpaw seemed to tire in the eighth. Earlier in the game, Muller had tied the score for the Beavers with a 315 foot homer over the right field fence.

In the top of the ninth, the Johnnies got what proved to be the winning run when George Blednik ripped one of reliever Joel Weinberger's fast falls over the left field fence for a home run.

In the top of the ninth, the John-Beavers put on a desperation rally that almost saw them pull the game out of the fire. The Lavender had loaded the bases and Bill Lage

Bill Lage (left) hit a three run double in the opener against the Redmen but picked up the defeat in the nightcup when he was a victim of Lavender errors. Ron Muller (right) poled a homer in the opener but was the losing pitcher when a Beaver ninth inning rally fell 1 run short.

ARMY TODAY
The Lavender will try to get back on the winning track today when they journey to West Point to do battle with the Cadets. The contest will of course be a non-league affair and the Beavers hope to get back in the victory groove before they meet Manhattan next week in a Met Conference twin-bill.

Hirsch Tallies Three Times Brown Gets First Assist

By JERRY HOENIG

For the fourth straight season the College's Lacrosse team has been victorious over the cadets of West Point. The Beavers defeated the Army "B" team by a score of seven to three.

The Lavender took the lead early in the game and were never to be headed. Emil Castro used his great speed and shifty maneuvering to score the Beaver's first goal with on twenty-three seconds gone in the game.

Castro scored another goal at 1:09 of the third quarter. Both of his scores were unassisted. Emil also picked up an assist on a goal scored by Craig Hirsch at 4:07 of the third period.

This goal was the last of Hirsch's three scores of the game. His first tally was made with 4:24 left in the first period. He was assisted by defenseman Walter "Red" Brown, the team's captain. Brown carried the ball almost the entire length of the field before passing it to Hirsch. According to Brown, this was the first assist of his career. Walter also did a stint in midfield during the course of the game.

Craig's second goal was unassisted. He scored it at 4:00 of the second period.

The Beaver's other two goals were sent into the Cadet nets by Jerry Glassman and Lloyd Smith.

The Beavers confidence seemed to grow as the game went on. At one point in the third quarter one of the Lavender players sat on the bench allowing the Beavers to be

Beaver Netmen Nip Mariners; Karl Otto Stars In 5-4 Triumph

The College's Racketeers squeaked out a narrow victory over the Mariners of Kings Point Saturday, winning 5-4. The Beavers led in singles competition 4-2 at the end of the day but trailed in the doubles

2-1. The Lavender, paced by Ken Wunsch, Karl Otto and Marty Deich, took the first three singles matches. Otto in his match shut out his opponent twice.

The important and clutch victory was gained by number six man Rich Gowing. Gowing won his first set 7-5 and then proceeded to drop the second one by a dismal 0-6 score. However, in the third and match set, Gowing showed his true mettle winning handily 6-2, giving the Beavers the win. In the first doubles the combination of Wunsch and Otto proved too much for their opponents as the Beavers won.

Injuries Slow Down Track Team; Bourne, Marcel Out For Season

By MARK BENDER

The Beavers were shackled with injuries over the weekend as the College's track team managed to place under tenth in two events at the Penn Relays.

Sidelined were John Bourne and Marcel Sierra, who will both be out of action for the rest of the season.

The Lavender ran in the sprint medley, placing fifth, and the distance medley, placing seventh out of ten.

Joel Brody, running the first quarter of the sprint medley ran with a pulled leg muscle in 55.5 seconds. Richy Jamison and Larry Millstein contributed 220 yard stints to the event which was finished for the Lavender by Lenny Zane running a 1:59 half mile.

Total time for the event was 3:42.6 for the Beavers.

In the Distance Medley race Lenny Zane ran a 4:46 mile and was aided by Jom O'Brien, Joel Brody, and Richy Jamison to turn in a time of 10:58 for seventh place.

Beaver Coach Francisco Castro was disappointed that Bourne and Sierra were out of commission.

"We would have done much better if they had run" the coach stated. Bourne has been benched with mononucleosis and will not run again this season. Sierra was spiked in the leg last week at the Queens-Iona meet.

Last year the Beavers placed sixth in the distance medley with a time of 10:25.
