Arrow Is Suspended; Internal Dispute Cited

The Arrow, undergraduate newspaper of Hunter College, was suspended Thursday by John J. Meng, President of the College. The substantial reason for the suspension is that Arrow no longer has an effective editorial board to direct its action. Dissension had been brewing among the members of the editorial board over the dismissal of Allan Coleman, the editor-in-chief, and finally came to a head when impeachment charges were brought against him.

The members of the board claimed that Coleman was trying to usurp their power by not following their constitution. They brought the charges up before the Judicial Board, a student-faculty-administrative panel, which ruled that since the Arrow constitution had never been officially approved, the impeachment procedure was illegal.

Immediately following the ruling, the complete story of the proceedings was printed in The Arrow, along with an editorial signed by Coleman, stating his position. President Meng then stated that he felt that the conflict had reached a point at which the staff was no longer able to work with (Continued on Page 2)

Lien: To The Fair — Sahbra: We Sue

The Senior Prom is going to be held at one of the pavilions of the World’s Fair this term. Prom Committee Chairman Andy Lien and Senior Class President, Ronny Friedman, have examined all of the pavilions and expect to use either the Japanese, the Hawaiian, or the Louisiana pavilions. Originally the Prom was scheduled for the Cafe Sahbra, but Friedman said that complaints from several students caused a change in location.

Lien said, however, that he is personally responsible for the contract with the Sahbra and that there is a chance they may sue him for breach of contract.

Chmn. Villard: ‘I Don’t Care But Ballroom More Convenient’

“I don’t care where I lecture,” Professor Henry Villard (Chmn., Economics) said Friday. Dr. Villard was commenting on student objections to the planned Economics 1 lectures in the Finley Grand Ballroom. The objections had been raised because previously only student activities were allowed in the Ballroom.

Professor Villard then explained, in a telephone interview with Observation Post, that the Ballroom had been selected because it was on South Campus and free on Monday morning.

The only other auditorium facility on South Campus, Arowood Auditorium, is in use during those hours. The South Campus location was desirable, Prof. Villard felt, because he believed most students taking Eco. 1 have their other classes on South Campus.

“But, if you can prove to me,” he added, “that this is not true, I would be happy to use the Great Hall.”

The main purpose of the lecture is intended as an experiment with class sizes. All lectures are not good and all seminars are not good.” Prof. Villard continued. “But students at the College have seldom been exposed to good lecturing. It would add to the variety.”

In an interview Saturday, Robert Taylor, the College’s registrar, estimated that approximately 60% of Eco. 1 students have their other classes on South Campus. “It may be closer to 50-50,” he noted, “nobody really knows something like that.”

DEMONSTRATION AT THE FAIR:

Students Demand ‘Freedom Now’

Wednesday, April 22nd dawned on Flushing Meadowump and chillily. The construction crews and maintenance men were still busy picking the World’s Fair grounds for the Gala opening later that day. By eight-thirty the fairgrounds were being closed to the general public because the World’s Fair was closed to the public for the evening.

Around 2:00 p.m., a group of twelve students from the college had been arrested including two students from the college, and many had been abused, kicked, dragged and thrown down the stairs, and then dragged out of the pavilion for some time, about twenty-five of the pickets sat down on an escalator and one of the many stairways leading to the second level of the pavilion. This group included Georgette Kazan, Desiree Mora, Gene Sherman, Judy Freeman, Johnny Fisher, Eric Eisenberg, Jeff Katz and Diane Weiner from the College. After being stopped on, spat on and cursed at by visitors who insisted on using the particular stairways which were closed; two ran onto the tracks and pulled up the train; then the demonstrators got out and many of them were arrested. The train pulled into the station; the members of the group prepared to go into action; some passengers got out and many boarded the train; then the demonstrators ran into the doors of the train to prevent them from closing; two ran onto the tracks and allowed the train to pull out.

When the train pulled out, after a delay of twenty-eight minutes, the twenty-three demonstrators were taken, singing freedom songs as they rode, to the police station and arrested. None of the injured participants was given qualified medical attention more than six hours after the arrest.

At the fairgrounds picketing by National CORE was done at the Missipii, Maryland, New York State, Louisiana, Florida, Schaeffer Beer, and Ford pavilion. The CORE pickets at the New York State pavilion demand of a $1.30 minimum wage, integrated low-cost urban renewal, an end to hiring discrimination in public utilities, state-wide rent control, state-wide integrated education, and state-wide civilian police review boards.

Ribs Muslims, Rocky

By VIVIAN BROWN

“There’s a logical reason why the Black Muslims like fighting,” declared comedian Dick Gregory last Thursday. “They can’t smoke, can’t drink, can’t eat pork, and can’t fool around (whatever that means). What else have they got to do?”

The entertainer turned civil rights demonstrator offered his views, both humorous and serious, on topics ranging from smoking to President Eisenhower before a Great Hall audience.

Dick Gregory made an audience of more than 1,000 laugh with jokes both topical and mother-in-law.

over a thousand students for the benefit of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee’s Mississippi Summer Project.

“I wish that Surgeon General’s cigarette report had come out a month earlier in time for my mother-in-law’s birthday,” quipped Gregory. “I’d have given her a cartoon of cigarettes instead of a case of tuna.”

The comedian had participated in the World’s Fair last fall in made fair game of his matriarchal in-law. “I told them down at the stall-in headquarters to get my mother-in-law. She can do more by accident than they ever could do on purpose.”

On President Eisenhower—“We sound like white Joe Louis.”

On marriage—“Instead of pronouncing you man and wife, now they say go and sin no more.”

On Civil Defense—“You know how many millions of dollars a year we spend on Civil Defense buildings? And did you know they’re closed on weekends?”

On Governor Rockefeller—“I really feel sorry for that guy. Those Republicans put him down because he got divorced. But it’s a good thing he got divorced before the election. What if he had waited until he was in the White House and his wife got custody of the country?”

On Pope Paul’s Holy Land trip—I didn’t believe he really went to Israel and Jordan until (Continued on Page 3)

"true corporate responsibility" and he was forced to suspend the paper until they were able to function properly.

Ira Purman, one of the five members of the editorial board who brought the charges against Coleman, said Friday that two other members who had brought charges had gone to Dr. Meng and requested suspension until an official constitution could be decided upon. He gave as the main cause of conflict the lack of communication between the members of the editorial board. He said also that the writing down of the charges as presented before the Judiciary Board clarified their objections and helped bring them closed to reconsideration.

The editor-in-chief agreed, saying that he felt the "suspension was unwarranted since the problems brought up were in the process of being resolved." —Erlich

School's Out.

Right now, graduation seems way off in the wild blue yonder. But it's not too early to start planning. In the future, you'll look back on your decisions you make today with satisfaction... or regret.

What can an Air Force career mean to you in tangible gain? The opportunity to take on executive responsibilities you might otherwise wait years to attain. And a head-start into one of a wide range of possible careers in the exciting Aerospace Age.

As an Air Force officer, for example, you may be flying a supersonic jet... helping to keep America's guard up. Or you may be in an Air Force laboratory, working to solve an intricate scientific or technological problem.

Doing jobs like these, you can hold your head high. In addition to being essential to your country, they're the beginnings of a profession and purpose. For more information, see the Professor of Air Science.

The Beavers were soundly defeated in a double-header over the weekend as the College's track team managed to place under tenth in two events at the Penn Relays.

Sidelined were John Bourne and Marcel Siarra, who will both be out of action for the rest of the season.

The Laverdun in the sprint medley placed eighth in the Navy, first in the novice medley, placing seventh out of ten.

On the first day of the season in the distance medley running a 1:59 half mile, Richy Jamison and Larry Millsteine contributed 220 yard stints to the event which was finished for the Lavender by Lenzy Zane running a 2:46.6 for the Beavers.
