

NYCLU To Represent Sitton Vista...

By NORMAN KAHN

The New York Civil Liberties Union (NYCLU) has agreed to represent Dr. Robert M. Sitton in a suit testing the constitutionality of Brooklyn College's loyalty oath and the Feinberg law requiring such oaths.

The NYCLU, in a statement issued on April 19, 1965, also denounced Dr. Harry Gideonse, President of Brooklyn College for "his efforts to smear student groups at the College with the Communist label."

The NYCLU statement said, "it ill behooves the President of a major college to offer in response to thoughtful student demands for academic freedom a sophomoric recitation of allegations of Communist influence."

NYCLU is an affiliate of the American Civil Liberties Union. It will present its case to court in the near future.

A representative of the NYCLU, Aryeh Neier, expressed hope for a favorable verdict because of a recent judicial decision in Washington abolishing the loyalty oath there.

If successful the suit will result in the reinstatement of Dr. Sitton and compensation for losses suffered.

The NYCLU will take the case to Federal Court and if they lose, they will appeal the decision to the Supreme Court if necessary, according to Neier.

SC Nixes Punishment, Gets Apology For Vigil

By M. LAMBERT KNIGHT

Student Council declined to take any action last night against the W. E. B. DuBois Club for its participation in an outlawed Anti-Vietnam vigil on April 15. It accepted a letter of apology from the Steering Committee for University Reform, a group composed largely of leaders of the Vietnam demonstration. The action represented a compromise between those who considered the vigil a demonstration of the W. E. B. DuBois Club and those who consider it a demonstration by individuals.

The DuBois Club had refused to accept responsibility for the vigil, claiming that it was only using its rights as a chartered organization, in asking for the demonstration because the demonstrators lacked a chartered organization that could request a demonstration.

The Steering Committee said in its letter that it felt Student Council had "acted hastily and without full consideration of student rights" in banning the demonstration and that all possible means of democratically appealing Council's decision would have been tried if there had been time. The group pledged itself to cooperate with Council in clarifying the General Faculty Committee on Student Activities' rules on demonstrations.

Presidential candidate Carl Weitzman, speaking against acceptance of the apology letter, charged that the leaders have been "deliberately seeking some sort of Free Speech Movement for the past six months. The letter implies acceptance of civil disobedience against the decisions of a democratically governing body."

Councilman Joel Glassman called the Council meeting a "kangaroo court" attempting to convict the leaders of the demonstration.

Council agreed to send a letter to the officers of the DuBois Club in recognition of the role that they did play in the demonstration, asking the organization to abide by democratic processes.

Ex SG President John Zippert
Joel Cooper Takes His Place

In other action, Vice-President Joel Cooper was inaugurated as President after the formal resignation of John Zippert. He pledged to "do my best to uphold the Student Government Constitution and to faithfully execute the office of President" in an oath administered by Community Affairs Vice-President Mike Ticktin upon a copy of Robert's Rules of Order.

Fee Commission presented its twenty-two thousand dollar budget recommendation for the fall term. Included is $247 for Hillel; $1,160 for the Interfraternity Council; $2,975 to Student Government; and $14,150 to student publications. A special allocation of five hundred dollars was recommended for the Spring, '64 Managing Board of Campus for debts incurred in the production of its final issue of that term.

Cary Krumholtz resigned from Fee Commission protesting "things around here aren't done by vote."

There was extended debate in Council on Mercury's $250 allocation and $250 underwrite. Critics of the magazine felt that its quality did not merit the amount suggested.

Student Protests Against US Vietnam Policy Result In National Informational Campaign

The Johnson Administration will soon send top State Department representatives to campuses around the country to counter the growing opposition to the Administration policy on Vietnam. The State Department said last week this was part of the program to explain its policies to campus groups and other organizations.

The educational program came at the heels of a March on Washington attended by 15,000 students and all-night teach-ins that have been held at the College and universities around the na-

Rusk Wonders At 'Gullibility'

Last week Secretary of State Dean Rusk commented of students and teachers, "I sometimes wonder at the gullibility of educated men and the stubborn disregard of plains facts by men who are supposed to be helping our young to learn — especially to learn how to think."

Washington newsmen report that this is part of a drive to get general support for a scheduled large-scale build-up of American troops, arms and equipment in Vietnam.

The Administration first answered protests last week in Secretary Rusk's speech. Since then an anti-Administration speech in the Senate was cancelled and almost every dissenting Congressional speech, except those by confirmed critics, has brought an administration official to talk with the wavering legislator.

Senate sources report that unrest is not limited to those who speak on the floor, but people are reluctant to publicly oppose the President's stand in foreign crises.

President Johnson is reported to believe that the critics are men without access to necessary information. He also complains that advice is plentiful while concrete proposals are scarce among critics.

Country Songfest Set For Tuesday

Students will have an opportunity to participate in a country music festival featuring Doc Watson and other leading Bluegrass singers next Tuesday. The three-hour concert-workshop which starts at 3 PM in Buttenweiser Lounge, will include a discussion by John Cohen of the New Lost City Ramblers on the history of country music. His film, "Hazard, Kentucky," a documentary about a backwoods community, will be shown.

The New York Ramblers, winners of the 1964 Old Time Band Convention Prize, and currently appearing at Gerdie's Folk City for a two week run, will also participate in the program. Anyone who plays the mandolin, guitar, fiddle, banjo or harmonica may bring his instrument and take part in the song-fest.

Jérrold Hirsch of the Finley Planned Board, under the coordination of Henrietta Yurchenco, director of the College folk music classes, said that this is a pilot project for a series of similar concerts scheduled for next term.

Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon called secretary Rusk's speech "shocking."

President of Students for a Democratic Society, Paul Potter, said at the culmination of the march, "... I would much rather see Vietnam Communist than have it subjugated to the ruin that American policy has brought."

People have interpreted Potter's speech as explaining a growing leftist movement in the United States that would involve itself in social reforms in all aspects of our great society.

It's Kosher

By ARTHUR VOLBERT

Kosher sandwiches made their first appearance Monday at the Finley Snack Bar. Bologna and salami sell for sixty cents while corned beef, roast beef, tongue and chopped liver may be purchased for eighty cents. These prices are from five to fifteen cents higher than those for similar sandwiches at Sol's Kosher Delicatessen on Amsterdam Avenue near North Campus.

Reuben Margules, Councilman of the class of '67, who led the fight for Kosher sandwiches here, praised the Snack Bar for instituting this "necessary service." He said that prices are the same as those at Queens College. He emphasized that the "Kashruth" of Hillcrest Caterers, who supply the sandwiches, has been endorsed by Rabbi Solovechik, a leading New York rabbi. Orthodox Jews must observe the Dietary Laws (Kashruth). They cannot eat meat unless it has been certified as being prepared in the special kosher way. Margules noted that the sandwiches "taste great" and that he was "tired of subsisting on a diet of ice cream and soda."

Manny Armas, Snack Bar employee, said that all 200 sandwiches ordered for Monday had been sold. There were only few left over on Tuesday. He stated, however, that it would be at least a week before the true popularity of the sandwiches could be determined.

Some student reaction to the sandwiches is as follows:

Shirley Appel: I put so much mustard on I couldn't taste it. Seriously the food was good considering it was pre-wrapped. They're better than the regular pre-wrapped cafeteria sandwiches. The prices are reasonable. The convenience of not having to walk to North Campus and wait on line in Sol's is worth the price.

Bob Voigt: I think they should lower the prices so I can eat a corned beef sandwich.

Gila Stein: I think the salami sandwiches are great and everyone should buy them.

Willie Starks: I was so hungry I didn't notice they were kosher. I think they're good but they're too expensive.

Carl Weitzman: That's funny, they don't look kosher.

OPostnotes...

Zippert

Ex-President John Zippert made some mistakes in his term as Student Government's chief executive, but his resignation this week was not one of them. Mandated by Student Council to enforce a ruling he thought was wrong, against an action he felt was imperative, he could in good faith and good conscience do nothing else.

The "Vigil," as it turned out, was quiet, orderly, and caused no traffic jams. If Student Council had paid more attention to past performances and present realities instead of devoting itself to legalistic worries about future precedent and political prejudices, the present foul-up could have been avoided.

The student body will very soon have a chance to decide whether they want Student Government to be a debating club for a group of pre-law students or a vital representative of its interests in the College, the University and the community. John Zippert is running again for SG President, and we are confident that he will be elected, simply because we are confident that the students of this college want a student government that is responsive to student needs and desires.

President Joel Cooper, will, we are sure, serve his short term with distinction. We would congratulate him on finally reaching the Presidency, except that it might be interpreted as irony.

HUAC And The Klan

The House Un-American Activities Committee's (HUAC) decision to investigate the Ku Klux Klan has not met with wide approval among the liberal groups which have been most opposed to the Klan and all it represents. We don't think it should. HUAC's witch-hunts, whether conducted on the left or the right of American politics, are unnecessary, unfair, and unconstitutional.

We have a strong suspicion that the investigation of the KKK is intended in part to obscure the strong right-wing bias of the Committee. It may, as some have suggested, be the prelude to a full scale smear campaign against various civil rights organizations. The Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee (SNCC) has been mentioned most prominently in this regard.

Regardless of its motivation, any investigation conducted by a group with the history, make-up, and staff of HUAC is bound to be undesirable.

James Montague Ex-fencing Coach Dies At 78

Professor James Montague, a former fencing coach at the College, died early yesterday morning at the age of seventy-eight.

Montague, who came to the United States from London after World War I, came to the College in 1930 and brought the sport of fencing with him. When the sport achieved varsity status in 1937, he was named as the parriers coach. Montague remained in that position until his retirement in 1953.

Only one year after fencing became established at the College, Montague guided his team to the triple crown of fencing — the three weapon IFA championship, the Little Iron Man trophy, for the IFA foil title, and the NCAA championships.

Success did not stop there, as 1951 marked the fourth consecutive capturing of the Little Iron Man Trophy for the College. In 1952, five of his fencers competed in the Olympics at Helsinki.

Although Montague became a successful fencing coach, that had not been his earlier intentions. He originally planned a career in the theater. Before World War I he had toured the United States as the director of a Gilbert and Sullivan company. Montague also sang for Sir Thomas Beecham who later became the conductor of the London Philharmonic.

VOYAGE TO THE BOTTOM OF THE BARREL

As everyone knows, thirteen-twelfths of the earth's surface is water. Thus we can see how important it is to know and understand our oceans. Toward this end American colleges last year embarked on a program to increase enrollment in oceanography. I am pleased to report that results were nothing short of spectacular: In one single semester the number of students majoring in oceanography rose by 100%—from one student to two!

But more oceanographers are still needed, and so today this column, normally a vehicle for slapdash jocularity, will instead devote itself to a brief course in oceanography. In view of the solemnity of the subject matter, my sponsors, the Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blade Co., makers of Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blades which give you more luxury shaves than Beep-Beep or any other brand you can name—if, by chance, you don't agree, the makers of Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blades will buy you a pack of whatever brand you think is better—my sponsors, I say, the Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blade Co. will today, because of the solemnity of this column, forego their usual commercial message.

We begin our study of oceans with that ever-popular favorite, the Pacific. Largest of all oceans, the Pacific was discovered by Balboa, a Spanish explorer of great vision. To give you an idea of Balboa's vision, he first saw the Pacific while standing on a peak in Darien, which is in Connecticut.

The Pacific is not only the largest ocean, but the deepest. The Mindanao Trench, off the Philippine Islands, measures more than 5,000 fathoms in depth. (It should be pointed out here that ocean depths are measured in fathoms—lengths of six feet—after Sir Walter Fathom, a British nobleman of Elizabethan times who, upon his eighteenth birthday, was given a string six feet long. Many young men would have sunk in a funk if all they got for their birthday was a string six feet long, but not Sir Walter! String in hand, he scampered around the entire coast of England measuring seawater until he was arrested for loitering. Incidentally, a passion for measuring seems to have run in the family: Fathom's grandnephew, Sir John Furlong, spent all his waking hours measuring racetracks until Charles II had him beheaded in honor of the opening of the London School of Economics.)

But I digress. Let us, as the poet Masefield says, go down to the sea again. (The sea, incidentally, has ever been a favorite subject for poets and composers. Who does not know and love the many robust sea chanties that have enriched our folk music—songs like "Sailing Through Kansas" and "I'll Swab Your Deck If You'll Swab Mine" and "The Artificial Respiration Polka.")

My own favorite sea chanty goes like this: (I'm sure you all know it. Why don't you sing along as you read?)

*O, carry me to the deep blue sea,
Where I can live with honor,
And every place I'll share my fate
With Stainless Steel Personna.*

*Sing hi, sing ho, sing mal-de-mer,
Sing hey and nonny-nonny,
Sing Jimmy crack corn and I don't care,

*I'll harpoon whales and jib my sails,
And read old Joseph Conrad,
And take my shaves upon the waves,
With Stainless Steel Personna.*

*Sing la, sing lo, sing o-lee-a-day,
Sing night and noon and morning,
Sing salt and spray and curds and whey,

Easing of Controls on Demonstrations Asked

By DON WEINGARTEN

Eight proposals which would significantly relax controls on political demonstrations, publicity regulations, and club activities will be considered at a meeting of the General Faculty Committee on Student Activities (GFC-SA), Friday at 3:00 PM.

The measures, aimed specifically at limiting the powers of the GFCSA itself, have been drafted by the steering committee of the newly formed Student Committee for University Reform (SCUR). SCUR developed following the abortive Vietnam vigil in front of Cohen Library on April 15th.

The vigil had been held in defiance of a Student Government ruling of the previous night against demonstrations in front of Cohen Library. The ID cards of participating students were confiscated by members of the Department of Student Life, who claimed that the demonstrators had been blocking the flow of students in front of the library.

In a four-page leaflet, members of SCUR charged that SG members had wrongly interpreted an GFCSA ruling in reaching their decision. "The steering committee (of SCUR) believes," the leaflet read, "that the Student Council and the Administration of the College must adopt a set of criteria upon which to judge the 'peaceful and non-disruptive' character of future demonstrations on campus." They went on to suggest various points for such judgment — including the provision that the demonstration "allow movement in the hallways and streets on campus . . ."

SCUR members Steve Cagan, Matty Berkelhammer, Mike Markowitz, Mickey Friedman, and Robert Heisler will present the proposals to GFCSA.

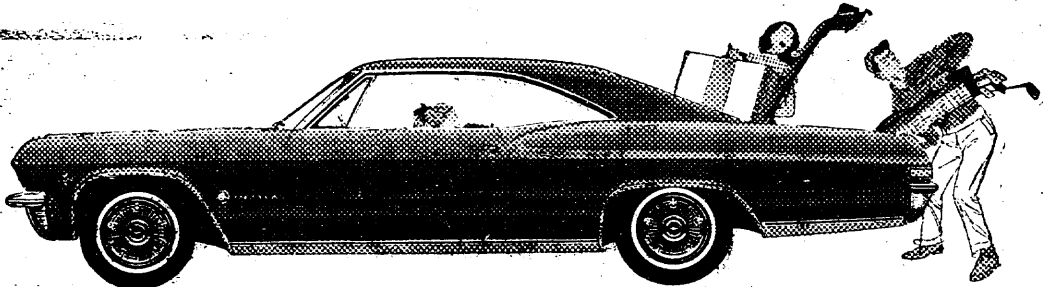

Acceptances Mailed to 3,900

Acceptance notices were sent out by the College to 3,900 graduating high school seniors last week. According to Registrar Robert Taylor, no less than last September's 2,700 nor more than an estimated 2,900 students will enter here as freshmen next term.

Due to a five per cent decrease in the number of high school graduates this year, the entrance requirement was lowered from a composite academic average and College Board score of 170 to 166. To compute the student's standing, both his high school average and College Board scores are translated on a percentage table with each element given equal weight.

Diamondmen Defeat Fairleigh, 4-1; Lacrosse Team Bows To Stevens

By JERRY HOENIG

A combination of excellent pitching and timely slugging brought the College's baseball team to a 4-1 victory over Fairleigh Dickinson yesterday afternoon at the loser's home field.

The Beavers did not waste any time getting on the scoreboard. With Dave Hayes on first base, after leading off the top of the first with a single, Lou Gatti came up with two out and belted the ball over the right center-field fence and put the Beavers ahead 2-0.

With Howie Smith's performance, that was all the Lavender needed for the win. Smith pitched perfect ball for the first five innings, and he yielded only four hits in the game.

However, not even Smith was satisfied with a two run lead. In the top of second, Barry Edelstein walked and then went to second on a balk. Barry Mandel then sacrificed Edelstein to third. Finally, Smith came up and squeezed Edelstein home.

The Beavers were not through yet. With one out in the top of the fifth, Steve Beccalori tripled. Gatti then drove in his third run of the game with a deep sacrifice fly.

The Knights' lone run came in the bottom of the sixth. Mike Ostroff led off with a walk. Then after Smith retired the next two batters on a force out and a strikeout, he walked Joe Paletini to put runners on first and second. Mike Costello then hit an infield single to deep short to load the bases, and Smith walked Tony Wright to force in the Knights' only run.

By GERALD JAY

The College's lacrosse team took a rough beating yesterday afternoon, 14-7, at the hands of Stevens Tech in Lewisohn Stadium.

From the very beginning, it looked as if it was just not the Beavers' day. Stevens scored four times before the Lavender were able to tally. The first two of those goals were scored by Stan Poreda; he later went on to score four more times.

The Beavers finally broke their dry spell when Lloyd Smith scored with 1:26 gone in the second quarter. However, Poreda scored again four minutes later to give Stevens their four goal lead again at 5-1. The end of the half saw Stevens holding the same four point edge but by the score of 7-3.

When the second half opened up, things looked different. The Lavender scored three goals before Stevens was able to score one, and the Beavers narrowed their gap and were only trailing by one.

For the first time of the day the Beavers looked as if they were going to make a game of it, but Stevens pulled away again and for good.
