Students To Evaluate Courses, Teachers; Results To Be Kept Completely Confidential

Faculty Reticent On Proposal

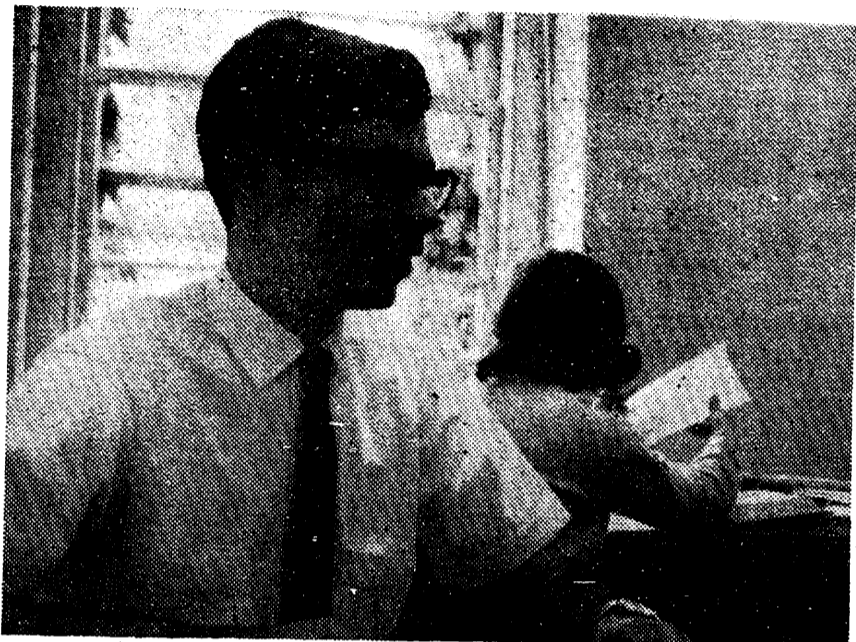

In the wake of SC sanction of the Course and Teacher Evaluation Questionnaire, faculty members were notably reticent as to their feelings. Of over ten professors and instructors questioned, only one, Mr. Julius A. Elias (Philo.), commented strongly.

Mr. Elias felt that the results of the survey should be made public, as is done at Harvard, but that the anonymity of those students answering the questionnaire should be preserved. Under the present system, only the instructor concerned would see his evaluation, but he would know which class had evaluated him.

"If you're going to get stabbed in the back," Mr. Elias said, "it might as well be in the back."

All other faculty members contacted either refused to comment at all, or expressed an unwillingness to make a judgment until

Expect Improvement In Teaching As Result of SG Program

By DON WEINGARTEN

A massive plan for course and teacher evaluation was approved by Student Council last night.

Implementation of the action will commence with the circulation sometime in December of a questionnaire affording students an opportunity to anonymously rate their instructors. The tabulated results of the school-wide survey will be sent confidentially to the instructors concerned, each instructor receiving only his own rating.

Circulation and processing of the form, which was adapted from a proposed questionnaire drafted in 1949, will be directed by the Ad Hoc Student-Faculty Course and Teacher Evaluation Committee, with Professor Louis Long (Student Services) and Herman Berliner as Faculty and Student chairmen, respectively.

A student directory (a pamphlet reporting the results of the survey) will not be published; only the teachers concerned will know how they have rated. The committee feels that, as this is hopefully only the beginning of a larger program, it is desirable at first to establish the value of the questionnaire. It is felt that the professors will be more favorably inclined to distribute the surveys if the first results are kept confidential. Such distribution is voluntary, and left to the instructor's discretion.

Secondly, the results might be helpful in that instructors would become appraised of their weaker points and might be able to strengthen them.

Beame, Lindsay To Address Tuition Rally; March Of 5000 Students Expected Oct. 21

By RONA SCHWAB

Mayoralty candidates John Lindsay (Republican - Liberal) and Abraham Beame (Democrat) will voice a rare agreement on a campaign issue while appearing together here.

Both candidates will speak in favor of free tuition at a Free Tuition Rally here on October 21.

Five thousand students are expected to participate in the rally to be held from 12 to 2 P.M. They will gather on the South Campus lawn at 12 Noon. From there, President Buell G. Gallagher will lead a march from 135th Street to the North Campus quadrangle on 139th Street to the music of the ROTC Fife and Drum Band.

"The purpose of the rally will be to spark the students' interest in the free tuition fight," said Jerry Ostroff, chairman of the Free Tuition Rally. SG hopes to recruit students participating in the rally for free tuition canvassing, research, and telephone solicitation. Assemblymen Paul Curran and Joseph Greene, both Republicans of Manhattan, will be the target for this year's door-to-door canvassing. Next year student volunteers will stage a strong campaign to defeat Governor Nelson Rockefeller in his

Professors To Speak Friday At Protest Against Viet War

Tomorrow, for the second time in six months, students will stage an anti-war in Viet Nam vigil in front of Cohen Library. Sponsored by the Independent Committee to End the War in Viet Nam, the vigil, scheduled from nine in the morning until one in the afternoon, will precede a joint Student-Faculty rally in the Grand Ballroom.

Committee member Nancy Ehrlich stated that "the prime purpose of these actions is to make the College community aware that our government's policy in Viet Nam is not in the interests of either the American or the Vietnamese people."

The rally, slated to begin at 1 P.M., will feature speeches by students Arthur Kopecky, a member of the Committee, Mark Brody, editor of Observation Post, and Professors Abraham Edel (Philosophy), Raymond Franklin (Economics), Leonard Kriegel (English), and Harry Lustig (Physics).

The College's Independent Committee to End the War in Viet Nam is an amalgam of students who feel that America's present policy in that Southeast Asian country is both immoral and contrary to the 1954 Geneva Agreements. In their first newsletter, distributed Wednesday, they stated: "As students we wish to discover why this war began and why it continues to escalate. We seek alternatives to this situation."

More than 500 students from the College are expected to participate in demonstrations aimed against U. S. involvement in Viet Nam on the International Days of Protest tomorrow and Saturday. About 70 American cities and at least ten foreign countries will be the scenes of picket lines, marches, or other forms of anti-war protest action.

The nation's key demonstration will be a parade down Fifth Avenue on Saturday, sponsored by the Committee for the Fifth Avenue Viet Nam Peace Parade, a group formed six weeks ago by about 50 individuals active in local pacifist, civil rights, labor, youth, political and cultural organizations. David Dellinger, editor of "Liberation" magazine and coordinator of the parade, predicts that at least 15,000 will take part in the march down the thoroughfare.

Plan To Halt Exploitation of Southern Workers Outlined In Address By Civil Rights Leader

By KEN ALBANESE and MARK BRODY

A vast program to better the conditions of 5 million people in the Southern Mountains who are "starving and ragged" while their "exploiters are not doing anything about it," was outlined here last Thursday.

Speaking on the Southern Mountain Project of the Southern Conference Education Fund (SCEF), Carl Braden, a noted civil rights leader, declared that they were "organizing poor whites and Negroes together so they can't be divided up and pitted against one another as in the past."

Mr. Braden and his co-speaker Carol Stevens, who is coordinator of the Appalachian Economic and Political Action Conference (AEPAC), stated that of those who are employed in the south, the poor living standard

Carl Braden
Civil Rights Leader

is the result of both weak unions and exploitation of the mountain people in the area of taxation.

The Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Bill of 1965 forced the movement to look for new directions to expand, according to Braden. As a result, the major tasks of the movement are now centered around the questions of jobs and housing, he said.

Following a six month period of touring the Southern Mountains and talking to the people, it was decided that they could be organized and the AEPAC was established to "force the Federal government to directly intervene in the economic problems of the area."

The Silent Poll

The appearance of a long-awaited Course and Teacher Evaluation Questionnaire, as occasioned by last night's Student Council action, is a welcome step forward in the relations between students and faculty here.

For too long, this particular subject has been stifled beneath a "sacred cow" raiment which has hidden its real, and most worthwhile, aims. It is gratifying that a meaningful decision has been reached.

There linger still, however, some small traces of the qualms of old . . . as witness the defeat, by a large majority, of a proposal to publicize the results of the survey. Only a half step forward has been taken.

The arguments of Student Council that the poll would be more widely accepted if the results are kept confidential, and that such acceptance is vital for the worth of the survey to be established, seem little more than rationalizations for postponing the difficult task — that of effecting a meaningful and public evaluation.

Aside from the hope that teachers may improve their own courses in the light of confidential reports, the other side of the coin must be considered . . . that students can be served more directly and effectively by a publicized survey.

The incentive to perfect one's studies at the College is, and always has been, a grading system. Perhaps a system of "instructor grading" would serve as a similar incentive on the faculty level. It seems doubtful that the present plan, a concentrated and dedicated pairing of the individual consciences of faculty members, can have a significant effect.

We strongly urge Council to reconsider its decision. There is little or no point to granting the sacred cow an extra semester of freedom.

Appalachian Conference

The program of AEPAC calls for a vast public works program including the building of roads, houses, flood controls, schools, hospitals, libraries, parks, playgrounds, cultural and recreational centers, and the establishment of Permanent Unemployment Pay (PUP) of $60 per week for people who are out of work until employment is found for them.

The cost of this program would be approximately 11 billion dollars per year which could be taken "off the $52 billion being spent for war this year," he asserted.

While he doesn't know "what's going to happen when the real red baiting and Negro baiting begin," Braden feels confident in the mountain people's "opposition to aristocracy and their feeling for freedom."

"Integration is not possible under a system of exploitation which requires the playing off of one group against another," he declared. While the limited goals of the AEPAC are a "sort of populism," the tradition of which "still prevails in the mountains," he asserted that the ultimate outcome "must be a change to a new economic system in which everyone is equal."

"If the ultimate outcome is socialism, so much the better," he concluded.

bid for re-election. The rally will be supported by Student Government, Interfraternity Council, and House Plan Association. All clubs have been asked to cancel meetings that would normally take place during that 12 to 2 PM period.

In addition to Lindsay and Beame, President Gallagher, SG President Carl Weitzman, and a member of the Alumni Association will address the rally.

Ostroff urges all students to attend. "We are not going to be discouraged," he said. "We are not going to give up. The 5000 students we expect to march will demonstrate the strong feeling that the student body of the City University has for the cause of free tuition. And we will win."

Evaluation . . .

ed by a vote of 4-13-1 in Council. The questionnaire itself is composed of four sections, each of which contains several questions. Part I, entitled "Course Evaluation," solicits student opinion of the course as a whole, in a general way, and of the textbook and outside readings. Part II, "Evaluation of Instructor's Teaching," deals with various criteria of actual classroom performance, such as knowledge of subject matter and guidance of class.

Part III is a more general statement of the views expressed in Part II. The form concludes with a section on "Background Information" on the student, and a "Free Response Area," posing three questions to be answered at length in essay form.

Answer sheets (except for the Free Response Section) will be tabulated by IBM machines. The free responses for each instructor will be sent directly to him; this section of the questionnaire will be voluntary, should the student be wary of having his handwriting appear.

Cost to the Student Government will be $1,000 for the printing of 40,000 question and answer sheets. All other costs (processing, distributing, printing of results) will be paid by the College.

Booters Lose To FDU, Officials; Three Beaver Scores Disallowed

It will be forever after known as "The Great Soccer Robbery." While not as famous as the Great Train Robbery or as exciting as the Brinks Robbery, it will, nevertheless, be long remembered by the two hundred spectators who witnessed it. The College's soccer team lost to Fairleigh Dickinson University 2-1, Tuesday, but you'll never convince the Beaver booters that they were defeated honestly.

The Lavender scored one goal which counted and three which didn't. The heartbreaker was the disallowance of what apparently was the tying goal with twenty seconds left. Beaver forward Steve Goldman was standing on the endline when he passed the ball in. Therefore the official blew his whistle and stopped play. However, Cliff Soas knocked the ball into the net past FDU goalie Roger Locks. It was the third goal of the day for the Lavender which the officials had thrown out.

There were several other near misses for the Beavers who clearly held their own against a supposedly superior FDU squad. In the second period, right halfback Jim Martino fired a shot which hit the top part of the goal post and bounced away.

FDU	0	1	0	1	-	2
CCNY	0	1	0	0	-	1

The game started off with some rough play by both teams with the officials having to warn the two coaches that further incidents of the same type would lead to the banishment of the offenders.

The Beavers drew first blood in the game when, at 7:05 of the second quarter, Willy Franz converted a pass from Ted Jonke. The Knights tied it up eleven minutes later, at 18:07, on a fluke goal by their All-American right halfback Danny Goldstein. Goldstein lofted the ball from fifty yards out and it had just enough height and distance to fly over the outstretched hands of goalie Walt Kopezuk. Aside from this incident, Goldstein was held comparatively quiet by Oreste "Rusty" Colella.

At 20:10 of the last quarter, center halfback Frank Giacobbe planted the ball behind Kopezuk on a penalty shot.

The Knights held off the Beaver attack in the final two minutes to win their fourth game of the season against no defeats. FDU perennially fields a top soccer team, and this year's edition, led by Goldstein, whom coach George Glasgow calls "better than ever," appears to be one of their finest. For this reason, the Lavender have nothing to be ashamed of in going down to such a close defeat.
