Eight Campus Clubs Air Divergent Views During Young Democrats' Political Forum

By JACK DAW

Eight of the College's political clubs, embracing widely differing philosophies were represented in a forum held yesterday under the auspices of the Young Democrats. The topic under discussion was "Government and the Individual."

Speakers from clubs as far right as the Ayn Rand Society and the Young Conservatives expressed point-counterpoint views with those as far left as the W.E.B. DuBois and Socialist Clubs. Also represented were the Young Democratic Democrats, Youth Against War and Fascism, Students for the Preservation of Order in Society (a newly chartered club), and a representative of CORE's Harlem Educational Program.

The CORE speaker, Mr. Bob Lloyd, who spoke last, was by far the most eloquent, and earned the most enduring applause. He opened his address by greeting the, "Ladies and Gentlemen, members of the young Democracy, and went on to say: "I believe the role of government should be to conscientiously involve themselves in the economic problems of people," he said, minimizing the government's intervention in Selma by terming it belated. "Why should it have taken the death of a civil rights worker to induce the government to act to give people their basic rights?"

The speaker from the Young Conservatives spoke on the advantages of the capitalist government and of the freedoms of democracy as opposed to communism. He alluded to the fact that the forum itself was possible here, and added, "I look forward to the day when I can express my views under the government they (the left-wing speakers) support."

Ira Kraskner, the speaker from the Young Democrats, expressed the middle-of-the-road policy. He acknowledged faults in all governmental structures.

Lacrosse Outlook

Poor But Hopeful

By RICHARD SIMON

You’re the coach of the 1965 edition of the College’s lacrosse team. You’ve lost some star players through graduation and most of a promising back line, against the odds through ineligibility. You have 24 able-bodied players who must learn the game in one year. What would you do? "You practice hard and pray for a little lady-luck," says the man who must face these problems, Coach George Baron."Ability and knowledge go a long way in lacrosse," says Baron, "and both are learned through experience." Experience can be gained only through practice and actual competition. Dominated by sophomores, the squad’s weakness is inexperience. The ability can be developed in practice sessions, the knowledge is learned from making mistakes. "It takes two to three years to develop true lacrosse players," says Baron, "and we’re going to make costly mistakes during opening day loss to Adelphi. Although an opening day win would be a great lift to the team, many fans still remember the 1963 tennis season, when the Beavers went on to win their remaining eight games after an opening day loss to Adelphi. One of Coach Cire’s major problems will be his try to rank his players in order of ability. Due to a preponderance of sophomores, the team seems to be extremely evenly matched. Seniors Kenneth Chasin, Martin Deitch, Harris Geller, Michael Seiden, Elliot Simon, and Junior Ira Barkoe are the upperclassmen on the team. If the Beavers are to continue their tradition of being a strong contender for the Metropolitan Conference title, some of the sophomores will have to come through this year. The top prospect is Lloyd Smith, Ted Kostiuk, Craig Doliano, all work well together. Most impressive are the attackmen. Rudy Chaloupka, Floyd Mitchell, Harold Hirsch (last year’s high scorer), and the one with the most defensemen are strong and rugged; the one with the most goals remains the same. Marvin Sambus, who was an All-American goalie at the College, will play in goal. The Lavender has no All-Americans, but there are several standouts. Most impressive during pre-season practice were Lenny Sager and newcomer, Stan Nack, are promising nonetheless. Lenny Sager has looked especially impressive against opponents on the man to face these problems, Coach George Baron.

Eight Campus Clubs Air Divergent Views

The Brooklyn College Student Protest Movement (SPM) characterized President Gideonse's charges against the movement's leadership as a "revival of "McCarthyism." A resolution adopted by the temporary Steering Committee of the SPM accused Gideonse of "skirting the real issues of academic freedom for the students and faculty of Brooklyn College."

The SPM held a demonstration yesterday, attended by 500 students in dungarees, in violation of the dress codes on campus.

Following the demonstration an informal forum was held. The members of the SPM temporary Steering Committee will meet with President Gideonse today at 3 PM and present him with a letter demanding that he make a public retraction of those statements referring to "communists" and "off-campus" elements in the SPM. The press release of the SPM denies that the movement is either "communist-inspired" or directed by any element recruited off campus.

By RON McGUIRE

Brooklyn College Student Council supported Dr. Sitton's fight for reinstatement. In the motion passed Wednesday, the Council condemned the practice of loyalty oaths.

The Brooklyn College SPM was formed Monday, following an action by the Faculty-Student Committee on Organizations which had previously outlawed the SPM. The Committee for Academic Freedom, which, until then, had run the movement for Dr. Sitton's reinstatement.

At Wednesday's rally student speakers outlined a projected plan to include a massive violation of the dress regulations and a forum of faculty and students to discuss academic freedom and its relation to Brooklyn College. The forum is slated for sometime next week.

A representative of the SPM, who declined to be identified, has accused college authorities of considering the SPM a "threat" to college regulations, forbidding student and faculty to talk to the press, characterizing the movement's statement as "McCarthyism" and denying the implication that there were any off-campus agitators or Communists in the movement.

Kraussner Mocks Protest Picketing

By NANCY GOULD

Kraussner put down the rubber-stamp-lapel-button-placard-bearing sort of picket. He mentioned a girl whose analyst suggested she carry picket signs as a means of self-expression and sublimation of phallic hitch-hiking desires. He spoiled the fetishes of pot-smokers who have latched on to the protest scene with Legal.
Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller has cut the State University's scholarship fund by $1,750,000, Samuel B. Gould, president of the State University, announced Wednesday. The fund is used to aid students who otherwise might not be able to attend the University. Rockefeller has repeatedly stressed, in his arguments against restoring the Free Tuition Mandate to the State Education Act, that if tuition were imposed at the City University, scholarship funds would be increased to meet the requirements of needy students. The State University has been charging tuition ever since the Mandate was repealed.

A proposed cut of $6,800,000 in the University's operating fund will necessitate turning away 1,000 students next term, or raising the tuition fees, Gould stated.

A psychologist who played a large part in making the 'hot-line' between Washington and Moscow effective has been chosen as the Buell G. Gallagher Visiting Professor for the fall term.

The Visiting Professor, Alex Bavelos, will help launch the new Doctoral program in psychology as well as teaching two large lecture sections of Psychology 1 with Dr. Sam Ziegler (Psychology).

Dr. Bavelos formerly taught at M.I.T. and Stanford University, and helped prepare the hot-line and NATO conference lines. He will teach several Graduate seminars in social psychology.

$50 Scholarship Offered in ROTC

An ROTC scholarship program beginning in September has been announced by the Department of the Army. The awards will provide fifty dollars a month plus textbook costs and laboratory fees.

One hundred twenty dollars per month will be paid during attendance at a six-week training camp.

Four year scholarships are available to those first entering college. Two year awards will be granted to selected students completing the second year of the ROTC program.

To be eligible for these scholarships, an applicant must be a male U. S. citizen who meets the prescribed physical standards. The two-year applicant must be under 23 years of age on June 30, 1965.

Omitted...

Newly elected Council member from the Class of '68 Joe Korn was omitted from the list of successful candidates in the recent Student Government by-elections which appeared in Wednesday's Observation Post. It was also incorrectly stated that all victorious members of the Cameron First Slate were in Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity. Korn is a member of Phi Epsilon Phi Fraternity. Observation Post regrets these errors.

The lost causes of Aryan birthright, Southern white womanhood, and ante-bellum civilization were beautifully, if futilely, presented in D. W. Griffith's controversial film classic Birth of a Nation. Tuesday the movie was shown in the History of Films course, despite its objectionable representation of the Negro in the Reconstruction period. Griffith, a native Southerner, did not miss a racist cliché in the three hour spectacle.

The audience reacted to the maudlin sentimentality of its point of view. Birth of a Nation was the first serious full-length film ever made. Before its debut in 1915 no one considered cinema a valuable art medium; it was merely an amusing novelty for frivolous entertainment. COMMUNISTS

Brooklyn College President Harry Gideonse has irresponsibly charged that leaders of the protest for academic freedom at Brooklyn are “Communists” and “outside agitators.” This is not only untrue, but irrelevant. The anachronistic repression at Brooklyn fully justifies the clamon of students for the right to participate in political activities, especially the free tuition campaign.

This College, whether through its student government, its faculty, or independent groups, should act immediately to support the Student Protest Movement at Brooklyn. We run the risk, of course, of being labeled “Communists” and “outside agitators” by President Gideonse. President Gideonse, however, will be wrong.

Our college has a long tradition of supporting academic freedom. Our student government sent a letter of support to students at Berkeley in demonstrations and board of regents; to balk at helping fellow students of the City University would be a denial of all that the College has stood for. In addition, it would be denied their basic rights, our education is endangered.

We would like to see this protest taken up at City College,

Anti-Agitation Bill Considered

The California Assembly has cast an interested eye on recent controversy at the University of California's Berkeley campus. During the recent arrests for displaying an allegedly obscene word in public, the Assembly called on the Board of Regents to see that the students were expelled from the university immediately.

At the present time, two resolutions provided by Berkeley incidents are pending before the Assembly. State Assemblyman Don Mulford introduced a bill which would give the Regents and the administration power "to remove from the campus the professional agitators, the beatniks, the mentally ill, the uncontrollable, the unwashed, the filthy individuals who have been involved in student demonstration."

Another resolution, however, introduced by Assemblyman Wil- liam Stanton, would, if ratified, change considerably the structure of the Board of Regents. Stanton's proposal calls for:

- open Regents meetings
- a limiting of the Regents' jurisdiction to the "material corpus" of university life
- an appointment procedure whereby the Governor would choose Regents from a list of five nominees selected by an all-state Academic Senate
- Regents would serve eight-year non-renewable terms rather than the present sixteen years.
- no ex-officio members of the Board of Regents except for the Governor would be allowed.

There has been no indication of what action will be taken on either bill.

Student Protest Movement

Members of SPM have characterized Gideonse's statements as "vindictive."

The SPM was formed Monday night following the ousting of the Ad-Hoc committee for Academic Freedom by the Academic-Student Executive Council at its next meeting.

The SPM has adopted the program of the defunct Ad-Hoc Committee for Academic Freedom. This includes demands that Student Government should be elected by the student body-at-large and be composed of representatives of chartered organizations and that faculty advisors would no longer have to approve publicity for their organizations.

A Motion condemning President Gideonse's statements to ABC-TV will be proposed to the Brooklyn College Student Government Executive Council of the Ad-Hoc committee in order to acquire a first hand knowledge of this situation.

"Freedom of speech is a right and a freedom. But there is no freedom to break the law or to violently seek to overthrow it or the government."

A brief question-and-answer period, during which members of the audience addressed queries to the speakers, followed the talks.

the Pot bowl! O'Keefe next into a description of the Mattachine Society, Krassner described a nicely integrated meeting of homosexuals and exploded a great racial myth: "James Baldwin is not after your sister."

On the subject of the Berkeley demonstrations, Krassner applauded picket signs bearing "Observe non-violence because they defended the right of students to be silly. He told how Bill listeners objected to his using the words "mother" and "finger" on the air because they were obscene. He ridiculed "abstract obscenity" and pointed out that substitute dirty words often take on the connotation of the original, leaving no end of absurd possibilities for interpretations of nonverbal behavior.

Through the process of free association Krassner recalled that when he was in elementary school his teachers constantly sent him up to erase the boards everytime they caught him with his hands in his pockets.

"But this is no way to teach a child. We've got to get this "deserter" stuff out of our vocabulary. It's not a word that has much meaning any more."

"And what's the use of signing a boycott if you'll get yourself killed?"

In the question-answer melee following his talk, Krassner was asked why they didn't make more protest against his magazine. His closing remark was, "Are you kidding? I have blind news dealers chasing me."

Second—President Gideonse has没有必要 to call in members of the Steering Committee in order to acquire a first hand knowledge of the situation.

Third—President Gideonse is resorting to the questionable tactics of a man whom many Americans would prefer to forget.

Fourth—President Gideonse is once again skirting the real issues of academic freedom for the students and faculty of Brooklyn College.

Your criticism of the student boycott claims that it is a "double standard." Perhaps if you visited an academic organization such as the Harvard student body or the American Psychological Association, you would realize that we do care. We care about getting a top grade education and learning how to think so that so many of our countrymen are not able to think for themselves. That segment will be made up of the most perceptive, radical-minded and dedicated individuals. I will not be surprised if those who advocated the boycott will be among them.

Students Propose
A Bill Of Rights

A group of about 200 Eastern college students attended a "Democracy on Campus" conference in Philadelphia last weekend to adopt a "Students' Bill of Rights."

Among the provisions of the manifesto was a declaration that the modern college or university should be run by the students and professors; administrators would be "maintenance, clerical and safety personnel whose purpose is to enforce the will of faculty and students."

The clause was based on the theory that colleges and universities have become servants of the "financial, industrial, and military establishment" and that students and faculty are being "sold down the river" by administrators.

The College was represented by Wendy Nakashima of the Progressive Labor Club, Brooklyn College, Queens College, Columbia University, New York University, and St. John's University, as well as Harvard, Yale, and the University of California at Berkeley. They were also represented. Only 45 students remained at the end when the bill was adopted.

Also included in the manifesto were declarations of freedom to join, organize or hold meetings of any organization and to extend the freedoms of speech and assembly to the campus; abolition of tuition fees; control of law enforcement by the students and faculty; and to the Reserve Officers Training Corps; abolition of loyalty oaths; student-faculty control over curriculum, and a number of safeguards against what the students considered wrongful search and seizure.

The possibility of forming a national coordinating committee to channel campus protest movements was discussed but no agreement was reached by the close of the meeting. A provision that in order to achieve their demands, the students would not hesitate to start a general academic strike was voted down 27 to 11.

The conference was held under the auspices of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, which was formed in 1951 "to help meet the growing menace to the Bill of Rights."

The College's baseball team will be playing a baseball game tomorrow and it won't be part of spring training. Spring training will end this afternoon and tomorrow's game against Columbia at 1:30 at Baker Field will mark the beginning of the 1965 campaign for the Lavender.

Admission to Baker Field (Broadway and 218th St.) is 60c. Coach Sol Mishkin will have one of the most powerful teams in recent years for the Beavers. With Lou Gatti at first, Bernie Martin catching, Dave Minkoff at third and Steve Beccali patrolling left field, the Beavers should knock a few shots into the distance.

At least one of the seventeen players possesses great speed and is a line drive type of hitter. Another man who can hit for distance is right fielder Lou Henk. Henik is a left handed swinger.

On the mound for the Lavender will be Howie "No-hit" Smith. Smithy, a hard throwing right hander with a good curve ball, is the backbone of the Lavender pitching staff.

Columbia will have a line-up filled with star athletes in other sports. In last year's game, which the Lavender won 5-0, basketball star Neil Farber was the starting and losing pitcher for the Lions. Coach Mishkin said that one of their greatest grid stars, Archie Roberts, already has been offered sizable bonuses to play major league baseball. Last season against the Beavers he got 2 of the 4 hits that the Lions were able to scratch out against Ron Muller.

That game last year was played under conditions to which the Lavender was accustomed to since a gusty wind blowing in off the field. When asked about playing under such conditions Coach Mishkin said, "It's the same for both teams."

Netmen To Meet Adelphi

Opening its season tomorrow against a team it has not seen in several years, the Adelphi netmen will be trying to avenge last year's 5-3 loss to the Adelphi University team.

The pretty swimmers have been practicing hard in a spirit that is gaining in popularity all over the nation so today's exhibition should be a good one.

Tryouts . . .

Tryouts are still being held for several positions on the tennis team. The interested should contact Coach Robert Cire at Room 211 Lewisohn or any afternoon on the Finish tennis courts.

Netmen To Meet Adelphi In Season's Opener Tomorrow

Opening its season tomorrow against a team it has not been able to beat for the past four years is not the College's tennis team's only problem. Coach Robert Cire must also determine who will be the starters on the Beavers' squad.

No Predictions

As for predicting the outcome of the opening day match, there has been no basis for a judgment since he has never seen the Panthers in action before, from what he hears and from last year's results, Cire does not expect an easy time.

Tomorrow's match will not be the opening game of the season for the Lavender, but it will be the Beavers' first meet with Cire at the helm.

Ranking his players is one of his biggest problems, and Cire is looking to the Adelphi meet to help. As of now, he has made up a temporary ranking list, and Cire expects the six top netmen to play against the Panthers.

Trackmen To Face Montclair;
Hopes Are On Jim O'Connell

For a guy who's used to running sixteen miles or more, a two-mile run is practically a "sprint." For Jim O'Connell, two-time winner of the sixteen-and-a-half-mile A.A.U. Milk Run, the change to the "sprint" isn't coming easily.

Changes like that never are easy for track men.

Nevertheless, O'Connell has already broken the City College indoor two-mile mark, and coach Francis Castro expects him to improve for the outdoor season, which starts tomorrow at Montclair State College in New Jersey.

O'Connell won the Milk Run titles in 1963 and 1964, and was also attending the evening session here. He posted the indoor two-mile mark of 9:28.5 in the I.C.A.A. competition in Madison Square Garden this winter. This well above the College's outdoor record of 9:50.6, set in 1941 by Cliff Goldstein.

O'Connell, a junior, also holds the Beavers' cross-country mark of 25:25 which he set this fall at the Collegiate Track Conference championships over Van Cortland Park's five-mile course.

Two days later he captured the I.C.A.A. college division cross-country championship, becoming the first Beavers athlete to win an I.C.A.A. gold medal since 1931.

Castro's big problem will be the lack of depth on the team. Only Bob Gart is a reasonably sure bet. Gort, a junior, is extremely versatile and has also broken the City College indoor three-mile mark, a 23:05.5, and the 20-yard hurdles and 330 and 440-yard intermediate hurdles. He also holds the Beavers' cross-country mark of 25:25.

Swimming . . .

The College's synchronized swimming team will perform "An Acrobatic Tribute to the Arts" today and tomorrow in the Park Gym.

Nearly every one of the pretty swimmers has been practicing very hard in a spirit that is gaining in popularity all over the nation so today's exhibition should be a good one.

There will be two performances each day from 4:30 to 7 PM. Starting times are 4:30 and 7 PM on Saturday and 4:30 and 7 PM on Sunday.
