SNCC Director Hits US Attitudes; Compares Mississippi To Vietnam

"In Vietnam we kill to save democracy and that's right; in Mississippi they kill to save democracy and it's right too," declared Bob Moses, Project Director of the Mississippi Project for SNCC. Speaking at a joint CORE and W.C.M. Dubois Club meeting on the civil rights movement in the South, Moses drew a close parallel between the lack of justice in Mississippi and the government's present policy in Vietnam.

"Moral Idiots"

In portraying the actions of civil rights workers, Chasney, Goodman, and Schwerner, he said the papers and magazines have shown them as irresponsible white trash, "moral idiots," and outside of our society. Yet, he asked, the exact opposite is true... and it is because they're the common rain of our country that they can't be convicted for murder — they are not outlaws. They're looked upon as heroes.

"Aliens"

Moses said he "wants to see some serious thought and discussion on the right to a jury trial before Munroe," replied, "I fully understand the thirty or so arrests during a sit-in, has been suppressed are all students." The girls say they have "water-tight" alibis, all of them being in the city at the time of the disturbances. However, the Assistant District Attorney said this week, that both Freyman and Nakashima would spend another thirty days and $200 if they decided to retain counsel, according to PL member Harvey Mason.

"Villard Minimizes Class Discussion"

By MARK BENDER

Elinor Goldstein, a member of the College's Progressive Labor Club, who has spent thirty days in jail and paid $350 fine for refusing to answer the question of a New York County Grand Jury concerning the Harlem riots will speak on her experiences today at 3 PM in Room 217 Finley.

In addition to Miss Goldstein, Bill McAdoo, Chairman of the Harlem Defense Council will also speak on the same topic.

Two other members of the Progressive Labor Club (PL), Wendy Nakashima and Kathy Freyman, who were suppressed thirty days in jail, has been serving.

Elinor Goldstein

"Watertight Alibi"

Thirty days and $200 if they decided to remain silent, according to PL member Harvey Mason. In all, six members of the College's PL have been suppressed in relation to the Grand Jury investigation, according to Mason. He added that "the thirty or so members of PL (the national organization) who have been suppressed are all students."
The State Department said that the State Department has not decided to use the boycotted checks. A few peculiarities that we’d like to have explained.

European Int’l. Job Agency
Loses State Dept. Backing

By Collegiate Press Service
LUXEMBOURG — The American Embassy in Luxembourg announced recently that it has received several complaints from students concerning jobs that the American Student Information Service (ASIS) has in Luxembourg. The organization, located in Luxembourg, advertised itself as a clearing house for American students seeking summer employment abroad.

The State Department said that “On several occasions the Embassy has tried to point out the excellent work done by HPA in getting letters for the Governor last week.”

In addition, HPA President Al Fleischman has devoted a tremendous amount of his time and energy to the Embassy’s affairs (as in all previous campaigns). We expect that the contributions of House Plans have not ended, and we are counting on them again and again in the future, when you buy books at the Exchange.

If you really had wanted to write an article about needed improvement in the Used Book Exchange, you could have written about the lengthy process required to send back a book. After the UBE staff writes out a check, it must be processed in the Finley Center Business Office before it is sent out. Also, you could have mentioned the low price of hamburgers, which we’d like to suggest that the books are fixed up, said Miss Goldschmidt. This sort of thing won’t happen anymore, she said, Tuesday’s boycott was successful, according to Miss Goldschmidt. The students wanted the price of hamburgers lowered from thirty-five cents to twenty-five cents, among other demands. The problem is, as far as we can see, open only to members of Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma. Sigma, a service fraternity and sorority.

We think that Student Government should conduct a detailed study of the UBE, with respect to both its operation and its connection with APO and Gamma Sigma. If it is found that students must be paid, we would suggest that the UBE consider consulting with the Student Government and the university administration to explore the possibility of creating a Student Government-sponsored UBE.

In addition, there is a possibility that the UBE might be able to operate under less stringent regulations if slight losses could be covered by SG. Any small profits would return to finance other student activities.

Five English Professors Win Fulbright, Guggenheim Prizes

By NANCY FIELDS

The Ad Hoc Committee for the American Association of Columbia College (AHCOC) at the Bronx campus of Hunter College ended a two-day boycott of their cafeteria’s offerings. The committee is now awaiting results of a meeting scheduled for the Hunter cafeteria on the campus of the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

The State University of New York Assembly and the New York State Senate removed the 114-year-old guarantee of free tuition at the City University. That legislation was controlled by upstate and downstate Republicans. They voted to cut tuition by upstate and downstate Republicans. They voted to cut tuition in fact, as now, in order to pay-as-you-go. In fact, then as now, it wasn’t so easy to pay-as-you-go. In fact, then as now, it wasn’t so easy to pay-as-you-go. In fact, then as now, it wasn’t so easy to pay-as-you-go. In fact, then as now, it wasn’t so easy to pay-as-you-go.

The price the UBE sets for the book is either 50 or 1/2 of the books, and the cost of the book will be $1.15, but refused to cover the cost of the individual items.

The AHOC will not take any further action until the financial records have been thoroughly gone over, asserted Miss Goldschmidt. The organization, located in Luxembourg, advertised itself as a clearing house for American students seeking summer employment abroad.

The State Department said that “On several occasions the Embassy has tried to point out the excellent work done by HPA in getting letters for the Governor last week.”

In addition, HPA President Al Fleischman has devoted a tremendous amount of his time and energy to the Embassy’s affairs (as in all previous campaigns). We expect that the contributions of House Plans have not ended, and we are counting on them again and again in the future, when you buy books at the Exchange.

If you really had wanted to write an article about needed improvement in the Used Book Exchange, you could have written about the lengthy process required to send back a book. After the UBE staff writes out a check, it must be processed in the Finley Center Business Office before it is sent out. Also, you could have mentioned the low price of hamburgers, which we’d like to suggest that the books are fixed up, said Miss Goldschmidt. This sort of thing won’t happen anymore, she said, Tuesday’s boycott was successful, according to Miss Goldschmidt. The students wanted the price of hamburgers lowered from thirty-five cents to twenty-five cents, among other demands. The problem is, as far as we can see, open only to members of Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma. Sigma, a service fraternity and sorority.

We think that Student Government should conduct a detailed study of the UBE, with respect to both its operation and its connection with APO and Gamma Sigma. If it is found that students must be paid, we would suggest that the UBE consider consulting with the Student Government and the university administration to explore the possibility of creating a Student Government-sponsored UBE.

In addition, there is a possibility that the UBE might be able to operate under less stringent regulations if slight losses could be covered by SG. Any small profits would return to finance other student activities.
Observation Post

600 Students Participate In Vigil

By ARTHUR VOLBERT

Friday, March 5, 1965

The New York State Legislature. Four years ago the station discovered that the evils caused by malapportionment were at the root of many of New York City’s problems. At first the subject was considered dull for the air, but after debating for six months, the station started a campaign complete with rhymed jingles.

Today a bearded Republican legislature passed four reapportionment bills of varying degrees of inequity. WMCA has already had three of these declared unconstitutional by the Federal Courts. The state courts are considering the fourth and the station hopes to see it thrown out too, on the grounds that it was perrymandered.

---

ZETA BETA TAU

Rush Social

"LIVE" BAND

FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 6:30 PM

16 Hamilton Terrace

141st and Convent Ave.

---

SIGMA ALPHA

Invites all students to a STUDENT-FACULTY TEA

945 F  March 5 3-5 PM

---

2 Meetings Held By Student Gov't.

By ZITA ALLEN

Yesterday morning, SG President Zippert, President of Day Session Student Government participated in the Student Government held by Governor Rockefeller's office at 56th St., a meeting of Student Government (SG) was called by Martha Kauffman.

The council members discussed the vigil and possible ways to improve the anti-tuition campaign. It was suggested that various members of the faculty at the College and Assemblymen be asked to participate. Kauffman also hopes to reach other organizations on the campus. “What I think is that we related to much on organizations which don’t come through,” he said.

It was believed by several of the five council members who were present that the meeting called by Zippert was an effort to force Council members to take part in the vigil and some of them were reluctant to do so. Kauffman stated, that he believes “that half of the Council members who weren’t at the meeting were not participating in the vigil either.”

---

Kappa Phi Omega urges you to

STAY IN BROOKLYN

FRIDAY AT ITS COMBINED OPEN RUSH WITH

BETA LAMBDA PHI and LIVE BAND

85 Flatbush Ave.

Near Fox Theatre

---

ALPHA MU PHI

124 Dyckman St. Last OPEN Smoker, Friday, March 5, 8:30 PM
There's one thing about college basketball that makes it more exciting than pro basketball — there's no 24-second rule. So instead of seeing a bunch of race-horses running up and down in what looks a weird indoor track meet, there's a chance to watch some ball-handling. And the game doesn't move so fast that you're still cheering when the other team has a chance to watch some ball-handling. And the game doesn't move so fast that you're still cheering when the other team has a chance to watch some ball-handling.

Some college coaches don't know that there isn't a 24-second rule in their game or else they're trying to get their men ready for the pros. But if there's one thing to be said for Dave Polansky (and actually there's a lot more) it's that he teaches ball-handling to his cagers.

It's watching a guy like Julie Levine dribbling the ball behind his back that drove Wingate Gym crowds into frenzies of delight. Levine's problem was his shooting eye, which was off-and-on during this past season, and his height, which isn't. This is, obviously, what kept Levine out of the starting line-up at the end of the year. Levine is graduating in June along with Roy Camino, who was his opposite, a good shooter but an average dribbler. Ir Ir, Smoler, who shoots and dribbles above average but neither spectacularly, will also tip his height and be replaced by a rank newcomer might hurt. Still, for a coach, it's a pleasant problem.

There's one thing about college basketball which makes it more exciting than pro basketball — there's no 24-second rule. So instead of seeing a bunch of race-horses running up and down in what looks a weird indoor track meet, there's a chance to watch some ball-handling. And the game doesn't move so fast that you're still cheering when the other team has a chance to watch some ball-handling. And the game doesn't move so fast that you're still cheering when the other team has a chance to watch some ball-handling.

The victory was the riflemen's 82nd consecutive victory in Lewishow Stadium, a streak which may last until the stadium is demolished. If they beat Columbia and NYU tonight, the team will meet St. John's, the other sectional champion, in a shoot-off for the title. Tonight's meet will be the last home match for Bernie Abramson, Fred Bondast, and Stan Fogel, who are all graduating seniors.

LIU Beats Wagner For Title

Long Island University captured the Tri-State League championship from Wagner in a play-off game Wednesday night, 78-69, with a powerful second-half surge. The Blackbirds poured in 45 points after the intermission to overcome a 33-42 deficit. LIU's only loss was the 52-50 overtime upset by the College's cagers. The League title sends the Birds to Reading, Pa., for the Eastern Regionals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association college-division championship. Their opening opponent will be Cheaney (Pa.), State.

Three Words for the Young Man on the Go

KAPPA RHO TAU

If you want to go in the same direction that we have chosen for our tenth year—towards a thriving social life, growing spirit and an intimate association of people—the measures of a good fraternity, A Fraternity proud of its house, its brotherhood, a rich past, and intent upon a future in which you can share.

Polansky's first problem will be at center, where he has Kissman and Barry Eisenman going for the spot. Kissman has ten times more basketball sense than Eisenman, who never played ball before this year. Neither one is a particularly strong shooter, but Eiseman grabbed 111 rebounds to Kissman's 155 in less playing time. It might be nice to play them together but when Polansky tried that against taller teams, he found that he was giving away too much in shoeing. Kissman, like everyone else, also has an ego and being replaced by a rank newcomer might hurt. Still, for a coach, it's a pleasant problem.

The freshman crop may provide some relief if 6-5, 207 Gary Zuckerman's first problem will be at center, where he has Kissman and Barry Eisenman going for the spot. Kissman has ten times more basketball sense than Eisenman, who never played ball before this year. Neither one is a particularly strong shooter, but Eiseman grabbed 111 rebounds to Kissman's 155 in less playing time. It might be nice to play them together but when Polansky tried that against taller teams, he found that he was giving away too much in shoeing. Kissman, like everyone else, also has an ego and being replaced by a rank newcomer might hurt. Still, for a coach, it's a pleasant problem.

The freshman crop may provide some relief if 6-5, 207 Gary Zuckerman's first problem will be at center, where he has Kissman and Barry Eisenman going for the spot. Kissman has ten times more basketball sense than Eisenman, who never played ball before this year. Neither one is a particularly strong shooter, but Eiseman grabbed 111 rebounds to Kissman's 155 in less playing time. It might be nice to play them together but when Polansky tried that against taller teams, he found that he was giving away too much in shoeing. Kissman, like everyone else, also has an ego and being replaced by a rank newcomer might hurt. Still, for a coach, it's a pleasant problem.

The freshman crop may provide some relief if 6-5, 207 Gary Zuckerman's first problem will be at center, where he has Kissman and Barry Eisenman going for the spot. Kissman has ten times more basketball sense than Eisenman, who never played ball before this year. Neither one is a particularly strong shooter, but Eiseman grabbed 111 rebounds to Kissman's 155 in less playing time. It might be nice to play them together but when Polansky tried that against taller teams, he found that he was giving away too much in shoeing. Kissman, like everyone else, also has an ego and being replaced by a rank newcomer might hurt. Still, for a coach, it's a pleasant problem.

The freshman crop may provide some relief if 6-5, 207 Gary Zuckerman's first problem will be at center, where he has Kissman and Barry Eisenman going for the spot. Kissman has ten times more basketball sense than Eisenman, who never played ball before this year. Neither one is a particularly strong shooter, but Eiseman grabbed 111 rebounds to Kissman's 155 in less playing time. It might be nice to play them together but when Polansky tried that against taller teams, he found that he was giving away too much in shoeing. Kissman, like everyone else, also has an ego and being replaced by a rank newcomer might hurt. Still, for a coach, it's a pleasant problem.