The Campus has suspended publication indefinitely following the passage by Student Council yesterday of a resolution mandating them to remain at City-Wide printers.

The SG Executive Committee motion passed SC by a vote of 15-3 with six abstentions after a stormy four-hour special session. It provided that The Campus print at City-Wide for at least three more issues in an attempt to build up a stronger case for terminating their contract with City-Wide.

"We had no other choice but to suspend publication," declared Frank Van Ripen, Editor-in-Chief of The Campus, after the vote. "The proposal offered to us by Campus printers was senseless. City-Wide would have no other choice but to put out the best three issues they possibly could for fear of losing the paper. Our own counsel, Mr. Nathan Kirsh, is of the opinion that putting out three more issues under the Executive Committee's plan would in fact damage the case that The Campus has built against City-Wide Printing Company." SG President Carl Weitzman asserted that SG was doing "everything we can to prepare a credible case in their behalf, and their upholding rigidity is even more inexcusable." The Campus has charged that the work done by City-Wide on their paper was "unsatisfactory," and that there was "no working relationship between the shop and the newspaper." As a result of these feelings, The Campus, Campus Managing Board, invoked Clause 11 of their contract with City-Wide which states that "in case of dissatisfaction on the part of either party, this contract may be terminated on one week's notice.

The main subject of debate on Council revolved around the question of whether or not City-Wide could win a threatened lawsuit should The Campus' contract there be terminated. The Executive Committee's position is that The Campus at this point has insufficient evidence in the eyes of the court to terminate the contract. Basing their arguments on statements made by Mr. Arthur Kahn, Chief Counsel for the Board of Higher Education, the Executive Committee added that they were unwilling to place The Campus, Student Government or the College in the position of being a witness to City-Wide...

College Teachers To Get Pay Hike

Salary increases totaling about $4 million a year will be given to City University Faculty as a result of the raises won by the city's public school teachers. It has been the policy of the city to keep a parity between the salaries paid teachers in City schools and the colleges. Gustavo G. Rosenberg, chairman of the Board of Higher Education, stated that he had met with the Mayor and had assured that this policy would be continued.

Under the new pay increase, the maximum salary for an instructor will become $11,650. This benefit will be shared by New York City high school teachers and public school teachers with special preparation and 15 years' experiences.

Associate Professors are scheduled to receive a boost of $1,575, which increases the maximum to $13,600. The raise for full professors sets a new limit at $18,000. The raise for full professors is a result of the raises won by the city's public school teachers.

Campus at Fault

In the fall of 1964, I attempted to persuade the City Senate to debate the question of the relationship between the college newspapers and Student Government. At that time, all I got from the Managing Board was refusals.

Suddenly the issues I sought to raise then have taken on new meaning. Campus has only itself to blame for the fact that an important debate is beginning at the college stage instead of having been thrashed out a year ago.

Sincerely,

Mark Landis

As a student of sciences, I have nothing against research, but I feel it necessary to warn you about a very dangerous type of experimentation. I'm referring to the work done by some students in the Psychology department.

They are ever walking or sitting around CCNY, and a psych major confidently struts up to you and asks you for a favor. You're in for quite an entertaining experience.

I won't tell you what will happen to you just to give the psych major a choice, but if you don't want to feel like a rat in a Skinner box,

Moses Blasts Plan To Convert U.S. Pavilion; Calls College For Drop-outs A ‘Reformatory’

Plans for turning the U.S. Pavilion at the World’s Fair into a center for retraining high-school dropouts were attacked by Beethoven sweatshirt. Robert Moses, Fair president, who charged that the center would be a “reformatory.”

In an attack on the proposed plans of the Board of Higher Education (BHE), Moses dem­anded that the Pavilion be de­molished. He claimed that its use as a dropout center would be contrary to park principles.

“In effect, the city would con­duct a sort of reformatory and educational experiment, no doubt needed, but not in the middle of a city park,” he said.

These charges were rebutted by Gustav G. Rosenberg, chair­man of the BHE, who angrily denied that he wanted to set up a reformatory in the park.

“I am shocked by what Mr. Moses said,” Rosenberg declared. “The U.S. Pavilion will be used as a college for special skills, not as a reformatory.”

Announcing his plans last week, Rosenberg set the cost to the city at $2 million dollars to convert the Pavilion into a col­lege for special skills.

The proposed “college” would be able to handle 4,000 students a year. It has received further support from Senator Jacob Ja­vits who has asked Barings Shriver, Director of the Federal Anti-Poverty Program, to lease the building from the city as a Jobs Corps Center.

Mr. Rosenberg defended his plans for the dropout center by stating, “These young men and women who have been neglected because of poverty. There’s a lot of brain power buried under this poverty and we know we can give them their opportunity for getting a special skill and a higher education.”

Andy Ferrara came in with the best Lavender freshmen time with clocking of 17:43 for the three-mile distance. This was only .32 second slower than the Col­lege’s freshmen record of 17:11.

Blackbirds, Lavender Are Fit To Be Tied: Harriers Outrun Fairleigh Dickinson, Queens

Kopczuk Plays Brilliantly; Both Offenses Sputter

By JERRY HORNIG

Playing to a scoreless tie against LIU last Saturday at Lewishon Stadium, the College's soccer team earned a victory.

The victory was not the kind which was recorded in the Beavers' win column of the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Soccer Conference standings, but no one won the match that worried the rest of the league that the Beavers are on the rise.

The Beavers' performance was good enough to make them win the game, but not enough to make them win the series. They lost 1-4-1 against CCNY and Brooklyn, and tied 2-2 against Queens and Harriers, taking advantage of the Beavers' inability to score one goal against the teams they played.

The game showed up the Lavender's defense as the most outstanding in the Beaver's defense. Most outstanding in this game was the Lavender's defense, which was rectified in the Beaver's defense.

The Beaver's defense also held the Blackbirds' Dov Markus who was about to be kicked by an early goal. In contrast, the Blackbirds' shots were mostly hit hard, and only the spectacular play of Kopczuk and the rest of the Lavender's defense kept LIU off the scoreboard.

Several times, the Beavers had good chances, but were unable to set up a play in time.

Although the Beaver's ability to shoot was rather poor, they showed considerably process in getting the ball into LIU's territory. Most outstanding in this department was center-forward Jim Martin. None of the Blackbirds was able to stop him once he had possession of the ball.

The College's soccer team will face Fairleigh Dickinson University today at Lewishon Stadium at 3 PM.

The Harriers take off against FDU and Queens Saturday at Van Cortlandt Park.

Baseballers Make 7 Errors; Lose Doubleheader: 2-1, 4-0

By PHIL HORIZED

Saturday's twin-bill against St. John's University proved to be the bleakest day of the young season for the College's baseball team. The Beavers went down to a double defeat in the wake of sloppy play by both teams. They dropped the first game of the doubleheader by a score of 2-1 and the nightcap by a margin of 4-0. On a day which saw the Beavers commit seven errors, neither team was able to score an earned run.

The only bright spot of the day was the showing by the underbirds, who could have won the game more excitingly. However, the Beavers were able to stop him once he had possession of the ball.

Giving the game more excitement, however, was at home by St. John's score of two runs in the fifth inning. The Beavers failed to score in the first, second and third innings, as the pitcher, who had faced Minkoff, stole second and threw粲 second baseman out of the running from the first base.

The meet was scored as a double-dual match, rather than a winning team and a losing team, respectively. In a double-dual, scores are calculated between two teams as if the third team had not run.

Jim O'Connell, the College's best five-mile runner, led the beginning to the finish line by a clear margin. Despite this, the Beavers still managed to score two runs in the fifth inning.

The Lavender just managed to pull past FDU, the score being 2-0-2, and lowest point totals possible between the teams. The final score was never any doubt—the Black Knights were shut out of the running from the first inning.

When FDU gained eighth place, the score was established. In a double-dual, scores are calculated between two teams as if the third team had not run.

The Finishers...

The Beaver's defense also held the Blackbirds' Dov Markus who had scored nine goals in LIU's first three games.
