President Boell G. Gallagher criticized as "inappropriate" Freedom Easter registration drive of the College, saying that it "shared the same spirit of a Democratic "Freedom Week."" He also stated that he would like to see the College administratively support such activities.

Students with Dropped Credits

Students who have accumulated 16 or more credits of dropped courses (grades G, H, or J) face either being put on attendance probation or losing their matriculated status. Students who have taken leave of absence from school during a term will also lose the right to withdraw from courses, according to Dean Barbara F. Barber, students covered by the new ruling will first be put on probation. About 80 letters have already been sent out to inform these students, Dean Barber stated. A second letter will be mailed as records are checked.

Several members of a house plan have admitted that their plan has a particular arrangement to have a prostitute enter their house. Members of other house plans on campus have maintained that they also have similar relationships. One of the housemen who said that he knew a prostitute. But she only knew a prostitute. April Fools 'Contact' Withheld;
Reason For Decision Uncertain

By LINDA FEUERBERG

The April Fools issue of "Contact," the official publication of Home Plan Brothers Association (HPA), was confiscated and destroyed after printing. It appears that the action was taken because the front page story was too close to the truth. The headline spanning the page read, "House Plan Brothel Exposed."

dent Gallagher felt that gradu­uate education would prosper at the expense of the undergrad­uates. He felt that only the pres­i­dents of the individual colleges could equitably balance the dis­tribution of funds between the undergraduate and graduate pro­grams. Since the Board of Higher Edu­cation ruling, which followed the crisis caused by the absence of defined roles for the University's administra­tives. Dr. Bowker has been "a much more effective agent." Dr. Gallagher said. Chan­cellor Bowker has "a full blown job" in attempting to secure ade­quate federal, state and local funds for the CE, he added. "Practical experience has in­duced," President Gallagher concluded, "that he can do both." The question of the Chancellor's relationship to the graduate pro­gram, according to Dr. Gallagher, is still being considered.

ROOMMATES REVISITED

This morning's mail brought a letter from a student at a prominent Western university (Princeton). "Dear Sir," he writes. "In a recent column you said it was possible to get along with your roommate if you try hard enough. Well, I'd like to see anyone get along with my roommate! Mervis Trunz (for that is his name) practices the ocarina tor style.

We, the makers of Personna Blades and the sponsors of this column, will not attempt to expertize about roommate problems in general. But we will tell you about a great sharitif-mate to Personna—Burma Shmire! It fits your father; it fits your grandfather; it fits you.

"The Crucible," will launch the College's Repertoire Society into a career of serious drama, April 22, in Harris Auditorium. Breaking with its past comic tradition, the Society hopes to present one comedy and one serious drama each year.

Special permission for the five performances at the College was secured from Arthur Miller's agents. The play, which portrays the infamous Salem witch hunts, will be produced later this year by a non-school professional group.

According to Ray Kostulas, a member of the cast, "The Crucible" was chosen as the Society's first drama because it has a fair distribution of male and female parts and the characters are mostly young people. It is also a low-cost production.

Under the direction of Stanley A. Warren (Speech), the cast includes Norman Parker playing John Proctor, Carol Kramer as Abigail Williams; Michael Ragge as the Reverend Hale, and Ray Kostulas as Deputy Governor Danforth.

Tickets for all performances are available at half price at the booth opposite 152 Finley.

THE CRUCIBLE
by Arthur Miller

A raw-gasp deal?

AARGH!

DOES SHAVING CLOSE HAVE TO BE SUCH A RAW-GASP!—DEAL?

No, dear Desperate, your problem with Mervis Trunz is far from insoluble. In fact, as roommate problems go, it is pretty small potatoes. Compare it, for example, to the case of Basil and E. Pluribus, roommates at a prominent Eastern university (Oregon) were at an impassable impasse.

Basil and E. Pluribus, roommates at a prominent Eastern university (Oregon) were at an impassable impasse. The room was too bright for E. Pluribus to sleep. If E. Pluribus turned the lights off, the room was too dark for Basil to study. What to do?

Well, sir, these two intelligent American kids found an answer. They got E. Pluribus to sleep. They did this by switching his major from 18th Century poetry to mining and metallurgy. Shortly after graduation he had what appeared to be a great stroke of luck: while out prospecting, he discovered what is without question the world's largest feldspar mine. This might have made Basil very rich except that nobody, alas, has yet discovered a use for feldspar. Today Basil, a broken man, is paying off his debt by picking the Dean's cat every afternoon ten cents an hour.

I'm sorry, but the room was too dark for E. Pluribus to study, and still the room was dark enough for E. Pluribus to sleep.

It must be admitted, however, that this ingenious solution had some unexpected sequel. Basil got so enchanted with his miner's cap that he switched his major from 18th Century poetry to mining and metallurgy. Shortly after graduation he had what appeared to be a great stroke of luck: while out prospecting, he discovered what is without question the world's largest feldspar mine. This might have made Basil very rich except that nobody, alas, has yet discovered a use for feldspar.

Today, Basil, a broken man, squeezes out a meagre living as a stalagmite in Asuble Chasm.

Basil has E. Pluribus fared conspicuously better. Once Basil got the miner's cap, E. Pluribus was able to catch up on his long-lost sleep. He woke after nine days, refreshed and very much better. Once Basil got the miner's cap, E. Pluribus was able to catch up on his long-lost sleep. He woke after nine days, refreshed and very much better.

ROOMMATES REVISITED

FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1966
Save CORE

The College's chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) has announced that unless it receives widespread support from students, it will be forced to disband.

Civil rights has fallen into the background during this academic year because of the many other pressing issues. It is regrettable, since it is an area in which work al- ways produces tangible results. Not since last year's bene- fit concerts for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee has there been any sizable civil rights activity.

We urge all students to offer their support to CORE. Perhaps the 35-10 students who were concerned with discrimination in other countries will be patriotic enough to join the vanguard of the movement and help put their own house in order before looking elsewhere.

CORE workers have done a courageous job, from the first Freedom Rides to the voter registration drives in the Deep South. The least sympathizers at the College can do is show their support by attending the next meeting.

Perhaps President Gallagher, a member of the Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, could offer his services to CORE to lead a recruiting drive.

Observation Post
Open Discussion Now Being Held

By ION SCHMUKLER

A group of students and fac- ulty members concerned with the national and local civil rights situa- tion, discussed civil rights in the university, student-faculty relationships and civil rights organizations at a forum open for dialogue.

The idea of such a forum grew out of the three-day fast for peace in Vietnam held in Feb- ruary. The discussion was moderated by Prof. Friedman, who maintained that while the students present were involv- ed in various phases of the war, they were disinterested with the "meaningless" nature of the discussion. After the panel discussion, debates contin- ued throughout the night. Since then, about 20 stu- dents and faculty members from the Physics and History depart- ments have met for discussion.

Many students have participat- ed in this type of forum for the first time.都说, Bierman later suggested that it would be bene- ficial if CORE organized students and faculty could particp- ate in free discussion. He stated the first edition of the discussion was not the best medium for a meaningful exchange of opin- ions. He also felt that the facul- ty is unaware of the ideas and opin- ions of the students and, vice versa.

Miss Katherine Burke (Student Life Director), who was instrumen- tal in organizing the forum, characterized it as being "a non- functional, non-productive, non-structural discussions." She said that during the all-night discus- sion, students and faculty found the time and place to talk to each other on an in- telllectual plane. Miss Burke hopes that Lewisohn Lounge will be designated as a free speech area, which would be open to all at times for students and faculty for open discussion.

61.8 sec. He also ran a leg on the mile relay which left Adelphi far behind.

Jimmy Schapp, the top point scorer, ran a leg on the 120 yards hurdle relay which was the only takeable one in places due to the broad jump and triple jump. However, he tied the half mile at 5:24 and the high hurdles in 13.8 seconds, only a tenth off the school record.

Joe Friedman, though, was the big surprise. No longer an unknown, Friedman was asked to talk about his thirteen points but ra- ther about the performances of Don Decker and Jeff Adeler. Schapp's freshman 220 yard record with a time of 22.4 and of Neil Luchet's 440 yard record in the mile in 4:49.2 and second in the half mile. Friedman was asked to talk about the fact that Dennis Smith picked up Luchet's fi- nishing freshman 220 yard record.

will attend. The white schools are obviously superior: there are fewer students per class, more modern materials, a greater number of school buildings and more athletic facilities. On the other hand Negro school are single-room schools heated by stoves which students must stack themselves and teachers who are inexperienced. While the Negroes are aware of the shortcomings of their schools, they are fearful and embarrassed. Their children would probably be better off at home instead of being forceably thrown into the move. However, they do not see any way out of it, so they go along with the arrangements made for them.

The Lavender Club, which sponsored the Adelphi University Track Team by a score of 114-39, has been defeated by Lehigh University's City. The Lavender tracksters completely dominated the meet, capturing first place in every running event and in all the field events except the broad jump and triple jump. There were many standout for the Lavender, but one of the best was an unknown athlete, Joe Friedman.

O'Connell Sick

Okay. You're the coach of the track team. Jim O'Connell comes down with a stomach virus and won't be able to compete. Do you worry, right? Wrong. You also happen to read OP, and you've heard of our unknown distance runner, Joe Friedman. So, you sit back and relax and watch him go out and win the half-mile, finish second in the mile, and win the two-mile run.

Excellent Times

Depth is a new word around Lehigh's Student this year, and Coach Castro has at least one strong man in every event except the pole vault. One of the best is Don Schlesinger, who won the 100 yard dash in ten seconds and the 220 yard dash in 21.9 seconds. His times were excel­ lent in spite of the terrible wea­ ther conditions.

The Beavers swept all the points in the weight events, with Dennis Butka (155 feet), Carl Blum (212 foal), and Michael Lash (229 feet) capturing first places in the javel­ lin, discus, hammer, and shot­ put events respectively. Adelphi, missing top runner Jeff Simon, never recovered and the Beaver trackmen continued to pour it on. Lew Rosenberg moved down to the quarter-mile run because Bob Walsh was sick and won the event in 52.2 while Dennis Wild­ fogle finished third. Wildfogle had a busy day, finishing third in the 440 intermediate hurdles, first in the 880, and third in the 1500. If he won in the 880. (Continued on Page 4)

Gymnasts Seek Varsity Status; Five-Year-Old Fight Continues

By NOEL GOLDBASSER

The College's Gymnastics Club, which has been in ex­ istence since September of 1961, is seeking to gain full varsity status.

The club was started five years ago with the hope, augmented by faculty promises, of achieving varsity recognition. This has not yet become a reality, however, much to the dismay of the club's ten men and seven female mem­ bers.

"These kids have been work­ ing very hard, practicing every week," said coach Matthew Kleinman. "They have done well recently in performances before big crowds thanks to the hard work and dedication of our greatest talent against big teams like West Point. They deserve to be a team."

Members of the team, led by captain Donald Katen have met with opposition from the facul­ ty in their fight for recognition.

"I feel that the Athletic Depart­ ment is not giving the team its deserved support and recognition," Katen asserted. "It's high time a school of this size and caliber got around to realizing the importance of gymnastics in this country."

Professor Arthur H. DesGraY (Phys. Ed.), speaking for the College's athletic committees, and that the matter of varsity status is to be reviewed for a number of teams, each off, lacrosse, football, and gymnastics.

OBSERVATION POST SPORTS

Trackmen Beat Adelphi 114-39; Joe Friedman Wins Two Events

Roses For Audrey...

The game is tense. The College's Lacrosse team calls time out and slowly drifts into a huddle. Suddenly one player yells out—"Roses For Audrey."

The rest of the squad joins in — "Roses for Audrey! Roses For Audrey?" But don't worry, it's not that any of the men of the team has become too much for them. Or that they've flipped their collars. It's just that "Roses For Audrey" has become the battle- cry of the team this season.

Audrey is Coach George Barn's wife. Every time the lacrosse team wins, Coach Barns buys his wife a bouquet of roses. When the team found out about this practice, the motif followed quite naturally and rationally. The team plays Hartwick tomorrow at 2 PM in Lewi­ souk Stadium, and the players say that this game may be the key to a successful season. If they win tomorrow, they suspect Audrey may be getting lots of roses this year.
