Gallagher on Deferment Policy: Students May Withhold Marks

By MARJORIE LISS

The College will not re­ lease any information to the Selective Service unless spe­ cifically requested to do so by a student, President Buell G. Gallagher explained yester­ day. The President's clarification of classification. The draft board presently requires only certification of matriculation towards a degree. Gallagher has announced that students in the lower portion of their class will be soon informed.

The Selective Service form will soon have added a box for class standing and grades, Dr. Gallagher added.

Although the University of Mi­ chigan will release students' grades to the Selective Service, it will withhold a student's class rank and transcript if specifically requested to do so.

An Interimary Ernest Zimmerman, assistant to the vice president for Acade­ mic Affairs, stated Monday that the university is essentially an intermediary between the indi­ vidual student and his local draft board. He stressed that the un­ iversity merely responds to the wishes of the student and releases only the information that the student asks to have released.

Zimmerman added that a stu­ dent must suffer the consequen­ ces if he invokes his right to withholding information: the Selective Service constructs the with­ holding of information as a failure of the student to complete application for a 2-S reclassifi­ cation.

The role of the College in student-draft board relations fol­ lowed reports of the University of Michigan's refusal to release information without students' permission.

A student must realize, Dr. Gallagher warned, that if he does not request the College to release his insufficient information to the Selec­ tive Service, he will face re­

City Plants Trees
On Streets Here

With good weather and a little bit of luck, Covent Avenue will bloom like Coventry Gardens in the near future. London plane, a species of broad-leafy tree, are being planted around the College by the Parks Depart­ ment, using funds supplied by the City Council to beautify the City. The program was inaugu­ rated several years ago, but not until recently have workers be­ come digging holes to enable im­ planting.

Ray Gilman of the Parks Com­ mission said that trees must be planted in the early spring or late fall because temperatures of such shores or below freezing will kill them. He added that it is impossible to predict when the project will be completed.

Blaeser to Aid Ceylon University

Dean of Students Willard W. Blaeser was sent by the Asia Foundation to the University of Ceylon in Peradeniya last Thurs­ day to help improve student-faculty relations there.

Blaeser is conducting a one month study, lasting from February 17 to mid-March, of the relationship of students to facul­ ty and administration, and will prepare a written program, in­ cluding both short and long­ range recommendations for the improvement of these relation­ ships.

The problems encountered at the University of Ceylon, with an enrollment of 6,000 students, are similar to those found at large American universities.

Bookstore Head Denies Reprisals Against OP

The manager of the College Bookstore denied charges yesterday that he was planning to withhold advertisements from Observ­ ation Post because of a Feb. 9 editorial criticizing the Bookstore.

"I have not nor do I plan to discontinue advertising," Garretson added, "it will be be­ cause of a budget cut and not to affect all the College's newspa­ per.

The editorial criticized the Bookstore for operating as a busi­ ness rather than a student serv­ ice and for not acting in the best interests of the student body. On the day the editorial appeared, Student Council rejected a re­ port praising the Bookstore and passed an eight-point resolution criticizing many practices of the store.

Council also established a tem­ porary committee of Ed Cohen, Larry Yermack and Josh Mills to implement the resolution. The council criticized the Bookstore for:

○ Seeking to make a profit on non-essential items, rather than carrying all required and supple­ mental readings.

○ Maintaining an inflexible and over-serious refund policy.

○ Placing misleading adver­ tisements in the College newspa­ pers.

○ Accepting outside advertis­ ing in College notebooks. As a result, the Bookstore makes a 7% cent profit on each maga­ zine subscription by a student or instructor from such advertising.

Council also asked that Presi­ dent Gallagher review the Stu­ dent-Faculty Bookstore Commit­ tee at least once a year and that the faculty members of the Com­ mittee be appointed for short (Continued on Page 4)

Aptheker Tells Class Of Trip To Seek Vietnam Settlement

By NANCY GOULD

Dr. Herbert Aptheker, director of the American Institute for Free Higher Education, who is due to arrive in Vietnam in the next few days, told his Free Tuition Rally last week that he and his companion, Mr. Bertram Podell, would be seeking a "free education" settlement for the students of the University of Michigan.

Aptheker said that he would be seeking for the students of the University of Michigan a "free education" settlement, which would include the repeal of tuition fees and the withholding of admissions letters for those who choose to attend.

Dr. Aptheker, who is a well-­ known scholar and author, said that he was planning to take a trip to Vietnam in order to "see what is really going on.

Deputy Mayor Timothy Costo­ tolo, gubernatorial candidate Eugene Nickerson and Representa­ tive Theodore Kupferman (Rep., Man.) will be the key speakers at tomorrow's Tu­ tion Conference. The program, sponsored by Student Govern­ ment, will start at 10 AM in Butterweiser Lounge.

Gary Schmidt, a member of Student Council and organizer of the conference, outlined its purposes: It would "kick off the '66 Free Tuition Campaign," and would "air ideas" for SU's plan­ ned march on Albany to support a Free Tuition mandate.

President Buell G. Gallagher, who will deliver the keynote ad­ dress on "Values of Free High­ er Education," and Chancellor Albert H. Bowker, are among the other speakers.

A new club is being formed on campus that is expected to promote inter-departmental cooperation and further fellowship between students and faculty members in the Social Sciences. The Sociology-Anthropology club is an outgrowth of the dormant Sociology club, which is presently being revitalized and expanded by its president, Harvey Siegal, an Anthropology major, and Arnie Smith, a History major.

Professor Lawrence Casler (Psychology) will speak on "The Social Psychology of Nudism" at the first meeting of the club. The time and place will be announced early next week.

At present the membership of 15 are students of Sociology, Anthropology, History, Political Science and Psychology. Each member has been pledged the support of his department.

Coeds Bake Cookies For GI’s

by ELAINE SCHWAGER

Right down the fruit and nut cookies, sent by four College coeds to “our boys in Vietnam” should arrive in about three weeks. Donna Seiden, Jacquie Goldstein, Elayne Kent, and Susan Vogel, started setting four at 90 Downing St. Miss Seiden’s apartment in Greenwich Village, Tuesday afternoon.

After one hour they had produced 142 cookies, 46 of which never made it past the kitchen. The remaining ones were packed and addressed to “U.S. Army, Vietnam.”

Is cookie-baking running as a counter-stream to the recent fast protest a form of expounding pro-Vietnam opinions? It might be for Miss Seiden, who is tired of listening to the noises the boys back home! It is her (Continued on Page 7)

Confrontation?

Last week's confrontation between Colonel Arthur Alpert of the Selective Service and students at the College was a flaw in the system, and only to demonstrate the complete lack of communication between students and the government.

The colonel's condescending attitude was as irresponsible and uncalled for as the catcalls of several disorderly demonstrators. Instead of an explanation of criteria for drafting students or a discussion of possible alternatives to military service, Col. Alpert evaded all pointed questions, clung to recruiting poster slogans and presented several grossly stupid analogies.

On the other hand, several students obviously had no intention of hearing Col. Alpert, and did their best to disrupt the meeting. These students were members of the Independent Committee to End the War in Vietnam, which although it has not approved their antics, will certainly lose some respect.

It is incredible that a situation that necessitates the increase in draft cannot be explained in rational and understandable terms. It is incredible that a situation that necessitates the increase in draft cannot be explained in rational and understandable terms. It is incredible that the Selective Service holds students in such contempt that it cannot provide an articulate spokesman. The Selective Service, unable to escape in the mystique in which it has placed itself, represents an area of thinking at a divergence with official White House policy. General Louis B. Hershey's professed lack of concern for college educations is a contradiction of the role of higher education in President Johnson's Great Society.

The President should either replace Gen. Hershey or affirm Selective Service policies. Students about to lose their right to learn are at least entitled to a clear explanation of their status in the Great Society.

Last Regrets

Three of Student Council's most effective members have resigned in frustration over their inability to tolerate “cyn­icism, apathy, dishonesty and callous manipulation.” They claim that Council's “life-blood has become hatred and dis­trust.”

Observation Post regrets that Council has lost its ablest people. We hope it will be able to function constructively in the one or two months left before electioneering overrides interest in real issues.

Herlin, Sigall and Landis have chosen to resign rather than fight the climate they find abhorrent. It is unfortunate that they have chosen what seems the easiest way out. We regret any part we may have had in forcing their resignations.

Folk-Blues Group
To Play Tonight

The Blues Project, a Village folk group, will give a concert at the Grand Ballroom at 8:00 PM tonight.

The group of five, led by Danny Yermack, plays music ranging from hard Chicago Blues to modern folk and rock and ragas. The Blues Project, which also contains bass drums, a rhythm guitar and an electric mandolin, has released one record on the West Coast called “Violets of Pawn” with “Back Door Man” on the flip side. Danny Yank was an accompanist for Phil Ochs and Judy Collins, and will soon work with Joan Baez.

The group will have an LP rebroadcast during the week by Verve-Folkways, containing live recmakings made at the Cafe A Go Go and the Village. They plan to return to the Coast in April to participate in the San Francisco State Folk Festival.

Other members of the quintet are Al Kirsman from the University of Kansas who sings, and Andy Kulberg and Ray Blumenfeld. All have attended college as music majors, and are from 20 to 23 years old.

Admission is $1.00; tickets are available in Room 2160 and at the door. The concert is being presented by the Finley Center Concert Committee.

terms.

Dr. Gallagher and the Dean of Students have been asked by Students' government to take notice of Council's dissatisfaction.

The annual Bookstore mailing list will be distributed in a few weeks, Yermack said. Outside organizations will be allowed for the first time to insert circulars in the envelope. "By this innova­tion," Yermack charged, "a flood in the cloth."; of its pictures was well-fitted to actually be, a fold in the cloth."

Acadia's Head Provost, Dr. Eric S. Hansen, who ordered the calendar, commented, said it took all the time of its pictures was well-fitted to actually be, a fold in the cloth."

The controversial picture of an Acadia cheerleader shows what apppears to be a nipple under a transparent nightgown. The Acadia student newspaper, the Athenaeum, quotes the cheerleader as saying she was wearing clothing underwater.

"An enlarged reproduction shows the nipple," the Athenaeum says, "to actually be, a fold in the cloth."

"Girls! We NEED YOUR HELP!" was the cry flashing across the top of a full-page notice in the University of Michigan daily. "Reognition of intellectual development," the ad continued, "should not be dependent upon a grade-point. Give further, military deferment should not be determined by class standing. Despite the unquestionable validity of these assertions, male students in the lower half of their college classes may lose their rights."

"To overcome this unfortunate situation, we need your assistance. By sacrificing your academic averages, you will allow a greater pro­portion of males to enter the upper half of their class. This is not an attack on intellectualism. Study, learn, grow. We merely ask that you withhold your knowledge in exam situations. Don't FAIL US!"

For students who are cutting classes more, but enjoying it less, Fylleate lecture notes might be the thing to put the spark back into their lives. The notes, which are used at the University of California at Berkeley, among other places, are written outlines of individual class lectures. Fylleates are available for 146 courses at Berkeley and cost from $10 to $25 per semester depending on the number of lectures per week and whether the notes are for the current term.

The notes are taken by "carefully selected students," according to Thomas Winnett, owner of the campus note-taking service. Of the approximately 15 students that apply for a note-taking position, only about 10 or 15 are hired, he said.

Winnett spends up to two hours each scrutinizing each lecture, and then discusses it with the note-takers. "The note-takers, as they casually creep into the notes, because lecture-takers and note-takers are human," he lamented.

"Note-takers periodically miss a lecture about once in every five years," he added. "I live in constant dread of that happening."

The notes are used primarily by students at the extreme ends of the academic scale, according to Winnett. Poor students get by on the notes alone, while good students use them to supplement their classroom work, he said.

A former co-ed, with a remarkable physical constitution and a taste for variety, has created a crisis at the University of Chicago. The University Health Service has warned students that a co-ed, who had been hospitalized, having sexual relations with more than 200 male students there, has been hospitalized with a severe case of gonorrhea.

The 20-year-old girl reportedly stayed at fraternity houses and co-ed campus houses in the University area over a period of a month. The Health Service urged all men to see medical attention if they had had relations with her. Four students who lived in the roaming house where the girl last stayed have been treated for gonorrhea.

We resign. We are driven to this extreme by the events of the past six months. We resign because, Student Government has taken a direction we oppose (though it has, nor because of any lack of faith in the ability of students to govern themselves. We resign because we can no longer tolerate cynicism, apathy, dishonesty, the destruction of a constitutional system, or the callous manipulation of people by so-called "political leaders." We resign because we are too tired to continue in a game where we cannot trust the other players.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

We were branded "obstructionists" by certain Observer Post editorial. We could merely deny those charges, but why would anyone believe us? Instead, let our resignation serve as a test whereby the student body can determine for itself whether those of us so branded were indeed the obstructionists in Student Government this past year or whether we were among its most hardworking and concerned members.

We can claim, for example, full or partial credit for: the best Student-Faculty and Student-Administration relations in several years, the seating of student representatives on the Faculty Council and the Committee on Curriculum and Teaching, the Course and Teacher Evaluation Survey, the earliest and most economical budget ever submitted to the Student Council, and the Curriculum Revision Report.

All that we have ever seen from Carl Weitzman, on the other hand, is the most shoddily run free tuition campaign in three years and a great deal of shabby politicking. We deny, therefore, that Mr. Weitzman represents a majority of the Student Body. Although the Student Body has created year terms for officers, we feel that Mr. Weitzman has stretched this idea past the breaking point, i.e. he today really represents no one. Who, after all, voted for Mr. Weitzman in May of 1965, expecting to see him lose most of his own executive committee and Student Council before the end of the year.

Ask for Trust

We, therefore, call upon Mr. Weitzman to admit that he leads a rump student government, resign, and submit himself again to the voters' approval. We know, and he knows, that he would not receive it.

In conclusion, we ask those who support their trust in us to trust us still. We would prefer to continue to represent you on the Student Council, but our situation has become intolerable. We have no alternative but to withdraw from an organization whose lifeblood has become hate and distrust. We will not, by extended warfare, destroy the entire structure of student self-government on this campus.

Sincerely,

Mark Landis

AGREEMENT

To the Editor:

I have just read the letter drafted by Messrs. Berliner, Sigal, and Landis, and although I agreed with them, I have decided not to join them. In the short time I have served on Student Council, I have seen much which substantiates their attacks. I have also seen that most of what Student Government does is done off-Council, and for this reason I am asked to have far more faith in this U.W. for whom I worked. Mike, Herman, and Mark will continue their dedicated work and leadership.

Perhaps, because I have been on Council only a short time, I lack their total pessimism. Student Council is made up of many sincere and active people and they are a source of my hope. I am also engaged in several projects which can best be fulfilled with my membership on Council. For these reasons I do hope to maintain in joining them.

Let us see what the near future brings.

Optimistically yours,

Fred Hirsch

IN DEFENSE OF THE BOOKSTORE

To the Editor:

In the past you have written many ridiculous editorials, but your one entitled "The Bookstore" takes the prize. It merely shows your limited knowledge and lack of reasoning in affairs concerning the bookstore.

You charge "Perhaps the basic fault of the Bookstore is that it is run as a business..." Perhaps the basis of its success is because it is run as a business and not as a student service as the U.B.R. Office is. "Sweatshops..." It is unjust; I am quite sure that Barnes & Noble didn't crawl on a street anymore. You charge "the profits..." lower prices, even on books that are currently being used."

Bookstore Thievery

You charge "It views every student as potential criminal..." That's false and illegal reasoning. However, the Bookstore loses some $10,000 annually on stolen goods. If there was no check system before entering this figure probably would be higher, which would in turn cause higher prices on all items to recover such losses. You charge that it doesn't care 'enough' substantial readers. The problem here is M.O.N.E.Y. There is a large staff in the store, many of which [sic] are student aides [sic], and must be paid. Items such as scarves and sweatshirts are more profitable than are required or supplementary books. They do have all required reading and much supplemental material; your charge they're unjust; I am quite sure that if sweatshirts were not sold your students' complaints would certainly advocate the sale of items as scarfs, shirts, etc.

You charge "It places books on the wrong shelves..." If you don't understand their setup then ask one of the cashiers, that's why they are there.

You charge "It will never check only if they are within $10 of purchase." The Bookstore (where there are several in the neighborhood).

Elimination of U.B.R.

I would like to suggest that the Bookstore undertake to buy in and sell used books for immediate cash. Such action would eliminate the controversial U.B.R. and offer students immediate cash to buy their new term's books. Brooklyn College's Store has such a system where it buys books at 60% of list prices (approximately 85% of new prices) and sell them at 75%. Such a system or a comparable one would be great benefit to all the students.

Finally, the bookstore is non-profit and does its best to cooperate with the students. We should be proud of its fine quality and low prices.

Sincerely,

Max Sciar P.S. The only way to write this long letter is if I dare you to. So I dare you.

BOOKSTORE PRICES

To the Editor:

If you haven't noted the CCNY bookstore is non-profit they charge $35.5 for a textbook that Korvettes's charges $21.9 for, regular price, and Korvettes can make a profit on these books worth $10.00, and the managing of the CCNY bookstore, except he's never around. If you're a student.

I never was much good at mathematics, but isn't there something wrong somewhere.

Sincerely, David Y. Ral

SUPPORT

To any kid who'd like to go somewhere:

We’ll pay half your fare.

The idea’s not as crazy as it may seem. Anytime we take a jet up, there are almost always leftover seats. So it occurred to us that we might be able to fill a few of them, if we gave the young people a break on the fare, and a chance to see the country.

The American Youth Plan*

We call the idea the American Youth Plan, and what it means is this: American will pay half the jet coach fare for anybody 12 through 21. It’s that simple.

All you have to do is prove your age (a birth certificate or any other legal document will do) and buy a $3 identification card.

We date and stamp the card, and this entitles you to a half-fare ticket at any American Airlines counter.

The only catch is that you might have to wait before you get aboard; the fare is on a standby basis. “Standby” simply means that the passengers with reservations and the servicemen get on before you do.

Then the plane’s yours. The American Youth Plan is good year round except for a few days before and after the Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas rushes.

If you can’t think of any places you’d like to go offhand, you might see a travel agent for a few suggestions.

We can’t add anything else. Other than it’s a marvelous opportunity to just take off.

Complete this coupon—include your $3. (Do not send proof of age—it is not needed until you have your ID validated.)

In addition to your ID card, we’ll also send you a free copy of AA’s Go Go American with $50 worth of discount coupons.

UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITIES

Morch of the research performed at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory requires that we operate field stations all over the world. Even though we now have stations on every continent, except Antarctica, we are continuing to establish new ones in such places as Brazil, Greece, and Ethiopia. We feel that our preeminence in astroresearch is not only the result of our outstanding scientists, many of international repartes, but also from the staffing of our field stations with observers of mutual intelligence, enthusiasm and ingenuity. We like them to be of diverse disciplines — engineers, scientists, mathematicians, historians, English majors, and even some without degree — but all with a good basic understanding of science and technology.

We are recruiting for more of these observers to cope with expanding activities and to replace those who we have lost to promotions and graduate school. If you are interested, please contact us through your placement office or write to: Mr. Richard W. McCarthy.

opinion that the men in Vietnam want to stay there and continue to fight a war they think should be fought.

Miss Goldstein, who doesn’t support the war, just felt like baking cookies. Although their political reasons for cookie-baking differ, all four girls entered the project hoping to “change their image.”

Whether or not the cookies which reach Vietnam three weeks or three months hence are edible, tasteless, or whole, is apparently insignificant. Miss Goldstein claims to have sprayed the cookies with plastic of the transparent, neutral type. At least the thought behind the nits, if not the taste, will reach our troops in Vietnam.

ROMAN IN THE GLOAMIN’

Now as the end of the first semester draws near, one fact emerges clearly: you are all going to flunk out of school.

There are two things you can do about it. First, you can marry money. (If I don’t mean you marry the money itself; I mean you marry a person who has money. Weddings between people and currency have not been legal in the United States since the Smoot-Hawley Act. Personna® Stainless Steel Blades, on the other hand, are legal everywhere and are, indeed, used with great pleasure and satisfaction in all fifty states of the Union and Duluth. I bring up Personna Stainless Steel Blades because this column is sponsored by the makers of Personna Stainless Steel Blades, and they are inclined to get edgy if I omit to mention their product. Some of them get edgy and some get double-edged because Personna Blades come both in Injector style and Double Edge style.)

But I digress. I was saying you marry money but, of course, you will not because you are a high-minded, cosmopolitan American kid. Therefore, to keep from flunking, you must try the second method: you can learn how to take notes.

According to a recent survey, eleven out of ten American undergraduates do not know the proper way to take lecture notes. To illustrate this appalling statistic, let us suppose you are taking a course in history. Let us further suppose the lecturer is lecturing on the ruling houses of England.

Then you slop. You put aside your pen. You blink back a tear, for you cannot go on. Oh, yes, you know very well that the next ruling house is the House of Tudor. The trouble is you don’t know the Roman numeral that comes after III.

It may, incidentally, be of some comfort to learn that you are not the only people who don’t know Roman numerals. The fact is, the Romans never knew them either. Oh, I suppose they could tell you how much V is if they were like that, but when it came to real zingers like LXI or MMC, they just flung away their styluses and went downtown to have a bath or take in a circus or maybe stab Caesar a few times.

You may wonder why Rome stuck with these ridiculous numerals when the Arabes had such a nice, simple system. Well, sir, the fact is that Emperor Vespasian tried to use the Arabic numerals from Suleiman The Magnificent, but Suleiman wouldn’t do business—not even when Vespasian raised his bid to 100,000 gold piastres, plus he offered to throw in the Colosseum, the Appian Way, and Technicolor.

So Rome stuck with Roman numerals — to its sorrow, as it turned out. One day in the Forum, Cicero and Pliny got to arguing about how much in CDL times MVIX. Well, sir, pretty soon everyone in town came around to join the hambal. In all the excitement, nobody remembered to lock the north gate and — whom! before you could say "lopes"— in rushed the Goths, the Visigoths, and the Green Bay Packers! Well, sir, that’s the way the empire crumbles, and I digress. Let’s get back to lecture notes. Let’s also say a word about Burma Shave®. Why? Because Burma Shave is made by the makers of Personna Blades who, it will be recalled, are the sponsors of this column. They are also the sponsors of the ultimate in shaving luxury. First coat your kisser with Burma Shave, regular or mythal — or, if you are the devil-may-care sort, some of each. Then whiff off your stubble with an incredibly sharp, unbelievably durable Personna Blade (whether or not and doing this you have every day, every III hours, or every VII, you’ll always find Personna and Burma Shave a winning combination.

Cagers To Close Against Hartford; Two Stars Play Varsity Farewell

By Richard Simon

The University of Hartford Hawks come to Wingate Gymnasium tomorrow night seeking revenge. Last season's two-point loss to the Beavers in the Hawks' home court hurt since Hartford lodged its best won-lost mark last season.

The Hawks figure to have an easier evening of it this year as they have posted its best season since the 1950-51 campaign. Playing in their last game for the cagers will be starters Bob Kissman and Alan Zuckerman, sophomore, and center Bob Biederman. It will be a nostalgic goodbye to the seniors on the squad, especially since they have contributed so much to the team's fine season.

It's impossible to mention the Hawks without heaping praises upon Gary Palladino. As often happens in this case, the Lavender is assured of his favorite. He'll be going for his third consecutive Metropolitan Championships held at New York University. Last year with two members of the team unable to compete, the team did not fare very well and finished far behind N.Y.U. The winner of this year's meet will be determined by means of three matches.

The team captains Larry Levy and Al Frishman can be counted on to put up a good fight. Sophomores Richie Bascomb, Henry Eckstein, Jillero Borno, and Tom Lish will be there to add depth to the Beaver attack. The game will be played in Wingate Gym. The game is being sponsored by the Zeta Beta Tau Foundation for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation. Tickets for the game cost 50 cents. A dance for ticket holders will follow the game in the Grand Ballroom of Finley Center. A limited number of reserved seats are available for the game. Groups wishing blocks of seats may obtain information by calling 3-8172. Sale of general admission seats begins March 7...

Fresh from their overwhelming victory in the Municipal Swimming Championships the College's men are looking forward to making a respectable showing in the Metropolitan Swimming Championships held at New York University.
