The Regents To Push Reforms Despite BHE Protests

The Board of Regents will press for legislation implementing its plan to reorganize the City University administration regardless of Board of Higher Education protests, according to State Education Commissioner James Allen, Jr. The Regents are more interested in educational process than theWill or the CU Chancellor, Walter King, Special Assistant to Gov. Cuy, said yesterday. The Regents had proposed Sunday to strengthen the power of the Chancellor, Albert H. Bowker, over that of the BHE. The BHE rejected all but the most minor proposals Monday night.

"The Regents," Allen said, "feel strongly that the program outlined in their statement is essential to the well-being of the University, and they will press vigorously for its approval by the legislature."

The five-point Regents proposal is not negotiable, Allen said.

The BHE had sought to compromise with the Regents in rejecting some points, and accepting others.

King claimed that the Regents had no intention, in making the proposals, of forcing the University to charge tuition.

The BHE called such legislation "unwarranted and unwise" and urged its reconsideration.

Chancellor Bowker has threatened to resign again unless he is given greater authority.

After a second-half hour meeting Monday night, the Board adopted a resolution opposing the granting of greater power to Chancellor Bowker by legislative fiat. If any changes were to be made, the Board said that it — and not the state — should make them.

The Regents proposed giving greater power to Chancellor Bowker by changing the BHE to the Board of Trustees. They also proposed an end to appointments to the BHE on a borough basis.

A recommendation was also made by the Regents to make a mandatory retirement age of 70 for all BHE members. There are six members on the Board over that age who would be dismissed if the legislation is passed on July 1.

New Political Party To Offer Plans For University Reform

A new campus-wide political party which hopes to offer a permanent base for university reform will meet today to formulate its platform, select candidates for the March by-elections and choose a name.

The party would fill a vacuum left by the Common Sense Party, which is "dead," according to its former head, Paul Bierman.

The party's organizers — Lynda Lubas, Michael Markowitz and Barry Shaw — hope to capture the interest of activist students. Its members will be concerned with establishing an effective Student Government, a student-faculty voice in decision-making at the College, a meaningful community involvement with students seeking advice on how to help them through their college years, an opposition to the draft and its rejection, an emphasis on educational process, a work-study program for engineering students and for education or architectural students.

The meeting will be held in Room 209 Finley at 4 PM.

Candidates . . .

Observation Post will hold a candidates' class today in Room 356 Finley at 12:30 PM. All candidates and interested students are urged to attend.

Tuition March Scheduled For 22nd; Politicos To Join Lobbying Effort

Mobilization for the March 22 March on Albany for free higher education moved into high gear last night following a City University-wide meeting of student representatives.

The March, originally scheduled for the 16th, was moved up to the 22nd, although he has not asked them to excuse class absences.

The purpose of the organization is "to air and discuss public social issues, to arouse controversy, and to get people thinking," Professor Bierman stated. "We don't have a party line which we wish to impose on campus."

The first seminar, to be given in Room 209 Finley at 3 PM will deal with the "Role of the University in Modern Society." The topic will be introduced by Leo Hamilton (English), Professor Brayton Polka (History), and Professor Samuel Hendel (Political Science). The forum was deliberately arranged so as to include a representative from the humanities, social sciences, and the physical sciences. There will be an emphasis on discussion from the floor.

The second seminar is scheduled for March 25. Professor Abraham A. Peck (Economics) will discuss the "Moral Aspects of the Vietnam War and World Politics Today."

A Community Affair

Residents of the area around 145th Street have long been complaining of inadequacy and inefficient protection. Authority to gait police have increased their guard of stores on 145th Street, many people still complain of the rampant prostitution and numbers racket in the neighborhood.

It should be the concern of every student, and particularly of the administration of the College, to seek an end to crime in the neighborhood. The College, in view of its limited participation in community affairs, is fortunate that many residents still look to it for help.

We owe it to the people of this neighborhood to use the College's prestige to improve the area and make it safe for its residents and students. We urge President Gallagher to use his influence and intervene on behalf of the community.

Home Rule Now

The arrogant announcement by State Commissioner of Education James A. Allen, that the Board of Regents will seek to recreate the Board of Higher Education (BHE) in reforming the City University bodes evil for the CU's independence. The BHE, which is the policy-making unit of the CU, cannot be avoided simply because it disgrees with the Regents.

To seek legislation from the State Legislature invites several dangers:

- Albany has never been a trustworthy friend of the CU — the Legislature cannot be trusted to enact satisfactory reforms.
- Any reforms enacted by the state will only bring the CU closer to a merger with the State University — which means absolute power in the hands of a less-than-whole-hearted defender of Free Tuition.
- Better lines of communication and more clearly delegated responsibilities must be established between the Administrative Council and the BHE if the CU's reputation is to be maintained.

Thanks

Thanks to the hard work of the Finley Center Planning Board and Miss Kathleen Burke (Student Life), a very fine program of concerts, films and lectures has been arranged for this term. These various programs not only cover a wide range of genres, but also are scheduled so as to permit most students to attend at least one each week.

We think every student ought to be grateful for this fine example of work on behalf of the student body.

A Laboratory in the Lavatory
To House Costly Microscope

By ARTHUR VOLBERT
Girls wishing to use the College’s new $20,000 electron microscope may have a problem. The only entrance to the laboratory,
that will house it is through a
men’s room.
The laboratory, in the basement of Shepard Hall, is the only suitable room in which the microscope could be placed, according to Professor Martin Sacks (Biology). Space for research is extremely scarce. The College’s Office of Planning and Design, which has been asked to change the method of access to the laboratory, is presently conidering blocking a new door or erecting a partition to block the view.
The microscope will arrive about the first of April. At present there is only one woman
student specialising in electron microscopy, although other women professors, graduate students and honors students will also need to use the machine.
The electron microscope is a valuable and long overdue addition to the College’s research facilities, Prof. Sacks asserted. In the past, researchers who required
the use of such a microscope were forced to rent time in laboratories outside the College, he claimed.
The instrument was purchased used from another laboratory. A new machine of comparable quality would cost $40,000. “We’re blessed to land this machine,” Prof. Sacks added.
The room in Shepard meets all
the conditions which are needed to house the microscope, according to Prof. Sacks. It has a concrete floor to support the weight of the machine, is air-conditioned and is free of vibrations, he noted. “But the fact that the entrance is through a men’s room
is not particularly delightful.”

Bookstore...
until late in the term. “Incident-calls have never allowed to crowd
books,” Garretson said.
The prices the Bookstore
changes are all so much lower than anywhere else that its records are always on sale, according to Garretson.

Parriers Strive To Sink Middies And Navigate To Winning Season

By TED TVERG

The upcoming fencing match with the Midshipmen of Annapolis could easily turn out to be the most exciting of the season.

Both squads are "psyched up" for the meet, Navy because of last year's loss to the Beavers, and the parriers because a victory would mean a winning season. The 6-4 record would better the mark of last year's nationally ranked squad.

Both teams are ranked among the top ten in the nation and the final national ratings might be affected by the outcome of Saturday's match.

Last year's meet wasn't decided until the final bout. With the score tied at 13, Coach Lucia called on Steve Bernard to fence the last and deciding match. The bout went to a 4-4 tie, until Bernard won it for the Lavender.

The full team has gained considerably from the past year's added experience and has performed with the most consistency on the squad. Captain George Chernick and Al Darion, Ron Wiener and Steve Bernard have won 24 of their last 27 bouts, with both scoring triple wins in three of their last four meets.

The epee team contains two of the Beavers top parriers in Bob Chevalier and Al Darion. Ron Liston rounds out the epee squad which will be counted on to supply the lead in the meet as they have often provided in the past.

The saber squad, generally the weakest of the parriers, has been hurt by injuries and ineligibility. They have come on strong, however, in the last few meets. The added confidence they have gained will be instrumental in their showing in the Navy clash.

The upcoming fencing match with the Midshipmen of Annapolis could easily turn out to be the most exciting of the nation. Expecting a strong showing in these tournaments, the Lavender hopes for an improvement over last year's national ranking of sixth in the nation.

Nimrods...

The College's rifle team puts its 6-2 won-lost record on the line Saturday in a match with Columbia in the Lion's home range. The nimrods, who have a 7-0 record in league competition this season, and the Columbia match will be one of the toughest of the campaign.

Soccer...

The National Soccer Coaches Association of America has named its 1962 All New York State Area Soccer Team. Three of the College's hoosters were named to the squad. Receiving a position on the second team was Right Halfback Gioachhino Marino.

Gaining honorable mention in the selections were Co-Captains Walt Kopczuk and Cliff Soas. Ironman's thanks were expressed with the most consistency on the squad.
