Scheer... Robert Scheer, an outspoken critic of the war in Vietnam, will be sponsored by the Finley Plan Board. He will speak on "New Politics in America" at 7 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom. The talk will be sponsored by the Finley Planning Board.

A revised construction program — with both the Mott Hall Lawn and Sowell Park Lawns free of parking and temporary structures — will be discussed today at several open meetings with President Buel Gallagher.

Conversations in the Great Hall with the faculty at 12 Noon, day session students at 1 p.m. and evening session students at 10 p.m will consider the revised plans.

The faculty committee on enrollment and an "ad hoc" initiative group representing the Day and Evening Session student bodies have already reviewed the plans and offered suggestions, according to Dr. Gallagher. The original plans were drawn by the College's Planning and Design Committee, in consultation with the President and his cabinet.

The proposals "represent the nearest approach to consensus which differing preferences of many persons permit," Dr. Gallagher said. If they are received favorably, he explained, the first steps of implementation — making bids and contracts — will begin immediately.

The suggestions were called by the President after student Council demanded last Wednesday a convocation on expansion plans be held, that the draft referendum be binding on the College, and that a temporary committee be formed "to investigate alternative proposals for an institutionalized structure guaranteeing a representative voice in decision-making."
A banker today is a lot more than a money specialist who waits for the community to come to him. He's a well-rounded, imaginative individual who knows how to present a package of financial services to fill his client's needs. He's professionally involved with every kind of business, from government to space exploration to problems of emerging nations. And he can't be pigeonholed because versatility is one of the keys to his success.

He has job status and pride of profession. And his compensation and employee benefits are the envy of many.

His training is thorough and guided by experienced seniors who cushion the rough spots and put him on the high road when he's ready in his own mind and deed.

Before you make your big career decision, take a long look at banking. Ambition is the key, and the best way to check yourself out is to set up a give-and-take session with a Chase Manhattan Banker.

One more thing.

Modern banking is in. It asks for versatile, creative, imaginative men who want to range the community, the nation and the whole wide world.

Discuss the possibilities of a career in modern banking. A Chase Manhattan banker will be on campus soon. Your Placement Office will tell you when and where.
Police Arrest 87 At DuBois Party: Students Score Political Frame-Up

Eighty-seven students, arrested Saturday at a party sponsored by the College's chapter of the W. E. B. DuBois club, were released Sunday after all charges were dismissed.

Assistant District Attorney Robert McLaughlin reported dismissal of the charges to Criminal Court Judge Joseph Maruszewski.

The Interfraternity Council (IFC) admitted its first Negro sorority Friday night.

EIGHTY-SEVEN students, arrested Saturday at a party sponsored by the College's chapter of the W. E. B. DuBois club, were released Sunday after all charges were dismissed.

Assistant District Attorney Robert McLaughlin reported dismissal of the charges to Criminal Court Judge Joseph Maruszewski.

The Interfraternity Council (IFC) admitted its first Negro sorority Friday night.

Negro Sorority Admitted to IFC

The Interfraternity Council (IFC) admitted its first Negro sorority Friday night. Alpha Kappa Alpha, sister sorority to Omega Phi Phi, the first Negro fraternity to be admitted to IFC, was granted colony status. The national sisterhood must await approval from its headquarters before joining an Interfraternity council.

The sorority has 20 members, some of whom are not students at the College. Although the present membership is exclusively Negro, there is no racial exclusion in Alpha Kappa Alpha's charter.

The IFC constitution was amended to read, "No fraternity or sorority shall be denied colony status on the basis of race, creed or religion." No mention had previously been made of race.

The grade point average of those who overcut was lower than that of those who did not.

The faculty voted recently to extend the program for at least another two years.

Besides having unlimited cuts, there are examinations to prevent graduating seniors from final exams.

Some classes are cut more often than are others, the report showed.

"Science and math classes are cut with less frequency than are social science classes," said Frankfort.

At present Yale, Johns Hopkins and Columbia Universities have programs involving unlimited cuts.

At a press conference Monday, club president Mark Brody stated that the students were "victims of a politically and racially motivated frame-up.

Several students filed complaints with the Civilian Review Board Monday, and at least one suit for false arrest was instituted by defense attorney Moe Tandler.

Tandler characterized the case as a "classic example of false arrest and false imprisonment." He advised filing false arrest and defamation of character suits. "The police acted without any power whatsoever," he added.

According to several club members, police forced their entry into the apartment. "They gave no identification other than verbally," a student asserted. "Who knew? They might have been Monuments.

The students claimed the arrest because of insufficient evidence.

At a press conference Monday, club president Mark Brody stated that the students were "victims of a politically and racially motivated frame-up.

Several students filed complaints with the Civilian Review Board Monday, and at least one suit for false arrest was instituted by defense attorney Moe Tandler.

Tandler characterized the case as a "classic example of false arrest and false imprisonment." He advised filing false arrest and defamation of character suits. "The police acted without any power whatsoever," he added.

According to several club members, police forced their entry into the apartment. "They gave no identification other than verbally," a student asserted. "Who knew? They might have been Monuments.

The students claimed the arrest because of insufficient evidence.

At a press conference Monday, club president Mark Brody stated that the students were "victims of a politically and racially motivated frame-up.

Several students filed complaints with the Civilian Review Board Monday, and at least one suit for false arrest was instituted by defense attorney Moe Tandler.

Tandler characterized the case as a "classic example of false arrest and false imprisonment." He advised filing false arrest and defamation of character suits. "The police acted without any power whatsoever," he added.

According to several club members, police forced their entry into the apartment. "They gave no identification other than verbally," a student asserted. "Who knew? They might have been Monuments.

The students claimed the arrest because of insufficient evidence.

At a press conference Monday, club president Mark Brody stated that the students were "victims of a politically and racially motivated frame-up.

Several students filed complaints with the Civilian Review Board Monday, and at least one suit for false arrest was instituted by defense attorney Moe Tandler.

Tandler characterized the case as a "classic example of false arrest and false imprisonment." He advised filing false arrest and defamation of character suits. "The police acted without any power whatsoever," he added.

According to several club members, police forced their entry into the apartment. "They gave no identification other than verbally," a student asserted. "Who knew? They might have been Monuments.

The students claimed the arrest because of insufficient evidence.

At a press conference Monday, club president Mark Brody stated that the students were "victims of a politically and racially motivated frame-up.

Several students filed complaints with the Civilian Review Board Monday, and at least one suit for false arrest was instituted by defense attorney Moe Tandler.

Tandler characterized the case as a "classic example of false arrest and false imprisonment." He advised filing false arrest and defamation of character suits. "The police acted without any power whatsoever," he added.

According to several club members, police forced their entry into the apartment. "They gave no identification other than verbally," a student asserted. "Who knew? They might have been Monuments.

The students claimed the arrest because of insufficient evidence.
One Last Chance

It is most unfortunate that President Gallagher, a man dedicated to the peaceful approach to common problems, can be provoked into meaningful discussion only by student protests. Despite his assertions that he will engage willingly in conversation with any students having grievances, it is only after he has been faced with an act of protest that he makes a conciliatory statement. The faculty-administration body, instead of being free from the constraints of the academic calendar, is itself subject to the same periodic disruption and pressure from student demonstrations as are the students. Thus, the sit-in tomorrow is practically of Dr. Gallagher's making. Whether or not its aims are justified, students have been led to believe that only such protests gain results. We are forced — by the facts — to recognize something terrible: the "meaningful conferences" on this campus accomplish nothing, and only through sit-ins can the student body hope to make progress.

This is hardly conducive to a good education, and every attempt to correct this situation must be made by all parties involved. Both parties involved directly in the sit-in, the Administration and the student body, must face reality — that the system is meaningless unless a permanent system of negotiation is set up. Neither side can win, unless both sides compromise.

Major concessions are requisite for both parties. Student majorities must overtake the Administration into changing policy; the Administration must not think they can ignore student protests on legitimate issues.

The best solution — both to the immediate problem of the draft and the long range question of decision-making is the formation of a student-faculty-administration body to negotiate all problems. The committee to be elected next week forms a fine vehicle for this arbitration. The first step toward conciliation must come from Dr. Gallagher, who must demonstrate that he will enter discussions to negotiate openly with problems. The President has it in his power to end this conflict, to terminate the struggle of power groups and to cast aside the cloak of deceit that has shrouded campus affairs. To accredit this committee would not compromise his position in the eyes of the white student body; it would win back the confidence of a large majority of students.

We look forward to the confrontation tomorrow with hope, for if reason and dedication to education are evident on both sides, steps may be taken immediately to form a united front against the problems at the College. Reluctance by either party, however, could put an end to meaningful dialogue on this campus.

Faculty Council Approves Committee Enlargement

(Continued from Page 1) Student Council will meet tonight to consider the determination of the students on the Committee of the student body is expected to make the following recommendations: First, the College's Tutorial Development Program has been labeled "a program for minority enrollment" in the form of an "overall federal aid, state aid and college aid" system is needed to solve housing, education and job problems. The committee also criticized the program for aggravating the racial problems at the College and for emphasizing the "Free Speech Movement" and the way "they'll cop out," he said, "they don't want to lose that illusion. Those students should have taken over the school like they do in Latin America."

The cover of the current issue shows "one of New York's finest" reading a comic book white on duty at a Junior High School at 1400 Street and Lenox Ave., N.Y.C.

About the white liberals and the civil rights 'leaders,' Watts said, "The good Dr. King made the white people feel guilty enough to say it." He said the white man has been playing games. "Instead of taking pot, they could now march up and down the street clapping hands," he charged, "and the issues are too serious for this to remain a game."

Watts returned to the white middle class student at the College: "If you have any social conscience then you must have a hang up," because you know that the white "English is responsible for oppression around the world (is also responsible) for repression of people of color." That's why they'll cop out," he said, "they don't want to lose that illusion. Those students should have taken over the school like they do in Latin America."

In referring to white liberals, Watts mentioned his experiences at Columbia. ("I've always been wary of the intensity of white liberalism," he had said before). "Instead of treating me as a student, the white liberal teacher was more "making excuses for me," he asserted, asking "Why didn't the white man treat the black people as people, with human frailties?"

"Like who is the voice of the Afro-American," the marshall stated, "a forum of Black thought." Questioned about the term "Afro-American," Watts explained that one of the principal purposes of Liberator is to "pull together" the Black people. In order to do this Watts believes a heritage has to be developed, "A people must know where they are in order to pull together."

Watts criticized the Liberator for "renouncing ties with Afro-American," the masthead of the newspaper. "That's why the Free Speech Movement died," he said, for students at Berkeley had protected this school, and they "try to close that school in the morning in their hothouse." Those people are going to do it," he said, "they don't want to lose that illusion. Those students should have taken over the school like they do in Latin America."
by Nancy Linde

A new literary magazine at the College, The Quest, is attempting to provide "an outlet for writings that might be considered outdated or even irrelevant by a large segment of the intellectual community."

Previously, Alexis Levitan and Barbara Christian, two instructors in the College's pre-baccalaureate program, explain, the magazine they founded to protest of talent and crowd it into one room. It leads to situations where "four people each have one draw in a desk," Dr. Gallagher said. "Until we can have decent amenities, we cannot expect the faculty to contribute fully to the maintenance of academic standards," he concluded.

Conditions are considerably better in the three-year-old Edwin man engineering building, according to Professor Alice Schmidt (Chem., Chemical Engineering). "Every full-time staff member has his own office" of about 140 square feet, he said. "We're in the same position the others will be when they get the new buildings," he predicted, "I've been able to acquire all the high-level talent that I want. We have the space, the offices, and have the reputation as a strong department."

"It's been dreadful" in other departments, Prof. Schmidt said. "Thank God we've been spared that."

Space Increase

Board of Higher Education figures contained in the 1966 "interim revision" of the 1964 Master Plan for the expansion of the City College campus specifies an increase of 3.5 square feet per faculty member over the square footage available last year.

The faculty-phone ratio, the report indicates, has fallen from 7.2 teachers per extension, to 5.5.

A ratio of 30 professors to each secretary has remained constant since last year, the report indicates, although the Master Plan's 1960 goal in a ratio of 5 to 1.

Prospective teachers "come to the college, look around at the crowded offices, the lack of telephones, and secretaries, and if they're any good," Professor Arthur Bierman (Physics) said, "they go somewhere else."

The Quest publishes non-fiction articles and teaching ideas as well as poetry and fiction. Contributors are established writers, like Columbia students and young writers just beginning their published careers.

Columbia Senior Mocks Elections

By Christy Newman

Howard Copeland, running against governor, lost overwhelmingly yesterday.

The 22-year-old "anti-candidate," a senior at Columbia Univer-ity, ran "to satirize and focus attention on the innocuous character of the gubernatorial contest and to provide alternatives to those who do not want the responsibility of electing one of the serious candidates."

His running mates were Jaffray Cuyler, another Columbia student, as Lieutenant Governor, and Luigi Gallina of New York University for Attorney General.

Copeland charged that Governor Rockefeller "has out-served his uselessness" and that the other candidates are "half the man his mother was.

Compared himself to the City Councilor, and claimed he was "as bland and insipid as O'Connor." The Conservatives, he said, "would be neo-Adam and return New York to the cave-age."

Copeland commented on his loss by restating his position — "I am mediocre, but no more mediocre than the other gubernatorial candidates."

THE ECONOMICS SOCIETY

Presents its STUDENT-FACULTY
FALL DINNER AND BEER PARTY
On Friday, Nov. 18 at 7:30 PM at the
INTERNATIONAL HOUSE
500 RIVERSIDE DRIVE
Singles $2.00 Couples $4.00
Tickets available in Wagner 107, Thursday Nov. 10 at 12 Noon.

The Brothers of
TAU EPSILON PHI
Extend their Best Wishes to AL and RONNIE on their engagement and to
FRANK and BARBARA on their pinning.

EDWARD ALBEE'S BEST PLAY
A DELICATE BALANCE

MARTIN BECK THEA, 30 W. 45th St., N.Y. 246-6363

DIK'S STUBBLE MAKES HIM LOOK SO BEATNIK — UGH!

GIVE HIM ME! I'LL MAKE-HIM A BEATNIK. QUICK! SLICK! AND NOT A NICK!

The Norelco 'Flip-Top' Speedshaver® 50 — ZOWIE! This beard bot­ther shaves close, yet comfortable. Famous safety blades kiss whiskers good-bye. Never a nick, cut or scrape. Shaving is a sheer delight and flip­top cleaning. Flip, Press, Double ZOWIE!!! Less than a cashmere sweater!

Eyes right for extra speed. The new Norelco Triple Blade Speedshaver® 35T finishes shaving nearly 40% faster than ever before. And so close we dare to match shaves with a blade. With Microgroom floating heads and pop-up trimmer.

Norelco® the fast, clean, comfortable electric shaver

THE OBSERVATION POST

Boosters... (Continued from Page 8)

The Beavers played their finest game Saturday. They huffed and puffed and blew down Aleph, 4-0. Whenever they scored they leaped into the air and hugged one another. It didn't cover the evident loneliness. Soccer is a sport for extroverts and the bigger the crowd the better they play.

Beaver players have long ago learned that they play for themselves and few others and all their joys and sorrows are turned inward. The few that come cannot really share the emotion for no eyes turn to the stands. A player does not want to be confronted with the bleakness of empty concrete steps. He may ask himself why he plays, why he spends twenty or more hours practicing. He hears the name of Adolph Lewishan's legacy to the College silently and pretends he plays for the school.

The 28 people in the stands stomped and clattered more and more as the day wore on, mainly because it was getting colder. The corrugated tin cover over the stage area frowned its disapproval of the goings-on. The concrete columns of the stadium stood at attention in silent tribute to the 20 hardy men-boys who chased a leather pellet in the frigid air.

The temperature followed the waning sunlight. Mr. J. Lichtinger at the Jacob H. Schiff Center, 2510 Valentine Ave., Bronx Tel. CL 2-5318.

Come On Down!
THE ONYX SOCIETY
Invites All to a General Membership Meeting
Thursday, Nov. 10, 1966
6:30 PM — Room 217 Finley.
This Means YOU!

THE CONQUER CAESAR CONTEST
WITH THIS COOL TOOL!

Cliffs Notes can be confusing, befuddling and failing to understand classic literature and all of Shakespeare's plays. The Cliffs Notes give you a complete synopsis and summary of every play — in language you can understand. Don't worry about your literature course. Cliffs Notes help you understand Shakespeare! 125 TITLES covering frequently assigned plays and novels.

If you understand nothing in this list

JULIUS CAESAR
MARCUS

Page 7

The first whistle echoed off the peeling paint, left over from last summer's concerts. The shivering Beaver players puffed out the Lewishan dog as they hurried through the half-hearted cheer. The frozen spectators sighed in relief and headed for warmer climates.

A dust cloud whirped up and chased the gatekeeper to his tractor. He mounted slowly and drove to the far end of the stadium to unhook the nets.

Mermen... (Continued from Page 8)

With the removal of traditional powerhouse Queens from the team's schedule, the Mermen hope to fair better than last season's 4-5 record in dual meets.

However, the competition still remains tough, with the rugged contests against Queens, Fordham, and Adelphi. The Mermen realize the meet with St. John's can be considered an important one — St. John's has one of the strongest teams in the East.

The traditional rival is Queens; unfortunately, the first meet of the season against this fellow CU school. So the Beavers will have to start the season Nov. 30 in peak condition.

They will meet Queens twice more — in the Metropolitan Championships, and in the CU championships, which the College took last season, marking the first time Queen has lost this contest in the last six years.

In its entirety, the swimming team looks good. It hasn't lost much talent through graduation — most of the varsity returns with faster times and a greater depth. Much talent through graduation — the biggest loss is the ColleJge silently and pretends he plays for the school.

The temperature followed the waning sunlight. Mr. J. Lichtinger at the Jacob H. Schiff Center, 2510 Valentine Ave., Bronx Tel. CL 2-5318.

Come On Down!
THE ONYX SOCIETY
Invites All to a General Membership Meeting
Thursday, Nov. 10, 1966
6:30 PM — Room 217 Finley.
This Means YOU!

THE CONQUER CAESAR CONTEST
WITH THIS COOL TOOL!

Cliffs Notes can be confusing, befuddling and failing to understand classic literature and all of Shakespeare's plays. The Cliffs Notes give you a complete synopsis and summary of every play — in language you can understand. Don't worry about your literature course. Cliffs Notes help you understand Shakespeare! 125 TITLES covering frequently assigned plays and novels.

If you understand nothing in this list

JULIUS CAESAR
MARCUS
O'CONNELL SETS MARK; HARRIERS BOW

By ARTHUR PINCUS

Jim O'Connell, winning his eighth straight race of the year, broke the College's five-mile mark Saturday as the Harriers bawed to Manhattan and Temple, 20-43.

O'Connell, with a time of 1:25, set a 10K division record for the Van Cortland Park course.

The Beavers' double defeat wasn't unexpected, since three top runners — Abe Ausa, Jack Ballech and Bob Lane — were out with injuries. O'Connell and Bernie Samet competed despite back injuries.

Andy Ferrara's 22:29 was the only other Lavendar time under 20 minutes.

Manhattan and Temple both have fine teams, so injuries were only part of the reason for the team's poor showing.

Manhattan's George Sheehan, James Corry and Brian Kivlan were to be very strong this morning, as the Jaguars garnered places 3-7 in a fine display of team running.

Temple showed a very fine runner in Bill Mahoney, who produced a 251 in his final time as top man. The Owls didn't have Manhattan's depth, but were strong enough to defeat the Beavers.

Saturday's Collegiate Track Conference championships may put out better than this past meet. Lane, Ausa and Ballech may be back by that time. The Beavers, with O'Connell and the improved Farris, could be the strongest team entered in the competition.

O'Connell said he needed cool weather to do his best. He gets Saturday, along with a strong challenge from Temple's Mike and he responded with his outstanding performance.

Saturday's meet might not last anybody in Jim's class, but even he will be out there doing his best to break the record in the 10000 minute mark if possible.

Jim O'Connell
5 Miles in 25:12

Once again the freshwater was outclassed in their meet as Temple was able to post a 25-10 victory. The Owls had no names anywhere near this, with Peter Hussein finishing as top man with an 18:12 time.

It doesn't look like the Irishmen will produce anybody to replace seniors O'Connell and Asla.

Letters... Observation Post attempts to print all letters it receives. Letters must be addressed "To the Editor," signed and typewritten. Only letters exceeding 200 words may be shortened.

Most of the team is composed of seniors, but there are also bright spots among the juniors. Richie Bautista set the College record in the 100 and 200-yard breaststroke events as a sophomore, and he has two more years of swimming before him.

Henry Eckstein, another junior, excelled as a Butterfly. Considered second strongest on the team to Levy, Eckstein has cut his time from last year, and is continuing to improve.

Joel Stem, another junior, will give the team depth in the backstroke event, in which he set a school record last year. Of his semi-acrobatic ways, Tom Rath is expected to lend support to Stem in this department.

Most of the rest of the team has one or two years' experience. The swimming, as always, will be a team affair.

The one serious gap on the team is the diving event. The team has no top rate diver, and this year will be an even bigger void.

(Continued on Page 7)