In Honor of the French.

JULES JUSSERAND, ambassador from France, Dr. Henry Van Dyke and M. Frederic Coudert will be the guests of honor at the exercises to be held in the Great Hall at 3 P. M. to-day. A large assemblage of prominent Frenchmen, and many of our own alumni, will gather together with the faculty and students in observance of "French Day." The ambassador will be welcomed in an address delivered by Professor Downer, and on behalf of the student body, by a member of the Senior Class. To show the work that the college is doing in the French language and literature, there are to be several student declamations. Claretie's Le Drapeau Enterre will be given by Ephraim Cross, '13. A scene from Corneille's Horace will be presented by Abraham Kardiner, '12 as Horace and Solomon E. Perlman, '12 as Curiace both dressed as Roman soldiers. Another costumed dialogue will be rendered by M. Fabis, '12 as Scapin and Samuel Monash as Geronte in Moliere's famous comedy, Les Fourberies de Scapin. The college orchestra will play Gounod's Overture to Mireille. The exercises will be concluded with addresses by M. Coudert, Dr. Van Dyke and M. Jusserand.

Preceding the gathering in the Great Hall, a special reception to the ambassador will be tendered by the French Department in Room 105, at 2 P. M. Professor Downer will deliver an address of welcome in French. Abraham Schamus, '13 will recite Victor Hugo's A Qui la Faute and then will follow a debate in French between two seniors and two juniors. Jacob Greenberg, '10 and H. A. Harrison, '10 will struggle with Harold J. Budner,

Harrison, '10 will struggle with Harold J. Budner,

'11 and Stephen K. Rapp, '11 over the question Laquelle des deux langues, l'anglais ou le francais a des chances de devenir la langue auxiliaire universelle. Ambassador Jusserand will then deliver an address to the teachers of the French Department.

This evening, the ambassador will be the guest of honor at a banquet given by President Finley.

This afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock, Professor Baldwin will give a recital of modern French works, in honor of the visit of Ambassador M. Jules Jusserand of France. Among the principal numbers of the program will be Sonata No. 1 in D minor by Alex. Guilmant, Choral No. 1 by Cesar Franck, Rhapsodie on Breton Melodies, No. 1 by Camille Saint-Saens, and there are also included compositions of Rousseau, Debussy, Salome, and Widor.

Junior Prom.

The year's social function of the Junior Class will be held in the Gymnasium this Saturday evening. A committee has labored for some time in its effort to make the Prom a success. It is the duty of all students and particularly of those of 1911 to attend the affair.

Dr. Woolston to Lead Study Groups.

Dr. Woolston, of the Political Science Department, will meet the men interested in the social problems of the city's industrial classes and will talk over with them the formation of a discussion group next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Alcove 7. This group will meet weekly at three on Thursdays and will be informal, giving the men a chance to ask questions and discuss points of interest. A small reference library will be established for their use, and Dr. Woolston will suggest readings from week to week.

Though extremely busy with his regular class room and other work, Dr. Woolston has very kindly consented to assist in this way those interested in industrial topics. Students who wish to start in next week are requested to leave their names with Mr. Johnstone in Alcove 7.

The College Dramatic Society, which is composed mainly of representatives elected from all the college classes, met last Friday afternoon, and elected the following officers:—President, W. C. Allen; Secretary, A. Feldman; Advertising Manager, S. L. Samuels; Property Man, A. Cohen. The voting for business manager resulted in a tie, the nominees for this office being J. Goldstein and E. Kost. A second ballot to decide this contest will be taken at a meeting next Wednesday at 1 P. M. The active work of bringing out a performance will commence at once.

The members of the Sophomore Class have shown a real unselfish spirit in their attitude towards the proposed college play. By a large majority, the men of 1912 voted to abandon their plans of getting out a Soph Show, so that the all-class performance may have greater success. The college appreciates the sacrifice that the Sophomores are making and applauds them for it.

A Week of Many Lectures.

Three very interesting lectures were delivered at the college last week for the benefit of the students. Mr. Loeser spoke last Wednesday about coal mines and miners, and brought home to his listeners the existing conditions by a complete collection of lantern slides. Mr. Maxim, the inventor, spoke in the Chemistry Building last Friday, and charmed his large audience with a number of astounding facts and several thrilling experiments:

On the same afternoon, Mr. Philip Bristow, Ex-Sec. of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, opened the series of lectures inaugurated by the Student Council. He explained conditions in the Civil Service and described the splendid opportunities open to a hard working young man with practical as well as theoretical knowledge. Professor Clark has arranged to have announcements of all civil service examinations posted on the bulletin boards.

EVENING SESSION.

The First Freshman Class.

By PROF. STEPHEN P. DUGGAN

Director of the Evening Sessions

Another experiment in democracy was undertaken at the College when the Evening Session began its career on October 4, 1909. The opportunity was then given to the adults of the city to secure the same education which the College offers by day to the youth of the city. The experiment began under auspicious circumstances. 201 students commenced their college career under the direction of fourteen instructors. Few American colleges have a Freshmen Class numbering 200, none, I feel confident, has a Freshman Class composed of such earnest and serious men. Despite the fact that they must earn their living by day, they give a most ready response to the efforts of their instructors at night. The Evening Session is open six nights per week, and each period is sixty minutes in duration. The standard of work of the Day Session is maintained throughout. It is interesting to note that some of the strongest classes are in the hardest subjects, such as Mathematics and Psychology, whereas Economics and History, in which some expected there would be a very large enrollment, have the smallest groups.

The students of the Evening Session are as enthusiastic about their college as are the students of the Day Session. They have formed their Student Council and have already undertaken some of the activities that are usually associated with college life. It is already apparent that the college authorities did not make any mistake in establishing the Evening Session.

The President's Reception.

To-morrow evening President and Mrs. Finley will tender a reception to the students of the evening college, in the General Webb Room. There will be speeches, and music. Mr. Pally and Mr. Stodola will play on the violin and the piano.

The Student Council.

Social activity among the men of the evening sessions centers about their Student Council, which is a very active organization in spite of its youth. The following officers have been elected:—President, Mr. Edward Potter; Vice-President, Mr. Mooney; Secretary, Mr. Moore; and Treasurer, Mr. Bonnick. It has been decided to hold a smoker shortly after Thanksgiving Day and a dance during the Christmas holidays. A debate with the students of the day college is also contemplated.

What '09 Men Are Doing.

Of the 131 graduates of the Class of 1909, forty-eight are engaged in professional study—an unusually large number as compared with former classes. Of these, thirteen are studying law; eleven, engineering of various kinds; seven, forestry at Yale; six, medicine; three, music; three, theology and one, architecture. Twenty-five '09 men have gone into business and the remaining fifty-eight are teaching.

THE CAMPUS offers a commission of 20 per cent. on all advertisements secured by students in the evening sessions. Write for advertising rates and contract blanks.

ATHLETICS.

Swimming Meet.

The second inter-class swimming meet, this one a handicap, was a more pronounced success than its predecessor. The Freshmen swam away with it taking 11 points. The Sophomores followed with 4 points, and the Juniors took 3. The score to date now stands: 1913-19; 1911-11; 1912-6; and 1910-0. The summaries follow:

25 yard swim: first heat: Won by Haus, '13 (5 seconds); second, Shipley, '12 (3 seconds.) Time, 11:4-5 seconds.

25 yard swim: second heat: Won by Turk, '12 (3 seconds); second, Edmonds, '13 (scratch.) Time: 12:4-5 seconds.

50 yard swim: first heat: Won by Grant, '13 (6 seconds); second, Stern '11 (scratch.) Time, 30 seconds.

50 yard swim: second heat: Won by Turk, '12 (3 seconds); second, Edmonds, '13. (1 second.) Time, 33 seconds.

25 yard swim: finals: Won by Haus, '13 (5 seconds); second, Shipley, '12 (3 seconds); third, Turk, '12 (3 seconds.) Time, 11 seconds.

50 yard-swim: finals: Won by Grant, '13 (6 seconds); second, Stern, '11 (scratch); Edmonds, '13, (1 second.) Time, 30 seconds.

Cross-Country.

The point trophy banner offered by the A. A. for the track department is one step nearer its award, now that the annual cross-country run is over. Last Friday, at a quarter of four, "Mac" started the men off, twenty-two in number. Seventeen finished the six-mile course, seven places counting for points towards the banner. The first ten men to reach the end were:—Reichard, '12, who made the time of 32 minutes; Joe Dolan, '12, second; Frankel, '12, third; Tom Dolan, '12, fourth (it was a neck-to-neck contest between Tom and Frankel till the last hundred yards, when Frankel sprinted); T. Lindholm, '12, fifth; G. Sieburn, '13, sixth; Cowdy, '10, seventh; M. Trupin, '10, eighth; S. Frank, '12, ninth; Mueser, '11, tenth.

Of these men, Reichard will be awarded a silver medal for first place; the six men following are to be awarded bronze medals, with the exception of Lindholm, '12, who, being the first novice to finish, will also receive a silver medal. The point score is as follows:—1912, 15; 1910, $\frac{1}{2}$; 1913, $\frac{1}{2}$; 1911, 0.

It was a case of "thirteen" for the Freshmen on Thursday in their football contest against the Sophs. With the ball in their possession on the Sophomores' two yard line, they were held thrice for successive downs, and the ball fell into the hands of the twelve eleven who kept it till the half was over. Previous to this, in the first two minutes of play, Feigis had made, in rapid-fire succession, two twenty yard runs, after which Mueller was pushed over the line for the first touch-down.

The Freshies seemed to have things their own way again in the second half. But again the sphere "would not down" just where the thirteenites would have it. The silver moon shone on one successful forward pass after another, all made for '13.

Nagelson made a lively end run, and Freshman Siegel showed how a line should be broken. And yet, Ettinger, with strategic play, draws after him the entire opposing team while Mueller runs with the ball. And yet, with splendid interference by Tannenbaum, Mueller runs the ball to the two yard line and Feigis toe-touches an inch beyond the goal line.

Final score:—1912, 10; 1913, 0. Touch-downs: Mueller, Feigis. Referee: Winderman, Columbia.

Fancy Diving.

The third of the inter-class swimming meets will take place on Wednesday, December 1st, at 1 o'clock. The events are to be a two lengths' scratch swim, the distance plunge and the fancy diving contest. All devotees of Miss Kellerman should hasten to file their entries, especially for the aquatic contortions.

Our Evening Brethren.

To-day's issue of the CAMPUS marks the inauguration, in our publication, of a separate department devoted to the Evening Session. We trust that, as a newspaper of the evening students as well as of the day students, our periodical will serve to establish strong bonds of friendship and common interest between the two divisions of the College.

February Commencement Exercises.

It was decided by the faculty last week to hold separate graduation exercises for the Class of February, 1910 next year. To the men of the February class, the announcement is gratifying. Their position in the collegiate world has been undefined and nondescript throughout, their career wavering between that of the classes preceding and following them. The action of the authorities establishes the autonomy of February classes. Upper seniors will remember this in their observance of Thanksgiving Day.

A Music Course With Credits.

The Faculty has adopted a resolution recommending to the Board of Trustees that a course in "The History and Appreciation of Music" be included among the Senior year electives. The course may be taken during either term of the Senior year. Two hours a week will be devoted to it, and a feature of the study will be outside text-book work. Successful completion of the course will entitle the student to two credits which will go towards the number necessary for graduation. Hopes are entertained of offering the subject this coming February.

Regents Examination for T. H. H.

The regular college entrance examination, prescribed by the State Board of Regents, will be substituted for the local examination taken by prospective T. H. H. graduates, if a recommendation of the faculty made this week, is enacted by the Board of Trustees. The total amount of study at T. H. H. measured in regent's counts is equal to the work done in the high schools, although there is a difference in the subjects taught. Subjecting Upper A students to the regular regents' examination would emphasize the parity between the entrance requirements of this and other colleges.

Richard Watson Gilder.

In the death of Richard Watson Gilder, the poet, author, and editor of the Century Magazine, the College lost, last Thursday, a true and steadfast friend. His interest in our Alma Mater was warm and continued, as shown by the poem, "In Times of Peace," which Mr. Gilder wrote for our 1908 commencement. We trust that this poem, which we print in supplement form, will serve to perpetuate his memory in the hearts of all of us. To those most near to him, and to our President whose warm personal friend he was, we offer our sincere condolences.

NOTES.

Last Tuesday evening a week ago, the City College chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity held a very interesting meeting. Mr. R. R. Bowker, '68 read a paper on "The Problems of the Infinitely Little;" and the men elected from the class of 1909 were presented to the chapter.

Professor Baskerville has presented to the Wolcott Gibbs Library of Chemistry, a set of one hundred of his published researches and scientific papers which fill two volumes.

This evening, before the International Geneva Association, Dr. Breithut of our Department of Chemistry will deliver a lecture on The Chemistry of Cookery.

Organizations.

Professor Winslow, of the Mass. Institute of Technology, spoke at an open meeting of the Biological Society held on Tuesday of last week. Louis Ogust, '10 lectured on Age, Growth and Death. This was followed by a discussion in which a large part of the forty students present participated. The gathering was a great success—over twenty students applied for membership. These prospective members will be voted upon at a business meeting of the society to be held next Tuesday afternoon.

The Newman Club celebrated its third anniversary by a banquet held at Cafe Ardin last Saturday evening. Dr. Coleman was the guest of honor.

Some two dozen seniors re-organized the Senior Mechanical Society last Wednesday and elected W. A. Fox, president; E. Isaacs, vice-president; E. F. Cohen, secretary; and H. Kestenbaum, librarian. A constitution committee, appointed by the president, will report at the next meeting, to take place to-day at 1 o'clock in Room 108. The society is open to all upper and lower Seniors in Science courses, its purposes being to show its members the extent of the scientific field before them by lectures, trips and factories.
